The approval will allow eligible veterans to receive education assistance while taking courses in Automotive Maintenance, Industrial Maintenance, or Building Construction and Maintenance Specialist areas. These programs will contain from 432 to 444 hours of classroom and laboratory instruction given during the evening hours.

A veteran should contact the V.A. office in order to determine eligibility and amount of assistance before registration with Eastland. Registration materials are available by contacting the Eastland Adult Division 4465 South Hamilton Rd., Groveport, Ohio.

Playground Notes

Bexley

Cassingham

Thursday and Friday, July 6 and 7, the competition was on for the Cassingham Hula-Hoop and Frisbee contest. Many entrants competed for the chance to go to the City contest. Finalists at the playground were as follows: Hula-Hoop-Kathy Day, Larry Stone, and Linda Beck; The Frisbee-Bob Burger, Lisa Williams, Scott Keenan, Terry Gibbony, Ed Rice, and Rick Mayo. On Tuesday, July 11, the City finals were held, and Cassingham had city winners as follows: Ed Rice, city champion in the frisbee throw; Terry Gibbony, fourth place in the frisbee; Kathy Day, third place in the hula-hoop.

On Friday, July 7, many Fathers and Sons returned to the wild woods of Jeffrey Park for a campout. The Columbus Bucks, a Karate exhibition, and the movie, "The Incredible Journey" provided entertainment for the campers.

A wierd array of items sent scavengers from the playground out into the neighborhood in conquest of the articles. All teams participating got a prize and the winners received special candy treats. There was a tie between the team of Larry Stone, Mike Stone, Andy Greenburg, and Jim Szymczak, and the team of Linda Beck, Mike Rice, and Liz Hamilton.

On Thursday evening July 13, bike riders invaded Commonwealth Park to compete in the bicycle rodeo. Friday night at the movies drew a large crowd on July 14. At 7, W.C. Fields and Laural and Hardy visited us on the Cinema screen in the Cassingham Auditorium.

Tonight we will be enjoying a picnic at the Playground and a bike hike through the streets of Bexley. A surprise treat will be waiting for everyone at the playground.

Tomorrow, Thursday, July 20, the playground will enjoy Cassingham Putt-Putt Day at the Putt-Putt Center on Hamilton Road. We will be there from 9:30 to 12:30 and will pay $1 for all morning.

Friday, July 21, the Mothers and Daughters from all playgrounds will invade the wilderness at Jeffrey Park for an over night and cook-out. The festivities will begin at 6. Come and join the fun. Contact the playground leaders for more information.

Montrose

Another busy and fun-filled week was shared by all at Montrose. Tuesday, July 11, was the Hula Hoop and Frisbee finals. Thanks to Mark Roby and Will Brumfield for their tremendous accuracy and distance in throwing. Beth Lavine and Debbie Eggleston kept up their "swing" for Montrose in the Hula-Hoop finals.

Tuesday night July 11, was our Animal Fair. The playground showed animals from poodles to catfish. The leaders judged about twenty entries. Ribbons were distributed to the proud owners.

After the animal show everyone grabbed their snacks and chairs and enjoyed the movie "Rusty and the Falcon".

Wednesday, July 12, was Repair Morning. Mike was busy fixing brakes and chains on bikes that were on the playground. Everyone was amazed that they could finally find use for their bikes.

In the evening we had a costume fair. Ribbons and prizes were received by all. Thursday July 13 was the annual Bicycle Rodeo at Commonwealth Park. The Montrose Monsters frightened the other two playgrounds with their winning spirit and skill.

Friday July 14, we had our weekly car wash at 3 p.m. It was a good day to be outside splashing in the water. The money will be used for activities for the children.

Family night was a great success. It's good to see many parents and their children enjoying themselves together.

Tuesday night was GOSAC night at Jeffrey Mansion. All three playgrounds participated in many games from jacks to climbing the rope ladder. I bet you've been wodering what GOSAC means. The answer was posted at the playground on Tuesday, July 18.

Due to our large registration, we had a watermelon party Tuesday, July 18.

The construction on the playground is getting more advanced every day. The frontierland will be finished soon. Come to see the progress and join the fun-wherelse but Montrose.

Maryland

Maryland was back to its winning ways as they won the bicycle rodeo with over thirty points to spare over the other playgrounds.

Although skill played an important part, desire and pride were the key factors. Congratulations go to those who fought so hard to win.

Residents in the area are asked to start saving their newspapers for the newspaper drive. The playground will be by weekly to collect the papers.

This week we will be practicing for the Junior Olympics with a qualifying race at the end of the week.

We urge any parent with knowledge in track or who would like to help time events to be present at the Junior Olympics, Thursday July 27.

Mike, Et Al, To Benefit

Columbus Girl To Join Trek

Bonnie Warburton, 2941 E. Broad St., will join 24 other Girl Scouts from the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council who will be participating in the 1972 Wyoming Trek to the National Center West, 15,000 acres outside Big Horn National Forest at Ten Sleep, Wy.

The girls and their leaders, Cindy Gates of Newark, Jan Morris and Chris Bird of Columbus, will leave Ohio on July 16 and return on August 12.

Throughout the summer Girl Scouts from all over the United States will gather in troops at campsites at the National Center West to explore this beautiful wilderness area.

Each group plans its own program whether it is riding horses through the sagebrush, investigating Indian pictographs in a rugged canyon, or backpacking in the wilderness. Special consultants are on hand to help them with their special interests.

To prepare for the trip, the Wyoming Trekkers planned three weekends of backpacking at nearby camps and parks. The first campout was held on May 19-20-21 at Camp Echo Hills near Logan where the girls hiked a section of the Buckeye Trail.

The next campout was held June 2, 3, and 4 at A. W. Marion State Park, Circleville and the final training session was held June 27-29 at Delaware State Park. The girls will meet again on July 12 at Blacklick Woods to iron out final details.

Ashbury Has New Pack

Mr. Joe Hess, organization and extension chairman of the White Oaks Boy Scout District announced today the organization of Pack 822.

This new Scouting Unit for boys aged eight through 10 is sponsored by the Asbury United Methodist Church. Jay Jarrett has been appointed as the Institutional Representative to the White Oaks District and the Central Ohio Council.

Cubmaster of the Pack is William Voakes and Committee Chairman is Everette E. Caplinger.

Assisting as Committee Members of the new pack are: Gary Grimm, Elizabeth France, John Pinkert. Den Mother is Shirley M. Hoffman. Den Mother Coach is Theresa Grimm.

The pack meets every 4th Tuesday at Asbury Methodist Church 4760 Winchester Pike. The unit is still accepting members. Boys who wish to join should contact Caplinger at 837-8125 or Voakes at 837-[illegible].

Cub Scouting is a home and family centered program for boys eight through 10 years of age. It features a weekly den meeting directed by a Den Mother or Den Leader and a monthly gathering of Den at a Pack Meeting under the leadership of a Cubmaster.

The Central Ohio Scout Council is a member agency of the United Way of Franklin County. The organization of new units, training of volunteer leaders and professional assistance to support the Scouting Program is made possible by voluntary contributions to the United Way and the Sustaining Membership Program of the Central Ohio Council.

Club and organizational news should be sent to the Spectator by Thursday noon.

Forum Results In Chemistry Course

The first Evening Division course to be offered as a result of suggestions made by industry spokesmen who attended the first Business-Industry-Ohio Dominican College Curriculum Forum in late June will open Aug. 28 at ODC.

The course will be in Analytical Chemistry. ODC offers many night, fully-accredited, undergraduate liberal arts courses but this is the first in advanced chemistry.

The Forum brought together representatives of firms employing more than 30,000 employees and Ohio Dominican College administrators, and was an innovation in cooperation between industry and higher education. At the Forum, business leaders aired their ideas on Evening Division curriculum additions and revisions which might better serve business and their employees.

Participants representing chemical and pharmaceutical industries suggested the need for evening courses in the chemical and biological sciences.

According to Richard R. Teaff, Evening Division director, the course is scheduled from 4:30 to 5:45 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, with the laboratory period to be scheduled at the convenience of the students.

The course will earn participants the equivalent of four semester hours toward a degree, and college General Chemistry or its equivalent is a prerequisite.

The Analytical Chemistry course will be taught by Sr. Mary Hertrich, O.P. who holds a Master's Degree in Science Chemistry from Harvard and Ph.D. in Chemistry from St. Louis University.

In making the course announcement, Teaff said: "ODC's Evening Division is moving with thoroughness and speed to follow up suggestions made by Forum participants, and surveying the various fields and their potentials to determine employee interest in additional courses.

"We know there'll be other new courses, seminars and workshops developed from ideas first heard at the Forum. We are dedicated to meeting the educational needs of the business community," he concluded.

For additional information and to apply for the course, those interested should write Teaff at the Ohio Dominican College Evening Division office, 1216 Sunbury Rd., Columbus, or phone him at 253-2741.

Jack Connell Honored With Life Membership

Connell was formerly with Connells Flowers, 2385 E. Main St., before turning the business over to his son.

Connell's father started the business followed by his son and it is now in the hands of Jack Connell, Jr.

Connell has served on the board of Directors of Columbus Allied Florists Association two different terms of three years each and them became president of the association.

In 1968 Connell was presented an award for his "Faithful service to the association," at an annual meeting.

The recent award was a "Life Membership" in the association.

Resident Wants Light Repaired

Please be advised that the lamppost on the Northwest corner of East Broad St., and Gould Street has not functioned for at least nine weeks. I called the city Electric Company 8 weeks ago, but as of yet, the lamp still has not been repaired.

I moved here from Brooklyn, New York nine weeks ago. One of the reasons I moved, was the lack of city services in New York City. However, I expected that out here, the city services would be far superior to that of New York.

Please have that lamppost repaired. It is very important that our streets in Bexley, be adequately lighted.

A Superb Job

The Ohio Citizens' Committee on the State Legislature is to be highly commended.

Twelve month's of work did not produce "a camel", but a remarkably well-designed package of proposals to streamline the operations of the General Assembly and to make it more accountable to Ohioans.

The basic premise of the report is one of maintaining a citizen legislature rather than a professional one. The rationale behind an assembly of part-time assemblyman is that the legislator whose livelihood is outside the Capitol Building remains part of his community, and responsive to his constituents with whom he shares the same economic, political and social problems-and the same pressures, interests and concerns.

With this position taken, the Committee worked consistently within its framework to devise a program through which the General Assembly can meet the complex responsibilities in a state with a biennial budget of $7.7 billion.

The first problem met was that of better use of time.

Annual rather than semi-annual sessions are proposed with pre-session and interim activities expanded to lift the burden off floor action.

Correlated with the concept of limited sessions (possibly two six-month sessions or a longer one in budget years and a shorter one in non-budget sessions) is that of deadline for action on bills.

This would include a final date for introduction of bills, for committee reports, for third readings and passage and for executive veto.

With these limitations, special sessions would be infrequent, but the power to call such session limited to the governor.

Several of the 89 recommendations deal directly with the matter of increasing public access to the law-making body.

They include that all proceedings shall be public (with the exception of those declared "closed" by a record vote of two-thirds of the body or committee), that bills shall be printed at least five days prior to hearing, publication of hearing days and the creation of a Public Information office.

A fifth provision is particularly relevant. It would make mandatory in each bill a concise statement of intent.

Sections of the report purportedly designed to improve the "representativeness" of the General Assembly adhere to the perpetuation of the bicameral legislation with 33 senators and 99 representatives.

The committee also seeks to reduce the period between the filing date and the primary, and the primary and general election.

The recommendation is made in the interest of eliminating marathon campaigns which commence in February and continue through the first week of November.

One alternative suggested is an early June primary which would give legislators several uninterrupted months in the early part of the second year of the biennium, free from the call of the campaign trail.

The committee also seeks reasonable expense allowances based not on per diem, but on actual expenditures necessarily incurred by a legislator in providing his services.

Furthermore, the report asks establishment of a permanent bipartisan legislative Compensation Committee made up of private citizens to regularly review rates of compensation.

Although the committee considered increasing the length of terms of office (some states have turned to four-year terms for representatives and six-year terms for senators) such a change was ruled out.

It is seen that the provision of frequent opportunity for voters to register their approval or disapproval of their representatives keeps the legislative ear cocked toward home.

With public confidence in government less than overwhelming, the report also seeks passage of a financial disclosure act, the development of a comprehensive code of ethics for legislators and a code of standards for lobbyists and a study of existing and proposed regulations concerning campaign expenditures and findings.

For example, little control is now extant concerning the use of unspent campaign funds-or the management of unpaid campaign wills.

It is also considered impractical to limit by specific dollar amounts the amount of his own funds a candidate may spend towards election.

The difference of campaign costs in various localities is too great.

No single phase of the report is more overdue than that which would require that every bill contain requirements for program evaluation-and an appropriation for this evaluation.

Seeking to strengthen the legislature as a policy-making body rather than simply as a bill hatchery, the committee believes the General Assembly must be able not only to evaluate the effectiveness of state programs but to modify or abandon the ineffective.

It is also stressed that partisan fiscal officers should occupy four full-time professional staff positions on the finance committees to provide help in review of fiscal matters.

These include an office to deal with constituent problems, three full-time staff assistants to the House Speaker and minority leader the the Senate president and minority leader and one full-time aide to the House speaker pro tam, the House floor leader, the assistant House minority leader and the Senate whip.

Finally, the report recommends improvements of the administration and management of legislative support services and facilities.

A master plan for space utilization after the administrative offices of the state are pulled from the State House is suggested and expanded press room facilities are recommended.

In keeping with the responsible tone of the entire report, the committee concludes with what can be presumed to be a realistic appraisal of the cost of implementing the reform.

That sounds like a pretty piece of change until one realizes that the current $10.2 million spend on the operation of the General Assembly for the biennium is only .13 percent of the state budget.

Boosting the budget of the General Assembly by the proposed amount would entail appropriating less than .2 per cent of state funds to the operation of its legislature, a figure still below the costs of 32 states.

Economy in government is usually a virtue, but hamstringing with parsimony the body which serves the public is not.

The Ohio Citizens Committee has done a superb job. It is now time for the legislature and the people-through constitutional amendment -to give life to the report.

Morality or Madness?

Who Will Answer?

BY JACK WITTENMEIER

Who will answer Mrs. Bernice Huff?

She buried four-year-old Joyce Ann Huff a week or so ago in California, her little body pock-marked with 42 shotgun pellets fired from a car whose occupants were "just out looking for someone to kill."

"There was nothing we could have done. No one can bring our child back to us," the grieving Mrs. Huff was quoted as saying.

Killing little Joyce Ann's killers will not bring her back. Two "wrongs" cannot make a "right". Capital punishment is "cruel and unusual punishment" decrees the United States Supreme Court.

But who has the answer for Mrs. Bernice Huff?

If you are a Bible-reading Christian you know what The Judge says about those who take "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth."

But forget the Bible. Criminologists can show you proof that an impressive percentage of people who commit murder do so only once and rarely consider what the personal result of their act might be.

In theory, capital punishment would be more effective if applied to thieves or your common, everyday pick-pocket. They rarely stop at one, and therefore represent a far greater and lasting threat to society.

But criminologist's statistics won't answer Bernice Huff.

Before law, before justice, before capital punishment and before the Supreme Court, society had a very direct, a very final way of dealing with those who stepped outside the code of the day.

Any Western buff can tell you the fate of a horse thief when town folks grew impatient for the arrival of the traveling judge.

But civilization improved its toehold and law and justice stepped between the transgressor and those who sought to secure their own retribution.

History shows that successful civilizations have carefully walked the tightrope, delicately balancing the rights of the individual with the rights of his society.

Society and its individuals voluntarily welcomed law and justice into its abode. Like any house guest, it is welcome only so long as it can live harmoniously with its host.

Several months ago, a judge pronounced a 10-year sentence for a man found guilty of murder. At the announcement of the sentence, the victim's brother gunned down the guilty party - administering his own justice, a la Hatfields vs McCoys.

If the killers of Joyce Ann Huff are brought to justice, found sane, guilty and sentenced, it is much less than a remote possibility that they might walk free in a matter of seven years.

Hardly enough passage of time to dim the memory of a bloodied four-year-old, screaming as she died in her front yard amid a child's toys.

Life imprisonment today is no more enforced than capital punishment had been for the past decade.

Quite truthfully, I really don't know what I'd do if four-year-old Joyce Ann Huff had been five-year-old Jennifer Wittenmeier. My faith in law and justice feels wobbly.

I consider myself somewhat clear-headed, emotionally mature and secure and given to reason rather than impulse.

And yet -- if I don't know -- I sometimes shudder to think what someone less blessed might do.

Two things I do know. The host of the house billeting law and justice is growing restless. And like it or not, there's a wisp of vigilante in each of us.

Who will answer Mrs. Bernice Huff?

God help us -- nobody.

Buckle Up !

By RAY ADAMS

After writing reams of copy and reading just as much of what others have written concerning the advantage of seat belts we had the opportunity July 8 (if that's what you can call a serious auto accident) to be a student of the fine art of self defense via defensive driving and seat belts.

Seconds and split-seconds away from what could be your eternity doesn't give you much time to do anything.

Your life doesn't pass vividly before you. (At least mine didn't).

You don't have time to say a prayer. (Your subconscious might be saying one but you had better have said enough previously.)

Your seat belts (and a shoulder harness if you have one) had better be in place.

All you have time to do is make a split-second evasive action decision then cover your face and duck.

Thank goodness my son John and I were buckled.

The result of being caught with our seat belts down would have been disastrous.

The occasion was in Baltimore, Md., on an asphalt road made slick by a light rain.

The first time I saw the auto that hit us was when it seemed to be going awfully fast for these road conditions. The second time I saw it was when it started to go into a diagonal spin and headed toward my lane. The third time I saw it was just before it smashed into my auto.

The results of the crash injured six and left two autos severely damaged.

The angle and tremendous force of the impact into my auto threw my son and me forward. My hands flew off the wheel then back onto the wheel with enough force to bruise my forearms. A couple of teeth were also chipped.

John was not as fortunate. His seat belts held him firmly, doubled him up but the underside of his nose still caught the dash. Result - a fractured nose plus a cut.

Without seat belts we might have been buried Wednesday, July 12.

The driver of the auto that hit me was thrown from his auto. He suffered a head injury. Three others received cuts and bruises. Seat belts on? I don't think so.

Several months ago I went through the driving simulator at Reynoldsburg High School. I crashed. My story read "seat belts saved me".

This time it was no simulation.

Belated Requirements

Ted Brown has pulled in his horns after the Supreme Court ruled he had not properly proceeded in summarily removing members of the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections.

The only alternative available to him other than placing them on a probationary status was to commence new proceedings against the board members.

The nearness of the general election made such procedure practical only as a last resort, with the necessary procedures, possible appeals and ultimate reorganization time-consuming.

And a look at the requirements with which the board must comply prior to November seem well-designed to prevent an encore of the May devacle in Cleveland.

Inefficient personnel and those with a record of unsatisfactory performance shall be removed, a training school for voting machine mechanics established, the November election shall be efficient and fraud fee, party patronage shall not take preference over ability in hiring and promoting, lower eschelon employes shall be delegated sufficient authority to insure efficient operation and timely and accurate election night procedures shall be employed.

All this is well and good--as the rest of the eight requirements set out by Brown.

But the demands hardly seem revolutionary--or even innovative.

We had assumed the Cleveland chaos was the result of established rules and regulations being circumvented or ignored.

If they have just come into existence, the Secretary of State has as much egg on his face as the Cuyahoga County board.

YOUTH Rostrum

DEVISE A MODEST PROPOSAL TO SOLVE WHAT YOU CONSIDER A LOCAL PROBLEM.

Respondents: Reynoldsburg Middle School students.

TRASH: The trash problem is really getting bad. I will give $1,000 to the person who cleans up the most and also helps to raise money for my solution - send it all to the moon. - PAM REILEIN.

TEACHERS: I think we should use the money that is paid teachers to buy computerizing machines. We could buy 210 machines that would replace the teachers. - NANCY HEIN.

PREJUDICE: It is melancholy to walk down the streets of a town and see prejudiced people cut on others because they have a different color of skin. Someone, somewhere could invent a machine would make us all one color. The process would be the same when a woman strips the color from her hair. We would vote on the color. The color with the most votes would be that one that everybody is. - CHERYL NAAYERS.

MOUTHS: Mouths are the biggest problem in the world today. Mouths have caused bitter feelings between people and nations. We should build an institute for big mouths and keep them there. - LISA KUDER.

OVER POPULATION: It seems that we have only two alternatives. One is that we all commit suicide. The other is to bump off a bunch of our fellow citizens.. - DON HAINES.

BOSSY HUSBANDS: It is really horrifying to live in this big world knowing that the only reason you are here is to get married and have your lazy old husband boss you around. One way to avoid getting bossed around is to marry someone much shorter than you. Then if he does anything you don't like you can pound him in the ground head first. - LYNTHA ALLSHOUSE.

SNOW: Snow can keep you from getting a suntan. It can also keep your car from starting . It will frost up your windows. How to get rid of it? Let's everybody do their share and eat it. - M. WILSON.

DRESS CODE: Why don't we all wear nothing? - BRIAN WILLIAMS.

PROBLEM PARENTS: Get a giant butcher knife and cut the world in half. Give the parents the north and the east. Give children the south and west. - KAREN GRATE.

HOMEWORK: Too much homework has plagued the children of our society. A teacher would be limited to one assignment a month for a student. Any teacher violating this would be fined and have to write on the blackboard 1,000 times "I will not give more than one assignment." - KEVIN KOMRANS.

AIR POLLUTION: Air pollution is greatly damaging to our lungs and noses. The demolishing smog will soon wipe out insects and maybe even human beings. I would take huge metal pipes and run then up through the universe from smoke stacks. When smoke starts coming out it will go up through the pipes and not even bother our air. My job would be as president of Smogs Anonymous. - DENNIE NICODEMUS.

MONEY- WHAT TO DO WITH IT: Burn all money that can't be recycled and make fertilizer of it so as to make our crops grow better. Do away with it since about 9 out of 10 divorces are caused by money problems. - DALE P.

GENERATION GAP: - I believe it is ghastly and horrible the way parents and teenagers fight regular civil wars. I believe with great earnesty that the teenagers should take charge of everything-that is, the teenagers and adults switch places. Teenagers will fill the political offices. They will manage huge corporations, be teachers, etc. Let the adults be the students, go to the babysitter, take the flute lessons, carry out the trash and, in general, obey the teenagers. - BECKY LEHMAN.

WOMEN DRIVERS My solution will guarantee up to a 90 percent decrease of crazy women drivers. My solution is to get rid of the wise crack women liberationists. - JOHN CRUMLEY.

THE SMELLY PEOPLE: One way in cleaning people up is if you ever see a dirty and smelly person call the fire department. Then call for the clean-up truck. Another way is to find a bear and put honey on the smelly person. Then the bear will lick him nice and hard. That should get most of the dirt and smell off. - DAN EISENBRAUN.

FAT PEOPLE: I really hate these people because all they do is eat, eat and eat. We should shave them down with a lathe. - JAY JURKOVAC.

SCHOOL LUNCHES: Make the cooks eat them three times a day. ANONYMOUS.

BUBBLE GUM: So that pupils will not have to chew gum in school we will build two monstrous machines. One will be a chewing machine and the other a blowing machine. We will make huge balloons and send them into space for research. - GARY PETERS.

VIETNAM WAR: Buy the country. - ANONYMOUS.

WASTEFUL ELECTION: The amount of publicity on the idiotic mish-mash is unbelievable. I believe if the candidates want to fight each other let them do it physically and not politically. - MARC MCGEE.

NO JOBS: Make everyone slaves. ANONYMOUS.

LONG HAIR: Make dog licenses mandatory for anyone having hair longer than one inch. - ANONYMOUS.

Render To Caesar

The National Wildlife Federation has decided that golf courses, swimming pools and tennis courts are so many dirty words.

Actually, it is more accurate to state the Federation is up in arms about priorities, contending the Land and Water Conservation Fund must be reserved for natural outdoor recreational areas (including forests, wildlife refuges and national parks).

Conceding that the need for recreation facilities exists in the cores of American cities, a spokesman for the Federation recently testified before Congress that Housing and Urban Development Open Space programs provide funds for such facilities, and hands should be kept out of the LWC Fund.

And it appears he is generally right. The $300 million allocated annually is not keeping pace with the projected acquisition of five million acres of land already authorized by Congress.

The benefits of golf and tennis facilities and swimming pools to urban areas are unquestionable, and the demand for them immediate.

But the limited funds set aside for national park acquisition must be kept inviolate.

Rural resources cannot be raped to perpetuate the asphalt jungles of the big cities.

Letters To The Editor

The Spectator newspapers welcome letters from readers, expressing their views on subjects of interest to them -- whether initiated by news stories or editorial expression in this newspaper or not. Because of space limitations, we prefer letters which do not exceed 300 words. All letters submitted for publication must be signed with the writer's name and address, although -- upon request -- the name of the writer can be withheld. Letters should be marked: "To the Editor, Spectator Newspapers, 3421 S. Boulevard, Columbus, Ohio 43204" and must be received by Monday noon prior to publication date for publication in that week's edition.

OBES Director Disappointed

To the Editor:

I have read your recent editorial remarks, "The Profit Factor," a response to my press release criticizing sponsors of H.B. 980 for refusal to require mandatory listing of jobs by state contractors.

I was disappointed to find that you understood and agreed with so much of my so-called "legitimate gripe," but somehow managed to convey the idea that I did not understand the profit motivations of contractors and industry.

Unfortunately, your comments seem to infer that I support the position that contractors should be mandated to hire welfare recipients without regard to their qualifications to hold such jobs and at the expense of the contractor profits.

How you were able to arrive at that conclusion when my statements clearly refer to contractors hiring, "qualified" job applicants" regardless of whether they were on welfare or not, and goes on to speak of creating "thousands of job opportunities for employable welfare recipients" is somewhat puzzling.

I believe my position is unmistakably clear--I am not advocating employment for welfare recipients at the expense of the profit making ability of the contractor or, in other words, shifting the burden of public welfare on to the back of private contractors. I am talking about "qualified" and "employable" welfare recipients, job-seeking citizens who are ready, willing, and able to take meaningful jobs for their own and their family's benefit. Why shouldn't they have the opportunity to break the welfare syndrome?

In conclusion, let me assure you that we are expending a tremendous measure of our energies, resources, and training capacities in an attempt to help those unskilled and unemployable welfare recipients to become employable.

But, I must remind you that there are thousands of welfare recipients who are job ready and available for employment in meaningful jobs without need for training, and it is time we forget stereotyped images and either make work available to welfare recipients or quit crying about rising welfare costs.

Super Polliwog Swims Agin

IT'S A CRAB, IT'S A BARRACUDE, NO IT'S Super Polliwog. Art Flicker, alias Super Polliwog, emerged recently from the filter house at the Bexley community swimming pool to pass out his red, diamond shaped Polliwog badges for those swimmers who qualified. Climbing over the wall, our wet hero explains to the youngsters how to pass the test. One youngster who finishes the test, waves the badge triumphantly. After his job is completed, Super Polliwog quickly disappears back over the wall and back into the filter to make his way to his home in Alum Creek. (Photos by Tom Holzer)

Whitehall Recreation Roundup

NORTON FIELD

Norton Field's winning softball team has been getting strong games from all-stars Jimmy Heinmiller and Sam McGloun.

ETNA ROAD

Etna Road was well represented in the City-Wide Horseshoe Tournament. Throwing for the playground were Julie Smith, Lisa Blankenship, Brenda Todd, Randy Todd, Tim Gary and Willie Kegler.

Etna Road held a "mini art show" and awarded prizes to the following entries: Jim Antoniak (first place), Brenda Todd and Lisa Blankenship (second place) and Molly McGuire and Melody Gall (third place).

The kickball team won their first game of the summer by defeating Kae Avenue, 14-5, while in softball the older boys (14-18) tied with Beechwood, and the younger boys (10-12) defeated Beechwood.

KAE AVENUE

A special treat is in store for Kae Avenue youngsters tomorrow. There will be a weiner roast beginning at 11 a.m. at Orton Davis Park. Anyone who wants to picnic with the playground should bring their own "eats" and plates. Everyone will get a chance to cook their own hotdogs.

X-Ray Cruiser Plans Work In East End

The Christmas Seal X-Ray Cruiser will be located in the East Main Street-Livingston Avenue area July 20 through 26. Anyone 18 or older is invited to get a free chest x-ray at that time.

Chest x-ray often discover previously unknown cases of emphysema, tuberculosis, enlarged heart, and lung tumors. Individuals required by law to have a yearly x-ray are advised to visit the cruiser when it is located near their homes.

Locations and times are: Miller & Main St., July 20, 1 to 7 p.m.; 1805 E. Main St., 21, 1 to 7 p.m.; Livingston & Fairwood, 24, 1 to 7 p.m.; Livingston & Kelton, 25, 1 to 7 p.m.; Main & Oakwood, 26, 1 to 7 p.m.

East Outer Belt Section Set For Nov. 74

State Highway Director J. Phillip Richley reports bids for construction of the final two-mile section of the 56-mile Columbus Outerbelt (I-270) will be opened July 25. The eight-lane divided segment with a 60-foot median has a November 30, 1974 estimated completion date.

The project had been delayed pending approval for the use of Wonderland Park land, needed for widening and improving Hamilton Rd. (Ohio 317) south of the I-270 - Hamilton Rd. interchange area, by Secretary of Transportation John Volpe.

Total programmed estimate for the improvement, including not only construction but also right of way and engineering costs, is $12 million. It will start 600 feet south of Baltimore and Ohio and Penn Central tracks, north of E. Broad St. (Ohio 16), pass under the tracks, interchange with Hamilton Rd. and end at the east end of outerbelt structure over Big Walnut Creek.

A temporary three-track run-around and trestle will be constructed, south of existing tracks, for railroad use during construction of the underpass.

The Hamilton Road portion of the improvement calls for widening to four lanes northward from the end of the existing four-lane section to Rocky Fork Drive, south with a new structure over the outerbelt. Claycraft Road will also span the outerbelt.

The project also includes relocation of two miles of Morrison Rd. Relocation will parallel the outerbelt to the east and north and pass under the railroads beside the outerbelt. Improvement of a portion of Big Walnut Rd. and relocation of a portion of Swanson Ave. are also included in the project.

The outerbelt is currently open to traffic, counter-clockwise around the city, from Morse Rd. (CR 17) to E. Main St. (US 40).

Sections are currently under construction from south of Morse Rd. to the east end of the outerbelt structure over Big Walnut Creek and from north of E. Main St. to north of E. Broad St. (Ohio 126) with estimated completion dates of Sept., 30 and Nov. 30, 1973 respectively.

PERFORMANCES START JULY 21

Melodrama Planned By ACT Columbus

A three-act early American melodrama entitled "For Her Child's Sake," will be presented at the Center of Science and Industry, 280 E. Broad St.

The show will run for six performances beginning Friday, July 21 at 8 p.m.

THE MELODRAMA is being produced by ACT Columbus, a member of the Association of Community Theatres, with veteran Columbus actress, Joan Ann Weaver in charge of the production.

The drama will involve audience participation with hissing and booing encouraged.

There will be 8 p.m. performances on Fridays, July 21 and 28 and 3 p.m. performances the Saturdays and Sundays of July 22 and 23 and July 29 and 30.

TICKETS MAY be reserved by calling 228-6361 or picked up the night of the performance. Admission for children under 12 is $1; students $1.50 and adults $2.

Plot for the melodrama involves the heroine Pansy Paine left widow with a babe by a cruel stroke of fate.

She is also left to face the most unwelcomed attention of the scoundrel, Gaylord Duckworth, the family lawyer. This villian is also plotting to gain control of the Paine fortune. She spurns his attentions and for revenge he frames her on a murder charge.

MEMBERS OF the cast include Jennifer Roback as Pansy; Bill Tumblin as Hilary Paine; Marion Hartley as Marcella Paine; Debbie Carson as Liza Jane Paine; Jim Browning as Gaylord Duckworth; Bev Davis as Dorothy Bullock and Dan Teeter as Fairfax Kisslebergh the hero.

Kiwanis Is 1st Round Bexley LL Kingpin

Kiwanis catcher Wink Price cut down a pair of Divine runners on the basepaths and teammates Dave Jones and Jerry Benedetti turned in fielding gems of their own as their club finished with a perfect 7-0 slate.

DREXEL THEATRE earned second place after one league circuit by topping Hanna Paint 9-3 on some spiffy two-hit pitching, and R.C.Cola clipped A.O. Wing 11-7 with Jerry Pryor starring on the mound.

Second round action got off to a topsy-turvy start later in the week, as Kiwanis suffered its first '72 setback at the hands of Drexel Theatre.

Craig Middlemus was the pitching hero, and John Roby smacked a two-run homer that proved to be the winning margin.

DIVINE GOT OFF on the right foot, rallying in the final frame for two runs and a 6-5 decision over improving R.C. Cola. Kevin James went the distance for Divine, and Doug Hill did likewise to take a tough setback.

Mike Willard and Craig Ullman combined to toss a no-hitter for Dollar Federal--but they issued seven walks in a 3-2 squeaker past A.O. Wing. Chris Ullman helped brother Craig with two hits, a run and an RBI, and second sacker Scott Keenan turned in four separate fielding sparklers to save the no-hitter.

All the Bexley Lions needed to win their second round opener was Jim Acton's bat. Jim had a triple, two doubles and a single in four at-bats--and drove in eight runs as the Lions topped Hanna 12-7. He also shared the pitching chores with Dan Roslovic.

Today The Pond..

Sometimes you have to wonder if these monster-movie plots are as far out as they seem.

A Chardon, Ohio resident walked into the office of State Game Protector Steve Jacks last week and reported that a large bullfrog was devouring his stock of mallard ducks.

Next time you order frog's legs...think about it.

Bucks Switch Home Dates

The Columbus Bucks, who suffered their first-ever Midwest Football League defeat last Saturday at Youngstown, will be returning home for dates at Hartley Stadium the next two weekends.

Because of more favorable attendance prospects, the Bucks have moved both those games (originally scheduled for Sunday afternoons) to the preceding Saturday evening.

This Saturday night they'll meet the Flint Sabers. Then, on July 29, Coach Bobby Benjamin's charges will take on '71 arch-rival Lansing in what promises to be a key early league encounter.

Kickoff time for both home games is 7:30 p.m.

Klamfoth, COW Cop Bexley First Round Softball Titles

OLD TIMERS

Central Ohio Welding outlasted Susil Construction 9-8 last week to finish-round activity 5-0 and grab undisputed possession of the flag.

Elsewhere, the Pussycats edged the Lutherans 10-7 behind the hitting of Sig Munster, Ron Root and Jim Merkle; and Salt Realtors murdered Dollar Federal 22-7 as John Jones collected five safeties and teammates Paul Lindquist and Bill Sutton got four apiece.

Final First Round Standings

Central O. Welding	5-0
Brad Salt	4-1
Susil Construction	3-2
Pussycats	2-3
Lutherans	1-4
Dollar Federal	0-5

Pat Leach capped a four-for-four day by scoring from first in the final frame to provide Klamfoth's victory margin. He raced home on a long double by Kevin Griffin after Cohagan had rallied to tie.

In last week's first-round finales, Klamfoth dumped Love Studio 8-4 behind Mike Gibson's three hits, Cohagan blasted Cols. Copy Products 15-10 and the Conglomerates edged Brad Salt 12-11.

Chris Tsitouris had four hits for the Maddogs in their victory while mates Jeff McClelland, Cal Hamrick, Bill Hoyer and Rick Clowson chipped in three each.

Three Conglomerate batsmen collected four hits apiece in the eyelash verdict over Salt; they were Shawn Griffin, Bill Hoffman and Jack Knauer. Bill Fothergill had five safeties for the losers.

UNDER 30

After the two clubs wound up regular action with identical 4-1 records, Klamfoth Honda edged the Cohagan Maddogs 8-7 Sunday to grab the first round title in a playoff.

No-Hitter Crowns T.A.T.'s Fifth Championship Season

T.A.T. Pizza wrapped up it's fifth consecutive Milo-Roc Mendel Major League pennant season in high style last week, with a 25-1 no-hit romp over Tommy's and a 12-1 waltz past Beck Masonry.

BOB HARRINGTON tired nothing but blanks at Tommy's for the perfecto--and got home run support from Chris King (his first ever in the league) and Lindy Borror.

Greg Thomas crowned the campaign Thursday with a four-hit sparkler over Convenient, striking out 12 enemy batsmen in the process. Harrington smacked a pair of doubles in the regular season finale, and got plenty of help from Perry Passen, Mark Behn, Dale Jakeway and even Brian Baker--who collected his only hit of the year.

SCOTT SHAW tossed another no-hitter last week, fanning 14 of the 18 hitters he retired as his Rick's mates treated him to a 5-0 shutout over Convenient Foods.

Infielder Mike Isabel made a spectacular leaping grab to save Shaw's dream game, and Steve Sears smacked a double and scored twice before being injured and whisked away to the hospitla.

In other '72 finales, Liv-Moor edged Rick's 9-8 behind the clutch pitching of Danny Mangia and Mike Clark. Ronny Rickenbacker had a double and a triple, Bill Walters two singles and a three-bagger and Danny Webster turned in several fielding gems to pace the winning effort.

BILL MILLER went two-for-two while brother Gary and Steve Willard combined to hold Beck Masonry in check for a 5-2 verdict.

Convenient nosed out Liv-Moor 3-2 to earn second spot in the only Minor League contest.

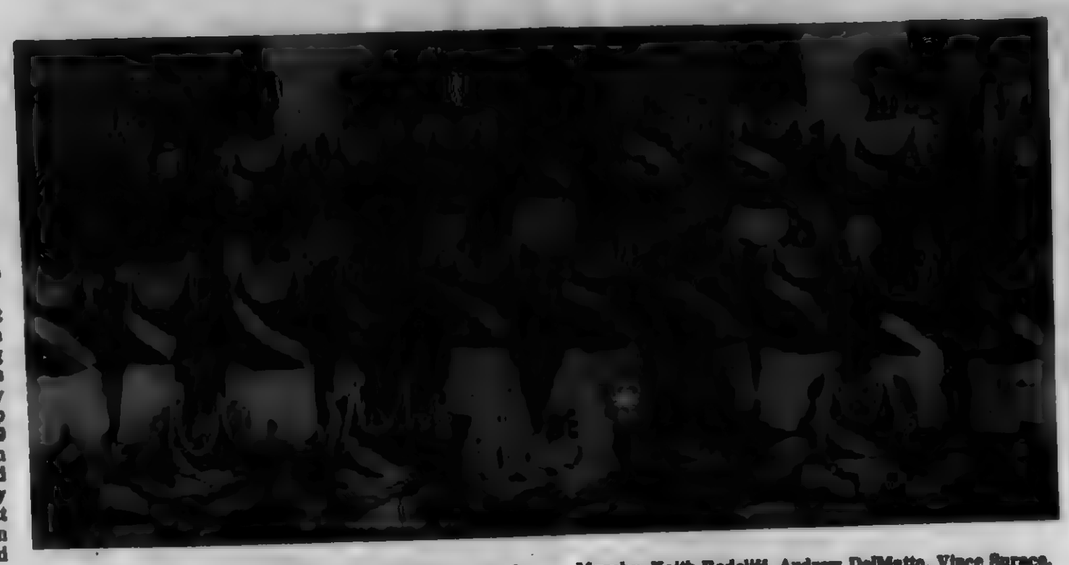
Prentiss, Sekerak Headline Friday's Cinder Winners

Gary Prentiss of the Speed City Track Club and Dan Sekerak, running unattached, were the headline performers at last Friday's third Ohio Track Club open meet on the Walnut Ridge oval.



Prentiss soared 22'6½" to cop the open division long jump contest-that's very near the best jump by a Central Ohio high schooler all year.

SEKERAK CHUGGED to a spiffy 9:46.2 in the two mile run, and also took the mile in a steady 4:40.7.

Walnut Ridge's Matt Guttman and Eastmoor's Joe Schleppi pretty well split up the "weight events"-Guttman winning the shot with a 46'1" heave to edge Schleppi and the latter tossing the discus 128'5" with Guttman a close second.

Notre Dame-bound Art Best stayed in shape for Ara by winning the 220 and taking third in the shot. Other firsts went to Gahanna's Gary Ratliff in the high jump (6'2"), the Speed City 440 relay quartet of Glenn Wilson, Armin Gibson, David Estis and Dave Moody (:44.5), OTC's Mike Endicott in the 880 (2:05) and Milburn Johnson in the hundred (:10.2).

Eastsiders Cop First Diocesan Cinder Title

In only its fourth year of interscholastic track competition, Christ the King School rolled to the overall team championship of the Columbus Diocesan Athletic Association this Spring.

The champs piled up a massive 204-132 point edge over three championship meets against 14 other area parochial school cinder squads.

Coach Tim Ellifritz' thinclads were undefeated in dual and triangular competition and copped the Diocesan relays title en route to their perfect campaign.

Their final team point total was the highest posted in the history of Diocesn track competition, and individual performers broke three other Diocese records during the campaign.

RECORD-BREAKERS were Doug Williams (:24.6 in the 220); the shuttle hurdles quartet of Jim Mazza, Vince Surace, Dan Ferrell and Terry Galloway (1:19.3) and the three-man high jump relay of Brian Leinheuser, Devaughn Saunders and Mark Sharon (13'8" total).

The '72 Christ the King squad also shattered 14 school standards.

Sharp Sabers Visit Bucks

The Columbus Bucks, still reeling from a stunning overtime upset at Youngstown last weekend, will have to put their win machine back together quickly, because a much-improved Flint club rolls in Saturday for a key MFL battle.

The Sabers stand 1-1 for Midwest League action after dropping a 19-13 "sudden death" verdict of their own to Indianapolis two weeks ago-and Indianapolis was tough enough to upend '71 toughie Lansing last week 14-7.

THE SABERS topped Detroit 7-6 for their solo league win to date.

Flint's attack will be controlled by QB Mike Harding, and relies on the punishing runs of Tony Odneal and Jim Watkins.

A key man to watch will be punt and kickoff return threat Jimmy Little, one of the tops at his trade in "AAA" football.

THE SABER DEFENSE features a mountainous front four, lead by 6-6, 310 pound Sam McDowell; and safety Fred Jackson-who pilfered three Indianapolis passes and returned 'em a total of 64 yards.

Riegle, Beissinger Hook Up Thursday

The national season champion two-year-old trotter, Arnie Almahurst, leads an outstanding field of thirteen juvenile trotters into the $9,000 Scarlet and Gray Cup at Scioto Downs Thursday night.

The powerful bay son of Speedy Scot, trained and driven by Scioto frontrunner Gene Riegle, set the national mark at Scioto last Friday night with a sterling mile in 2:03 and four-fifths, racing most of the mile on the outside.

Beissinger's fine array of two-year-old trotting talent Thursday night includes Shammy Tara, the 2 yr-old Ayres filly that won her division of the Challenge Stakes on July 6th in 2:06. Another of Beissinger's great entries in Ah So, the powerful bay son of Speedy Count who won the Pennsylvania Sires stakes in 2:07 and one-fifth, and the American National at Sportsman's Park in 2:06 and two-fifths. Beissirger's other charges are A.C.'s Thor, Earliana, and Wingait Highball.

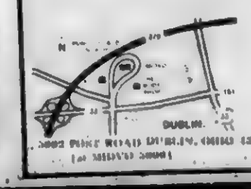
"WE TAKE CARE OF YOUR CAR"

Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.

The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi. It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty-one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)



The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911. A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.

And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.

We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.

We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.

And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look: The way they work.

AROUND TOWN

MARCO POLO'S LOUNGE

Attention Columbus. Another new night club-lounge has opened in our City that promises to be another great night spot fer us night folk. It is called Marco Polo's Lounge and is located on West Fifth Avenue in the spot that used to be the old El Diablo.

For the first time in its history, this lounge is going to be one of the swingingest spots Around Town. I say this for several reasons. First, the opening night crowd last Monday would have impressed anybody. Secondly, the place is owned and managed with the best that money can buy.

Mark Adams, who is no stranger to the nightlife in Columbus, is the president and general manager of the lounge. And then, the host, or greeter, or PR man, (he can wear many hats) is the famous and well-liked, Buddy Joyce.

No matter what time of the day or night you walk in, there are always plenty of single guys and gals. Mark and Buddy make certain that this place swings, and that when you walk in, you are going to have a good time.

Caliope, a way-out trio, is currently providing the entertainment at Marco Polo's Lounge. While they are holding down the fort this week, Mark is already working on a group for next week. He also has several top name outfits lined up.

Take my word for it, Marco Polo's Lounge is going to be one of the best fun spots in Columbus. The first night already proved this to be true.

While it swings, it is also a very intimate lounge, offering plenty of cozy atmosphere and lots of dark corners. There is dancing every night, which is rather difficult to find anymore.

Marco Polo's Lounge is named after the famous adventurer. And, rightly so, because a visit to the Marco Polo's Lounge, will prove to be a happy, way-out adventure for you. It will be packed just about every night in the future. I, for one, will help make this true. The next time someone says, "Let's take a trip," make it Marco Polo's Lounge.

Here is some good news for all my drinking buddies. I'm going to tell you the best bargain in town, when it comes to booze. The place is the Sports Forum Lounge, located in the rear of Howard Johnson's on Route 161 and I-71.

You and I have both heard, in our life time, of some pretty great cocktail hours. But, this one takes the prize. Their cocktail hour runs all day and night, from opening to closing. Now get this, any drink you order, bourbon, whiskey, martinis, you get a double shot of liquor. The price? It is cheaper than they were selling single shots for last week. This is not a one time promotion. This is the Sports Forum's new permanent policy.

Just think, double martini, manhattan and regular is only 85c. Top shelf spirits, double serving, $1.00.

This alone is well worth the trip to the Sports Forum Lounge. However, in my opinion, there is much more. For example, this is one of the cozyiest lounges in the city. It is a great place to take that special someone for intimate conversation. It is really a fun place.

All of this has been brought about because of Bobby Walters. Bobby is the new food and beverage manager at Howard Johnson's. While he may be new here, Bobby has been with the Howard Johnson's chain for over 14 years. This man has plenty on the ball, along with lots of determination to make this place go.

All I can say is, Bobby sure has started off with a bang. Take my advice, for a bang up good time, go to the Sports Forum Lounge, at Howard Johnson's, Route 161.

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

Loads of news of night life Around Town this week. First, that sexy singer of song, Susan Lambi, is now at the Sheraton Airport Inn. This gal has a fine voice, pleasing personality and a million dollar figure. She also accompanies herself on the organ. This gal is a darn good entertainer. You'll enjoy her, plus the fine food at the Sheraton Airport... Joe Hillman is back in town, and Holiday Inn East has got him. Joe is the new general manager of the Holiday Inn East. He is not a newcomer to Columbus. Joe has held executives positions with many of the large operations

Around Town . . .

Around Town, including the old Deshler. Stop out and say hello to Joe, he'll be glad to see all his old friends... Petty's Restaurant has a new front. Watch, when you drive by, you probably won't recognize the place. Now, I can say it is gorgeous, inside and out. Of course, there is no change in the food. After all, you can't improve on something superb. This has to be a must on your dining schedule. You'll love the atmosphere, and all that good, homemade Italian food... The Dave Hopkins Trio, is the new entertainment at the Holiday Inn-Reynoldsburg. These three fellows are tops, playing all types of good music. More on them in next week's column. You will catch them at the Holiday Inn-Reynoldsburg, Thursday through Saturday. They are just what the Doctor ordered... Went down to the Lindenhoff the other evening to take a look at all of their new remodeling and additions that has been going on for several months. The Terrace Lounge, on the second floor is so beautiful and relaxing. You will enjoy the Patio Dining Room. Watch next week, for a complete review on the Lindenhoff, and its new additions... At the Holiday Drive-In Theatre, a real fine pix is currently playing, "Joe Kidd", with Clint Eastwood. Take it from me, it's exciting, and full of thrills. That's all I can tell you about it. Go see it at the Holiday Drive-In or the North High Drive-In... Don't forget the Dobbs House at the Airport. If you want a feast for a king or just a simple, delicious sandwich, this is the spot for you. Their steak is the best in town, and pardon the pun, that's a mouth full. My pick of the litter, Jo Kiser, is still at the Lincoln Lodge. This gal is the best single act I've seen in many a moon. And, what a doll. She is loaded with talent, too...Kuenning's, a famous restaurant in town for many years, keeps serving up darn good food. Take my word for it, you will always have a pleasant dining experience at Kuenning's. If you have not been there for awhile, give yourself a treat, dine at Kuennings soon. You won't be sorry.

SBA Loans Show Rise

Frank D. Ray, Director of the Columbus District Office of the Small Business Administration (SBA), this week noted the huge increase of SBA lending activity in the past few years in Franklin County. SBA activity from 1967 to present in the county is as follows: 1967, 8 loans, $175,000; 1968, 31 loans, $1,468,000; 1969, 44 loans, $1,829,000; 1070, 36 loans, $1,749,000; 1971, 120 loans $4,900,000 and 1972 (January-June), 85 loans, $4,122,000.

CUBBYHOLE COOKING

By MYRNA McCAULEY

Breakfast Surprises

The "Body-Beautiful" needs some nourishment early in the morning. And you don't need a degree in nutrition to figure that out – just listen to your stomach. Then coddle yourself into it somehow, even it if means choosing your own self-styled approach.

How about breakfast in bed? Prepared ahead, yet. The night before, set a small tray with a 5½ ounce can of fruit juice, an individual package of cold cereal, dishes and utensils, and place the tray on a shelf in the refrigerator. In the morning when the alarm rings, paddle out of bed, pour the milk and take your breakfast back to bed. Give yourself a good ten minutes or so for breakfast and the local wake-up show on radio. Or, consider this next approach.

BAKE YOUR breakfast while your exercise. This method is for the athletically inclined who rise and shine. Breakfast bakes while you jog around the neighborhood or do morning sit-ups.

A jogger's breakfast menu can consist of canned pears with nutmeg and grated lemon rind, skirred eggs, oven-fried bacon, a bakery muffin, milk and coffee.

To prepare, preheat oven to 325 degrees. In a leftover TV dinner fray, place bacon strips in the largest section and place fait and muffin in two of the smaller sections. Grease the fourth section with butter and break an egg into it. Spoon a tablespoon of milk over egg, dot with butter or sprinkle with shredded cheese. Do not cover tray. Bake 18 to 20 minutes, or until whites of eggs are set but yolk is still soft. (Note: Frozen breakfasts are available at some supermarkets.)

ALWAYS IN a hurry? For breakfast on the run, down a glass of protein-balanced instant breakfast – the kind you mix with milk. Just the thing for late sleepers and slow starters.

If you drive to work, eat en route. Fresh fruit. Packaged cereal. Get your milk at the office vending machine. If you walk, much along the way. And the peanuts you'd feed to the squirrels, you yourself can eat for extra protein.

The important thing to remember – put away some vitamins, protein and dairy products early in the day. How you go about it is up to you. If traditional-type breakfasts turn you off, branch out and dream up your own combinations. Some suggestions.

BREAKFASTS for liberated appetites - A bowl of tomato soup and crackers. Hamburger on a bun, garnished with orange slices, milk on the side. Apple pie a la mode. Caviar and brown bread, Russian-style – plus milk. Peach and cottage cheese salad with cinnamon toast. Peanut butter and banana slices on toast, with a glass of milk. If the combination is nutritious and your appetite is willing – go ahead, eat what you like and call it breakfast.

When the weekend rolls around, think about a breakfast party for a very easy way to entertain. Invite a few friends and convert a late morning breakfast into two meals at once (otherwise known as brunch).

Stick with a traditional menu of orange juice, scrambled eggs and bacon, followed by coffee cake or doughnuts for dessert. Or, try your hand at Quinche Lorraine. It's very continental, but simple to do. Start out with Bloody Marys, serve a green salad with the Quiche and finish with fresh whole strawberries in champagne.

QUICHE LORRAINE

9-inch frozen pie crust shell
7½-oz. can crabmeat, drained and cartilage removed
¼ cup minced onion
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
3 eggs
2 cups half-and-half light cream
1 tsp. salt
dash pepper
dash cayenne red pepper

Preheat oven at 400 degrees. Distribute crabmeat, onion and cheese evenly in frozen pie crust shell. Beat eggs over so lightly; then beat in cream and seasonings. Pour mixture over crabmeat, onion and cheese. Bake 25 to 35 minutes, or until knife inserted an inch from edge comes out clean. Cool 10 to 15 minutes. Serve in pie-shaped wedges. 6 servings.

Substitutions for crabmeat: ½ lb. bacon, crisply fried and crumbled or ½ lb. diced cooked ham.

SERVING TIP: Set the baked Quiche, in its pie pan, on a cake pedestal. Bring it to the table and serve before your guests.

33 Firms Receive Safety Awards

Thirty-three Columbus business firms have won awards in an area-wide 1971 industrial safety campaign.

Winners either had 100 percent safety records - meaning no loss of working time from industrial accidents during the year-or they had the best of records among their particular type of industry.

The Chamber of Commerce's Safety Council conducted the campaign in the Franklin County Area in cooperation with the Industrial Commission.

Awards are based on monthly reports filed with the Safety Council. The reports show average number of employees for the month, total man-hours worked and number of reportable disabling injuries.

..Seventeen firms receiving both group and perfect safety record awards were: Hughes Scott Frank Company, Sun Oil Company, Graybar Electric Company, B. F. Goodrich Company, Modern Brass Foundry & Mfg. Co., Fell Funeral Home & Amb. Service, Southern Hotel, The Capital Elevator & Mfg. Co., Rosten Slacks, Modern Tool Die & Machine Company, White Castle System Restaurants, Western Union Telegraph Company, The Johnstown Lumber Company, Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., Benjamin Franklin Hospital, Steeles Columbus Dental Mfg. and Warner P. Simpson Company.

..Nine firms receiving perfect safety awards were: The Shaw Davis Company, Orton Ceramic Foundation, Miraplas Tile Company, Travelers Insurance Company, Columbus Industrial Association, Mill Mutuals, Franklin Plating Company, The Ohio Bedding Company, Inc. and Cott Index Company.

..Ten firms receiving group awards were; The Kroger Company, Diamond Milk Products, Inc., J. I. Gates Milling Company, R. E. A. Express, Warren-Teed Pharmaceuticals Co., Columbus Outdoor Advertising Co., North American Rockwell Corp., Julian & Kokenge Company, Columbus Show Case Company and Herman Falter Packing Co.

Flambeau To Meet

THE ENERGY CRISIS IS THREATENING YOUR WAY OF LIFE

H.R. 2513
S. 2467

These numbers will affect the way you live.

The numbers identify bills now pending in Congress—House bill 2513 and Senate bill 2467.

These bills can help solve a crisis that could soon affect the living habits of every American. They deal with the nation's growing energy shortage.

H. R. 2513 and S. 2467 are proposed amendments to the Natural Gas Act. Known as the Sanctity of Contract bills, they are a significant part of a total effort to stimulate badly needed domestic gas exploration and development.

The search for new gas supplies in this country has declined steadily in the past fifteen years, the number of exploratory wells dropping by 50%. Why? Because producers' costs have risen substantially faster than government-controlled gas prices, resulting in wholly inadequate economic incentives for gas exploration.

These bills set more realistic standards for determining gas prices. They will also assure producers that once prices and other economic terms of contracts have been approved by the Federal Power Commission, they will not subsequently be changed.

H. R. 2513 and S. 2467 are two of the best hopes for increasing gas supplies now before Congress. Help assure their approval. Write to your Senators and Representative today. Let them know you are concerned about the growing energy crisis and urge them to support these bills. Help prevent the energy crisis from becoming a disaster.

Pictured above is Snoopy and his brother. The famous dog will be appearing in a brand new movie, "Snoopy, Come Home", opening July 26 at Carousel East, Camalot North, Forum and Westland I. To celebrate the opening, The Spectator Newspaper and Dokter Pet Centers will conduct a coloring contest. All you have to do to win three AKC Purebred puppies is to color the cartoon in next weeks Spectator and name Snoopy's Brother. There will be three first place winners, one from each of the Dokter Pet Centers, Eastland, Northland and Westland, plus 24 second place winners. Be sure to read next week's Spectator for all the details.

OSU Chorus In Concert

The Ohio State University Summer Chorus, under the direction of Maurice Casey, will present a concert with the University's Summer Band, Donald E. McGinnis, conductor, Friday, July 21, at 8 p.m. at Mershon. Among the special features of the program will be performances by faculty artists Paul Hickfang, bass-baritone, and Richard Burkart, trumpet.

AROUND TOWN

MARCO POLO'S LOUNGE

Attention Columbus. Another new night club-lounge has opened in our City that promises to be another great night spot for us night folk. It is called Marco Polo's Lounge and is located on West Fifth Avenue in the spot that used to be the old El Diablo.

For the first time in its history, this lounge is going to be one of the swingingest spots Around Town. I say this for several reasons. First, the opening night crowd last Monday would have impressed anybody. Secondly, the place is owned and managed with the best that money can buy.

Mark Adams, who is no stranger to the nightlife in Columbus, is the president and general manager of the lounge. And then, the host, or greeter, or PR man, (he can wear many hats) is the famous and well-liked, Buddy Joyce.

No matter what time of the day or night you walk in, there are always plenty of single guys and gals. Mark and Buddy make certain that this place swings, and that when you walk in, you are going to have a good time.

Caliope, a way-out trio, is currently providing the entertainment at Marco Polo's Lounge. While they are holding down the fort this week, Mark is already working on a group for next week. He also has several top name outfits lined up.

Take my word for it, Marco Polo's Lounge is going to be one of the best fun spots in Columbus. The first night already proved this to be true.

While it swings, it is also a very intimate lounge, offering plenty of cozy atmosphere and lots of dark corners. There is dancing every night, which is rather difficult to find anymore.

Marco Polo's Lounge is named after the famous adventurer. And, rightly so, because a visit to the Marco Polo's Lounge, will prove to be a happy, way-out adventure for you. It was packed opening night, and I know it will be packed just about every night in the future. I, for one, will help make this true. The next time someone says, "Let's take a trip," make it Marco Polo's Lounge.

Here is some good news for all my drinking buddies. I'm going to tell you the best bargain in town, when it comes to booze. The place is the Sports Forum Lounge, located in the rear of Howard Johnson's on Route 161 and I-71.

You and I have both heard, in our life time, of some pretty great cocktail hours. But, this one takes the prize. Their cocktail hour runs all day and night, from opening to closing. Now get this, any drink you order, bourbon, whiskey, martinis, you get a double shot of liquor. The price? It is cheaper than they were selling single shots for last week. This is not a one time promotion. This is the Sports Forum's new permanent policy.

Just think, double martini, manhattan and regular is only 85c. Top shelf spirits, double serving, $1.00.

This alone is well worth the trip to the Sports Forum Lounge. However, in my opinion, there is much more. For example, this is one of the cozyiest lounges in the city. It is a great place to take that special someone for intimate conversation. It is really a fun place.

All of this has been brought about because of Bobby Walters. Bobby is the new food and beverage manager at Howard Johnson's. While he may be new here, Bobby has been with the Howard Johnson's chain for over 14 years. This man has plenty on the ball, along with lots of determination to make this place go.

All I can say is, Bobby sure has started off with a bang. Take my advice, for a bang up good time, go to the Sports Forum Lounge, at Howard Johnson's, Route 161.

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

Loads of news of night life Around Town this week. First, that sexy singer of song, Susan Lambi, is now at the Sheraton Airport Inn. This gal has a fine voice, pleasing personality and a million dollar figure. She also accompanies herself on the organ. This gal is a darn good entertainer. You'll enjoy her, plus the fine food at the Sheraton Airport... Joe Hillman is back in town, and Holiday Inn East has got him. Joe is the new general manager of the Holiday Inn East. He is not a newcomer to Columbus. Joe has held executives positions with many of the large operations

Around Town . . .

Around Town, including the old Deshler. Stop out and say hello to Joe, he'll be glad to see all his old friends... Petty's Restaurant has a new front. Watch, when you drive by, you probably won't recognize the place. Now, I can say it is gorgeous, inside and out. Of course, there is no change in the food. After all, you can't improve on something superb. This has to be a must on your dining schedule. You'll love the atmosphere, and all that good, homemade Italian food... The Dave Hopkins Trio, is the new entertainment at the Holiday Inn-Reynoldsburg. These three fellows are tops, playing all types of good music. More on them in next weeks column. You will catch them at the Holiday Inn-Reynoldsburg, Thursday through Saturday. They are just what the Doctor ordered... Went down to the Lindenhoff the other evening to take a look at all of their new remodeling and additions that has been going on for several months. The Terrace Lounge, on the second floor is so beautiful and relaxing. You will enjoy the Patio Dining Room. Watch next week, for a complete review on the Lindenhoff, and its new additions... At the Holiday Drive-In Theatre, a real fine pix is currently playing, "Joe Kidd", with Clint Eastwood. Take it from me, it's exciting, and full of thrills. That's all I can tell you about it. Go see it at the Holiday Drive-In or the North High Drive-In... Don't forget the Dobbs House at the Airport. If you want a feast for a king or just a simple, delicious sandwich, this is the spot for you. Their steak is the best in town, and pardon the pun, that's a mouth full. My pick of the litter, Jo Kiser, is still at the Lincoln Lodge. This gal is the best single act I've seen in many a moon. And, what a doll. She is loaded with talent, too...Kuenning's, a famous restaurant in town for many years, keeps serving up darn good food. Take my word for it, you will always have a pleasant dining experience at Kuenning's. If you have not been there for awhile, give yourself a treat, dine at Kuennings soon. You won't be sorry.

SBA Loans Show Rise

Frank D. Ray, Director of the Columbus District Office of the Small Business Administration (SBA), this week noted the huge increase of SBA lending activity in the past few years in Franklin County. SBA activity from 1967 to present in the county is as follows: 1967, 8 loans, $175,000; 1968, 31 loans, $1,468,000; 1969, 44 loans, $1,829,000; 1070, 36 loans, $1,749,000; 1971, 120 loans $4,900,000 and 1972 (January-June), 85 loans, $4,122,000.

CUBBYHOLE COOKING

By MYRNA MCCAULEY

Breakfast Surprises

The "Body-Beautiful" needs some nourishment early in the morning. And you don't need a degree in nutrition to figure that out – just listen to your stomach. Then coddle yourself into it somehow, even it if means choosing your own self-styled approach.

How about breakfast in bed? Prepared ahead, yet. The night before, set a small tray with a 5½ ounce can of fruit juice, an individual package of cold cereal, dishes and utensils, and place the tray on a shelf in the refrigerator. In the morning when the alarm rings, paddle out of bed, pour the milk and take your breakfast back to bed. Give yourself a good ten minutes or so for breakfast and the local wake-up show on radio. Or, consider this next approach.

BAKE YOUR breakfast while your exercise. This method is for the athletically inclined who rise and shine. Breakfast bakes while you jog around the neighborhood or do morning sit-ups.

A jogger's breakfast menu can consist of canned pears with nutmeg and grated lemon rind, shirred eggs, oven-fried bacon, a bakery muffin, milk and coffee.

To prepare, preheat oven to 325 degrees. In a leftover TV dinner tray, place bacon strips in the largest section and place fuit and muffin in two of the smaller sections. Grease the fourth section with butter and break an egg into it. Spoon a tablespoon of milk over egg, dot with butter or sprinkle with shredded cheese. Do not cover tray. Bake 18 to 20 minutes, or until whites of eggs are set but yolk is still soft. (Note: Frozen breakfasts are available at some supermarkets.)

ALWAYS IN a hurry? For breakfast on the run, down a glass of protein-balanced instant breakfast – the kind you mix with milk. Just the thing for late sleepers and slow starters.

If you drive to work, eat en route. Fresh fruit. Packaged cereal. Get your milk at the office vending machine. If you walk, much along the way. And the peanuts you'd feed to the squirrels, you yourself can eat for extra protein.

The important thing to remember – put away some vitamins, protein and dairy products early in the day. How you go about it is up to you. If traditional-type breakfasts turn you off, branch out and dream up your own combinations. Some suggestions.

BREAKFASTS for liberated appetites - A bowl of tomato soup and crackers. Hamburger on a bun, garnished with orange slices, milk on the side. Apple pie a la mode. Caviar and brown bread, Russian-style – plus milk. Peach and cottage cheese salad with cinnamon toast. Peanut butter and banana slices on toast, with a glass of milk. If the combination is nutritious and your appetite is willing – go ahead, eat what you like and call it breakfast.

When the weekend rolls around, think about a breakfast party for a very easy way to entertain. Invite a few friends and convert a late morning breakfast into two meals at once (otherwise known as brunch).

Stick with a traditional menu of orange juice, scrambled eggs and bacon, followed by coffee cake or doughnuts for dessert. Or, try your hand at Quinche Lorraine. It's very continental, but simple to do. Start out with Bloody Marys, serve a green salad with the Quiche and finish with fresh whole strawberries in champagne.

QUICHE LORRAINE

9-inch frozen pie crust shell
⅓ cup minced onion
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
3 eggs
2 cups half-and-half light cream
1 tsp. salt
dash pepper
dash cayenne red pepper

Preheat oven at 400 degrees. Distribute crabmeat, onion and cheese evenly in frozen pie crust shell. Beat eggs over so lightly; then beat in cream and seasonings. Pour mixture over crabmeat, onion and cheese. Bake 25 to 35 minutes, or until knife inserted an inch from edge comes out clean. Cool 10 to 15 minutes. Serve in pie-shaped wedges. 6 servings.

Substitutions for crabmeat: ½ lb. bacon, crisply fried and crumbled or ½ lb. diced cooked ham.

SERVING TIP: Set the baked Quiche, in its pie pan, on a cake pedestal. Bring it to the table and serve before your guests.

33 Firms Receive Safety Awards

Thirty-three Columbus business firms have won awards in an area-wide 1971 industrial safety campaign.

Winners either had 100 percent safety records - meaning no loss of working time from industrial accidents during the year-or they had the best of records among their particular type of industry.

The Chamber of Commerce's Safety Council conducted the campaign in the Franklin County Area in cooperation with the Industrial Commission.

Awards are based on monthly reports filed with the Safety Council. The reports show average number of employees for the month, total man-hours worked and number of reportable disabling injuries.

..Seventeen firms receiving both group and perfect safety record awards were: Hughes Scott Frank Company, Sun Oil Company, Graybar Electric Company, B. F. Goodrich Company, Modern Brass Foundry & Mfg. Co., Fell Funeral Home & Amb. Service, Southern Hotel, The Capital Elevator & Mfg. Co., Reston Slacks, Modern Tool Die & Machine Company, White Castle System Restaurants, Western Union Telegraph Company, The Johnstown Lumber Company, Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., Benjamin Franklin Hospital, Steeles Columbus Dental Mfg. and Warner P. Simpson Company.

..Nine firms receiving perfect safety awards were: The Shaw Davis Company, Orton Ceramic Foundation, Miraplas Tile Company, Travelers Insurance Company, Columbus Industrial Association, Mill Mutuals, Franklin Plating Company, The Ohio Bedding Company, Inc. and Coff Index Company.

..Ten firms receiving group awards were: The Kroger Company, Diamond Milk Products, Inc., J. I. Gates Milling Company, R. E. A. Express, Warren-Teed Pharmaceuticals Co., Columbus Outdoor Advertising Co., North American Rockwell Corp., Julian & Kokenge Company, Columbus Show Case Company and Herman Falter Packing Co.

Flambeau To Meet

Engagement and wedding announcements are printed in The Spectator Newspaper free of charge.

Corn Festival Needs Entries

The 1972 Millersport Sweet Corn Festival will have a variety amateur show at 8 p.m. Thursday, August 31.

Musicians, singing groups, along with talented young dancers and others of many different talents, who would like to expose themselves to the public are invited to participate.

This will be the seventh year for the event.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the best groups as follows: 1st, $50, 2nd, $25, 3rd, $15 and 4th, $10.

Anyone interested, can contact Richard Harlow, 467-6901, or P.O. Box 506, Millersport, Ohio 43046, or Ed Brookover, 467-3943.

Poster Contest Scheduled

High school students may participate in the National "Hire the Veteran" poster contest. Prizes will be awarded at local and state level.

National Poster Contest prizes are: 1st, $1,500 Scholarship; 2nd, $1,000 Scholarship and 3rd, $500 Scholarship.

Poster judging at local level is scheduled for September 29. State winners will be selected October 5.

THE ENERGY CRISIS IS THREATENING YOUR WAY OF LIFE
S. 2467
These numbers will affect the way you live.

The numbers identify bills now pending in Congress—House bill 2513 and Senate bill 2467.

These bills can help solve a crisis that could soon affect the living habits of every American. They deal with the nation's growing energy shortage.

H. R. 2513 and S. 2467 are proposed amendments to the Natural Gas Act. Known as the Sanctity of Contract bills, they are a significant part of a total effort to stimulate badly needed domestic gas exploration and development.

The search for new gas supplies in this country has declined steadily in the past fifteen years, the number of exploratory wells dropping by 50%. Why? Because producers' costs have risen substantially faster than government-controlled gas prices, resulting in wholly inadequate economic incentives for gas exploration.

These bills set more realistic standards for determining gas prices. They will also assure producers that once prices and other economic terms of contracts have been approved by the Federal Power Commission, they will not subsequently be changed.

H. R. 2513 and S. 2467. are two of the best hopes for increasing gas supplies now before Congress. Help assure their approval. Write to your Senators and Representative today. Let them know you are concerned about the growing energy crisis and urge them to support these bills. Help prevent the energy crisis from becoming a disaster.

Social Security Due For Increase

Social Security beneficiaries need not apply for the 20 per cent benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon July 1.

James B. Illencik, Social Security District Manager in Columbus, said today that all social security beneficiaries who are on the benefit rolls in September will receive the increase automatically. The increase is effective beginning the payments for the month of September. This increase will be included in checks received October 3 which represents payment for the previous month.

The average monthly benefit for a retired worker goes up from $134 to $162; for a retired couple from $224 to about $271. A widowed mother with two children will receive an average social security benefit of about $386, up from $322.

For a disabled worker with a wife and one or more children, the new average monthly payment will be about $354, increased from $295. The special monthly payments that are made to certain individuals age 72 and over who are not insured for regular social security cash benefits will also be increased by 20 per cent, from $48.20 to $58 for an individual and from $72.50 to $87 for a couple.

THE NEW law also includes a provision for automatic annual increases in social security benefits as the cost of living rises in the future--a recommendation made by President Nixon in his 1969 message on social security.

Under the new law the contribution and benefit base--the maximum amount of annual earning that is counted for benefit and contribution purposes--will rise from the present $9,000 a year to $10,800 in 1973 and to $12,000 in 1974.

Thereafter, this amount would be adjusted automatically to keep pace with rising wages. This means that as earnings rise workers whose earnings are at or above the level of the maximum earnings base will pay contributions on higher earnings--but they also will have those additional earnings counted toward the benefits that will be payable to them and their families in the future.

Whose Garden Is This?

BY RICHARD L. PAUGH

(THROUGH YOUR LOCAL TB ASSN.)

All during the 14 months of hearings on the stripmine bill, legislators were hounded and honored by moneyed men representing the coal mine owners. Although they did not bother to register, these men AND WOMEN were doing what is called "lobbying".

To lobby means to call, write, or talk in person to lawmakers in an attempt to influence their decisions concerning legislation. The term came from the fact that active lobbyists work in the halls and lobbys outside the hearing rooms and House and Senate floors.

In one way these "legislative agents" perform a valuable service. A lawmaker (half of them are attorneys) can only know about a few facts of the complex modern world around them. Lobbyists are specialists who can furnish answers to specific questions for the lawmakers.

Many lobbyists, like myself, represent the people at large. Others represent money-making interests such as industries, associations of professional people, unions, or farmers.

The amount of power a lobbyist has with the lawmakers is directly proportionate to the amount of votes OR money he has back of him and can call into battle.

During the pitched battle between environmentalists and the gross national product, most laws are still being made to strongly favor the vested interests.

The classic example is the building of an Ohio Environmental Protection Agency. Early drafts of both the House version (H.B. 411) and the Senate version (S.B. 397) were apt to turn the tide during the next few years.

Now, after three different drafts of 411 and five different drafts of 397, almost all of the strength is gone. The money men have had the audacity to call the lawmakers away from the committee hearings to press their points home.

Several people representing electric companies and farmers have actually written the complete amendments and had them passed. They have actually been invited to sit at the committee table and enter into the decision making right in front of the packed audience.

The most needed laws in Ohio concern the conduct of ALL lobbyists. They should be halted from throwing legislative breakfasts and cocktail parties. They should be kept out of the decision-making processes, and they should be made to wear badges identifying themselves and the people they represent, myself included.

Money should not be the common denominator of all lawmaking.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Before you vote for a lawmaker, ask him if he is willing to help control lobbyists.

Ballard Kirk Named Boss Of 1972-73

The 1972-73 Boss of the Year for Flambeau Chapter of American Business Women's Association is Ballard H.T. Kirk.

His selection was announced recently at the Annual Boss Night meeting of Flambeau Chapter, at the Scioto Country Club. Kirk is president and chairman of the board of Ballard H.T. Kirk and Associates, president of Sigma Development Corp., director of King Blue Print Company, president of Metro Urban Corp., chairman of Omege Properties Company, and director of Hallmark Investment Corp.

Hearings Are Set By State

The Ohio Commission on Local Government Services has announced hearings to ask citizens what levels of government should deliver what services to Ohioans.

The 50-member bipartisan Commission was formed three months ago by Governor John J. Gilligan to recommend improvements in the State's public service delivery system.

The Franklin County hearing will be held in Columbus, July 28, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Sheraton-Columbus Motor Hotel, 50 N. 3rd St.

Chairman of the Commission is Robert H. Rawson, president of the Empire Plow Co., Cleveland. Vice-chairman is Dennis Durden, operating vice-president--urban affairs, Federated Department Stores, Inc., Cincinnati.

"The Commission hopes to learn from experts and other interested citizens how our services can be improved, better organized and better financed," Rawson said.

The Commission is inviting experts from county, city, township and village governments; civic organizations; business and industry; special interest groups and concerned individuals to tell what new or improved services are needed, and how services should be financed.

State Tax Hikes Raise Half-Billion

The new state income tax and a revised corporate franchise tax produced $347,329.69 during the 1971-72 fiscal year, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported.

In addition, a five cent increase in the cigarette tax helped boost cigarette tax revenue for 1971-72 to more than $151 million (up from almost $114 million).

Classroom Art Is Subject

The College of The Arts at Ohio State University will sponsor a one-day workshop concentrating on "The Role of the Arts in the Open Classroom," on Friday, July 21, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Mershon Auditorium's fourth floor.

The workshop is under the direction of Dr. Keith Thompson, of the Music faculty. Dr. Martha King, of the College of Education, will appear as the featured speaker, discussing the open classroom concept.

There is no registration fee for the workshop and interested teachers, both arts specialists and those more concerned with the full-time use of the open classroom concept, are invited to attend.

Senior Citizens - Here's Action

1100 E. BROAD

Drop-In card games daily at 1 p.m. at 1100 East Broad Senior Citizens Center will be held instead of the Progressive Card Parties. Although games may be played anytime during center hours, the suggested drop-in schedule is as follows: Monday - Canasta; Tuesday - Pinochle; Wednesday - Euchre; Thursday - Bridge and Friday - Whist. Members are also asked to sign the card folders at the desk if they would like to be called on when a third or fourth is needed. There will be no charges or prizes.

An afternoon Tea Dance will be held Friday, June 21, from 2 to 4 p.m. for all senior citizens. Mrs. Pearl Marks will play records for dancing and special refreshments will be served.

Half price fair tickets for senior citizens are available at 1100 E. Broad Center now through the Ohio State Fair for 75 cents. There is no limit on the number of tickets but they must be used only by senior citizens.

Drama members will be performing at the Ohio State Fair again this year. Any senior citizens who would like to take part should meet Tuesdays at 3 p.m.

A writing circle meets Thursdays at 2 p.m. Senior citizens may join this creative group of 1100 writers interested in criticism, suggestions and encouragement.

MCDOWELL CENTER

Mrs. Dickerson will resume her sewing class Monday, July 24 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Puppets will take their troups to Children's Hospital at 2 p.m. Tuesday, July 25.

The drama group, in preparation for their performance at the Ohio State Fair, meet each and every Wednesday from 3 to 4 p.m. Interested members are invited to join in the fun.

SECOND AND SUMMIT

Time to start planning for our really big trip...14 days in Hawaii, September 30 to October 15. The cost of the trip is $834. For additional information, please call Lois Gordon, Second and Summit Senior Citizens' Recreation Center, 294-3737.

During the month of August, Fridays, 1 until 3:30 p.m., a class will be conducted on decorating Note and Gift cards. To participate in this and all the short summer courses, please sign up at the hostess desk.

There will be no French Classes until further notice.

Our next trip will be a baseball trip to see the Cincinnati Redlegs on Sunday, August 6, 1972. We will leave at 9:30 a.m. and return immediately after the game is over. The game will feature the Cincinnati Reds vs. the Atlanta Braves. The cost is $10.50 and it includes transportation and reserved box seats. Lunch will be on your own at the Forum Cafeteria.

Don't Forget....Thursday, July 20 at 1:00 the Progressive Bridge Party. Everyone is welcome to come and play.

AT THE FAIR

Half-price Ohio State Fair tickets for senior citizens are on sale at the Columbus Recreation Department's Golden Hobby Shop. Tickets are also available at all six senior citizen recreation centers.

This year, for the first time, Franklin County senior citizens will be able to sell their handcrafted items at the Fair.

Four Columbus residents are serving on the 36-member task force preparing for the senior citizen activities at the 1972 Ohio State Fair, it was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, Director, Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

They are: Mrs. Catherine Gillie, supervisor of senior centers for the Columbus Recreation Department; James Illencik, manager of the Columbus district Social Security office; James Willis of Nationwide Insurance's Medicare office; and Princess Wilson, director of services at Worley Terrace.

The task force, appointed by the Department's Division of Administration on Aging, is in charge of planning each day's program from August 24 through September 2.

Each day's program will include talent shows, dance contest, cookie bake-off competition, award presentations and a reception. New this year is the sale of items handmade by older people.

Franklin County's special day at the fair will be Tuesday, August 29.

Tickets are available at the six Columbus Recreation Department Senior Centers, Medicare Service Offices and branches of Dollar Federal Savings and Loan.

At The Parks This Week

BLACKLICK WOODS: The park's nature center is open Wednesdays through Sundays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Special display topic this weekend will be trees, with special talks on the subject Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

DARBY CREEK: A night hike to explore the sights and sounds of the park after sundown will be held Friday evening, July 28, at 9 p.m., beginning from the lodge.

SHARON WOODS: This week's Wednesday evening movie is "Patterns of the Wild," a description of animal life in various parts of our national forest system. Films are shown at 8 p.m. in the Nature Barn. Park naturalist Jim Stahl will conclude his travel-slides series Thursday, July 27, at 8 p.m. in the Nature Barn. This week's topic is the American West.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources, through the Division of Parks and Recreation, pursuant to, and in accordance with the provisions of Sections 1501.09 and 1501.10 of the Ohio Revised Code proposes to lease for the operation of a Miscellaneous Refreshment Stand (Snack Bar) for both summer and winter, located in the Ski Chalet Concession Stand at Punderson State Park, Geauga County, Ohio.

Official bid proposals will be received in the Office of Management and Budget until 2:00 p.m., E.S.T., August 7, 1972. Bids will be publicly opened thereafter by the Deputy Director or his authorized agent. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

The lease will be for a term of four (4) years and one (1) month, from September 1, 1972 to October 1, 1976. The operational periods, in the winter, shall be limited to those times when conditions make possible use of the winter sports area by the public. The summer period of operations are included in the specifications.

The Division of Parks and Recreation will furnish Snack Bar Facilities, located within Chalet Building, and equipment, as specified in bid specifications

The Concessionaire will furnish all other equipment, merchandise, supplies, utilities and labor necessary to operate the concession to approved standards.

Requests for bid proposal forms should be made to the: Department of Natural Resources, Office of Management and Budget, 904 Ohio Departments Building, Columbus, Ohio 43215. Phone: (614) 469-5096.

Clown Contests Highlight Playground Fare

Registration deadline for the City Track and Field Championships is Monday at 9 p.m. The city-wide competition will be held July 27-28.

FAR EAST CENTER

A BUBBLE Gum Contest is on tap for tonight (7 p.m.) with the center providing the gum.

The Junior Boys softball team scored its first victory last week – 3-1 over Shady Lane. Pacing the "Deadheads" is slugger Matt Taylor (hitting over .500). Next game is tomorrow vs Leawood (2 p.m.).

Thirteen animals (including two gerbils, a rabbit and a turtle) were entered at last week's Pet Show.

BARNETT CENTER

The gals set the pace as Barnett finished second in Sectional track competition.

Scoring blue ribbons were Debbie Chambers (high jump), Sherry Moore (50-yd. burdles) and the 440-yard relay teams of Gail Dickens, Patty Devaney, Cathy Conner, Sandy Dickins, Jennie Jones, Kathy Devaney, Beth Overfield and Meg Young.

OTHER point scorers included Lisa Doane, Nick Voloson and Dave Scholz.

It was also a big week for the softball teams as the Junior Girls downed Fairmoor (7-6), the Intermediate Girls also toppled Fairmoor (12-8) and the Junior Boys defeated (right, Fairmoor), 5-1.

Paula Simons (first place) and Mickey Turner (second) topped all entries in the Bubble Gum Contest.

HELPING to make the play "H.M. and the Animals" a smash hit at Barnett last week were Sharon and Sandy Shriver, Paula Simons, Marie, Tom and Billy Kirwin and Valerie and Jeff Headly.

COURTRIGHT

"Clown Night" will be Friday at 7 p.m.

BERWICK

SALLY ZACKS (softball throw), Howard Zeldin and Lance Platt (shotput) picked up first-place honors in Sectional Track competition last week.

The Intermediate Girls, Intermediate Boys and Junior Boys scored softball wins last week while the Junior Girls lost out to Pinecrest.

"Birth of an Anthill" was Berwick's play last week and top roles were performed by Cecci Claprood, Cheryl Edison, Tim Galloway, Vent and Vince Ireland, David and Debby Levine and Jody Hansen.

EASTHAVEN

MARK STEVENSON, of 3020 Easthaven, and Larry Anglin, of 2389 Clarkston Ln., scored points in the softball throw and shot put respectively for Easthaven at the Sectional Track Meet last week.

JAMES ROAD

Arts and crafts projects this week will include making baskets, wood structures, pencil holders and paper mache.

Two victories in softball competition were compiled last week – the Intermediate Girls squeezing past Pinecrest, 5-4, and the Intermediate Boys downing Fairmoor (behind Stan Kearns three RBIS). Joe Knofel will return to the lineup this week vs Pinecrest.

LISA SINDEL and Diana Wheelen placed fourth and fifth respectively in long jump competition at the Sectional Track Meet.

FAIRMOOR

Cast members included: Michelle Monroe, Lori Dorn, Michelle Burkley, Marnita Reffett, Kristi Dorn, Sue Reiser, Mike Thompson, April Smith, Vicki Puchovich, Steve Hoffman, Chip Ayotte, Kelly Ayotte, Tom Kotevski, Debbie Roberts, Donna Bouchard, Mary Panthana, Cindi Hutton, Vicki Puchovich, Jimmy Puchovich, Terry Panthana, Amy Blake, Brenda Speakman, Tad Hannah, Stephanie Hughes, Mark Thompson, Marsha Reffett, Debbie Ashbury, Susan Bouchard and Dianne Ashburn.

PINECREST

Pinecrest's Drama Festival last week was a big success. Actors involved included: Judy Fishking, Beth Anne Shipman, Marianne Marshall, Jodi Schaut, Robin Duff, Mike Coleman, Kim Coleman, Margaret Immel, Beth Ann Brower, Kenny Vedrinski, Laura Vedrinski and Sara Immel.

In Junior Baseball last week, the Reds beat the Pirates, 12-8. Leading hitters to date are: Tim Waters and Bill Purpura (.1000), Mike Queck (.750), Dave Andrecht and Roger Pinnick (.667).

THE INTERMEDIATE Girls lost a toughie, 6-5, to James Road despite fine defensive play by Brenda Brower, Lisa Clellan and Brenda Grodhaus.

KIM VEDRINSKI scored a blue ribbon in the softball throw while Christi Matzke captured second. The quartet of Marriane Marshall, Jody Schaub, Kathy Gust and Kim Vedrinski took a fourth in the 440-yd. relay.

SCOTTWOOD

Scottwood is busy preparing for the Barnett Drama Festival with Larry Hetzer, Kelly Ellsworth, Tina Donaldson, Lisa Gillen and Vada Maupin helping with the scenery.

Scottwood children will be presenting their version of "The Three Wishes" in puppetry form. Handling the puppets will be Eric VanBibber, Larry Hetzer, Jeff Collins, Lisa Gillen and Tina Donaldson.

CHERYL GILLEN and Velva Maupin are champs in the city-wide horseshoe tournament competition. Cheryl won, 62-38, while Velva claimed a 66-35 victory.

SHADY LANE

Ed Hilbert was the big news for Shady Lane at the Sectional Track Meet – taking firsts in the running triple jump and standing broad jump besides adding a second in the 100-yd. dash.

The PeeWee Boys were the lone softball winners, blasting Leawood, 16-3. On the losing side were the Junior Girls (19-14 to Maybury), Junior Boys (3-1 to Far East) and Intermediate Boys (14-5 to Maybury).

TOP EVENT for the week will be the Clown Contest Friday.

OAKMONT

Ribbons will go to the most original, unique and colorful clowns Friday during competition which begins at 7 p.m.

Bill Spencer's six-hitter paced the Junior Boys to a victory over Woodcrest while the Junior Girls slammed Olde Orchard, 24-2, and the PeeWee Boys bounced their Woodcrest counterparts, 13-2.

BOB STEPHENSON defeated Scott Macaulay, the Walnut Hills CC champ, in an inter-playground playoff last week.

Mike Pestano won the chess championship in a single-elimination tournament.

Mary Jean Kines and Margaret Tauscher starred in "The Country Mouse and the City Mouse" at Woodcrest last week. Other cast members included Brenda Norban (other Country Mouse), Kathy Tauscher (the cat), Teddy McNamara (the dog) and Michele Norban (narrator).

OLDE ORCHARD

SHAKING THE stage with a presentation from "Night Gallery" were Olde Orchard performers in the annual Drama Festival at Woodcrest last week.

Stars included Mary, Joanie and Guy Burge, Joe and Tim Schmitz, Bill, Mary, Barb and Debbie Carroll and Bonnie Wolf.

The Intermediates downed Oakmont in a heart-shaker, 12-9, last week but the Junior Boys and Junior Girls went down to defeat at the hands of Leawood and Oakmont respectively.

WOODCREST

WOODCREST softballers took it on the chin thrice last week - the Intermediate Boys losing to Willis Park (14-7), the Junior Boys dropping a 3-1 verdict to Oakmont and the PeeWees also losing to Oakmont, 12-0.

MAYBURY

Seven awards (cutest, most colorful, saddest, funniest, most original, happiest and "special") will be given at Friday's Clown Contest (6 p.m.).

Maybury's Pet Show is scheduled for Wednesday, July 26 (6:30 p.m.). Check the bulletin board for award classifications.

WILLIS PARK

WILLIS PARK boys softball teams won two of their four starts last week.

Andy Banas, George Snyder and Tim Palmore sparked the Seniors to victory over Leawood. The Intermediates (paced by Greg Ammerman and Mark Hale) downed Woodcrest.

Standouts in other games were Rusty Glenn, Ed Fisher, Reggie Easly and Mark Hart.

OUTSTANDING girl players last week included Lori Morrison, Rita Huecker and Bobby Little (Seniors) and Carolyn Little, Julie Schrader and Shelly Morrison (Juniors).

Placing for Willis at the Sectional Track Meet were Sherry Nungesten (third, softball throw), Wayne Fox (eighth, softball throw), Lori Morrison (second, high jump and broad jump and sixth in softball throw) and Debbie Meek (sixth, softball throw).

Suburban 'New Look' Leader

Heating, plumbing, air conditioning and electrical work are generally looked upon as a prosaic area of commerce.

But that theory has become a part of the past with the construction of the Suburban Heating Company's newest facility-a "Do-It-Yourself" center-at 805 Marion Rd.

AN INDUSTRY which was once considered dull has introduced a touch of glamour. Sparkling fixtures and equipment viewed through the plate glass front at Suburban stop contractors and home-owners alike.

Suburban Heating, with Gene Severt currently serving as Chairman of the Board, was founded 18 years ago.

Growth has necessitated several moves during that period.

IN LATE 1969 Suburban purchased a tract of land at 800 Marion Road. Early the next year a 10,000 sq. ft. building was erected.

But before the year could run its course, growth dictated an additional 2,000 sq. ft. of space be added.

A second Suburban Heating store was opened in Lancaster (Aug.1, 1970) with Jim Penron currently serving at the helm.

BUT SPACE still remained a problem, so-by mid-1971–a new 8,000 sq. ft. facility to house a Do-It-Yourself operation began taking form at 805 Marion Road.

The Do-It-Yourself center, which opened the following January, contains 2,400 sq. ft. of showroom with heating, cooling, plumbing and electrical supplies on display.

For the homeowner, vanities, kitchen cabinets and appliances are on hand.

EXPANSION and growth seem to be bywords at the Suburban Heating Company-in more ways than just increased square footage.

One employe and one vehicle have since grown to 53 employees and a fleet of 34 radio-equiped trucks.

As Gene Severt says: "Don't be surprised if you see a Suburban Do-It-Yourself center in your area."

SUBURBAN officers (besides board chairman Gene Severt) include Jim Severt (president and Do-It-Yourself center manager), Harry Prior (first vice-president), Terry Norman (second vice-president and Columbus office general manager) and Patricia Carpenter (secretary-treasurer).

Suburban, which also operates two complete sheet metal shops for custom metal work, services Franklin, Delaware, Licking, Fairfield, Hocking and Pickaway counties.

When You're Hot, You're Hot!

EVEN IF YOU'RE only four years old, you know that a young lady keeps the condition of her hair uppermost in her mind -- no matter what the situation. Angela Colesante, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Colesante of 327 Carilla Lane, likely is mindful of that feminine axiom above (at left) as she tries to beat 90-degree heat last week atop a turtle water fountain in Westgate Park. But a cooling spray and a warm neck make the temptation almost unbearable (top center photo). Finally, Angela quits the struggle (at right) to drink in the full benefit. One temptation aside, getting cool elsewhere (center inset) proves to be child's play. (Spectator photos by Jack Wittenmeier).

NEW HUMAN RELATIONS PROGRAM:

'Not Sensitivity Sessions' Says CPS Board Member

BY JACK WITTENMEIER

Almost overlooked last week as the Columbus School Board gave eleventh-hour approval to an $89.5 million construction bond issue for the November ballot was board acceptance of a far-reaching Staff Development and Human Relations program to be instituted this coming school year.

The new program, which has a $180,000 price tag attached, gained speedy approval despite the statement by board member Marilyn Reddon that she was voting for the measure as "a program of stature" and not as a sensitivity program with "un-Godly four-letter words" screamed among participants.

THE APPROVED proposal, contained in a six-page statement of purpose and implementation by Superintendent John Ellis, repeatedly refers to "intense human relations" in its content.

Board member Virginia Prentice defines "intense human relations" as "convincing everyone that they should treat everyone with dignity and respect, whether they be students, janitors or people coming into any school building. Basically, it's the recognition that we're all human beings, with each person important unto himself."

"Unfortunately, there have been instances in the past where this concept hasn't been observed," Mrs. Prentice concluded.

"BUT THIS program of human relations isn't going to be sensitivity training," the school board member quickly added. "Dr. Ellis has assured us of that."

Mrs. Prentice is especially optimistic about the staff development segment of the program, describing it as "something I very strongly feel is needed in our schools.

"In too many instances our institutions of higher learning are not preparing our teachers for the classroom, particularly in the preparation for areas where they'll teach.

"WE'RE OFFERING many new programs this coming year, including one for intestified reading in the first and second-grade levels. These programs can't be successful unless teachers are prepared to effectively teach them," Mrs. Prentice added.

The board member cited an example of a recent CPS ninth-grade science program (Interaction of Matter and Energy) which turned out to be "a big nothing" because teachers were not trained for the program and proper facilities weren't available.

"We talk about implementing the 'open class' concept (first and second-grade classes together, with students moving at their own pace) but the whole clue to that type of program is the teacher," the board member explained.

"YOU CAN'T implement programs like that if all you have are teachers who are used to 30 children and four walls."

On the subject of who will head the new staff development-human relations program, Mrs. Prentice said that Superintendent Ellis has appointed a three-man committee to seek "a program director, not an assistant superintendent" who would come from within or without of the present CPS staff.

The committee will make three recommendations to Ellis, according to Mrs Prentice.

SHE SAID she is convinced the human relations program will not parellel one tried at Linden-McKinley two years ago.

"THOSE (sessions at Linden) were pure and simple sensitivity sessions which tore the faculty apart. We all know what happened at Linden-McKinley and that's the type of thing we don't want in our schools," the board member said.

Asked how she thought CPS teachers would accept the new human relations program, Mrs. Prentice replied: "Some of them were very concerned...afraid it would be sensitivity sessions.

"But the program will be in the hands of each principal and I have the highest regard for our administrators.

"I BELIEVE when they (the teachers) see what this program really is, they'll be happy with it," she concluded.

Mrs. Prentice scoffed at the suggestion that such quick board approval of the staff development-human relations program was part of white board members' compromise to gain building bond issue support from black board members.

She pointed out that staff development and a strong human relations program in Columbus schools were basic recommendations of Project UNITE and that the school board was committed to implementing as many UNITE recommendations as possible.

Developer Withdraws Rezoning Application

It's apparently back to the drawing board for the developers at Homewood Corporation.

The firm last week withdrew its application to have a 120 acre tract of land located on McNaughten Road, between Broad and Main Streets, rezoned from single family residential to multi-family residential.

THE WITHDRAWAL came 24 hours before the Columbus city council was to hear arguments on the rezoning request.

John Bain, executive vice president of Homewood said last week his firm decided to withdraw their application because of opposition of residents in the area.

The Triple R Association, made up of members of seven civic associations, has been fighting the rezoning in order to keep the area developing in single family homes.

BAIN SAID HE notified Triple R and council on Tuesday night of their decision.

"I expected opposition because of what we saw at the Development Commission meeting." Bain said. "But I never expected it to be of such a magnitude or so hostile."

Bain referred to the commission meeting at which over 150 residents turned out to protest the rezoning.

The commission members recommended favorable the 650 attached and unattached units proposed by Homewood over an unfavorable recommendation by the city's planning department staff.

BAIN CALLED the staff's failure to agree with the plan a "51-49 sort of thing."

He said the staff wanted to see a complex not quite so dense. Homewood was proposing a Planned Unit Development eight, and were going to have a gross density of 5.4 units per acre.

The Triple R Association, represented by attorney James Feibel, opposed any apartment type units being built in the area and objected to the proposed density saying it was out of balance with what is already in the area.

BAIN SAID HIS firm's plans are indefinite at the present but that they will keep their contract to purchase the land and will submit a new application.

He said single family homes can be built on that piece of land and that his firm does build single family homes, but that he did not feel this would be the best land use for that piece of property.

"Right now we are working on submitting an alternative plan. We are either going to modify our present proposal or come up with something completely new."

HE SAID THE plan would probably include both attached and unattached units as the original plan called for, but that there would be more single family units included.

"There is a demand for some type of single family home. But I don't feel that this is the best land use, not in terms of the developer or of the residents in the area," Bain said.

"I would say there is a demand for homes in the $23,000 to $29,000 range on that land. The developer could very profitably put this range of homes in there. But I wouldn't want to do this particularly."

HE SAID THE new plan to be submitted by Homewood would have a lesser density than the first proposal.

Bain had said earlier the planning staff had agreed that a PUD four would be about the lowest they would like to see in the area. This would mean four units per acre.

Feibel had said the residential might also agree to this because it would be more in line with the area.

BAIN SAID ANY new plans would be discussed with Triple R representatives and with residents.

"Before we were heard by the Development Commission our firm both in writing and orally asked the executive committee and the zoning committee of Triple R to set up a meeting with their residents. We wanted a chance to present our proposal to the people and hear citicism and suggestions. We even offered to provide the facilities to have the meeting."

Bain said they weren't turned down but they just never heard from the association on the question of a meeting.

"I DO FEEL that the opposition might have been less if we had been able to have a meeting with the people. There would still have been opposition but maybe not as hostile or of such magnitude."

He said he heard some people thought Homewood was going to develop all 120 acres in apartments.

"We did meet with Triple R representatives but we wanted an open meeting with the people to see how they felt and to show them exactly what we had in mind."

BAIN SAID HE heard several people say that the developer refused to discuss the plans with the residents and he said this was not so.

"We are still willing to have these meetings on our new plans." Bain explained.

"I'm not saying that the representatives of Triple R gave the people distorted information but there may have been a real communication gap as to what we factually plan to do and what people believed."

AT CAMP WYANDOT

Outdoor Life Enjoyed By Campfire Girls

By ANN MYERS
Special Staff Writer

Columbus area Campfire Girls are spending a week or two of this summer in the wooded rocky hills of Camp Wyandot, near Logan in the Hocking Hills of southeastern Ohio.

The Campfire Girls organization was founded on camping, and outdoor activities are still a major part of the program.

Counselors report that the rainy summer hasn't slowed down camp activities at all. The girls ignore the rain as they swim, hike and hold cookouts.

Girls from seven to 17 participate in four levels of Campfire Girls--Bluebirds, Campfire Girls, Discovery Club and Horizen Club.

Camp staff members explained that Camp Wyandot is small-group oriented, to help the child grow and develop. The girls of each cabin and their counselor plan their own activities for the week, choosing from hiking, horseback riding, boating, swimming, and other outdoor activities. Twice a week the whole camp gathers for evening programs together.

Intrepid campers can join the Polar Bear Club by getting up for a 7 a.m. swim in the pool two day during the week.

Craft activities are planned for the nature cabin. Girls can tie-dye fabric, learn macrame or make candles, as well as design craft projects from materials taken from nature. The nature cabin also has equipment for the study of nature.

BLOOM-CARROLL ASKS IN

Eastland Board Awards Contracts

The construction contracts have been awarded by the Eastland Joint Vocational Center board of education for the agriculture wing and greenhouse, multi-purpose room, library, food service area and various remodeling projects.

The General contract was awarded the Walter Chaney Construction Co., Newark, Ohio, on its bid of $732,126.

Paul Miller Electrical Co., Lancaster, received the electrical contract on its bid of $152,068.

The plumbing and mechanical contract was awarded the Duckworth Plumbing Co., Columbus, on its bid of $361,800.

L.R. Polster Co., Columbus, received the food service equipment contract on its bid of $136,178.

The new contruction was made possible through the passage of a bond issue last November.

The Eastland board, in other action, recommended to Supt. Ralph Hudson that he inform the Bloom-Carroll board of education that due to already crowded conditions the Eastland board cannot, at this time, consider Bloom Carroll's request to become a part of the Eastland district.

The board has accepted the resignation of member James W. Moody, who represented Pickaway County on the board. A new member will be appointed.

THE BOARD also approved the plans and specifications for the construction of a sewer line to tie into the Blacklick Trunk Sewer and adopted a resolution of necessity in order to complete the project before school opens. Bids are scheduled to be opened July 28.

An instructor for Data Processing has been hired and a resignation was received form a carpentry instructor.

The board next meets August 16.

Just Clowning Around

THERE WAS A LOT OF CLOWNING AROUND AT the east side playgrounds last week as many had their annual clown contests. These three above were from Courtright playground and are left to right, Debbie Belaire, Richard and Missy Kokash. They came over to Scottwood to join in on the activities which included a costume contest, a game of put the nose on the clown, a water balloon toss and a game of skill at spitting watermelon seeds into a waste basket. The activities ended with the playground leaders cooling everyone off with a bucket of water.

A SACRED ORGAN concert will be presented by Mike Williams, local organ virtuose, at the [redacted] Seventh-day Adventist Church, 250 Napoleon Ave. on July 29 at 7:30 p.m. Williams is a teacher and concert artist and on the staff of the organist at the Ohio Theatre.

Organ Virtuoso Plans Concert At Eastwood

Mike Williams, local organ virtuoso, will present a sacred organ concert at Eastwood Seventh-day Adventist Church, 250 Napoleon Ave., July 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Williams, who has had a varied career as organist, arranger, and educator, has given concerts in some of the largest churches and theatres in the United States, including Mormon Tabernacle and Radio City Music Hall.

In recent years, Mr. Williams has served as Minister of Music at South Congregational Church and as associate organist for First Community Church.

He was the house organist at R.K.O. Palace Theatre for the last ten years until the organ was removed for restoration by the local chapter of the American Theatre Organ Society, of which Williams is vice-president and program chairman.

Williams has studied at the School of Music at Capitol and Ohio State Universities, as well as taken private instruction from some of the most prominent names in the organ field.

At present, Mr. Williams is teacher and concert artist for Sharpe Keyboard Music and also staff organist at the Ohio Theatre.

FLEA MARKET PLANNED

Speaking of Beauty

SHAPE UP- IT'LL MAKE LIFE EASIER

By Janis Massey

It'll make our life easier, too, if you are a regular patron. The gals with weight problems are always uptight for fear their hair styles will make their faces look too fat. It may be because they are so worried about their figure problems, but I find that as a rule they don't take advice as well either. Hairstyling can't make a tummy smaller, but it can draw the eye of the beholder up to the pretty hair.

Wages vs Output

During the first three months of 1972 wages and salaries climbed four times as much as output per man-hour.

Peter G. Peterson, U.S. Secretary of Commerce, has urged a "crusade" to boost activity, a crusade that we fear will prove to be an exercise in futility.

The Laboring men has fought a long and hard battle to abolish the sweat shops of another generation and to win equitable compensation for his endeavors.

But labor is pricing its government out of foreign markets – and along the way seems to have lost the will to work which built America.

A single phase of the labor market, that of construction, is studied in an article originally published by Edward M. Young in the Engineering News-Record and condensed in the current issue of Reader's Digest.

Building costs have a very direct effect on U.S. economy. Management which cannot afford to expand does not create jobs.

An especially hair-raising example of the lack of productivity cited by Young is the tale told by a Chicago–based contractor.

Forty-five years ago masons earned $1.50 an hour and each mason could be expected to lay 600 concrete blocks a day.

Today masons earn $9 an hour and work as a team. The contractor who gets 100 blocks a day laid by a pair of masons considers himself lucky.

Similarly, in 1926 a contractor could count on a mason finishing 2000 square feet of concrete per man per day–by hand.

The same amount of concrete finished today (with the help of labor-saving power tools) takes one man almost three and one half days.

Lack of productivity, it has been concluded, wastes from 15 to 40 percent of every construction payroll dollar. This means Americans are tossing away from $7 to $18 billion annually from illusionary labor.

A whole host of labor-imposed restrictions are responsible for the almost incomprehensible waste. They range from limits on the width of a paint brush to feather-bedding practices which include the mandatory hiring of a man eight hours a day with the sole responsibility of turning a machine on at 8 a.m. and off at 4:30 p.m.

Unfortunately, one does not have to travel the 30,000 miles covered by Young last year to find evidence of the average American's reluctance to give a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

The white-collar workers' coffee break stretched to its utmost, the executive's two-hour lunch, the salesman's boozing it up on company time all are symptomatic of a society in which the will to work is feeble, if even viable.

It is a sad fact that the will to work cannot be legislated.

It is equally sad that the country may have to weather another depression of mammoth proportions and have the "good life" threatened before each of us is again willing to shoulder our personal responsibilities to the economic welfare of an industrialized nation.

Three Red Cherries

Gov. John Gilligan has not enjoyed "unprecendented popularity" since taking office.

His tax and spending programs have been such that he has been the object of criticism that, unfortunately, has often gone beyond the boundaries of good taste.

We often wonder if, in the still of the night, he does not ask himself, "Can't I do anything right?"

Well, Gov. Gilligan, it appears you can.

Nothing but praise has been heard relevant to your creation of a series of Governor's Councils on Judicial Selection.

For once, the three red cherries of public approval came up when you pulled the lever.

By executive order the governor created a nominating council for each of the 11 appellate districts to nominate persons to fill judicial vacancies in their respective districts.

Secondly, he created a second council, with a member representing each district, to nominate judges to fill vacancies on the Supreme Court.

Although it may well be that an occasional "prophet" must go abroad for honor, generally speaking the worth of a man is best measured by those who know him well.

Thus, seeking the advice of the members of the Bar Associations and the laity at a local level in filling bench vacancies certainly stacks the cards in favor of appointment of the most qualified to our courts.

The governor has not entirely surrendered his power of executive discretion.

By his order, the governor can either choose from among the nominees or reject them all.

However, neither has he made the Councils figureheads.

Should the chief executive reject the names submitted, he does not proceed with the appointment but awaits a new list of nominees.

The concept of judicial nominating councils is not an original one. Similar councils are already established in 10 other states including California, Florida and New Jersey.

But it is new and refreshing for Ohio.

Protection of the Constitutional rights of our citizens can be no better than its administration of justice. And the courts can be no better than the men and women who sit upon its benches.

Pie Slicing

Ask the man on the street where Uncle Sam gets his money and he'll probably be quick to answer: "Out of my pay check."

And he's pretty much right.

Out of every dollar collected by the federal government 38 cents is represented by individual income taxes, seven cents comes from excise taxes and Social Security taxes (less the employers' contribution) accounts for 26 cents.

Corporate taxes provide another 14 cents and miscellaneous revenue produces a nickle -- and our government borrows another dime to make things come out even.

According to Wylie "Human Resources" has the biggest appetite, gobbling up 45 cents of every budgetary dollar.

Into this category he throws programs involving education, manpower programs, health insurance, Social Security payments, welfare, veterans benefits and the War on Poverty.

Next in line is National Defense, under which Wylie groups not only military expenditures but international affairs and finance, space programs and technology. Without such costs the U. S. Treasury could bank 32 cents of its income.

Under the broad classification of Physical Resources another 10 cents is appropriated. This phase of spending allows agricultural and rural development, housing projects, highway and transit financing, and money for protection of environment and natural resources.

Interest obligations demand six cents of our dollars and the remaining seven cents is spread out over a wide variety of costs including law enforcement, retirement plans, general overhead and bookkeeping expenses.

We found Wylie's "pie" informative, but not particularly satisfying.

Obviously, the only way to materially reduce the personal income tax burden is by cutting the budget - and not too many Congressmen are going to vote against education, veterans, ecology and pensions - or for complete isolationism.

But somehow, as they view future fiscal budgets presented by future presidents, couldn't our legislators back away on its reliance on borrowed money to make ends meet?

It sets a bad example for those of us with good credit- -and aggravates the rest of us who are unable to borrow money to satisfy our "druthers."

Costly Tradition

No stranger bedfellows have come to light recently than the United States Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO.

But they have ignored their differences long enough to jointly ask the political parties of the nation to adopt a policy that will tend to protect candidates from the assassin's bullet.

The era of television has made it unnecessary for the candidate to engage in mass hand-shaking and back-slapping to take his candidacy to the grass roots.

With a flick of the switch, he can enter the living room of millions of homes–and without the fear his visit will be terminated in a pool of blood.

The image of a politician avoiding contact with the public whose vote he courts is not a particularly inviting one–and thus the Chamber and AFL-CIO reasons the decision of public appearances must not be left up to the individual candidate.

Rather, the security rules must be set for candidates by their parties–and one and all abide by the rules. Only with such national regulations can a candidate be freed from the threat of the charge he lacks confidence in the electorate.

Granted, the smiling, glad-handed, baby-kissing candidate mingling with his supporters is a pre-election scene as American as apple pie.

Grass-roots politicking is one thing–and providing the opportunity for murder is another.

Grass-root politicking which has been proven the forerunner of violence is a luxury which politicans–and the nation–can no longer afford.

Over The Rainbow

The Other Side

Many middle class Americans visualize the nation's campuses as the stomping ground of wild-eyed, long-haired, grass-smoking hippies, living off the largesse of their parents and collectively giving the world half of the Peace sign.

This impression has arisen from the antics of a handful of students who, unfortunately, get an armful of publicity.

As the project to build 150 curb ramps for wheelchairs and to modify buildings to allow the handicapped easier access gained momentum, the Ohio Rehabilitation Services Commission stepped in and arranged a $300,000 federal grant which will allow the seniors' dream to come true--almost overnight.

When the fall quarter begins, ramps will have been built, doors widered, restrooms modified to accomodate wheelchairs and lowered drinking fountains made available in 41 buildings.

Furthermore, the university is planning to purchase vans for transportation of those confined to wheelchairs, a la Ironsides.

All this has stemmed from the original action of OSU students who choose to build rather than to destroy.

And it is high time all of us realize that for every parasite with a brickbat or a torch on the OSU campus there are a hundred youths with trowels and mortar.

Big Job Ahead

Washing one's dirty linen in public is rarely in good taste.

But the laundry performed by members of the Columbus School Board as they wrestled with their consciences–and with each other–to resolve their differences may well have been a long over-due act.

The ballyhoo grabbed the public's attention.

The finesse displayed was about as subtle as that of the Missouri farmer clubbing his mule over the head. But it worked.

The bitterness displayed between the white and black factions on the board was too deep-rooted to lead one to suspect the script was written in advance.

But the voters of the Columbus Public School District have proved an apathetic audience in recent years when the story of overcrowded classrooms and inadequate program was taken to them.

Being human, however, they sat up and took notice when a good fight was in the air.

And along with the acrimony they gained an insight to the critical needs of their children which somehow never came through with the more dignified bond and levy promotion campaigns of the past.

Unfortunately, spectators at a row are seldom objective.

They pick a side to champion and tend to hear its battle cries while turning deaf ears to those of the opposition.

But the longer the show at 270 E. State St. went on, the more obvious it became everyone was saying the same thing—that black and white children alike were being short changed in their quest of an education.

Board President Tom Moyer has rightfully been given a large share of the credit for gaining unanimous approval to place the $89.5 million bond issue on the November ballot.

But he must share that credit.

The unprecendented appearance of Mayor Tom Moody before the board to plead for educational opportunity for youth did not go unnoticed.

The news media, including the Spectator, called loudly and clearly for board unity.

For example, on July 5, the Spectator focused on the dire need for the vocational centers which not only can provide the vocational education mandated by the state and by society–but provide, through their drawing power, natural integration.

But it cannot be forgotten that the ultimate decision was made, not by Moody, not by the Chamber of Commerce, not by a newspaper editor or station manager, but by the seven members of the board of education.

And with each playing the dual role of protagonist and villain, according to the eyes of the beholder, the drama was brought to a climax last week.

The job ahead of the board and staff is somewhat anticlimatic.

It will be tedious, painstaking and repetitious and undoubtedly will involve more perspiration than inspiration.

It is simply a matter of convincing the rich and the poor, the black and the white, the conservative and liberal, the suburban father and the ghetto mother that the construction bond issue of 1972 will be good for his child.

If we lived in a society of altruism, the proposed bond issue could sell itself.

But voters are selfish–and understandably so. Neither the affluent not the disadvantaged have been getting a fair shake.

The seeds for bond approval were sown when board histrionics shook the city out of its apathy toward the plight of public education in Columbus.

The board has three months to nurture those seeds to maturity.

That's a short growing season, but with proper husbandry, children of today and tomorrow can reap the harvest.

Double Standard?

BY JANE ROBINSON

I personally have little time to listen to a physicist–even one who boasts a Nobel Prize–expound on the theory that blacks may be racially inferior to whites.

The views of William Shockley are generally considered unsound by geneticists and theories based upon prejudice rather than science are a dime a dozen. Sit in on any "rap" session if you doubt it.

Neither would I give the time of day to Stokley Carmichael-or his ilk-who, in my opinion, is more of a racist than Shockley whose appearance has triggered demonstrations at various colleges and universities including Dartmouth and Stanford.

But their right to speak according to their conscience is a right that should not be disputed.

The Sacramento State College has been polarized over the issue of whether one type of racist's right to freedom of speech is as precious as anothers.

The issue arose when black militants on the campus took over the podium when Shockley was invited to speak and refused to allow him to be heard.

Campus liberals have been split right down the middle, with some believing suppression of ideas is dangerous and others contending his very appearance an affront to the black community.

The attorney looking into the case for the American Civil Liberties Union summed up nicely the quandry in which liberals found themselves.

"They had to choose between the First Amendment and being called racists," he said.

He added, "They can be very liberal in talking about why Stokley Carmichael should be allowed to speak, but when it comes to why Shockley should be allowed to speak, they failed completely."

If the merit of what one has to say was a credential without which one could not stand behind a lectern, a lot of lecterns would be vacated–and a great many minds would be spared the intellectual pollution of full-strength poppycock.

But that is not the point.

If this nation is to bear the standard of free speech, exceptions cannot be made.

One nut has as much right to be heard as the next.

And, thank God, I rarely have to listen to any of them.

CUBBYHOLE COOKING

By MYRNA MCCAULEY

Cocktails, Anyone?

You enjoy a pre-dinner cocktail, even when eating along? Me too.

Or, you like to share the day's news over cocktails with an apartment friend. Very neighborly of you.

Or you want to spring a new drink at an organized cocktail party. That's the spirit.

FOR SOLO, twosome or crowd-size imbibing, here are a few cocktail concoctions for you to try. Some are old, some new-but most of them have a slightly different twist. Quick and easy Whiskey Sours-This one comes from a friend in Boca Raton, Fla. She serves it for a pre-brunch or pre-dinner cocktail to her condominium neighbors.

Into a 3-or-4-ounce cocktail glass, spoon one tablespoon frozen lemonade, one teaspoon frozen limeade and 1¼ ounces bourbon. Add crushed ice or ice cubes. Mix. Garnish with cherry.

NOTES: You can mix whiskey sours in quantity, of course, by multiplying the ingredients. But if you're serving less than six people, it's just as easy to do them one at a time. No need to thaw frozen ades before using; they dissolve immediately. Leave reserve ades right in the cans and pop them back in the freezer for storage.

Oklahoma Lambs-Watch out, there's more kick to this lamb than comes through with the first sip. The flavor's not sweet, not tart, but a very happy medium which seems to please everyone but the dyed-in-wool martini drinker.

Ingredients? Four in number: gin, bourbon, fresh lemon juice and Log Cabin Maple Syrup (the regular kind-not the "creamy" one, because it doesn't mix as well).

Measurements? All equal parts. I measure in a Skippy Peanut Butter jar, the kind with the ounce markings on the outside. Start with the fresh lemon juice to see how much you get. Then repeat the measurement for the other three ingredients. Add a couple ice cubes, screw the lid on tight and shake. Serve over ice in 3-ounce cocktail glasses.

NOTES: The Oklahoma Lamb is a good guessing-game drink. Tell your guests it's made from four equal parts, two of them liquor, and see if they can ferret out the formula.

Frozen Daiquiri Slush-There are many versions for this drink. But, if you haven't seen this simple three-step approach-try it, you'll like it. Goes over especially well with the girls.

First, see if your ice cube tray holds a little over three cups of liquid. If so, you're in business. If not, split the following between two ice cube trays: six-ounce can frozen lemonade (or limeade), two six-ounce-can measurements water, one cup white rum. Freeze overnight, or at least seven or eight hours. Spoon into three-ounce glasses or small glass cups. Garnish with Hazel nuts or filberts. Serve with straws.

Tequilla Sunriser-Very popular in Denver with the ski crowd. It's another pre-brunch drink, or for those who like their orange juice any time of day.

Into 10-ounce glass, pour one ounce Tequilla, one ounce vodka and six ounces chilled orange juice. Mix well. Add a couple ice cubes, float a slice of orange.

INTO 10-ounce glass, pour 1½ ounces vodka, ½ ounce Gallianos and six ounces chilled orange juice. Mix and add ice cubes.

In three-or four-ounce glass, mix two ounces of brandy, one ounce sweet vermouth, few drops Angostura Bitters and cherry juice. Garnish with cherry. Add ice cubes.

One-For-The-Road - Strong black coffee. There's a thoughtful hostess.

DEAR CONSUMER

Check Appliance Before You Buy

By VIRGINIA KNAUER
Special Assistant to President Nixon for Consumer Affairs

I recently redid my kitchen. New stove, new refrigerator, the whole thing.

Before shopping for these appliances, I checked with some of the Federal Government's purchasing experts. They suggested a number of tests that I–or anyone–could perform in a store to compare the efficiency and safety features of stoves and refrigerators.

Of course, I had to make some basic decisions myself. Did I want an electric or gas stove?

Did I want a side-by-side freezer-refrigerator combination, or did I want a refrigerator with the freezer at the top or at the bottom?

Then I had to take into account the amount of space available in my kitchen for each appliance and how much oven capacity and freezer-refrigerator capacity I needed for my family.

The government's purchasing experts really were not qualified to advise me on these questions, but their checklist for safety and efficiency was very useful. You may want to use it too:

Ampere rating for refrigerators. You can usually find this on a plate either on the back or in some other inconspicuous place. The higher the amperes, the higher the cost of operation.

Shelves. Adjustable refrigerator shelves and half shelves allow you to make the most efficient use of the interior space. The shelves should fit close to the back and sides but should be easily removable for cleaning.

Condenser. The condenser is the long tube with parallel metal fins that meanders along either the back or the underside of the refrigerator. It should be cleaned at least every six months. Ask for a demonstration to see how easily this can be done.

Air vents. Cold air vents in the freezer should be designed to prevent packages and containers from blocking the flow of cold air.

Safety. Avoid refrigerators with sharp edges on the door and sharp handles as well as those with unprotected lightbulbs inside the cabinet. Stoves should have a safety certification label–Underwriters Laboratory for electric stoves and American Gas Association Institute for gas stoves.

Placement of controls. The stove controls should be easy for you to work, but difficult enough to discourage a small child, or they should be placed so they are out of reach. Check to make sure you do not have to lean over a hot burner to reach the controls.

Stability. You should check all of the removable elements of the top of the stove to make sure they fit firmly in place without tilting.

Oven. Put a piece of paper between the oven door and the body of the stove; if the paper pulls out easily, you are going to lose heat.

Racks. Pull the racks almost out of the oven, put your hand on them with a little pressure to make sure they do not tilt or bend. This can be very important when you are pulling a heavy roast out of the oven or basting a turkey. Try the doors to make sure thay stay open.

And for both stoves and refrigerators, read the instruction books and guarantees before buying. Get answers to your questions before you buy, not after the appliance is installed.

Miss Diller Weds Charles Baker, Jr.

Miss Robin Kay Diller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donal C. Diller, 373 Erickson Ave., became the bride of Mr. Charles E. Baker, Jr., on July 15.

The birde is a graduate of Whitehall Yearling High School and is employed at the Ponderosa Steak House.

The groom is a graduate of West High school and is employed as a plumber.

The bride wore an old fashioned Spanish style gown of lace.

Serving as maid of honor was Evelyn Kayne and brides maids were Carol Diller, Cathy Elkins and Candy Wedekind. Flower girl was Shenene Kayne. The attendants wore gowns of yellow and green.

Serving as best man was Rodger Baker. Ushers were Jim Jackson, Don Rinehart, Sonny Kayne and ring bearer was Ronald Bradshaw.

The couple will reside at 5444 Chatford Square.

Cassingham

Last Thursday, July 20 was the Cassingham Family Picnic and bike hike at Jeffrey Park. Families from Cassingham survived the heat and enjoyed the picnic. On that same morning over 25 Kassingham Kids enjoyed a special outing to Putt-Putt golf.

Friday, July 21st many of the mothers and daughters from the area congregated at Jeffrey Park for a campout which featured a wiener roast, Disney movies, free pop, and "somemores" for dessert. Many roughed-it overnight in sleeping bags, but no tents (with the sweltering heat - who needed tents?).

All the Kassingham Kids went out Monday the 24th to collect papers fer the recycling project. Many of the area residents are contributing to this [illegible]

The Kassingham Kuties (girls softballers) played Montrose on Tuesday, July 18th, winning 10-6. The Kuties now boast a 3-1 record.

Water-balloon battles have been used throughout the week to soak our opponents and cool us all off. We've also been working hard to get the Cassingham team ready for the Junior Olympics to be held at the high school track tomorrow, the 27th. We hope to give the other teams some rough competition!

Despite our ravaged-looking playground (due to construction of new playing fields and facilities) we are having SUMMER FUN at CASSINGHAM. Join us!

Maryland

Maryland reports "we're having a heat wave" but nevertheless many activities are being scheduled. Thanks to all the kids who trained so hard for tomorrow's Olympics, in spite of the hot-hot-hot weather. The "Green Wave" of Maryland would also like to inform the other playgrounds that they are welcome to challenge us at the Olympics - yes, 2nd and third place ribbons will be awarded (but we hope for only firsts at Maryland).

Congratulations to the survivors of the Mother-Daughter campout. Special thanks to Mrs. Sandera who did a brilliant job of recruiting undecided mothers.

Kids are reminded to prepare for the Fishing Derby at Schrock Lake on August 1, and the newspaper drive to be held the week of August 7 through 11.

Montrose

Montrose playground had the most children registered for summer's activities, so a watermelon-eating party was held last Thursday morning (it was extra great due to the hot weather). Thursday night we had a playground picnic for Montrose area families and a Carnival featuring such games as ring-toss, dart-throwing, etc.

Friday night the men and boys were left on their own as the moms and girls took their camping gear for an overnight campout in Jeffrey Park that included a scavenger hunt among other activities during the evening.

Last week was a busy one in preparation for the Junior Olympics - the big sports event held each year - with tryouts held Wednesday and Thursday. Monday, July 24 was sharing day at Montrose, and we also had a Balloon Relay. Tuesday we had a Water Balloon fight (to beat the heat), and tonight (Wednesday) we will have our second Pizza Party at Shakey's at 6 p.m.

Progress Report - last week we had some blacktopping done, and some old equipment came out. Things are really taking shape at Montrose, and the kids are very appreciative.

PROMOTED

Cpl. Mark R. Mulholand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Mulholand Jr. of 4638 Boynton Place, was promoted to his present rank while serving at Marine Corps Air Station, Oahu, Hawaii.

'Beat The Heat'

IT'S A GOOD WAY TO COOL OFF on one of these hot humid summer days, and the far east side residents are glad to finally see a dream come true. The Colony East Swim Club, located off Chatterton Road, was the result of a long two-year battle by the Virginia Colony Civic Association. The pool had bee promised by the developer in the area but never put in until the civic association stepped in. The pool opened July 4th and is run on a membership basis. Fees will be pro-rated for families joining now.

Drama Group Plans Party For Saturday

The Gallery Players of The Jewish Center, 1125 College Avenue, will announce it's plans for the forthcoming 1972-73 theatrical season at the drama group's annual Closing Curtain Cabaret Splash Party on Saturday evening, July 29. Festivities are scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

This annual Gallery Players affair is staged in honor of Gallery Players subscribers and Jewish Center Patron of the Arts. The spacious Center outdoor swimming pool will be opened for a special evening swim for those wishing to do so. Light refreshments will be served in the air-conditioned Center auditorium following the evening's entertainment.

"Burl-i-Cue Bits" an informal musical revue written, compiled and staged by Eddie and Sue Kaye, will feature an animated chorus line consisting of Patti Samuels, Kay Cohen, Boots Nutis, Susie Dragonette, Joyce Bloch, Kathy Graham, Sue Kaye and Denise Blank. The girls will do several routines behind the aining of Bart Loomis.

Seniority System Called Ineffective

James W. Goodrich, candidate for Congress from the 12th district recently called the seniority system used in Congress ineffective.

IN SPEAKING to a neighborhood gathering at the home of Mrs. Sally Morris, 1524 Tiffany Ct., Goodrich said, "The seniority system in Congress is no longer effective." He said he is in favor of abolishing the system.

Goodrich told the gathering the committee chairman would then be elected from among the three senior committee members.

"THIS REFORM would significantly change the chairman's power. The election of committee chairman would bring more democracy to the House of Representatives."

Area Men Win Firsts

Two east area men were among 18 winners at the recent Northland Mall's 6th Annual Art Festival July 13-15.

Don Dell, 4632 Boynton Pl., won first place in sculpture and Leland McClelland of 346 S. Drexel, won first in watercolors.

A record 150 artists exhibited approximately 1,500 works of art during the "art in a shopping center show."

AT LOWRY AFB

Airman Forest M. Jackson, son of Mrs. Amazetta Jackson of 3492 Rodell Rd., has completed his basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., and has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo. Jackson is a 1970 graduate of Groveport Madison High.

The kickball team won one and lost one to Norton Field and then lost to Kae Avenue, making their record 2-2. The boys softball team (11-12) was defeated by Norton Field and the older boys split 1-1 with Beechwood.

A weiner roast was held on Thursday and the kids afterwards toasted marshmallows.

The Doll and Hobby Show winners are: Teresa Rowe-Most Unusual Doll; Tim Rowe-Most Unique Collection; Joe Rowe-Most Interesting Collection; and Chuck Scholl-Grand Prize, which was a penny and a Presidential Coin Collection.

Winning Clowns

JEFF COLLINS WAS THE winner of the funniest clown award at the Scottwood playground annual clown contest last week. Other winners were Tracey McWilliams for the most original, Timmy Conner for the happiest and Jennifer Austin won the saddest clown award.

East Playground News

THIS WEEK'S PLAYGROUND schedule is highlighted by the annual City-Wide Track and Field Championships on Thursday, July 27 for girls and Friday, July 28 for boys. The meets will be at Ohio State Stadium and begin each day at 1:30 p.m.

BERWICK

BERWICK HAS AGAIN HAD a very active week. Our softball teams have been very successful. Intermediate boys had a fine win over Courtright, as did the junior boys. Intermediate girls won a close one against Scottwood, while the junior girls lost to Fairmoor.

We had some very funny clowns in the annual clown contest. Winning for most colorful was Erin Zacks; funniest, Tim Galloway and Sally Zacks; Saddest, Mike Miller; cutest, Mike Kass and David Lester; and Happiest Hillary Beslove. We are very busy working on our Pageant Marching Act. Practice is daily at 2 p.m.

COURTRIGHT

JAMES ROAD

WE WILL BE HAVING A PET SHOW July 28. Prizes will be given to the prettiest, best costumed, most unusual, most obedient, and smallest only to name a few.

Our winners in our frisbee contest were Kelly Pyne and Greg Maynard. Our hula hoop contest winners were Greg Givson and Tina Dowler.

James Rd. Will be having a "Game Night" August 1st at 6 p.m. There will be games, relays, contests and prizes.

The intermediate boys softball team is 2-0 in league competition, led by the hitting of Drew Tyack; Walt Wullinger; and the pitching of Hugh Murray. The senior softball team won its second league game against a tough Courtright team 12-2 led by the hitting of Al Yankulov, Mike Hayes, Chris Ortman, Guy Adams and the fine pitching of Eddie Stewart.

SCOTTWOOD

WINNERS OF THE SECTIONAL frisbee and hula hoop contest held at Barnett were Kelly Ellsworth, age 13-first place girls hula hoop-and Larry Hetzer, age 12, - first place boys Hula Hoop. They will compete at Shiller Park for the city championships. Other contestants were Jeff Collins, Mark Snyder, Tina Donaldson, Tina Narcross, Rick Baas, Debbie Komives, Eric Van Bibber, Scott And Vic Williams and Lisa Todd.

Scottwood participants have gained a total of 30 points at their sectional track meet. This places them in good competing position against the other sectional winners at the sectional track meet at the Ohio State University stadium.

Those who have been participating are Lisa Todd, Scott Williams, Rodd McClain, Porter Robinson, Greg Watson and Jeff Collins.

EASTHAVEN

ON MONDAY WE HELD OUR GIGANTIC, fantastic hula hoop contest. The winners were girls division: Mary Peck, 3281 Kenaston Dr.; boys division: Paul Swainigan, 3419 Oakcrest. The frisbee winners: Christine De Vinits, 3443 Petziner, and Mark Steveson, 3625 Easthaven Dr.

During the rest of the week we have been working on our physical fitness program. The heat has kept us from completing our program.

Friday evening our Clown Contest took place. Our cutest clown was Dawn Blackburn. The saddest was Wally Blackburn and the funniest was Melissa Thomas. The most original clown was Trina Sexton and the happiest was Dawn Sexton.

The traveling zoo visited our playground on Tuesday. About 100 people were present to see the animals and pet the monkeys.

PINCREST

Funniest-first was Robin Dugg-second was Marq Immel; Saddest-first Judy Fishking-second was Beth Anne Brower; Happiest-first Denise Springs-second was Sara Immel; Colorful-first was Beth Anne Brower-second was Don Cimine; Most Original-first was Dom Cimino-second was Lisa Cimino; Cutest-first was Lisa Cimino-second Judy Fishking; Ugliest-first was Sara Immel.

Top hitters for the boys intermediate team are Carl Wells, John McCann, and Jerry Smith. Junior boys came one step closer to the championship with a 13-2 victory over Fairmoor.

FAR EAST

HIGHLIGHTS OF LAST week include a bubble gum contest, a water balloon toss, and on Friday a surprise birthday party for leader Fred Erfurt. Bubble gum contest winners were David O'Brian for the largest bubble, Christy Hollren for the smallest and Mike Zaus for the funniest, a triple bubble.

Far East is preparing their act for the pageant to be held at the Ohio Theatre on August 14. In keeping with transportation theme Far East will do a blacklight skit to the Beatles "Yellow Submarine."

On August 5th the act will be featured on the Columbus Recreation Department's TV show "Fun for Everyone."

MAYBURY

PLAYGROUND IS BEARING UP UNDER the heat very well in burning their opponents out on the softball diamonds. Intermediate and junior boys have won all their games thus far, along with the intermediate and junior girls. Even the pee-wee teams have been ringing the victory bells. Ramana Patts and John Marcum won first place in the playground frisbee throw while Jo Cervantes hula'd her way to first place in the hula hoop contest. First prize was won by Sharon Volleinger, Dan McComis, Luanne Lilly, Michelle Pope and Tracy Pope in Mayburn's clown contest.

July 27 we will bring all our registered girls to OSU for the track and field events and on the 28th the boys will have their turn.

SHADY LANE

ANITA STAHL WON THE hula hoop contest held on the playground last Monday. Tom Dewey won the playground and sectional frisbee contest. He came in fifth place in the city meet.

As for soft ball, Shady Lane has taken a turn for the worse. The Pee Wee boys lost to Maybury 25-0, junior boys lost to Willis Park 8-5, Intermediate boys lost to Leawood 6-4 and the junior girls lost to Willis Park.

Winner of the clown contest held Friday night was Anita Stahl, for the most original, funniest and cutest.

OAKMONT

THE SECOND ANNUAL PET SHOW was held at the playground Monday. There were over 20 entries. Friday the clown contest was cancelled due to rain. It has been rescheduled for Monday night at 7 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for the cutest, most colorful, funniest, most original, most real and best performances.

The junior girls softball team played a game Thursday against Woodcrest. Margaret Tauscher was the winning pitcher. The score was Oakmont 17, Woodcrest 3. Carol Kindall, Cindy Dean and Chris Alexander had exeptionally good games.

The junior boys played Maybury and won by a score of 14-2. Tom Stephenson was the winning pitcher. Outstanding fielding and hitting was done by Nick Pestano, Mark Irwin and Bob Stephenson.

The Pee-Wee boys lost to Leawood 11-7. Frank Kenes, Brad Taylor, David Stephenson and Steven Gimres were top scores for Oakmont.

Next week Oakmont will begin practice for the playground Pageant which will be Aug. 17 at the Ohio Theatre. Anyone wishing to take part should contact Karen Robinson, leader at Oakmont.

WOODCREST

THE CLOWN CONTEST HIGHLIGHTED last week's activities at Wood crest. Awards were given to Lisa Fishkind for the cutest costume, Danny Doles for the happiest, Randy Berry and Mark Doles for the funniest, Lee Cogton for the saddest, Pam and Sandy Spaulding for the most colorful and Bobbie and Robbie Ramsey for the most original. The contest was followed by a parade.

The sectional hula hoop contest was last week. Janna Berry was Woodcrest's winner and although she didn't win sectional, she is the only one at Woodcrest who is able to perform all five tricks.

It was a losing week for softball with all of our teams losing. Junior boys, intermediate boys and girls lost to Maybury. Junior girls lost to Oakmont and junior boys lost to Leawood.

David Noaker, one of the playground leaders had been taking some side trips to Cleveland on the weekends to see a certain young lady.

WILLIS PARK

THE WEEK SAW MANY ACTIVITIES and many participants at Willis Park. There was a Frisbee and hula hoop contest earlier in the week. Softball games, basketball, arts and crafts and other group games went on all week.

The boy's softball teams won three of their four games last week. Mark Copely and Reggie Easley sparked the Pee-Wee team to a victory while Bob Easley and Ed Fisher led the juniors to a victory. Standouts in the intermediate contest were Neil Mastenbrook and Mike Fox. In a very exciting senior boys game versus Olde Orchard, Scott Glenn and Gary Gartlett led Willis Park to an 11-10 victory and sole possession first place in the league.

In girls softball action this week, Vickie Sines, Leigh Thompson and Kim DeGroft, led the juniors to a victory over Shady Lane, 33-6 while Shirley Nungester, Paula Swider and Lisa Corwin led the senior girls team to victory over Olde Orchard 51-1.

LEAWOOD

LEAWOOD PLAYED WOODCREST, Far East and Oakmont winning all games. Upcoming games for the next week will be announced at the playground and posted on the window.

We need Pee-Wee, intermediate and junior softball players.

In arts and crafts we made Mexican-type Crepe paper battles, Papier-mache mugs, belts hand knitted of yarn and decorated for the clown contest.

There will be a city-wide pageant at the Ohio Theatre for anyone who likes drama and blacklight presentations. We need people for our skit to the record "Motorcycle Mama" and people to work on scenery.

OLDE ORCHARD

MARY BURGE WON THE sectional hula hoop contest for Olde Orchard while Bob Carroll came in third at the Frisbee contest.

Winners of the clown contest were; Clown face-first-Mary Burge, second-Lynn Whitman; Saddest-first-John Zidel, second-Lynn Whitman- Most Unusual-first Joanie Burge, second-Julie Solomon; Funniest-first-Debbie Magelson, second Linda Rubenstein; cutest-first Guy Burge, second Jerry Solomon.

There were two upsets this week, the first being the senior girls at Olde Orchard went down fighting to the women from Willis Park by a score of 51-1. Olde Orchard broke into the scoring in the third inning when Edie Levine knocked in Debbie Dunfee to break a shut-out.

Olde Orchard senior boys suffered their first defeat to Willis Park, losing 11-10 while the undeafeated intermediate boys walked on by Willis Park 14-4.

Our junior girls fought a hard battle against Maybury but lost 8-6.

Future events will be the city track meet.

Bexley Little League Report

Here's a rundown of last week's action in the various Bexley boy's baseball leagues:

PONY LEAGUE

Bexley "A" dumped St. Catherine's "A" 4-3 to wrap up the Pony campaign unbeaten. Winning pitchers Mike Levison doubled home the final two Bexley runs in the fourth to seal his own victory.

League officials report there will be no second round of Pony League games "due to a lack of interest shown by two of the teams."

MIDGET LEAGUE

If tight pennant races are your thing, the tiniest of Bexley's diamond warriors are ideal: after two weeks of action everybody's tied for the lead!

First game winners all took it on the chin from the clubs that lost on opening day—so all six clubs have identical 1-1 records.

MONTROSE "A" dumped Montrose "B" 10-7 last Thursday, with the help of a five run first inning and two-for-two plate performances by Pat Bellamy, Steve Nickerson, Johnny Pyke and Jeff Runge. "B" firstsacker Chris Durst got three hits in the losing cause, and secondbaseman Andy Lewis made several standout plays in the field.

Cassingham "A" edged Maryland "A" 4-2 and Maryland "B" upended Cassingham "B" 7-3 in Saturday's contests, with fielding the strong suit on a rain-slick field.

With everybody in the thick of the title fight, action should be spirited for the next three Saturday mornings on the Montrose diamond.

LITTLE LEAGUE

John Roby, Scott Kearns and Jay Holzworth all collected four hits in a 27-10 romp over A.O. Wing, then pitchers Jim Sophos and Craig Middlemus took over to post an 11-3 Drexel triumph over the Bexley Lions.

WING CAME BACK later in the week to upset Divine Realtors 9-8 behind the brilliant mound work of Todd Loehnert. Todd allowed only four enemy hits, and struck out 16 for the top total thus far in league play. Todd Williams got a pair of safeties and Steve Snyder collected three key RBI's in the victory. Wing's first of the season.

First round champ Eastern Kiwanis fell to it's second loss of the second round, swallowing a three-hit 7-2 lesson from Dollar Federal hurler Mike Willard. Kiwanis then rallied to stop Hanna Paint 5-3 behind Jim Damron's four-hit pitching and a two-for-two day at the plate by catcher Wink Price.

R.C. Cola earned a share of second place by knocking off Dollar Federal 7-6 in extra innings and edging Hanna 3-2 on Gary Pryor's magnificent one-hitter.

R.C. HURLER Doug Hill sat out the first two frames of the Dollar Federal game with a bad headache, then came in (with his club down 6-2) to make D-F reach for the aspirin.

Hill not only shut out the enemy hitters, he struck out 10 of 'em in five innings and helped his club rally to tie the score in the sixth and win in the seventh.

In other action, Divine Realtors nipped Bexley Lions 7-6 as catcher Bryan Weber successfully blocked the plate to nail the potential tying run and end the game. Weber, John Schwab and Andy Long all had two RBI's for Divine to hand Lion pitcher Gordon Anderson another heartbreaker setback.

G-P Nine In Winner's Circle

OTC Championships Set

The Ohio Track Club will conclude its five-week program of open meets at Walnut Ridge with a final "Championship" program this Friday on the Scot all-weather oval.

Competition is open to anyone of high school age or above—a nominal 10 cent fee will help cover the cost of medals for the top three finishers in each event.

Friday's action begins with the field events at 7:15, running chores get underway at 7:30. Things will proceed according to the standard high school meet format, except that the concluding mile relay has been replaced by a 440 relay.

Jerry Leftwich nipped Art Best in the hundred with a sizzling :09.8-plus. Best was an eyelash behind in :09.9, but came back to cop the 440 in :50.9—fastest time of the year in the OTC series.

Dan Sekerak battled 90 degree heat to win the two mile run in 9:41.7, and Brad Fawley took the mile in 4:35.3—a second and a half in front of Don Stocker.

EASTMOOR'S Rick Meindl copped the shot (50'10½") and the discus (124'5"), with former teammate Joe Schleppi right behind in both.

Other winners were Gary Ratliff in the high jump (5'10"), Larry Wayne in the triple jump (47'6"), Randy O'Connor in the 880 (2:06.4), Hal Thomas in the 220 (:23.3) and the Ebony Track Club 440 relay quartet of Brown, Brown, Johnson and Leftwich; timed in :45.6.

Bexley Men Open Second Softball Set

OLD TIMERS

COW tamed the Pussycats 16-7, as Tom Wagenbrenner collected four hits and Dave Little chipped in three more. Ken Terrier had four safeties for the losers.

Salt Realtors upended Susil Construction 9-2 to start second-round play on a cheery note—Gene Millard was the batting star for Salt with three hits.

The other contest saw Christ Lutheran handle Dollar Federal 10-4 with Sonny Lombardo's trio of base hits leading the way.

IT'S BIG

The U.S. Postal Service is the world's largest mail system. It employes over 700,000 people, more than any nonmilitary agency, and more than any single business organization in the world.

LONG ROUTE

According to the U.S. Postal Service, the nation's longest rural mail route is in Poplarsville, Mississippi, and runs for 158.22 miles. By contrast, the shortest rural mail route is in Blue Island, Illinois, and runs for 4.3 miles.

THEY'RE DISTANT

Pago, Pago, Samoa, near the international date line, is both the westernmost and southernmost post office in the U.S. Postal Service. The northernmost post office is at Barrow, Alaska, while the easternmost post office is in Majuro, Marshall Islands.

ON SPORTS WITH DENNY WHALEN

SPOUTING OFF

By DENNY WHALEN
Spectator Sports Editor

There's been a lot of talk in pro football circles recently about the way defenses, particularly zone pass defenses, have taken a "stranglehold" on the game.

Seems the folks in a lot of front offices are worried that the customers will soon get tired of paying more and more to see less and less of the "long bomb" and the last-[illegible] 80 yard touchdown drive.

SOME OF THEM are so worried that they're advocating a ban on zone defenses. Now that's one way of "opening up" the game. I suppose—problem is, it's the wrong way.

I mean, isn't that a little like outlawing the McCovey Shift in baseball, or forcing the rest of the NHL to play one-on-one with Bobby Orr? Maybe they could just make the cornerbacks wear weighted shoes or something?

National League infields play Willie McCovey way around to the right because he never hits to the opposite field. NHL defenses swarm around Orr because he's the guy who sets up 75 percent of Boston's scoring plays. NFL teams have gone almost exclusively to the zone defense because NFL owners go almost exclusively with straight drop-back quarterbacks.

THE CLASSIC drop-back, howitzer-armed QB rose to prominence in an era of musclebound, eight-man-line defenses. Offenses couldn't make a nickel against these guys (unless they had a Steve VanBuren or a Joe Perry or a Rick Caseres)—so they hired guys like Sammy Baugh and later Norm Van Brocklin and Bobby Layne to throw the ball over their heads.

So the defenses adjusted. All of a sudden there were these quick, agile guys back there in the secondary running stride for stride with receivers.

But the receiver knew where he was going, and the defender had to guess. Even the best of the defensive backs got burned a few times every year—and getting burned on a post pattern can cost you a ballgame.

WHILE PRO SCOUTS were busy during the 60's combing college campuses for 6-4, 210 pound kids with rocket launchers attached to their right shoulders; a new breed of gridiron mathematician called a "defensive coordinator" was figuring a few angles.

His very first observation was that offensive coaches (including his boss) don't like to see their $100,000-a-year rocket launchers do anything much except hand the ball to their fullback or throw it from behind a wall of blockers to a guy like Paul Warfield in the end zone. Best way for a young QB to wind up on the bench was to run with the ball.

Oh, he might toss in a draw play or a reverse once in a blue moon; but nine times out of ten when the quarterback didn't give the ball to that first running back, he was gonna throw it.

DOING A LITTLE quick arithmetic, Mr. Defense added up the number of people in his secondary: seven, then subtracted the number of possible receivers on a typical pass play: usually three, max of five.

Result: he discovered that, once the running fake was diagnosed, he had six or seven guys to guard three or four receivers. By spreading his guys around in assigned areas, and dropping at least one very deep, he could just about eliminate the threat of a long bomb—and severely mess us the QB's chances of finding anybody in the clear during the three seconds or so before the rushing linemen broke his head.

YOU WILL please note that the key consideration here is that the quarterback can't or won't do anything other than throw the ball after that first fake. Linebackers can drop back 10 yards with impunity, cornerbacks and safeties can gamble on interceptions because they've got help—it's a piece of cake against all but the toughest QB's.

Which brings us back to the current dilemma.

How do you correct the imbalance between offense and defense? How do you beat the zone?

I don't claim to be a strategic genius, but doesn't the answer seem pretty obvious?

THE ANSWER IS more guys playing quarterback like Greg Landry and Roger Staubach play quarterback. The answer is NFL owners waking up to the value of people like Joe Theismann and Jack Mildren and Rex Kern. Not to mention the Wishbone T.

If you watched the NFL playoffs or the Super Bowl last winter, then you had to hear the comments that defensive linemen and linebackers made about running quarterbacks. To a [illegible] dreaded facing a [illegible] Staubach—and he [illegible] scramble all that much.

Look at Fran Tarkenton's passing statistics some time. The best known "scrambler" of the 60's is also very near the top in yards gained and touchdown passes completed; and it's no coincidence.

To outlaw a perfectly legal and very successful strategy is no way to "improve" the game. It's up to offensive masterminds to beat the zone—even if that means benching an out-dated superstar in favor of some squirty 180-pounder who can take his lumps and drive defenses crazy in the process.

If you're interested in preserving the sport, you beat a better mousetrap with a smarter mouse—not a sledgehammer.

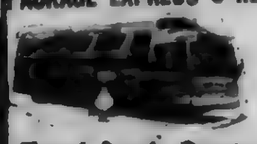
"Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.



The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi.
It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)
The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911.
A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.
And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.
We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.
We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.
And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look.
The way they work.

ACT II

By BETTY DRAGONETTE

In order to promote their "Street of Of Yesteryear" the Center of Science and Industry asked the Association of Community Theatres, Columbus to produce a melodrama at COSI, 280 E. Broad St. Jean Ann Weaver was chosen as director and the call went out to all member theater groups for participants.

The result is "For Her Cheild's Sake or Her First False Step" playing July 28, 29 and 30 with curtain time at 8 p.m. and a 2 p.m. showing Saturday and Sunday. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 228-6361.

THE GREAT thing about melodrama is the audience participation and Jean Ann has heightened this by having the actors play the center aisle of the auditorium, thus allowing a close-range look at the villain, hero and heroine. In this case the villain in the person of Jim Browning is a delight as he twirls his mustache, swings his cape and gives out with a blood curdling laugh.

The villain's accomplice, Bev Davis, is either not accustomed to melodrama or is not happy in her role, because while all others on the stage are hamming it up and having a ball, she is playing it much too straight. The idea is to loosen up and have fun with it.

And, speaking of fun, the stage lights up with every entrance of our hero, Dan Teeter. This is another entirely different role for him and again he is superb. I am waiting to see a bad or even mediocre performance from this boy. Of course, it doesn't hurt to have a beautiful, talented heroine like Jennifer Roback to give a guy the proper incentive. She has a lovely voice and natural stage presence.

Curt Meeks turned in a sterling performance as the "perfect butler" and Tyberia Patmon broke me up as the nosey maid, then delighted me with her singing. The time boy and girl, Tommy Davis and Heather Weaver, provided yet another bright spot in the evening, as did the musical accompaniment by Clint Shepard, who also acted as musical director.

As a COSI project, this is a worthwhile event. But it is not a true picture of the talent available in Columbus. I think when ACT does something like this, there should be a little more co-operation on the part of the member groups.

If you want to hear some good music, and I mean really good music, then fly, don't walk, don't run, to the Holiday Inn - Reynoldsburg Motel. Appearing there Thuraday through Saturday is the Dave Hopkins Trio.

What a trio! These boys have a complete understanding of what music is all about. This is the only group playing in a lounge in the area that has said the H... with comtemporary music. Let's play nice, pretty, sweet MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC.

This is the first group I've heard in a long time that does not have guitar or bass in it pounding your eardrums to pieces.

The trio features leader Dave Hopkins on trumpet. This fellow just blows the [illegible] sounding horn in captivity. The tones he creates, muted or open bell, is just like molasses running down your pancakes on Sunday morning.

Then there is Jim Swearingen with the cordovox. This is an over-sexed accordion that sounds like an electric organ. It can also be played to sound like a duo, accordion and electric organ, both at the same time. Jim is a musician. He has excellent chord structures, plenty of style and loads of appreciation for good musicians. Each tune shows this to be true.

Another fellow who is just as talented and just as much as a musician as the rest is drummer Ted Hamilton. He certainly shows class with the sticks and brushes. Yep, he uses brushes. Ted doesn't attempt to show the audience how loud or how fast he can play. Ted just provides loads of good simple, tasty rythums and riffs as his chores with the drums.

Put them all together and they spell an evening of good music that will make you go back for more, and more. The group sticks to a heavy melody line, so that you can recognize the song, without any effort.

The trio is tightly woven together. About 90 percent of their material is old standards or the pretty things of today. Be it ballads or swinging numbers as, "Misty," "Georgia," or, "Bridge Over Trouble Waters," you will happily drink it all in. One other thing I like about this outfit! You can set at the front tables, holding a conversation without shouting, or even raising your voice.

The Dave Hopkins Trio has proven a winner already at the Holiday Inn - Reynoldsburg. Business has soomed up. Another thing about this trio, they get applause after every song. This is a rairty in clubs today. But, people just love good music, especially when it is played by the Dave Hopkins Trio. So will you. Try it, you'll like it.

Last Saturday night, I was invited to a club in a little village that I almost forgot about. The occasion was the

Columbia Center is on route 16, East Broad St., just west of Pataskala. While it may be out in the boon docks, it is only twenty minutes from Broad and High streets. Believe me, it is well worth the drive.

Owned and operated by John Hillmyer, The Midway Grill is very unique. John has just added a new room, called The Tack Room. While the basic theme revolves around horses the decor is so unique and unusual that it overshadows the basic theme.

Three of the interior walls of the Tack Room are paneled from siding of an old barn that John dismanteled. One wall still has the faded painting of the Heaton's Music Store advertisement. You older folks probably remember these signs, on the side of barns, "Heaton's Music Store," "Teach a Boy To Blow A Horn, And He'll Never Blow A Safe." These and Mail Pouch tobacco were seen on hundreds of barns.

All I can say is that John did a masterful job of dismanteling the barn and putting each board back in place to recreate the sign, just as it was 30 years ago.

The wooden beams in the ceiling of the Tack Room are from the same barn. There are feed sacks, used as paneling in the ceiling, that John found in the old barn. Other relics moved to the Tack Room are an old stable broom, wooden rake, old harnesses, plus some Currier and Ives works.

Now, don't get the idea this is a room loaded with dusty old antiques. The decor is a beautiful blend of the old and new. There is plush shag carpeting and soft candle light atmosphere.

The end result is a room that's rustic, yet eloquent. An atmosphere of intimacy and warmth. It is a great place for nostalgia. The Tack Room makes a wonderful place for friends to get together or to take that special someone. It is secluded, dark and quiet, plus a very interesting decor. What more could you ask for.

Stop in soon, and say hello to John and Betty Hillmyer, or to manager Ada Ford. It is open until 1 a.m.

Things are happening at the Ramada Inn North. First, Sunday has turned into a big party, pool party, that is Jack Gorham and his group play at poolside, from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m. Believe me, it is a lively, swinging affair. Poolside is jammed packed every Sunday. Something else new at the Ramada Inn North: their restaurant is open 24 hours a day, except Sunday night. They have a special night owl breakfast from midnight until 6 a.m., with soft candlelight, just like dinner hours. This just started last week, and it has caught on so fast, that several hundred are coming in each morning for breakfast. More on this in later columns. Also, Bill Dechert, has been appointed general manager, coming from Ramada Inn South, and Ed Mathews formerly of the Wine Cellar is assistant manager. Things just keep happening at Ramada Inn North. It is like New Year's Eve, seven days a week. Sweet Seasons is appearing there nightly and knocking them dead... At Lincoln Lodge Motel, sexy Jo Kiser has been held over. This gal is one of the best single acts in the country. Loaded with looks and talent, that's Jo Kiser...Don't forget that fabulous Sunday dinner at Howard Johnson's on Granville Rd. This week it is Roast Sirloin of Beef, with all the trimmings. Complete dinner, and I mean complete, for only two bucks...Then there is the Sports Forum Lounge in the rear of Howard Johnson's. You get double drinks, for less than the price of a single, all day and night... Trilogy, better known as the Chaining Tymes, is the new act at Marco Polo's Lounge. This is another outstanding group to play at the all new Marco Polo's. More on them next week...One of the sharpest bar maids in town, is Mary at the Holiday Inn East. This blond, blue eyed gal is a real looker, loaded with personality... Don't forget the hilarious and talented Glenn and Billl at the Olentangy Inn. These fellows are terrific. Ypu can catch them at poolside, weather permitting, Tuesday through Sunday. Bring along your hollow legs, the O & I pours a heavy drink.... Joanne Hill is my pick as the prettiest and sharpest bar manager and banquet manager of any motel - hotel in this area. She could easily win any Miss Personality Award. Very few women hold the job of bar manager in a motel. She's sharp in every respect, though... The Society of Song, have been held over again at the Sheraton North Motel. This is one of the smoothest, entertaining groups to ever play in the Silver Saddle Saloon. Make sure you put this on your entertainment schedule... And, for something different, with a guarantee, put the Charleston Club on your schedule also. There are many sexy dancers there every night, plus the great organ stylings of owner, Hall Case. This guy really plays up a storm. This has to be a must for you who enjoy good music, and sexy gals.

State Fair On Horizon

The red, white and blue theme of "All American Fair," ExpOhio '72, and all of the excitement that accompanies it--August 24th through Labor Day, September 4th-- will be here before we know it, according to Victor Lucas, new general manager.

In recent years the Ohio State Fair has been billed by nose count experts as the World's Largest 12-day fair in almost everything, but most especially attendance. Last year 2.2 million noses--a might big nose count even by Texas standards.

AND since day one in his new position, Lucas has vowed to make ExpOhio '72 bigger and better than the last. "Of course," quipped the energetic Lucas, "that's as it should be."

Agriculture and fairs are nothing new to Lucas. Born and reared on a farm, Lucas, his wife and four daughters currently live on a Highland County farm. For the past two years, Lucas has served as Superintendent of the Ohio State Fair Market Lamb Show.

When asked about this year's "Free" 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. grandstand entertainment, Lucas volunteered: "We honestly believe the ExpOhio '72 grandstand entertainment holds something of interest for people of all ages. We planned it so as not to slight anyone. Of course, we're counting on our outstanding lineup of entertainers to attract record crowds needed to reach the anticipated 2.5 million attendance record a quarter million more people than last year's."

LUCAS emphasized, we not only contracted for a variety of entertainment, but a quality cast of stars. For instance, another return engagement by the inimitable Bob Hope on Labor Day weekend Sept. 2-3.

For the teenie boppers we booked David Cassidy (TV Partridge Family fame) on Labor Day, Monday, September 4th; and The Osmonds on Monday and Tuesday, August 28th and 29th.

Then there are country western greats Lynn Anderson, Ray Price, and Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass for separate shows on Wednesday, August 30; Glen Campbell, opening day Thursday, August 24 as well as Friday the 25th; and the "Masters Festival of Music Show" with Chet Atkins, Floyd Cramer, Boots Randolph on Sunday, August 27.

ROCK and pop followers will enjoy Ike and Tina Turner accompanied by the four "Ikettes" and "King of Rhythm Band" Thursday, August 31, also Jody Miller, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 2-3, Bobby Vinton Friday, September 1; Mac Davis, Sept. 2-3; the Golddiggers Saturday and Sunday, August 26-27 and Kenny Rogers and the First Edition Saturday, August 26.

In addition, daring helicopter-trapeze stuntman Dave Merrifield has signed again for daily performances.

ExpOhio '72 has something for everyone. From its star-studded lineup of entertainment to the welcome sound of the 300 voice world-famous All-Ohio Youth Choir. the 300 pieces of the All-Ohio Boys' Band and the 200 pieces of the All-Ohio Youth Symphony. These kids are the "cream of the crop"; of Ohio's musicians and we're certainly proud of them, too, Lucas reported

"What impresses me, is the continued interest in the fair by so many young people. Did you know more than 30,000 young Ohioans will again participte in the junior fair exhibits featuring everything from honey and hogs to needlework, goats, cake decorating and dulcimer making. We also anticipate 22,000 animals in the livestock exhibits alone," Lucas commented.

FOR fine arts fanciers attending this year's fair, there shall be 36 original oils from the collection of New England farmscape painter and early Americana authority Eric Sloane on display in the Cox Fine Arts Building. According to Leland McClelland, Ohio State Fair Fine Arts Director, a larger number of entries is expected this year than last.

Aside from fine arts, the second annual Ohio Folk Arts Fetival will be held on the lawn of the fairgrounds Arts and Crafts Building. Daily crafts and food demonstrations, concerts and workshops will give fairgoers an opportunity to experience first hand Ohio's rich blend of traditional folk cultures--from crafts of the rural Amish and Appalachian hills to the food and music of urban Italians and Afro-Americans, reported Lucas.

Once again, the Ohio Homemaker of the Year Award will be presented and the official crowning ceremonies of a new "Miss Ohio State Fair" shall be conducted. Some 40 beautiful and talented young women will compete for the "Queen" title.

The World's largest amateur boxing tournament, the International balloon race, tractor pull and draft horse shows are rescheduled and the first horseshoeing contest in many years shall be featured. The list goes on. From livestock, to fun-filled midway rides, to ag. and hort. and pretty queens...

WHAT more can be said for the World's Largest 12-day "All American Fair" can be left unsaid, according to Lucas, that is until the official ribbon cutting ceremony by Miss Teenage America on opening day, Thursday, August 24. From then on the story of ExpOhio '72 unfolds for all Ohioans and the rest becomes history.

THE SECOND annual "Miss Ohio State Fair Boxing Queen Contest" for single girls between 16 and 21 years of age will be held opening day, Thursday, August 24 at 2 p.m. according to Amateur Boxing Director Bill Cummings.

The queen and her court will reign each evening of the Ohio State Fair's Amateur Boxing Saturday, August 24,25, and 26 at 7 pm.

Cummings also reported, the Boxing Queen will be eligible to compete in the "Miss Ohio State Fair" pageant.

The deadline for entrants is Tuesday, August 15.

"FROM OUR Range to Yours" is the theme of this year's Ohio Beef Marketing Program exhibit, according to Carl Harsh, Executive Director of the Ohio Beef Marketing Program.

Harsh also reported that experts in the beef industry will be on hand to field questions concerning economics and preparation of beef at 12 and 3 pm daily on the Family Arts and Crafts Building stage.

This exhibit will be manned by the Buckeye Cowbells Association, consisting of wives of Ohio beef cattlemen.

CHILDREN'S CENTER BENEFIT

St. Vincent's Festival Scheduled For August 5

The 90th St. Vincent's Festival for the benefit of the St. Vincent Children's Center (formerly St. Vincent's Orphanage), will be held this year at the Shrine Center of Renewal, 5277 East Broad St., Columbus, Saturday, August 5, from noon to 11 p.m. The rain date is August 6.

The first picnic was held in 1875 in Franklin Park the year St. Vincent's orphanage was opened. Finances were limited so the Sisters decided to sponsor an all-day picnic to raise funds and as a grand prize, a fine horse was awarded.

It raised $1,594.00 for the orphanage and as a result the Sisters were later able to raise a three-story building for boy orphans.

In 1892, the picnic was moved to the orphanage grounds where it remained through the years, traditionally on the Fourth of July. Although the picnic location and date have been changed, one thing has always remained the same: a great part of the money necessary to operate St. Vincent's is raised theough this festival.

This year's all-day festival will afford ample facilities, adequate parking, a variety of games for all ages, carnival rides, refreshments to satisfy all appetites, and entertainment and fun for all.

In addition, there are many individuals and various organizations volunteering efforts to help the festival reach its financial goal.

Some of the organizations are Knights of Columbus, Shamrock Club, St. Vincent De Paul, St. Xavier Society, Companions of St. Vincent, Marian Ladies No. 3864, Trinity Episcopal Church, Christ the King Bible School, and Franciscan Guild.

St. Vincent's cares for homeless children. The programs of care provide services to approximately 70 a day: (1) The day hospital under the auspices of the diocesan child guidance center provides care for twenty severely disturbed preschool children under the direction of a psychiatrist; (2) The sisters of St. Vincent continue to care for another 20 emotionally disturbed children in a residence program, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. These children range in ages from four through 12 and include all races, creeds, aand colors; (3) A diocesan "head start" project cares for an additional 30 children and utilize the facilities of St. Vincent; and (4) another group of children take advantage of the recreational resources and a nearby day care center utilizes the outdoor facilities.

St. Vincent's wants to expand and intensify the therapeutic resources of its programs.

Williams Honored For Service

Glenn H. Williams, Plain City-Georgesville Road, retired businessman and long-time volunteer of the Franklin County Unit, Central Ohio Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, received the coveted national Arthritis Foundation volunteer award at the unit's recent annual meeting and dinner.

J. Brewster Davis, past president of the Franklin County Unit and chairman of the Board of the Central Ohio Chapter, presented the citation to Williams. Davis accepted the award for Williams at the National Arthritis Foundation Meeting in Texas in early June.

Besides the Franklin County Unit, the Central Ohio Chapter includes active units in Licking and Fairfield Counties and in Marietta (Southeast).

Employers Invited To Conference

A special conference for employers in Central Ohio will be held Wednesday, August 2, from 9 a.m. to noon at the Ramada Inn, Rte. 161-I. 71. The purposes of the conference on the handicapped is: To inform employers and the community of the employability of the educable mentally retarded in the region; To make aware to the employers and the community the special needs these youth have in reaching full employment and self-sufficiency; and To distribute and explain to employers and the community relevant information concerning the special education work-study program.

Employers interested in attending may register by calling 276-8401 or 463-9626.

Hearing Tests Are Available

Free hearing screening tests are being conducted this month at shopping center malls throughout the Columbus area under the auspices of the Hearing and Speech Center of Columbus and Central Ohio.

Next week the hearing cruiser is to be at Northland Mall August 2-4. The following week, August 10 - 11, it will be at Town and Country. August 17 - 18 it will be at Great Southern's, and August 24-26 at Northern Lights.

Testing hours are from noon until 9:30 p.m.

Goodrich Campaign Starts Aug. 2

James W. Goodrich, 12th District Democratic candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives, will open his fall campaign with a fund-raising dinner August 2.

The dinner, which begins at 7 p.m., will be held at the Sheraton-Columbus Motor Hotel. It will be the main fund-raising event for the Goodrich campaign.

Dinner tickets may be purchased by calling Ann Hughes, dinner chairman, 861-2355.

Senior Citizens Here's Action

MCDOWELL CENTER

Among events planned at McDowell for Thursday, July 27, are the knitting workshop from 9:30 to 4 and a Progressive Pinochle Party at 1 p.m.

Another busload of senior citizens will leave at 8 a.m. Friday, July 28 for a trip to Proctor & Gamble and Meier's Winery to Cincinnati. The trip will return at 4:30 p.m.

The State of Hawaii will be honored the month of August at McDowell. To get the Center in the Hawaiian mood, the dance committee will meet to decorate Tuesday, August 1. Tuesday, the puppets will entertain at Livingston School at 11 a.m.

On the agenda for August are various trips of interest. Among those trips is one to the Kenley play "Meet Me In St. Louis" Saturday, August 5. The trip includes lunch at Duff's Smorgasbord. There are still openings for this trip.

2200 E. BROAD

A free concert by the North American Rockwell Orchestra will be presented August 7 at 7:30 p.m. on the Sundeck of 1100 E. Broad Senior Citizens Center. All senior citizens are invited to the concert and dancing to records will follow.

Before the concert, a watermelon feast will be held on the patio at 6:30. Tickets are 25 cents and must be purchased by August 4 at noon.

Painting workshop will continue throughout the summer on Mondays from 1:30 to 3:00. Guidance is offered in many medias for any senior citizens.

Two workshop sessions to "Sew Knit Slacks" are set for August 2nd and August 9th from 1:00 to 3:00. The first session will incluo construction of the pattern, a demonstration and special tips for successfully sewing the new knit fabrics. In the second session, ladies will bring in their knit fabric and be able to wear their slacks home. Advance registration is requested -- members may sign in the desk folder or call the Center 252-2832.

Central Ohio Fishing Report

INDIAN LAKE - Channel catfish are being taken by boat and bank fishermen from most areas of the Lake. Cut shad, soft craws and nightcrawlers are suggested baits. Walleye and white bass are being taken occasionally by trolling in the deeper waters of the Old Indian Lake area. Artificial lures are producing fair catches of largemouth bass and an occasional muskie. The Dream Bridge area is reported to be producing a few yellow perch on worms. Outlook - fair to good.

KISER LAKE - Very good catches of crappies have continued to be taken through the first part of July. Recent examples of good catches include two made by Dean Anstein of Springfield when he caught 41 on one day and returned to catch 33 the next. His crappies measured 8 to 10 3-4" and were taken on minnows. A few walleyes and occasional largemouth bass are being taken on artificial lures and minnows. Outlook - good.

KNOX LAKE - Fair numbers of crappies are being taken on minnows. A few muskies between 36 and 40 inches are being caught using artificial lures. Largemouth bass fishing has been fair with the middle portion of the Lake being the most productive. Outlook - fair and improving with clearing waters.

Symphony Concert At Zoo

The Columbus Symphony orchestra will present its second annual Family Pops Concert at the Zoo, Sunday, July 30, at 5 p.m. The free concert is open to the public. No admission will be charged to enter the Zoo after 4 p.m. that day.

Dr. Donald E. McGinnis, professor of Music at Ohio State University and Director of the OSU Concert Band will conduct the orchestra in familiar favorites with appeal for the entire family.

New Phone Books Being Delivered

Delivery of Ohio Bell's 1972-73 Columbus directory began last Monday, according to Joseph Jester, district commercial manager for the phone company.

About 622,000 copies of the new directory will be distributed in the Columbus area by 1,027 special carriers.

Distribution is expected to be completed on by August 4.

"The old phone books will be recycled this year," Jester continued. Waste Watchers, Inc., a Columbus recycling group, will accept the old books at nine points throughout the Columbus area following the delivery of the new directories.

The new Columbus directory contains 776 white pages and 884 Yellow Pages. There have been 283,049 listing changes since the directory was issued a year ago.

The 24-page blue section, found in the center of the book, contains a brief history of Columbus along with factual civic information, a city map, points of interest and entertainment and recreational information about Columbus. The section is also a handy reference for Columbus traffic laws, postal information and zip codes.

Up - Up - And Who Knows Where?

A BALLOON BARRAGE (or was it a balloon mirage) created a gargantuan traffic jam and kept safety department switchboards flooded with calls from excited residents Monday evening in Reynoldsburg. The bright yellow hot-air top-shaped first thought to be UFO's floated gracefully and eerily over John F. Kennedy Park while thousands of citizens gawked from autos, the park area, yards and rooftops. Normally calm council members strained their noses to the windows of council chambers to view the phenomenom. Unfortunately, the safety committee didn't have a quorum as only brave Robert Doherty ventured outside his home. An eyewitness account of the balloons is on Page 6. (Spectator photo from council chambers by Ray Adams.)

3.3 MILLS CERTIFIED

Final Steps Taken To Ballot Bonds

In preparing the necessary resolutions to place an $89.5 bond issue on the ballot, The Columbus Public School Board has certified that the County Auditor estimates the average millage to retire the bonded indebtedness will be 3.3 mills.

This estimate is based upon the cost of all the bonds being sold immediately, and exceeds considerably the actual cost to the taxpayer.

Columbus has had a long standing policy when a construction program is approved to issue the bonds only as the proceeds are actually needed.

It has not been determined at this point what the actual millage will be, but it will be well under three mills.

The need for additional buildings was spotlighted as the board met yesterday in a routine session.

Announcement was made that a lease is being negotiated with the Tuskegee Alumni Housing Foundation to secure 13,800 square feet of floor space in a building now under construction located approximately 500 feet north of Mifflin High School.

According to Supt. C.L. Dumaree who is representing Dr. John Ellis during his recuperation from recent surgery, recent residential construction in the area makes the action mandatory.

The use of the ground floor of two buildings will provide 13 classrooms and appropriate office, health, restroom and storage area. Off street parking and an all-weather play area is also provided.

By its terms, the two-year lease which will begin Sept. 1, Columbus will pay $20,000 annually and have the option of renewal annually up to three more years.

However, after the first year Columbus can terminate the lease upon 120 day notice.

Dumaree states that approval of the bond issue will be the forerunner of such termination.

Two relatively small recommendations of the administration brought mild protests from individuals on the board.

One was that of providing a supplemental pay schedule to administrative cadets by seven percent of the minimum paid for a bachelors degree.

Dr. Watson Walker voted against the salary improvement which will amount approximately to $500 annually. He appeared to oppose it on grounds of insufficient teacher input into the idea rather than on the amount of money involved.

Each of the women on the board, Mrs. Virginia Prentice, Mrs. Marilyn Reddon and Mrs. Marie Castleman, expressed a degree of protest that they were asked to approve paying teachers a stipend of $5 an hour (with a maximum of $25 per diem) to attend the summer workshops that are arranged for teachers as inservice training.

It was the general attitude that teachers should welcome the opportunity for professional self improvement and should not have to be bribed to expose themselves to the workshops.

The speculation was also made that teachers who must be so induced to attend a work shop probably wouldn't get much from the experience.

William Buchel, a frequent visitor at board meetings until recently, was back again, explaining his absenteeism by saying that he believed the bond decision facing the board in recent weeks deserved top priority.

As in the past, Buchel was seeking the rationale behind the transfer of students from their neighborhood schools on basis of either marital status or parenthood, and demanding that birth control be taught in the school.

He came up with some fresh "Buchel" statistics which he admitted could not be substantiated. Be that as it may, he contends that since the end of school there has been 550 cases of pregnancy among unmarried Columbus students and 365 abortions.

Referring to the recent July 13 filing of a civil action against the Columbus Board of Education by Carla Connelly in the United States District Court, Buchel demanded to know how much the board's policy on transfer was costing the public.

Dumaree stated that the staff is reexamining the staff decisions made in the past under the dictates of the general board policy on the matter of transfers.

He stated that the matter of teaching or not teaching birth control in Columbus School was a separate issue–one of instruction to which he was not prepared to address himself.

Contrary to the board's customary policy of meeting regularly throughout the summer months, Moyer asked that the Tuesday Aug. 15 be moved to Aug. 29.

He stated there were not enough items of business to necessitate the earlier meeting.

The motion, made by Mrs. Prentice, was unanimously approved.

CAN CHRISTMAS COME BACK?

Her Miracle Says 'Yes'

BY JACK WITTENMEIER

She looks like the grandmother she is and when she talks, you get the feeling the cherubs are taking notes.

She is Mrs. Joe Murphy, of 621 Belvidere, and she'll be needin' all the help she can muster (including those note-taking cherubs) to finish "the miracle" that all but fluttered her way out of the bookshelves at the McDowell Senior Citizens library three months ago.

IT ALL started last February as Myrtle Murphy approached Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney following the latter's appearance at Trinity Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Whitney had spoken on the role of being an active, living. Christians. "I asked her what I personally could do," Mrs. Murphy said, "and she told me to stop being a pew-warmer and do something about it."

For example: "Discourage the commercialization of Christmas. Let the executives of big department stores know you are tired of Christmas parades, the deluge of Santa Clauses and religious hymns blaring from store loud speakers,"

Or, "Keep the exchange of gifts meaningful and to a minimum. Give homemade gifts this year, such as cookies or needlework. Perhaps, give a gift of time or service – ironing, babysitting, car washing."

OR "MAKE a Christmas gift to your favorite charity or to your church this year in honor of the One whose birthday is being celebrated."

Mrs. Murphy isn't really out to dip Christmas sales she says.

"But too many of us have carried it to the point where its gotten ridiculous. For example, someone who spends $200 on Christmas gifts – this year, spend $175.

Mrs. Murphy, who's retired, went home and prayed: "Lord, what do You want me to do with the rest of my life? Give me a sign, telling me what would please You most."

THE ANSWER was not immediately forthcoming.

"After two months with no answer I was getting anxious to get going," Mrs. Murphy explains, "so I asked again."

Several days later as she was returning some books to the McDowell library, Mrs. Murphy's "miracle" occured.

"I WAS HEADED for the religious books section when something literally pushed me the other way. There, sticking out a good three inches from the rest of the books, was my answer," she says.

The book was "All I Said Was" by Paul Molloy, a syndicated writer for the Chicago Sun-Times.

Mrs. Murphy automatically opened the book to a segment on Christmas and found what she believes is the answer to her prayers.

Adding to the strange coincidence (or miracle, if you will) of Mrs. Murphy's discovery was the fact that Molloy is her maiden name, both she and the author share a common birthday (July 4) and each of their mates celebrate their birthdays exactly 20 days later.

IT WAS THEN Myrtle Murphy realized her life's goal was tied in with Molloy's feelings about Christmas – that the holiday (or holy day) has become grossly commercialized to the point it is barely recognized for its origin – the birth of Christ.

The incident at McDowell set off a exchange of letters between Mrs. Murphy and Molloy – the initial exchange requesting and receiving permission to reprint the author's segment on Christmas.

But with 58 scarce dollars on the line several weeks later (for a printing of Molloy's and Mrs. Murphy's combined remarks on un commercializing Christmas), a flame of doubt flickered in Myrtle's heart.

AND NOT unlike Moses at the water-springing rock, she asked for one more sign that she was headed in the right direction.

She prayed and the next morning, on the spotless dining room table she had left the night before, appeared a long-discarded circular listing "Santa Claus hours" at a local store.

THEN SUDDENLY came a major breakthrough in her efforts to tell her and Molloy's story

At the meeting she will hand out copies of the message "Christmas Today...Holy or Humbug?" and offer as many copies as the ministers ask for their parishoners until the supply (1000) runs out.

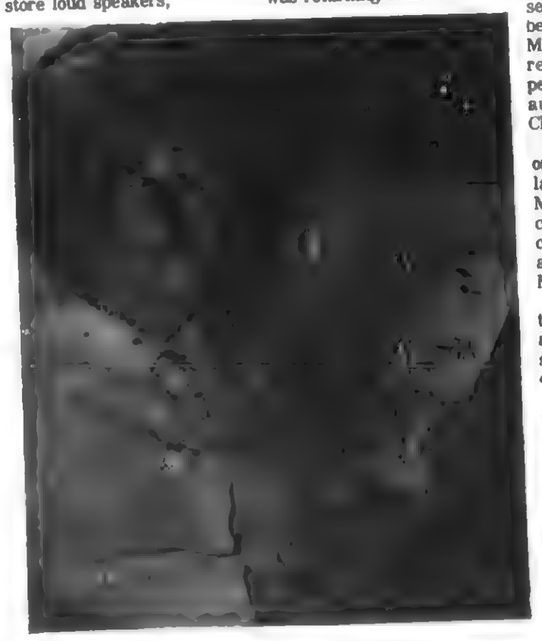
"HAVE YOU ever made a personal gift of love on Christ's birthday?" she asks. "Why do we shower ourselves with gifts on Christmas? It's not our birthday.

MRS. MURPHY is anxious to get her "Non-Commercialized Christmas Crusade" on the move. "I 'll speak to any women's group who'll give me the time to listen to my story," she says.

The Irish eyes brighten as she tells of hopes to have 100,000 of her tiny booklets printed by November 1 and maybe bumper stickers with her title 'Holy or Humbug'.

And then the eyes sadden as I prepare to leave and she says, "Oh, honey, I wish you could remember Christmas the way I do. It was so beautiful."

"ARE YOU tired of Christmas starting in July...Christmas parades being held on Thanksgiving?"



The questions ring in my mind long after I leave.

Myrtle Murphy says she got the answer to her prayer last April in a senior citizen library.

SHE CALLS it a miracle. Maybe so.

BECAUSE any day now the Rockies will start creeping toward Staten Island.

MRS. JOE MURPHY

'Holy Or Humbug?'

Show Aug. 12

The Walnut Ridge Garden Club will conduct its annual standard Flower Show Saturday, August 12 (2 to 6 p.m.) at the Grace United Church of Christ, 1226 Shady Lane Rd.

The 1972 show theme will be "We'd Like to Teach the World to Sing" and will include four open divisions–Artistic, Horticulture, Educational and Junior (25 classes).

THE GOVERNOR 'CALLS'

Persistence 'Pays Off' On Consumer Complaint

Mrs. Wayne Briggs, of 3377 Robinhill Ct., W. in River Bend, had a rather special house (or rather, garage) guest last Thursday.

And he couldn't have picked a better launching pad.

The governor spent nearly 30 minutes on a guided tour of the Briggs' garage which was completed May 2 at a cost of $1530.

Mrs. Briggs, described as "a very persistent lady" by one of Gilligan's aides, apparently holds no deep malice toward the builder she and her husband are suing.

"I just want my garage fixed," she declared simply.

THE BRIGGS, who have brought suit against the builder after his refusal to correct a number of building deficiencies, report it will cost them $2925 to have the structure torn down and rebuilt and a new driveway installed.

At one point during his tour of the garage, Gilligan pointed to some beams and turned to reporters saying, "I can saw straighter than that."

The governor apoligized to Mrs. Briggs that the consumer protection legislation was coming a little bit late to solve her particular problem but asked that she take solace in the fact that her problem "provides us with what we need to prevent this kind of thing from happening to other people around the state."

"THE KIND of thing" Gilligan and reporters saw was: garage exterior and door frames bowed, unmatched siding, exterior nails rusting, a rotting lumber cement form left aside the garage with water standing in the footer, a crack in the interior wall etc., etc., etc..

THE GOVERNOR'S new consumer protection program, which will "protect the citizens of Ohio against those unscrupulous persons who prey on those who don't have the tools to defend themselves," will be headed by Cheryl Karner, a 26-year-old attorney who has been with the U.S. Department of Justice working in the consumer protection section.

The new division will investigate complaints in numerous consumer areas including: warranties and repairs for automobiles and home appliances and home improvements.

A consumer complaint "hot-line" will be established (469-8760 in Franklin County) and manned from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays (an answering service will handle night and weekend calls).

THE CONSUMER program will also include fact-finding hearings to be held next month in six Ohio cities (Columbus included) with the public encouraged to testify.

The Consumer Protection Division (after receiving a letter or form from a dissatisfied consumer) will investigate the complaint and try to resolve the problem informally.

When necessary, complaints will be forwarded to the Attorney General for prosecution.

ACCORDING to 18-month-old reports by the Ohio Legislative Service Commission, the Better Business Bureau estimates that the amount of fraud and deception in the area of home improvement in Ohio runs over $40 million annually.

FRAUD AND incompetence in the area of automobile and appliance repair runs up another $50 million each year around the state.

The Consumer Protection Division has gotten new and sharper "teeth", thanks to recently-passed State legislation.

For example, Ohio's new law prohibits the use of deceptive acts or practices in sales transactions – whether the deception occurs before, during or after the transaction (e.i. hidden "fees", inadequate-supply sales, bait 'n switch techniques, misrepresentative advertising, untrue product claims etc.).

THE NEW law also prohibits "unconscionable acts or practices" in sales transactions, whether before, during or after transaction.

An "unconscionable act" is one in which the supplier has knowingly taken advantage of the inability of the consumer reasonably to protect his interests because of physical or mental infirmities, ignorance, illiteracy or inability to understand the language of an agreement.

Put On A Happy Face

AND THAT'S JUST WHAT Tracy McWilliams did. She was just one of the many happy entries in the recent Scottwood Playground clown contest. Tracy's happy face made her one of the contest winners before the evening activities were over. The contest was just one of the events planned by the Columbus Recreation Department for youngsters in the eastern area.

Receive High Honors

Two east area residents have received high honors during the spring semester at Case School of Technology, Case Western Reserve University.

Receiving the honors were Wayne A. Babich, Jr., 1462 Wilmore Dr. and Joel L. Abrams, Jr., 220 S. Stanwood.

Cap Plans Judaism Course

The Jewish Chautauqua Society in New York has awarded a grant to Capital University to fund the teaching of a course in Judaism at Capital during the 1972-73 academic year.

According to Capital religion department chairman Dr. Larry Gardner, the course will be taught by Dr. Edward D. Kiner, associate rabbi at Temple Israel, 5119 E. Broad St.

A native of Cleveland, Rabbi Kiner attended Columbia University in New York and Western Reserve University.

He was ordained at Hebrew Union College - Jewish Institute of religion in Cincinnati in 1965 and received his Ph.D. from the Ohio State University in 1968.

In addition to his assignment as Director of Religious Education at Temple Israel, he lectures on college campuses under the auspices of the Jewish Chautauqua Society.

Endowment of this program at Capital University is one of the 86 resident lectureships sponsored by the Society for 1972-73. Since the primary concer of the society is education, it attempts to provide opportunities for people to become better acquainted with Jewish traditions.

Chautauqua, founded in 1893 by Rabbi Henry Berkowitz, is an educational project of the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods. More than 1900 colleges have participated through the years in the society's programs.

CASSINGHAM

On July 24th rigorous training began for the Junior Olympics. Thursday, July 27th was the meet and the Kassingham Kids came in a very close second. Congratulations to all who participated.

The Kassingham Kuties continue to hold the lead in the girls' softball standings. They pounced on Maryland on July 25th but had to concede to Montrose on the 17th. The girls are continuing to practice and expect to meet their opposition head on next week and go for another victory.

The Kids have been out in the neighborhood collecting newspapers. A big campaign is planned for next week - our red wagons will be out full force in Cassingham district - watch for them.

Friday July 28 was the date of the 2-square tournament. Prizes of ice cream cones were given to the winners in the three age brackets, and watermelon was on tap for all participants.

Many of he Kassingham Kids went to watch the Reds play a double header at Cincinnati's River Front Stadium last Sunday, July 30th. Lisa Williams and Tammy Clowson submitted an entry for the "Banner Day" contest held at the game that day.

Tuesday, August 1st many of the Kids competed for prizes in the Inter-Playground Fishing Derby held at Schrock Lake in Sharon Woods Metropolitan Park. Winners were announced in such categories as longest, shortest, fattest, prettiest fish, most fish caught, and first caught.

Tonight there will be a Costume Party on the playground with prizes awarded for the costumes and games planned for all participants such as bobbing for apples and a cake walk. Then on Friday we plan to have a talent show featuring some of the most interesting and unusual talent in Bexley. Everyone is invited to present their talent - sing a song, perform a skit, stand on your head, tell a joke - or just some to watch and enjoy. Come join in the fun at Cassingham!

MARYLAND

We would like to thank those who tried so hard to bring the Junior Olympics crown to Maryland...Maybe next year!

Maryland is now in the process of winning the playground newspaper drive and hope everyone in the school district will help. Also in the planning stage is the upcoming Bexley Swim Meet. Sign up now for your favorite events for the meet, to be held in mid-August at the Bexley Pool.

Monday evening some of the Maryland kids had a pizza party at Shakeys, always a fun special event. Tuesday we went to Shrock Lake for the afternoon for the tri-playground Fishing Derby. This Wednesday evening we will have a Carnival at Maryland for all residents of Bexley from tiny tots to grown ups. Mothers are urged to bring the smaller children, as there will be special features just for the little tots.

Thursday morning we will have a two-square tournament, Friday we will have two tournaments - Ring Toss and Horse-Shoe - and also Frisbee competition, ending the day with a watermelon hunt. We would like to urge more kids to participate in these special events and contests. If you have any questions, talk to Jeff or Barb - but first - READ THE BULLETIN BOARD. Summer is fun time at Maryland!

MONTROSE

Last Thursday Montrose again took the spotlight by winning the 1972 Junior Olympics. Star of the meet, held at Bexley High School track and field, was our own Stacy Spielberger. Stacy competed in the maximum three events for her age bracket and took first place in all three! Thanks to all team members and rooters for helping make the victory possible.

Last Wednesday night we had a pizza party at Shakeys, then a movie "White Wilderness" on the playground at dusk. Monday the 31st was Clown costume day at Montrose, and on Tuesday afternoon a group from Montrose took part in the three-playground Fishing Derby at Schrock Lake.

Tonight we will have a golf tournament on the playground, starting at 6 p.m., and tomorrow night we have girls' softball practice scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Don't forget the big playground newspaper drive next week!

COMMUNITY RELATIONS COUNCIL HELPS

By RAY ADAMS
Reynoldsburg Editor

An experiment in living. An attempt to change attitudes. A chance to communicate. A week of fun."

That's the way the Youth Services Program of Franklin County head counselor Ted Waters described the program started last week at Lockbourne Air Force Base (LAFB).

"The program, co-sponsored by the Columbus Armed Forces Community Relations Council and LAFB has one prime objective: to renew or develop the participants' faith in their own abilities and worth in society and to show them how they can succeed within the system," according to LAFB Information Officer Lt. Chris Scheer.

JUNE 26 was an eventful day for 20 boys between the ages of 15 and 17. They came to LAFB to begin five days and four nights of living, eating, learning, and playing together under the close supervision and guidance of four professional counsellors.

Air Force Lt. William Taylor, who is leaving service this August, has been the base information officer. He related the program this way.

"Most of the young men in the Youth Services Program come from disadvantaged backgrounds. Most have never come in contact with the structured disciplined life of group living. Some have juvenile court records. All are ripe for a change - a change in attitude which the program's sponsors and counsellors feel can be accomplished in five busy days at Lockbourne (there will be nine five-day programs with different youngsters attending)."

THE COLUMBUS Armed Forces Community Relations Council and LAFB combine in the program with the civilian council financing the program covering all costs from counsellors' salaries to meals in the LAFB dining hall.

Taylor said that many of Lockbourne's shops and offices will participate weekly in the program during its nine-week duration. The base, he indicated, will introduce the young men to such diverse fields as shop mechanics, computer technology, golf, dental hygiene and law enforcement.

"The program," said Ted Waters, "is solely under the control of the council while LAFB supplies the boys and counsellors with a dormitory room and a week of recreation orientation and - hopefully - stimulation.

WHAT DID the first group of young men think about their week at LAFB?

Here are a few replies to some questions asked.

Have you formed any impression of Mr. Waters?

Rick Steltz said, "He is cool but when he tells you to do something and you don't do it he blows his cool."

WE ASKED Tom Sturgill if he would like to also visit an Army and Navy base. He replied, "No, because I don't like them. Their food is no good."

Anson Jarrett told us he didn't look forward to going home from the base stay because "I am having fun."

"WHAT ARE you going to tell your friends about your visit to the base?" was the question asked Bill Haines. He told us, "I probably will tell them it was fun because we got to see the certain places that run the base, for example, the computer room, control tower and F-100 fighter jets."

Lennie Miller was sold on the food. He exclaimed, "In my opinion the food was the greatest. I haven't had food that good in a long time."

"Yes, because I might want to join the Air Force instead of going to college." That's the answer Mike Redmond gave us to the question "Will this visit influence the way you might start to plan your future".

FRANK Glover doesn't think the Air Force would discriminate against anyone because of their race, creed or religion. He told us, "No, I think that they would try to solve your problems for you. I also believe that the Air Force would help anyone with race, creed or religion problems."

Randy Albert mentioned a few of the things he learned while on the base. "I learned how the airplane works, If I did not know how the plane works at first. I learned about the M-16 and the bombs and the men showed me how to develop film, how to fly a jet and took a lot of pictures. I learned a lot that I don't know about. All my counsellors were nice. Ted Waters was the top one. The people are nice."

Emmett Ernsberger was asked what he would tell his brothers and sisters about his visit. He replied, "I have five of them. I would tell them of the fun I had. Everyone up here was nice and let you do all kinds of things. They might not even believe me when I tell them all the things I did or saw."

"WHEN WE went and saw the F-100's and they showed us the engines" was the most exciting part of the trip for Kelly Sams.

George Henderson said he wasn't particularly impressed by the base visit.

Sgt. Cox of field maintenance was the favorite of Brian Valdo.

WATERS PUT his feelings into these words, "If we can convince these boys to continue their schooling and get their diplomas during their week's stay at LAFB, I feel we will have been successful. That's how I'm going to measure the program's success. Many of the boys we work with just don't believe there is a place in society for them, with or without an education. We've got to convince them differently."

WE SUMMED it up this way - many people at the base believe in the young men - now it's up to the young men to believe in themselves.

In the clown contest our winners were: funniest—Joannie Jolliff, first; Amy Blake, 2nd; tallest—Pat Reiser, first; Jeff Reiser, 2nd; more original-Tad Hannah and Kristi Dorn; prettiest-Kristi Dorn and April Smith; brightest-Rahleigh Jolliff and Billy Hoffman; fattest-Marsha Reffett and Marnita Reffett; skinniest-Rahleigh Jolliff and Jim Puchowich; happiest-Steve Hoffman and Amy Blake; Saddest-Debby Roberts and Lori Dorn; Smallest-Amy Blake and Rahleigh Jolliff; and best clown act-Julie Jolliff and Michelle Russell, second.

BERWICK

BERWICK HAD TWO successful days at the junior olympics last week. Winners were Mary Galloway, Rick Gramlich, Keith Griffin, Alonzo Summs and Howard Eskin.

Our softball teams again had a great week. The intermediate boys defeated Easthaven and the junior boys won over Fairmoor. The Intermediate girls tied Easthaven while the junior girls drew a bye.

Berwick will hold its annual pet show Thursday night at 7.

SCOTTWOOD

DURING GROUP GAMES AT Scottwood playground a challenge of tug of war was initiated into the program to cool a few hot tempers. Those participating in the team challenge were Todd Wills, Betty Nash, Tina Donaldson, Billy Cox, Richy Baas, Steve Chen, Kelly Ellsworth, Tim Connor, Jennifer Austin, Carla Rupert, Eric Van Bibber, Larry Hetzer, Jacky Harringoon, Terry Tober, Troy Tober, Reggie King, Wendal Tober and George Tober.

The results of the clown contest were: most original costume, Tracy McWilliams and Helen Eckstein; funniest, Shelby McWilliams; best dressed were Debbie Komives and Larry Hetzer; best joke or trick was won by Debie Collins. Beth Nuzum and Tara Narcross; happiest was Timmy Connor; saddest was Jennifer Austin and in the pin the nose on the clown contest, Jennifer Austin came the nearest and Mike Komives the farthest.

Participating in the city track meet were Lisa Todd, Sharon Crane, Jay Hamill and Larry Boso.

COURTRIGHT

DUE TO A SLIGHT error, the winners of the hula hoop contest winners were omitted last week. Beth Kokosk was first and Tammy Lewis was second. In the frisbee contest, Tom Brunet and Scott Engel were first.

Youngsters are now practicing for the pageant. Courtright will be doing a song from Sesame Street, "Goin' For A Ride."

Participants in the city track meet were Elaine DeFrance, Tammy Lewis, Beth Kokosh, Cordi and Marva Wells, Tim and Brian DeFrance, James Jones, Marty Smith, Brian Belskie, John and Tom Brunet, Scott Engel and Craig Burris.

EASTHAVEN

THURSDAY THE GIRLS track meet was held at OSU. One of our participants Renee Kitzmann won first place in the softball throw and second in the standing long jump.

The boys track meet was Friday and our participants were Kenny Neville and Robert and Mark Stevenson.

The girls softball team won one game this week and tied another. Their record is 2-0-2. This puts them in first place in their league.

JAMES ROAD

The hardball team is 2-0 led by the pitching of Tim Miller and the hitting of Ken Lawson and Tim Shaefer.

Winners of our pet show were Karen Kickson and her dog, Traver, won most affectionate; Rodney Lawson's dog, Sarge, won most obedient; Cathy Roesch and her rabbit, Jumper, won best performer; Ronnie Jones and his dog, Werewolf, won longest tail; Nancy Sittig and her dog Tippy won best costumed, Lisa Sinder and her Rabbit Bunny won prettiest; Diana Wheelen and her guinea Pig, Hint, won most unusual; Denise Roesch and her dog, Bandit, won cutest; Amy Dowler and her cat won bushiest tail; Jim McDougal and his dog won best groomed; Cam Gibson and her gerbil won smallest and Greg Gibson and his dog, Same, won largest.

PINECREST

PINECREST'S JUNIOR BOYS "A" team clinched the league championship last week with a 7-1 win over Barnett. Earl Marshall pitched six strikeouts and teamed with Mike Queck to lead the hitting attack. Joe Frost, Ken Vedrinski and Roger Pinnick all contributed outstanding defense plays.

Participants in the city-wide track meet included Tim Water, Collin Stimpert, Chris Stimpert, Ken Vedrinski, Mike Jester, Brad Gust, and Bob Shannon.

Pinecrest junior theatre is now working on a pantomine for the pageant August 14 at the Ohio Theatre. The players are working on a rendition of "Hot Rod Lincoln"

WILLIS PARK

LAST WEEK WAS highlighted by the city track meet. Competitors who faired well in the events were Lori Morrison and Carol Hastings.

In girls softball action, the senior girls led by Les Corwin, Shirley Nungesternand Paula Swider, defeated Maybury while the junior girls paced by Kim De Groft, Fran Goldstein and Tammy Snyder, also defeated Maybury.

Standouts in the intermediate boys were D.J. Richards and Dave Bartlet, while the junirs were led by John Weeks, Jeff Bartlet and Rusty Glenn. Doug Mills, Harold Palmore and Mark Copely starred for the Pee Wee team.

MAYBURY

THE CITY TRACK AND FIELD championship meet was last week and Maybury participants were JoAnn Coleman, Tom Wentzel, Ron Riffle, Jay Chaffin, and Brett Chaffim.

Next week were will start rehearsing for the pageant at Ohio Theatre.

Aug. 20 at 6:30 we will have our pet show and on Friday a bike hike.

FAR EAST CENTER

LAST WEEK WAS HIGHLIGHTED by the city track and field meet. Two of our participants who did well were Pam Kendrich and Matt Gutzmas.

This week the Far Easterners are working hard on their act for the pageant. The "Yellow Submarine" skit will be aired on Channel 6 at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Special event this week is a Swap Shop on Thursday at 7 p.m. Bring items you no longer want and exchange them for other items.

OAKMONT

PLAYGROUND has reached a registration number of 186 for this summer and is looking forward to passing the 200 mark by the middle of August.

Thursday and Friday the city wide track meet was held and those representing Oakmont were Sue Alexander and Carol Kendall for the girls; and David Doyle, Mark Biesecker and Mickey Kenes for the boys.

Today the physical fitness test will be given. The testing will begin at 6:30 p.m. All those qualifying will be presented with a certificate of fitness.

This again was a winning week for the Oakmont softball teams. The Junior girls moved into a tie for first defating Maybury 20-7. Pee Wee boys defeated Willis Park 9-4.

WOODCREST

PLAYGROUND is proud to announce a week of winners. Ronny Fishkind and Steve Bailey placed first in the sectional tennis tournament. Sally Wordlow placed second in the softball throw in the city meet.

This year the East sectional pageant will be Aug. 16 at the Ohio Theatre. Our skit is the "Magical Mystery Tour."

The junior girls team improved their game this week but still lost to Maybury girls. The intermediate boys softball team lost 6-2 to Leawood.

OLDE ORCHARD

OLDE ORCHARD'S SENIOR BOYS beat Shady Lane this week, while the junior girls defeated Woodcrest.

Presently we are practicing for the pageant which has the theme of transportation this year. Olde Orchard's act is "The Good Ship Lollipop."

Future events include the traveling zoo on Wednesday, Aug. 9 at 1 p.m.

LEAWOOD

LEAWOOD'S SOFTBALL TEAMS have enjoyed great success this week. The juniors paced by Wally Soga's pitching, won thrilling games at both Willis Park and Maybury.

The intermediates beat Woodcreat to raise their record to 2-1.

Special note should be given to the Pee Wee team for their outstanding victory over Maybury, 4-3.

Coming events include Ice Cream making and tie-dying parties. We will also be having cookouts every Friday night at 5:30.

SHADY LAND

REPRESENTING SHADY LANE at the Track Meet were Dino Sancho, Ed Hilbert, Tom Carter and Keith Riley.

Shady lane is also getting ready for the pageant which will be at the Ohio Theatre.

Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, August 2, 1972

Where There's Life . . .

The anti-COTA factions have been poised to dance upon the grave of the Central Ohio Transit Authority since defeat of the levy in May.

They were all too glad to believe their 7 to 6 victory over supporters of COTA sounded a death knell to the effort to establish a regional transportation system.

Funding by its members (Columbus, Franklin County and the suburbs) has assured its survival throughout the end of the year and, hopefully, additional help will be available for the next six months.

COTA was shot down this spring by voters reluctant to add another mill to their tax burden and who were doubtful of benefits to accrue to them. They were all too ready to believe the statements made by representatives of privately-held bus companies who saw a regional transportation system as a threat to their business.

Largely in defference to the Columbus Public School bond issue that will be on the November ballot, the decision has been made not to again seek approval for funds to pruchase the CTC until after the general election.

However, many doubt the Transit Authority Board will wait until May to go to the people.

Time is running out too rapidly.

The Columbus and Southern Electric Co. (which owns the CTC) has stated the franchise with Columbus to operate buses in the city will not be renewed when it expires July 1.

Some leeway must be left to avoid a summer crisis should local voters again fail to approve the levy which would bring an immediate federal grant of $12.5 million and generate $30 million in local funds during the next 10 years.

Of the alternatives viewed, possible purchase of the existing bus system by the City of Columbus is the most valid.

But such a move would not solve the regional problem without negotiating a host of individual contracts with the suburbs, would sorely tax the capital resources of the city and make full federal help an "iffy" matter.

It will be far better if the public faces the transportation crisis that lies ahead.

Metropolitan Columbus residents share the love affair the average American carries on with his car.

To each driver his car means instant mobility, and often one pays more for this mobility than he does to keep a roof over his head.

When transit is spoken of to relieve the growing congestion of freeway and core city traffic, the motorist always sees the man in the car ahead of him boarding a bus--not himself.

And in the immediate future very few persons with private transportation will actually be weaned away from their automobiles.

During this period, initiation of improved transit will benefit the driving public only indirectly through maintaining the mobility of the non-driving public which is essential to the economy of the community.

But, probably by 1980 and certainly by 1985, without mass transit, Central Ohio traffic will suffer from creeping paralysis.

Freeway congestion will make commuting a nightmare and downtown arteries will be hopelessly clogged.

And Uncle Sam is not going to be standing by to bear the brunt of costs of more and bigger highways. Federal highway money is already beginning to dry up with Washington realizing its billions of dollars are losing the battle against the proliferating cars.

The July 1 deadline has local officials looking at the clock--and justifiably so.

But that more distant deadline when the entire city will lose its mobility is one that calls for the attention of every thinking person in Central Ohio.

'Growing Up' Lessons

A proficiency certificate in typing isn't going to earn a woman a job if she looks as if she's stepped out of the chorus line of "Hair."

And a skilled machinest isn't going to keep a job when his foremen learns that he's as handy with his fists as he is with a lathe.

Recognition of such facts has led to a new training program for 240 welfare recipients in Franklin County. Simply stated, they are being taught to grow up.

In the effort to remove the able-bodied from public dependency, the Bureau of Employment Services has been given Department of Labor funding to provide 750 welfare clients the opportunity to develop saleable skills.

But somewhere along the line, it has become apparent that skill is not the only name in the game.

Social and emotional maturity have a great deal to do in the separation of the men and the boys in the business and industrial world.

A perpetual chip-on-the-shoulder earns a pink slip and grubbiness is about as welcome as the unflushed toilets reported common when so-called unemployables went to work in the earliest NAB programs.

The Bureau, convinced that more than a few of their trainees needed some rough edges sanded off turned to the Learning Systems Institute Inc. for help.

"Behavior modification" is the professional name for the 200-hour course to which, to date, 80 persons enrolled in the Work Incentive Program (WIN) have been exposed.

And it seems to be working.

Of the 80 (the first of 240 to be enrolled this year) 75 are reported to have shown marked behavior changes.

For example, the aggression which led one young man to slug his boss, has been redirected to his doing a superlative job-and a member of a motorcycle gang gave up his earring and snarled hair for a job interview.

Immature attitudes and anti-social behavior are among the factors that place a man on welfare initially.

Only an idealist can believe he can shake these handicaps automatically with the acquisition of vocational skills.

Admittedly, it is unfortunate tax money must be used to accomplish a job that should have been done in the home.

But the important thing is that the WIN program has proven it's never too late.

Seventy-five out of 80 tries is one heck of a batting average.

'Fore' 'N Score

By JANE ROBINSON

Twenty years ago I gave up the errancy of my youth and became an honest woman.

My reformation came upon the number one tee of the Old White course in White Sulphur Springs.

For a duffer such as myself to tackle that course was as brash as the local high school chess champion challenging Bobby Fisher--but it was my 10th wedding anniversary and my husband was tolerating my presence with considerable grace--and resignation.

Ready to drive, I heard cries of greeting from the Casino overlooking the starting tees--and those cries were as chilling as the sound of a siren when the speedometer hovers at 90.

I knew I had "had it."

Golfers aren't like fisherman who are downright liars. We're just given to a little hyperbole now and then. And the night before had been one of my "now and thens."

With the comraderie common at the spa we had spent most of the evening with four strangers--and the conversation had centered around golf.

With no one present particularly modest about their accomplishments, the opportune time to mention that the pinnacle of my golfing career had been reached when I was runner-up in the fourth flight of a club tournament simply never arose.

Nor did I mention that my backswing was so unpredictable I had once knocked a caddy cold-- or the time I won considerable fame with 17 shots after having reached the green. (Have you ever seen a green antimacassar perched on a mountain top surrounded by pools of sand?)

No, I hadn't talked like the duffer I was, but like the low handicapper I had always wanted to be. It was so easy--I'd never see any of them again and those mint juleps made it all sound so feasible.

But the moment of truth had arrived the next morning with last night's strangers forming today's gallery.

All I could think of was prayer.

Two-hundred fifty yards down the fairway where it doglegged to the left, stood a mighty oak tree. If I, with the help of the good Lord, could reach the sanctuary immediately beyond that tree no one would ever know the extent of my "hyperbole" of the night before.

But that would take at least a lesser miracle. Not only had I never driven a ball more than 150 or 175 yards in my life, but neither had I ever hooked. I suffered that chronic ailment of all lousy golfers--a slice as consistent as the setting sun.

Well, to make a long story short, I bargained away the comfort and ease of a life-time of white lies and hyperbole for one 250-yard drive with a hook on it.

That long ago miracle came back to me with too much clarity last week while on vacation.

Believe it or not, by Sunday night the word of my score had made its way to Houston Tex., and my son (who had often taken unholy glee in my disasters on the golf course) called me.

He simply could not believe that I had come within a stroke or two of breaking a 100 on 18 holes.

I listened to his incredulous inquiries as to the spectacular improvement in my game and solemnly assured him the score reported in his sister's letter was accurate--and for 18 holes rather than nine (a possibility that had crossed his doubting mind).

Then I remembered that truce made a score of years ago--no more white lies.

I confessed the horrible truth.

It was not exactly a kosher score. It had all happened on a par-three course.

Condition: Improved

Signs Of Progress

Columbus police are justified in being reluctant to take as face value information received by an anonymous telephone call.

Such informants are notoriously unreliable.

Crackpots are garrulous by nature, and police are handy targets for those with a grudge against society.

But we trust Columbus law officers are not discounting the story that a "contract" is out for two members of the narcotics squad.

In recent weeks the action of the squad, the Franklin County Sheriff's Organized Crime unit and federal agents has been impressive.

And it has not been the kids sharing a "joint" or two that have been hurt.

It has been the dealers--and when the dealers find the going rough, the suppliers are in trouble.

Although local officials have stated their suspicion of the accuracy of the monthly dollar value of Columbus drug traffic ($500,000) indicating it appears exaggerated, the figure seems relatively conservative.

Most authorities state it currently takes $50 a day to support a heroin habit in Columbus.

At that rate, it would take only 333 addicts in the county to provide an eager clientele for half a million dollars worth of heroin monthly.

The latest federal grant to fight drug abuse is that announced last week to Blacks Against Drugs (BAD). The $350,000 award would provide therapy for 60 in-patients and 100 out-patients.

Certainly, if the funding agent (the Office of Economic Opportunity) believed there to be only 333 heroin drug addicts in Franklin County, it would not consider it realistic to provide treatment for half of them. Not only are there already existing facilities, but methadone--or any other therapy-- just isn't that easy to sell.

This was proved in California one weekend when one city force rounded up every known pusher and addict it could lay its hand on and incarcerated them for 72 hours on admittedly vague charges.

Felonies such as burglarly, armed robbery and assault dropped almost 50 percent.

Unfortunately, most of the suspects were soon released and the crimes resumed. But the occasion proved a point.

A contract out on two Columbus policemen also proves a point.

They must be doing a doggone fine job.

Support Needed Now

In less than 10 days after the Columbus Board of Education approved a balloting of a $89.5 bond issue in November, the action received the unanimous endorsement of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce.

With barely 90 days remaining for the story of construction needs to be taken to the public, it is high time the Columbus leadership in general follow suit.

The news media traditionally withholds endorsement of issues and candidates until shortly before election, seeking to maximize the impact of such statements with their timeliness.

But civic leadership cannot wait until the last minute to make its position known.

Sidewalks await to be pounded, doorbells need to be rung, letters are unstamped and printing costs must be met.

The time to raise money and manpower for the coming campaign which can shape the future of tens of thousands of boys and girls is now.

The active support of the Urban League, the Columbus Development Committee , the League of Women Voters, the CEA, the PTA, neighborhood groups, service clubs and other organizations is urgently needed and needed immediately.

Whether Columbus voters will climb on the band wagon is a point that will not be known until Nov. 3.

But if they are to even come to the parade, the band better begin to play.

November Bargain

Wary voters are prone to carefully scruntinize the mouth of a gift horse.

But sometimes they seem to be blinded by the very dazzle of what they see.

The classic example occurred in Columbus several years ago when a sizable number of negative votes showed up when public ratification was needed to put a gas rate decrease in effect.

Area residents appear to have another bargain served them on the November ballot.

It isn't quite the juicy morsel represented by that gas rate decrease, but it should prove quite palatable to the most finicky consumer.

It is the two percent increase in electric rates negotiated by the city and the Columbus and Southern Electric Co.

Columbus and Southern has issued fair warning that the November bargain day is a one-day sale. If the minimal increase is denied and legal expenses accrue the price will go up.

The utility company has certainly agreed to give its customers a square and reasonable deal.

It's no time for a hold-out.

Caution against getting skinned is one thing and acting like a skinflint is another.

Letters To The Editor

The Spectator newspapers welcome letters from readers, expressing their views on subjects of interest to them -- whether initiated by news stories or editorial expression in this newspaper or not. Because of space limitations, we prefer letters which do not exceed 300 words. All letters submitted for publication must be signed with the writer's name and address, although -- upon request -- the name of the writer can be withheld. Letters should be marked: "To the Editor, Spectator Newspapers, 3421 S. Boulevard, Columbus, Ohio 43204" and must be received by Monday noon prior to publication date for publication in that week's edition.

'Must Be Another Deal'

To the Editor:

I want to thank you for the news coverage of our problem on College Avenue. It isn't dead yet.

I see we have another operation in city planning which is good for all of the city of Bexley as our city fathers told us. This must be another deal.

Tri-Star Developing Company is going to give the city of Bexley four acres for a park site in a flood area which they don't want.

If the taxpayers pay for the development of this park, who is going to use it in the location it is in? Bexley residents? No!

John Allen from the Drug Abuse Bureau mentioned the ghetto of Bexley and Capital University as prime factors in aiding a rampant spread of drugs.

I know there are drugs in Capital. I saw one of their pot parties. We must be living in the ghetto of Bexley because we are next door and not as wealthy as North Bexley. But everybody has to pay.

The only drug problem we have on College Avenue is the trash thrown on our lawns from [illegible].

City Hall wouldn't allow development of apartments in North Bexley but here it is O.K. Bexley should be Bexley -- not north and south.

The city has always been a well-respected city. If we let realtors and pseudo-intellectuals run the city, everyone will have to relocate.

Mrs. Ermal Jackson
911 College Ave.

YOUTH Rostrum

THE QUESTION: GIVE YOUR VIEWS ON WHAT YOUR CONSIDER A SOCIAL PROBLEM IN THE UNITED STATES.

RESPONDENTS: Eastland Joint Vocational School District summer students in Government and History.

HANG UPS ON HAIR: A major social problem today is the long hair controversy. People thought at first that long hair on men was a Communist plot to take over the country. Actually, long hair has been with us a long time. It comes and goes from time to time. During Columbus' time men wore their hair about shoulder length. The Indians of America wore long hair, as long as it would grow. But - the point is - does the length of someone's hair make him less a man? I believe it is each individual's right to decide how long his hair should be. In the same token, people should take into consideration their own and other person's safety.

Some say that long hair is going to be here awhile. In looking at the past I think that shoulder length hair or longer will go out of style in a few years. But, longer hair is becoming stylish on men of all ages.

I would like to ask you who are reading this to think about what I have said. Do you really think that long hair is bad or is it your own prejudice towards young people? - Bill Thalgett, Reynoldsburg.

PRISONS - One of the greatest problems in the United States today is prisons. Today, they are worse than they have ever been before. The problems lie not just with the confirmed criminals, but also a lot with other things such as the guards, wardens and overcrowding.

Most of the time things start out correctly. Like with the guards. What happens is they get pressures on them and they might start out beating someone. Then it leads into other things such as mass beatings and sometimes killings. The wardens sometime either doesn't hear about the beatings or they just let it pass.

When there are riots or some kind of disturbances caused by the prisoners it may be the only way they can get things out into the open.

Overcrowding and homosexuality are also very large problems in prisons. The problem is that the guards sometimes don't listen to the prisoners so they have to get it out some way. The tension in an overcrowded cell can get on people's nerves very easily. If you were stuck in a smallroom with maybe four people it would probably bother you, too. Often there is not enough money to keep extra things going - things that are very important such as exercise and if the prison has ever had any type of school system. If there is no educational system at all - nothing that the prisoners can work and learn at chances are that the prisoners will return after a short while because he could not get a job and had to return to his old life of crime.

A person who is in on a drug offense should not just be stuck with the rest. Chances are that he'll get other people in on his habit. - Tom Bean, Westerville.

POLLUTION - Pollution is one of our worst problems--pollution of our water from the wastes of industries and pollution of our sky from cars, fumes and smoke from our industries.

Pollution is getting so bad in some states you can't even breath and pollution is damaging to your health. The pollution of the water is so bad fish cannot live. Some bodies of water are so bad they are unsafe to swim in. This is a very serious problem in which something should be done about it and now.

If I were President of the United States every factory would have sufficient ways of taking care of their wastes properly. Car manufacturers would also have to have sufficient ways of providing un-air polluting cars.

Of course, I am not the President of the United States. I am just a concerned citizen and will help in any way I can to prevent pollution. - Vicki Ayers, Groveport Madison.

UNEMPLOYMENT - A major problem in the United States is unemployment. If you want to get a good job these days you must have either a college or some sort of technical education. It is very hard to make it if you don't have some kind of school training.

I pick up people all the time off the freeway who are looking for a good job anywhere. Many have not been to college or technical school. Some have not even graduated from high school. I see a lot of kids, some my friends, who are planning on getting married who haven't had any basic training or special skill.

This is the reason I came to Eastland. I don't want this to happen to me. I hope to make something out of my life that will get me through the way the world is today. - Kim Cousanon, Reynoldsburg.

DRUGS - Everyone in this area is well aware of the growing drug problem not only in our own neighborhood but elsewhere as well. I applaud the Columbus police force for their job well done in the apprehension of the many marijuana dealers, pushers and users but what they don't realize is that when the marijuana people can't get their dope they go on to harder stuff like heroin. - Mary Ann Armstrong, Reynoldsburg.

OVERPOPULATION - Well I think that one of the social problems in the United States today is overpopulation. Parents and young ones are getting pregnant all the time and the population grows everyday. I think they should limit married couples to one or two children and then the young teens who are pregnant shouldn't be able to keep the baby. They should get abortions or something to keep the population from growing and keep it balanced.

A lot of young girls are prostitutes and I think that is another problem because this could also make the population grow. So I think people like that should be thrown in jail because I can't stand them. I know a friend who is one and I don't like her for what she is.

Then there comes rapists. That doesn't help population much either. Slums and ghettos are another problem because just to see how people live is pretty well sickening. There's pollution and trash everywhere and everything's dirt . Well, myself, I like a clean house where there isn't any trash and pollution.

Inflation - well, a dollar doesn't buy what it used to. What I mean by that is that things that used to cost a $1 cost maybe $3 or $4 now. For example, jeans used to cost $3 and now if you want a pair of jeans you pay at least $8. That's because the people that work in stores or the company raises prices almost every year because they figure jeans are "in" and teens will pay a lot for them because jeans are really comfortable and they wear longer.

And as for dope - parents think that dope is a social problem. But I've got a lot of friends that do dope and I can't see anything wrong with it and they think that there isn't enough dope. - Gina Giaosas, Hamilton Township.

COURTS - Courts, I think, is one of the most important problems of society today. If a person has been caught for a crime he has to wait a long period of time to get a hearing because the courts are so far behind in cases. If a person is innocent before he gets to court he is held in jail for as long a time as a year. Then, by the time he gets a hearing he might know all the tricks of stealing, robberies, etc. After he is found innocent he might commit some of the crimes he thought out about while waiting for the courts to get his hearing. There should be a way to get the courts going faster so there won't be as many crimes committed and so innocent people won't have to wait in jail for their hearing to come around.

Also, if the laws were stronger it might make some people think twice before committing a crime. Then, just maybe, we might be a more safe and respectable society. - Amy Cook, Reynoldsburg.

'IN' fashion
with Tess Stern

ONE HUNDRED top designers can't be wrong...they all predict a most exciting fashion season ahead! Throughout the American Designers' Showings I attended recently in New York, the object was to make women look pretty and feminine again...timeless clothes in a wide choice rather than a few fixed looks, with the accent on beautiful cut, fabric and price.

THE FALL shape is loosening up...the loose look shows up in wide wrap coats, flaring toppers, unfitted dresses, baggy pants, and soft flowing fabrics for evening.

BIG COATS wrap up the top fashion news...some of the coats full enough to be capes...the fingertip topper, the smock, the tent, the long glamor coat bordered with fur...a real departure from the skinny fit we've seen for so long. Coat fabrics are especialy important...fuzzy brushed wools, giant plaids, meltons and mohairs.

THE LAYERED LOOK is still with us, looking newest in wide cuffed pants paired with various jackets and sweater partners.

DESIGNERS BLESS the dress as an alternative to all the sportswear and pants looks around...now that the daytime dress is shorter (around the knee) it's definitely more becoming. The dress appears in many versions...the chemise, the smock, the jumper, and the dress-plus-sweater...the sexiest have a sweater-look with a flaired flippy skirt. The sleeve takes the spotlight in all categories...the dolman sleeve goes from sportswear into evening, along with ragland sleeves, layered sleeves, kimono sleeves and cap sleeves.

EVENINGS ARE short and sweet or long and sophisticated. All the new daytime trends are translated into evening with a change of fabric. The short evening dress is the biggest news...looking feminine and covered-up in crisp taffeta, dusky chiffons, lace and net. For long evenings watch for slinky lame, satin, satin striped chiffon, matte jersey, and printed and cut velvet. The newest evening ensemble is a long gown with an evening sweater or fur trimmed jacket to match.

It's still a year of "do your own thing" ...wear your own length, pick your color...but now there's more for everyone!

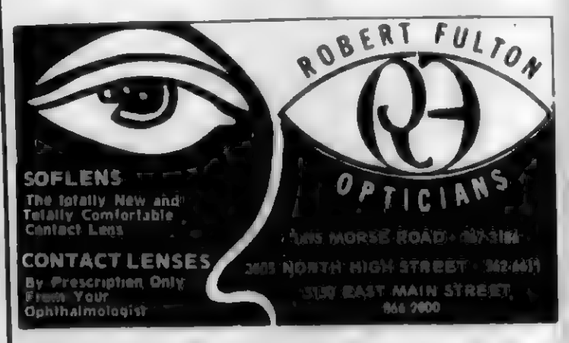
Grant Enables ODC Project

Chemically-treated paper may ultimately lead to methods of de-salting sea water, of eliminating such contaminants as mercury from pollution sources, or of devising better artificial kidney membranes.

Using paper, membranes treated with various chemicals, an atomic absorbtion spectrometer and other specialized equipment, Sister Mary Andrew Matesich, O.P., chairman of the chemistry department of Ohio Dominican College, Columbus, and her team of student research participants, are hard at work on the project "Carrier-Facilitated Countertransport of Ions in Artificial Membrtanes."



Sister Mary Andrew's project is based on the fact that membranes of living organisms selectively concentrate certain ions on one side of the suspended membrane, while other ions pass through those membranes in both directions. The current project is an attempt to discover useful artificial membranes which have the same abilities.

If successful, the basic research, financed by $14,200 Cottrell College Science Grant, could provide information which might be applied to other, later research directed toward eliminating undesirable ions.

Besides the specialized equipment, the grant, which will cover a two year period, also funds summer research grants for Ohio Dominican chemistry students or graduates, such as Miss Susan Marie Brenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Brenner, 1139 Bernhard Rd., Columbus. She is a sophomore at Ohio Dominican College, a fully-accredited liberal arts college of approximately 1000 students.

The Cottrell Grants are initiated by the Research Corporation of New York, to re-assert the importance of research as a vital component of the academic program of the private, predominantly undergraduate institution.

Club and organizational news should be sent to the Spectator by Thursday noon.

Jenkins, Walker Wed July 8

Miss Mary Margaret Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jenkins of 4483 Broadhurst Dr. became the bride of Thomas Lee Walker on July 8 at Holy Spirit Catholic Church.

Walker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Walker, 26 Brooks Dr., Reynoldsburg.

The bride is a graduate of Bishop Hartley High School and is now employed by Buckeye Union.

Walker is a graduate of Reynoldsburg High School and is employed by Western Electric Company.

Rev. Robert W. Harwick officiated at the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown which she made. It was made of French lace and the veil was of silk illusion lace and a pearl tiara. The gown had a red ribbon sash.

Serving as maid of honor was Joan Wolfe.

Best man was Gregory A. Wilson and ushers were John Smith, Paul Jenkins, and Richard Walker.

The maid of honor wore lavender, and the three bridesmaids wore another color of the rainbow, pink, yellow and aqua.

A reception followed at the brides home.

Annual Stork Shower Set For Aug. 23

B'nai B'rith Women's annual stork shower will be held Wednesday, Aug. 23, at noon, at Mt. Carmel East.

Admission is a new layette item and $2, covering the cost of the luncheon. This will kick off a city-wide good, used layette clothing and furniture drive. The layettes are given to those needy women receiving regular pre-natal care. The project is sponsored by local B'nai B'rith Women and the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Midget League Schedules Wiener Roast

Players on Bexley Midget teams and their families will have a wiener roast in the Jeffrey Park from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, August 5th, following the final games of the season.

Each family should bring their own wieners and buns and any other food they want to eat. Soft drinks will be provided for the teams.

A father-son whiffle-ball game is being planned for the afternoon, says coach John Brennan.

All boys are requested to wear their uniform shirts. In case games on the 5th are rained out, the picnic will be held the following Saturday, August 12, after the games..

Balloon Trick Is Answered

If you saw six balloons floating gracefully over Reynoldsburg Monday evening you'd better have your eyes examined - or perhaps keep off the happy juice.

We'll have to confess to those who didn't see the event that only one balloon exists in our front page photo.

It was beautiful with a bright yellow and red pattern and it did astound numerous residents and cause a traffic jam around John F. Kennedy Park when residents flocked to that area thinking the balloon was going to land there.

We don't know who was piloting the balloon (Oh, how I wish I could have been with him or her) but the performance was superb.

A trick on the enlarger in the darkroom put the six balloons above the park.

Nevertheless, it was a sight to see - just the one, pretty balloon that everyone loved so well. (Ray Adams.)

Viking FB Tryouts Underway

The Eastland Vikings will continue their football tryouts for prospective gridders each evening this week (6 to 8 p.m.) on the Walnut Ridge High School practice field.

Boys between the ages of 11 and 14 who weigh between 110 and 140 lbs. are eligible to try out for the Viking squad.

The Eastland Vikings will also sponsor a Junior High entry for boys of junior high age which practices at the same time and place.

Beaver Sets Sights On National Juniors

The hopes and good wishes of Eastern Columbus journey to Dallas, Tex. with Walnut Ridge sophomore-to-be Lyle Beaver this week as the young golfing phenomenon sets his sights on the National Juniors title.

Beaver, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle I. Beaver of 4315 Sibley Ave., has already had quite a links summer for a 15-year-old lad.

Young Lyle won his age-group title at the Ralph Webster Invitational Golf Tournament at Pine Hills, added the Columbus Jaycee Tournament title at Stoney Creek and then capped (to date) his summer with District Junior honors at Brookside two weeks ago.

None of which is bad news for the Walnut Ridge golf staff whose only problem next spring will likely be figuring how to play Lyle and a returning-intact City League championship links quartet.

PLAYOFF SUNDAY

Merchants, Mr. Lucky Battle For City Title

The Whitehall Merchants will face Mr. Lucky in a best-of-three series Sunday (1 p.m.) at Orton-Davis Park to decide the city softball champion of Whitehall.

Lucky used the big inning and the long ball to knock off Zetts in two straight games Sunday, 22-10 and 11-8.

ZETTS WAS the American division champion while Mr. Lucky ruled the National division roost – each with perfect 10-0 records.

The Merchants, winner of North American League play at 10-0 (Merchants are unbeaten in loop play two straight seasons), will try to stone for a championship series setback to Un Kappa Keg last summer.

Keg, who knocked off the Merchants in two games last year, was eliminated from playoff action this summer by Mr. Lucky.

THE FOURTH frame proved "lucky" for Mr. Lucky Sunday – the semi-final winner exploding for nine runs in that inning to highlight its first win and seven runs to turn the tide in the nightcap.

Zetts took a 5-0 lead in the initial frame of the opening game but Lucky matched that total in its half of the inning and was in command thereafter.

Big hitters for Mr. Lucky in the first game were Steve Vinson (two homers, went four-for-five), Chet Elles (four-for-four, including triple) and Sam Huebard (three-for-three, including two doubles).

IN THE nightcap, Vinson's three-run homer keyed that seven-run fourth but Steve Crawford (four-for-four, including homer and two triples), Pete Wood (three-for-four).

IN THE nightcap, Vinson's three-run homer keyed that seven-run fourth but Steve Crawford (four-for-four, including homer and two triples), Pete Wood (three-for-four), John West (four-for-four) and Elles (two-for-three) were equally effective with the bat.

Trophies will be presented to both the city champ and city runnerup at the conclusion of play Sunday.

BEXLEY LL

Drexel Records Tenth Straight

Drexel Theatre won its tenth straight Bexley Little League game (20-9 over R.C. Cola) as Scott Kearns (three-run homer) and Jay Holzworth (double, triple) lead the way at bat.

Drexel is aiming for the second round title, hoping to get another shot at Eastern Kiwanis (first-round champs) who supplied the current leaders with their only loss on opening day of the season.

DIVINE REALTOR stayed right behind Drexel by upending Dollar Federal, 10-2. Roger Weaver had a big night for Divine, pitching three shutout innings and going threefor-three at bat, including two triples and four RBI's.

A.O. Wing improved its second-round mark to 2-2 by downing Hanna Paint, 7-3 scoring all seven runs in the second inning thanks to some wild Hanna pitching.

Todd Loehnert went all the way for Wing in picking up the mound win. Brian Williams and Jed Donahue had two hits each for the winners, while John Holtfretter collected two for the losers.

Water, Pre-Conditioning Eliminate Grid Problems

"The ancient practice of prohibiting drinking water on the practice field or during a game for the so-called purpose of making men out of boys should be forever put to rest."

So says Dr. Robert J. Murphy of Columbus, a member of the Joint Advisory Committee on Sports Medicine of the Ohio State Medical Association and Ohio High School Athletic Association (OHSAA).

BY RECOMMENDING that plenty of drinking water be provided on the field, while at the same time eliminating the use of salt tablets on the field, the committee seeks to prevent serious heat illness among thousands of Ohio youngsters participating in late summer and early fall athletic programs.

Although the request is aimed primarily at coaches and administrators of junior and senior high school and Little League football programs, anyone engaged in outdoor, physical activity on a hot, humid day should also take note.

This, according to the committee, includes "tennis and golf players, bike riders and even those cutting the grass."

WATER IS the most important replacement on the field to prevent heat illness.

Last year there were four deaths in American football which resulted from heat illness. In three of the cases, players had taken salt tablets before going onto the field where there was no drinking water available for them.

Dr. Murphy, who is head of the medical staff for the OSU Buckeyes, emphasized that salt loss is best replaced AFTER practice.

"WATER should be available at all times and in large quantities," says Murphy. "The best way to provide water on the field is from a pressure or spray container."

Murphy also says there is no reason to prohibit the use of cold or even "ice water" – pointing out that prior to the '71 OSU-California game, 1000 lbs. of ice were available for each team.

"It was used for drinking water, for iced towels and for simply eating," Dr. Murphy related.

AS ANOTHER precaution against heat illness, the committee recommends that young athletes accustom themselves to hot, humid weather by proper pre-practice conditioning – primarily running.

Workouts should be short at first, with the length gradually increasing. On extremely hot days workouts should be scheduled in the cooler morning and evening hours.

Rest periods during workouts are essential and workouts should be done in light clothing – preferably shorts and a white T-shirt.

THE OHSAA adopted a regulation last year which requires all Ohio junior and senior high football candidates to participate in four days of pre-season physical conditioning prior to any physical contact.

The Joint Advisory Committee is hopeful that Little League coaches and officials give serious consideration to the same type of regulation this summer and fall.

Madison Hosts LL Tournament

The Madison District will sponsor a Minor League Tournament for 8-to-10 year olds Sunday, Aug. 13.

The double-elimination tourney will be played at Madison Elementary School. Interested coaches should contact Jim Newman, 837-5141.

Stacy Paces Montrose Junior Olympics Victory

Montrose playground captured the 1972 Bexley Junior Olympics crown in an exciting finish last Thursday at the high school stadium. Montrose tallied 119 points with Cassingham close behind at 110 points and Maryland finishing third with 47 points.

Cassingham dominated the field events, but Montrose proved to be too strong in the running events. Trailing throughout the meet, Montrose rallied behind the meet's outstanding performer – Stacy Spielberger - for its win.

STACY, participating in the 13-15 girls' bracket, captured first place in all three of her events (100 yd. dash, 220 yd. dash and the long jump).

HERE ARE the individual results:

..Girls 6 & under Softball Throw - (TIE) Dottie Thelbert, Maryland, and Cece Cartwright, Maryland (29'8"); Girls 6 & under 50 yrd. dash - Amy Schiff, Cassingham; Boys 6 & under 50 yd. dash - Matt Sebonoier, Montrose; Girls 6 & under standing long jump - Amy Schiff, Cassingham, (4'11"); Boys 6 & under standing long jump - John Salva, Maryland, (4'1"); Girls 13-15 softball throw - Lisa Williams, Cassingham, (133'5"); Boys 13-15 softball throw - Tom Beck, Cassingham, (196'9"); Girls 13-15 long jump - Stacy Spielberger, Montrose, (14'1"); Boys 13-15 long jump - Bob Berger, Cassingham, (15'3½"); Girls 13-15 100 yd. dash - Stacy Spielberger, Montrose, (12:07); Boys 13-15 100 yd. dash - Skip Stout, Montrose, (11.4); Boys 13-15 440 yd. relay - Montrose, (56.6); Girls 13-15 220 yd. dash - Stacy Spielberger, Montrose; Boys 13-15 220 yd. dash - Steve O'Brien, Montrose; Girls 10-12 long jump - Jean Sixt, Montrose, (11'2"); Boys 10-12 long jump - Greg Hunter, Montrose, (12'7½"); Girls 10-12 75 yd. dash - Mary Ann Winstead, Montrose, (10.5); Boys 10-12 75 yd. dash - Tim Beck, Cassingham, (10.0); Girls 10-12 softball throw - Jean Sixt, Montrose, (89'11"); Boys 10-12 softball throw - Rick Mayo, Cassingham, (141'1"); Girls 10-12 180 yd. dash - J. Holden, Montrose, (24.4); Boys 10-12 180 yd. dash - Jim Sophos, Montrose, (24.3); Girls 10-12 440 relay - Montrose, (62.0); Boys 10-12 440 relay - Cassingham, Girls 7-9 50 yd. dash - - Janine White, Cassingham, (8.0); Boys 7-9 50 yd. dash - Steve Miller, Montrose, Girls 7-9 softball throw - Debbie Sanders, Maryland, (63'5"); Boys 7-9 softball throw - Pat Bellamy, Montrose, (98'); Girls 7-9 standing long jump - Janine White, Cassingham, (4'1½"); Boys 7-9 standing long jump - Steve Williams, Cassingham, (5'9").

Other individuals who had multiple wins included Cassingham's Amy Schiff (6 and under bracket) who placed first in the long jump and 50-yard dash and John Salva (Maryland) who placed first in the long jump and second in the 50-yard dash for boys 7-9. Janine White of Cassingham took first in long jump and 50-yd. dash and second in the softball throw.

In the boys 10-12 bracket Tim Beck of Cassingham captured firsts in the 440 yard relay and 75-yd. dash. Skip Stout of Montrose took first place in the 100-yd. dash and the 440-yd. relay (along with Jeff Crider, Steve O'Brien and Mike Hertenstein) in the boys 13-15 bracket.

City Tennis Tourney To Begin August 10

The Columbus Recreation Department will conduct its annual Central Ohio Tennis Tournament next month–the tourney open to all men and women residing in Central Ohio counties.

Competition will be held in men's singles, men's doubles, senior men's singles and doubles (45 and over), women's singles and doubles - Class A (21 and under) and singles and doubles for women - Class B (22 and over), and mixed doubles.

THE SINGLES events will start on Thursday, Aug. 10 and will continue through Sunday, Aug. 13. Doubles will start play on Thursday, Aug. 17 and continue through Sunday Aug. 20.

The tournament will be played at Beatty, Franklin, Schiller and Westgate tennis courts and entry blanks are available at these four tennis courts in addition to Whetstone, Linden and Barnett Recreation Centers.

All entry blanks must be submitted to the Columbus Recreation Department, (Room 124), City Hall, by 6 p.m. Aug. 8, for all single entries and Aug. 15 for all double entries.

Cecutti (24 innings, two runs, six hits, four strikeouts, 2-0 record).

"WE'LL STILL be relying most on our pitching," says Wyman as he looks ahead to Ashland. "We lost a lot of 2-0 and 2-1 games because our hitting hadn't come around.

"But, if the District tournament is any indication, it looks like we'll be having some offense at Ashland."

Steve sees Cincinnati Budde Post as a likely early favorite.

The Scioto skipper doesn't see his club as a "cinderella" entry. "We've had good potential all season long. Like I said, we just couldn't put it together before the tournament."

With less than one full legion go-around under his belt, Steve will get some valuable coaching assistence from dad Paul.

"HE HANDED me all that talent at the start of the season and he'll be going to Ashland with us to help out. He'll be a big asset since he's been through this state tournament before," Steve says.

The last time Paul Wyman and his Scioto club marched to the state legion wars as District champs (1969), they came home a winner.

Jim Kenty To Box On Wide World

James Kenty, the city's leading amateur boxer, will appear on ABC's Wide World Of Sport (4 p.m.) Saturday–live from West Point Military Academy in a challenge match with the Air Forces S-Sgt. Ricardo Carreas.

Carreas won a split (3-2) decision over Kenty in the finals of the Olympic Trials at Fort Worth, Tex., on July 22. Should Kenty win, he will meet Carreas again Aug. 7, with the winner securing a berth on the Olympic Boxing Team.

Colts Take Madison's Major Title

The Colts sweep two straight games from the Reds to annex the Madison District Major League title last week, leaving only one Pony League traveling team race undecided.

Joe Stevens and Bob Amick garnered mound verdicts for the Colts, who defeated the Reds, 11-2 and 8-4 for the loop title.

Amick's victory was the more sensational when you consider the young pitcher injured his pitching hand in a home-plate slide but finished with four frames of shutout firing – despite two broken fingers!

Madison's entry in the Mid-State Pony League is involved in a three-way deadlock for first place. Decision of the pennant winner in that loop will complete non-tournament season play.

J. Leftwich Tops Final Thin Card

Ex-Linden athlete Jerry Leftwich was the lone double winner (100-yd dash, low hurdles) Friday as the Ohio Track Club concluded its five-week program of open track meets at Walnut Ridge.

Ashland-Bound Scioto Banks On Miserly Pitching

BY JACK WITTENMEIER

A third-place league finisher that got some miserly pitching and cut down on the goofs will represent the District at the American Legion state baseball tournament Aug. 7 in Ashland.

Scioto Post wended its way to the state tourney by doing something it couldn't do earlier – put all the elements of the game together, according to coach Steve Wyman.

THE PATH to Ashland was cleared with District tourney wins over league champ Southway (3-2), Grove City (8-1) and Worthington (3-1 and 6-4).

"We finished 8-8 in league play because we just couldn't seem to get it all together," commented Wyman, who took over the coaching reins from legion coaching veteran (and father) Paul Wyman this summer after completing a tour of duty in Vietnam.

"We'd get one part of the game solid, and then fall apart somewhere else," he concluded.

"BUT IN the tournament we got solid pitching, good defense (only two errors in four games – a major improvement over the seasonal average) and a couple of guys who hadn't been hitting got hot with the bat," Steve detailed.

The "hot" bats were swung by a pair of Watterson team members -- Mike Refice (eight-for-17) and Ray Pongonis (five-for-nine).

For example: DeSales Ted Ryan (no runs yielded in 10 innings pitched, two wins), Watterson's Dave Cecutti (one run, four hits yielded in eight innings) and Bexley's Rick Clowson (three earned runs yielded in 15 innings pitched, one win).

And all the success came with the team's number-two hitter (Brookhaven second baseman Dan Taylor) sidelined via injury. Taylor, a .343 swinger, will be available for the state competition.

THE BIGGEST District tourney win was likely the first – the victory over Southway (12-1 during season) in ten innings.

"We handed 18 stolen bases in as many games also pinpoints Wyman's approval of "a strong running game...we like to run a lot."

Other top BAs include Taylor's .343, Pongonis at .333 and Ryan's .666 ("he's only been up six times but he (Reynoldsburg's Randy) Shade his first loss of the season, even though he hit a home run I didn't think was ever going to come down," Wyman related. "I think we know we could do it (win the District tourney) after that."

IN THE four-game tourney set, Scioto collected 32 hits and limited the bobbles to two. "I guess the good defense was as key as anything else," Wyman commented. "We lost more than one league game due to errors."

BATTING-WISE, outfielder Bauer leads the club in hitting with a .404 average, along with three homers and 13 RBI's. Bauer's 18 stolen bases in as many games also pinpoints Wyman's approval of "a strong running game...we like to run a lot."

Other top BAs include Taylor's .343, Pongonis at .333 and Ryan's .666 ("he's only been up six times but he seems to get the big hit").

Wyman had special words of praise for catcher Jerry Goodburn (Watterson) who's "won a lot of ball games for us on sheer hustle."

STEVE RECALLS an instance in the first Worthington game when Goodburn's backup of first base proved vital. "He took a wild throw on the bounce and threw a very surprised runner out at second. The score was tied at the time. It was a big play in the game for us," Wyman concluded.

But the pitching still tells the biggest part of the Scioto success story.

Here's the rundown: Clowson (63 innings pitched, nine earned runs, 40 hits, 44 strikeouts, 4-1 record – the loss was 2-0 to Southway with both runs unearned);

RYAN (27 innings, seven earned runs, 25 hits, 22 strikeouts, 4-4 record - lost two games on errors);

DeSales' Jeff Jordan (31 innings, 11 earned runs, 31

Harrison's Five 'Blues' Heads Whitehall Champs

Harrison collected first-place finishes in the 50-yd dash (6.4), 75-yd dash (9.5), 100 dash (12.9) and running long jump (14' 2") besides joining with three teammates to bring home the winner in the 220-yard relay event.

SHERRY KEMP (15-17 girls) and Mark Morris (13-14 boys) were also impressive, notching four blue ribbons each.

Sherry took firsts in the 75, 100 and 220-yard dash events and was a member of the winning 440-yd relay quartet (also finished second in softball throw).

Mark won the eight-pound shot put, softball throw and 220 dash besides providing a leg on the winning 440-yd relay unit.

HE ALSO collected a second in the quarter-mile, a fourth in the 100 dash and a fifth in the high jump.

Another individual standout was Suzy Johnston with six ribbons collected. Suzy, competing in the 13-14 category, took firsts in the 50 and 75-yard dash events, added seconds in the 100 dash, running long jump and high jump and a fifth in the softball throw.

Co-Leaders Control Bexley Men's Loop

Co-leaders emerged after the second set of games last week in both Bexley Old Timers and Under 30 loops.

Salt Realtors, a 22-2 winner over the Pussycats, and Christ Lutheran (downed Central Ohio Welding, 23-0) shared the Old Timer top spot.

SANDY STERN and Paul Drewes (three hits each) paced Salt's victory while George Eckert pounded out four safeties to key the Lutheran's victory.

Columbus Copy Products and Klamfoth Honda divied up command of the Under 30 lead – the former walloping Love Studio, 22-6, the latter downing the Conglomerates, 12-3.

COPY PRODUCTS had a raft of heavy hitters with Greg Seabolt heading the list with four bingles. Tom Bramlage, Ted Flickinger, Sonny Lombardo and Carl Gruenlar each rapped out three safeties.

Meanwhile, Kevin Griffin (four hits) was the big stick in Honda's win.

Elsewhere, Brad Salt's John Arnold matched hitting with Cohagen's Jim Hoyer (four each) but Cohagen nipped Sat., 11-6.

TOPPING the Midget League report was Maryland A's 18-10 win over Maryland 'B'.

Chris Kondracke, David Elliot, Andy Davidson and Doug Lunsford paced the winners with three-for-three efforts while Todd Frolsy and Billy Heer did likewise for the losers.

In other games, Cassingham 'A' topped Montrose 'A', 9-7, while Montrose 'B' slipped past Cassingham 'B', 5-4.

SATURDAY'S three-game set (at 9, 10:30 and noon) will all be played at Montrose.

Following the games a picnic and weiner roast for all Midget League players and their families will be held at Jeffrey Park to cap off the season.

Bexley Belles Want You!

The Bexley Belles slow-pitch softball team, recently organized by the Bexley Recreation Dept. for women and teenage girls, is looking for both players and games.

Player-coach JoAnn Miller and assistant Dick Golden are interested in scheduling their club against other women's teams around the area; interested coaches can contact Mr. Miller at 237-0913 during the evening.

The team is open to any Bexley woman or girl of high school age. Practices are held each Tuesday and Thursday from 7-8:30 p.m. at Montrose field.

The Belles dropped their opener to Groveport-Madison 12-4 last week.

"Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.

The Audi 100LS The Porsche 911 The Porsche 914
The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi.
It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty-one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)
The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911.
A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.
And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.
We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.
We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.
And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look:
The way they work.

ON SPUNK WITH DENNY WHALEN
SPOUTING OFF

By DENNY WHALEN
Spectator Sports Editor

Something happened a week or so ago that brought to mind the problem of eligibility for high school athletics. With schools due to open in just about a month (that's right folks!) and football conditioning already underway, I thought it might be a timely topic.

I received a press release in the mail about 10 days ago announcing an "open" tennis tournament to be co-sponsored by a Central Ohio recreation department and a sporting goods store in its community.

THE RELEASE SAID there would be divisions for youngsters 12-and under and 18-and-under, as well as adult competition--and that winners and runners-up in each division would receive gift certificates, exchangable for merchandise at the co-sponsoring sporting goods store.

The amounts of the certificates weren't high--$5 and $10 I think--but I couldn't remember writing up a junior tournament where the winners got anything other than trophies or medals. I called the Rec. Department in question to see if they'd checked out the "amateur" standing of their tournament.

The thought that their modest prizes might cost some aspiring net star his amateur standing (and his eligibility for any other organized high school sport) hadn't occurred to them.

AFTER CHECKING with the Ohio High School Athletic Association (OHSAA), both that department and yours truly discovered that any high school athlete who accepts the kind of prize detailed above for competing in an OHSAA-regulated sport is considered a "professional," and thus ineligible to compete in any future interscholastic athletic event.

When he learned about this, the Recreation Director of the community planning the tournament went on a brief tirade about the "silliness" of such a regulation--but agreed that the tourney prize format would have to be changed so that the amateur standing of young entries wouldn't be threatened.

The purpose of this piece is neither to agree nor disagree with the rules in question. It's to inform young athletes and their parents of the regulations as they stand so the sad spectacle of a team having to forfeit its games or a promising youngster being barred from further high school competition won't be repeated.

WHAT FOLLOWS is Rule 19 of the OHSAA High School Boys Rules and By-Laws, verbatim:

SECTION 1--ONLY AMATEURS ARE ELIGIBLE

(a) Pupils representing member schools of the OHSAA must be amateurs.

(b) A pupil is ineligible if he receives or is promised money or other valuable consideration for competing in a sport recognized by the OHSAA. This rule applies throughout the 12 months of the year. Sports recognized by the Association are football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, swimming, wrestling, gymnastics, cross-country and golf. A professional in one of these sports is a professional in all. A pupil may play with or against those who receive pay without losing amateur standing.

(c) Acceptance of money or other valuable consideration as expenses OR MERCHANDISE PRIZES renders a pupil ineligible. No money is to be given to a contestant. However, it is permissible for a contestant to accept necessary meals, lodgings and transportation while competing. Medals or trophies may be accepted. College scholarships may be accepted, but the amount of the scholarship must be paid directly to the college of choice by the donors.

(d) A pupil is ineligible if he competes under an assumed name.

(e) The purchase of memberships for Junior or Senior High School athletic team members in youth-serving organizations, athletic clubs, recreation centers etc. would be a violation of this rule. This does not infringe on the right of such organizations to provide annonymously-sponsored memberships for individuals in the community who prove financially in need.

SECTION 2--SIGNING OF CONTRACTS

The signing of any contract by a pupil whereby he agrees to compete in any athletic competition for profit makes said pupil immediately ineligible for further interscholastic athletic competition.

SECTION 3--BASEBALL AND COLLEGE TRYOUTS

Professional baseball and college tryouts which in any way interfere with a high school student's school work or which involve a game in violation of OHSAA rules may result immediately in that student's ineligibility for further interscholastic athletic competition.

IN RULE 11, the Association goes on to detail "approved" awards as "those usually given such as letters, ribbons, scrolls, banners, medals, belt buckles, gold football, basketball or baseballs, track insignia, lapel pins, plaques, cups trophies and college scholarships" (provided, as above, that the amount of the grant is paid directly to the college.)

Awards considered unacceptable by the Association are: "sweaters, jerseys, jackets, blazers, any other type wearing apparel or any award exceeding one dollar in value other than those listed above."

As was mentioned earlier, the object of this column isn't to pass judgment on the strictness of these regulations, it's to let the reader know just what the rules are, and inform you that accepting merchandise prizes or cash--whatever the amount--may cost a youngster his chance to compete in any high school sport.

The major cause of ineligibility among high school athletes must be the "transfer hassle."

The OHSAA regulations on that subject take up nearly four pages of the rule book--but here's a general rule of thumb: If the family moves from one school district to another, the boy is immediately eligible to participate in any sport he chooses at the new school. Under almost any other circumstances--whether the transfer is from public to private school or vice versa or from one public or private school to another--a boy is ineligible to compete for one year from the date of his enrollment in the new school.

IF YOU WANT specific information on whether or not a boy is eligible, don't guess--contact the OHSAA, 4000 Roselea Pl., (267-2502).

LINDENHOF

A couple of times, in the past, I have told you about the excellent food and the interesting decor of the Lindenhof Restaurant. Now, there is a lot more to tell. The place has just completed a huge remodeling and expansion program. There is so much to write about the Lindenhof, it is rather difficult to pick a beginning.

So let's ramble through the most fascinating restaurant and its several lounges, Around Town.

When I went down the other evening; I started with cocktails on the Terrace Lounge. This is a lovely and very relaxing area. Situated outdoors, on the second floor, The Terrace Lounge is a beautiful place to sip your favorite beverage. It is completely carpeted in astro-turf. The patio furniture is plush, from the word go. All the chairs, love seats and cocktail tables are yellow wrought iron. The chairs swivel and rock. With the color lights and the 101-year-old Linden tree, the Terrace Lounge is just the place to take that favorite friend of yours. Not only is it relaxing and beautiful, it is full of romantic moods.

After the Terrace Lounge, we walked into the Library. Here is another extremely comfortable room. All the furniture is custom-made leather chairs and sofas. A huge Oriental rug covers the entire floor. This room reeks with elegance and class. The library shelves contain real books for you to read, if you so desire. This room can be rented in the daytime for private parties. Just wait until you see the Library. You will want to spend a lot of time here.

Downstairs is the new patio dinning area. This is for you who enjoy dining outside on a nice summer evening. The menu is the same as on the inside. The tasteful decor of this area matches the elegance of the rest of the Lindenhof Restaurant. There are huge peacock chairs, comfortable wrought iron chairs with an awning covering the entire dining area, all of it enclosed by a brick wall. Add a lovely flower garden and you end up with a nice, pleasant atmosphere. You'll love it.

Along with the remodeling program, there is an all new kitchen that is three times as large as the old one. Containing all new equipment, the kitchen is much more efficient and faster. The food is just as elegant and tasty as the decor. Even without all of the wonderful atmosphere, the food at the Lindenhof is fantastic.

The Lindenhof Restaurant is opened on Sundays, now from noon until 7 p.m.

Vivki and Ralph continue to provide the entertainment in the lounge. This duo has been there five months. I've told you about them before. They are terrific. By the way, this lounge has all new red velvet chairs.

The Lindenhof offers something for everyone-from gourmet food to the best cocktails in town, with or

ACT II

By - BETTY DRAGONETTE

Just to say I enjoyed "Plaza Suite" at the Imperial House Dinner Theatre, 4101 W. Broad St., would be a gross understatement. I am one of those nuts who had never seen the play or movie before, although both have been in town several times. I must admit that this heightened the pleasure somewhat. Then there is Tom Almaguer's imaginative directing.

However, I will never cease to be amazed at people who have the ability to take a leading role in a production and direct it at the same time. It would seem to me to be like saying to yourself "Hey, you did the scene wrong - now what should you do to correct it?" - than answering yourself back.

Oh well, that's his problem and he seems to have solved it very nicely.

Here's where I go into my pitch for more local theatres to use more and more local people to fill out their so called professional casts. To me professional is whether you get paid or not. Actor's Equity has nothing to do with it. Nor should it. It is easy to get an Equity card - as long as you have X number of dollars and have been in two equity casts - paid or otherwise - in a season.

Tom cast his show entirely with local people and they did an excellent job. If you don't believe me, call 276-7434 for reservations and come out to see for yourself. They are running through Sept. 2.

Penny Morgan, who played the secretary (and love interest) in the first act find the daughter in the third, is a dental assistant. John Hornaday, the waiter in the first and second, is in communications. Both are very active members of Players Club. Jim Scowden, the bellhop in the first and the groom in the third, comes from the theatre staff of Ohio State. And this you will never believe - Francine Kirk, the

MARCO POLO'S

Trilogy is currently playing at the all new Marco Polo's Lounge. I can't remember a group's name that is any more appropo than this one. According to Webster, Trilogy is a unit of three, each having its own unity, forming together a larger work.

This is Trilogy. This is Wayne DeMarcus at the organ, guitarist Don Beck and drummer Chez Bower. Each of these fellows are top notch musicians in their own right. Put them together, and you have a trio that is hard to beat.

Most of you know each of these men. Don is one of the finest guitar players in Columbus. His chord structures and feeling for music is superb. Don, as well as Chez and Wayne, all have nice voices. Each can do a strong job in the solo department. Put them all together, and you have a vocal trio that is hard to beat.

Trilogy is not an ear-splitting group. They keep their volume at a sensible level. It is a closely-knit trio. They keep things moving. While they do a lot of the material of the Beatles, Chicago and Carpenters, Trilogy does play a lot of standards. They keep to a heavy melody line and all of their music has a wide appeal, for young and old alike.

Marco Polo's Lounge is rapidly becoming the hot spot in the northwest part in Columbus. And, with Trilogy, one of the hottest groups in Town, you can be sure of a hot time in the ole town, when you visit Marco Polo's. It is as much as an adventure as the old boy took himself.

RAMADA INN EAST

Ramada Inn East has another way out trio, The Danny O'Day Show. Just let me tell you right now, I like them, and so will you. With Danny playing drums and singing, wife Marilyn O'Day, (that's O'Day, not to be confused with Columbus' own Marilyn May) and Johnny Page at the organ, who also sings, you are presented with some mighty fine harmony.

While wife is a sexy thing and owns a nice voice, in my opinion, Danny is the show stealer. This young man has a voice that is rich sounding. His tones are true and clear. Plus, Danny, has way above average controll. In the department of sticks and brushes, Danny is no slouch. He shows a little class at the skins.

Organist Johnny Page is very solid. This guy knows the black and whites as Atlas knows a roadmap. While they present a fairly decent mixture of music, the outfit does lean a little toward the country and western.

Make sure you catch them at the Ramada Inn East, Monday through Saturday. They are well worth the trip.

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

Another new place opened in our area. Located in Pickaway County, on route 23, about five south of Scioto Downs, it is called The Club House Restaurant. While I haven't dined there yet, just let me tell you this, it is a beautiful, large place. Besides the dining room, it has an intimate cocktail lounge and a separate bar. This Friday and Saturday you'll find live music for dancing and entertainment. Watch this column next week for more on the new Club House Restaurant. In the meantime drive down, I think you will be pleasantly surprised...Up at the other end of the state the all new Playland Park at Russells Point on the shores of beautiful Indian Lake is holding a really big reunion, Aug. 5. Billed as the first annual Stardust Ballroom Reunion, the event will feature entertainment, music and nostalgia for people who were former patrons of the old San Juan Hotel or lead in all three, is a housewife. Other than Tom Almaguer himself, that's the cast Community theater, University theater and home.

The first act is about the breakup of a marriage on or the day before their wedding anniversary. The neat part of it all is that these people got me to empathize with them, inspite of Neil Simon's impossible dialogue.

The second is just for laughs. A Hollywood producer in town for a meeting with a director decides to see what his old high school sweetheart looks like after all these years. The third is a daughter with the usual before-the-wedding doubts and all take place in suite 719 of the Plaza Hotel.

Real Estate Representative Selected

The real estate group, Fine Homes of America, has been selected as the exclusive representative in the Columbus area for All Points Relocation Service, Inc., Edwin J. Carr, president of the group has announced.

attended any of the dances held at the Pavilions. The Mel Haney Orchestra, known for its big band sound, will furnish the sweet sounds of yesterday and today. The Stardust Reunion will feature a live show, queens and top talent, selected from the stardust talent search. By the way, don't forget the Glenn Miller Orchestra booked at the park Aug. 18...Received lots of entries from our Snoopy Contest. Winners will be called by today. Prizes will be presented this Friday at the Carousel East this Friday afternoon....This is the last week for my gal, Jo Kiser, at the swinging Lincoln Lodge Motel. This gal is really terrific. Make sure you catch her.

Parents Plan Picnic

The Parents' Group of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children will have a potluck picnic for families Sunday, August 20, at 4:30 p.m. at Blacklick Woods.

All parents of children currently enrolled on the Society's training and education program are being urged to attend by the president of the group, Jack Froehle, 619 College Crest Rd., Westerville.

Senior Citizens Here's Action

MCDOWELL CENTER

The Columbus Division of Police now has a new emergency telephone number: 462-4545.

New telephone numbers for 26 different sections within the Division of Police are listed in the white pages of the new Ohio Bell Telephone Directory.

CUBBYHOLE COOKING

By MYRNA MCCAULEY

Sandwich Suppers

If you eat alone a lot, chances are that more meals than you think are based on sandwiches. But no harm done—providing you don't overdo on the bread calories. Also, providing that each sandwich you make makes a meal. Then to make sure you get your daily quota of what's good for you, team up your sandwich suppers with a long cool glass of milk.

About the bread. If you really take calorie counting seriously, here's the countdown, including some of the heady breads from the sweet department:

White bread, 1 slice, 60 cal.
Dark bread, 1 slice, 75 cal.
Toast, butter only, add 33 cal.
Toast, jelly only, add 33 cal.
Doughnut, plain, 1200 cal.
Muffin, plain, 120 cal.
Sweet roll, higher, higher, higher!

ON TO the sandwiches now, assuming you'll adjust to double deckers, open faced single-slice sandwiches and sandwiches-on-a-loaf, according to your own personal weights and measurements.

THE REUBEN-REUBEN

Grand for solo eating or entertaining.

8 oz. can sauerkraut, drained
1 tbsp. mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 oz. sliced cooked pressed corned beef or delicatessan corned beef
2 slices Swiss cheese
2 slices rye bread

Butter bread. Mix half of sauerkraut with mayonnaise. Layer corned beef and cheese on one slice of bread. Add sauerkraut with mayonnaise and second bread slice. Eat as is or wrap in foil and heat in 400° oven 10 to 15 min. (To refrigerate rest of sauerkraut, remove from can because it's an acid food. Place in storage dish with tight-fitting cover, or cover securely with two wrappings to avoid odor. Serve again with wiener or bratwurst in or out of a bun.)

THE CLUB SANDWICH

3 slices white toast, buttered
2 go-together fillings:
ham and Swiss cheese or chicken salad, bacon and tomato or bologna or salami and Cheddar cheese
Lettuce

Assemble sandwich in this order: toast and first filling: toast, second filling and lettuce; toast. Secure with wooden picks. Cut into four triangles. Serve on dinner plate with triangle points up. Garnish with potato chips and relishes.

THE HERO, SUB OR POOR BOY

A whopper on a loaf.

Slice and butter one small individual French bread loaf or Kaiser roll. Fill with thin slices Cheddar or Swiss cheese and salami, ham or bologna (one or two of each, depending on how much you can eat.) Spread on prepared mustard. Add lettuce and or shredded onion or cabbage. Eat cold or wrap in foil and heat in 400° oven 10 to 15 min.

THE CHEESE RAREBIT SANDWICH

Rarebit or rabbit, it's today's epicurean.

Half of 10-½ oz. can Cheddar cheese soup
1 slice bacon, cooked crisp
½ toasted English muffin or slice of toast

Heat soup over medium heat. Place bacon on muffin. Spoon on cheese sauce. Delicious served with slice or two of grilled tomato. If calories are no problem, serve more bacon at side and sprinkle pecans over sauce.

THE BACON DENVER

Dice one strip bacon and fry with one tbsp. onion (fresh or instant) in small heavy skillet until onion is yellow. Beat one egg and one tbsp. milk with sprinkling of salt and pepper. Pour into hot skillet. Scramble gently over low heat until cooked through. Serve on buttered bun or bread.

FRENCH-TOASTED SANDWICH

1 egg, beaten
¼ cup milk (4 tbsp.)
Dash of salt
Slice of ham or other meat, fully cooked
2 slices white bread

Mix egg, milk and salt in pie pan. Make a sandwich of meat and bread slices. Dip sandwich in egg-milk mixture, coating both sides. In skillet or on griddle, brown on both sides in hot butter or bacon dreppings. (Or try a French-toasted peanut butter and bacon sandwich.)

ONION OR CUKE SANDWICHES

Place slices of onion or cucumber on fresh white bakery bread spread with mayonnaise or Durkey's dressing.

FRANKS 'KRAUT

Plus mustard, pickles, ketchup, on warm bun. Steam the bun in top of double boiler while water boils to heat the franks.

LIVERSAUSAGE SPREAD

Mix liversausage with mayonnaise and chopped dill pickle. Spread high on rye or pumpernickle.

THE SALAD SANDWICH

Bicycle Race Set August 13

The Westerville Recreation Department and the Wheel-Works Bike Club will co-sponsor the Benjamin R. Hanby Bicycle Race and Tour Sunday, Aug. 13 (10 a.m.).

The 30-mile course will cover secondary roads in Franklin and Delaware counties. The starting and finishing point will be the Westerville School bus garage.

REGISTRATION deadline is Saturday (entry form must be completed and $1.50 fee submitted). Sign-ups are scheduled at three locations – the Westerville Wheel Works, Recreation Department and Glengarry Putt-Putt.

Late registration (fee of $2.50) will be taken at the starting point the day of the race. Registration packets come with food ticket, maps, registration number and patch.

Participants under 14 years of age must have their registration form signed by either parent or guardian to compete.

ADDITIONAL information may be obtained by contacting the Westerville Recreation Department.

Columbus Schools Get Stereo Going

Monday, August 7 is the target date for the first stereo broadcast by WCBE, the Columbus school system's non-commercial FM radio station.

The station is off the air this week while installation of a new stereo transmitter is completed.

The new transmitter, purchased with funds contributed by WCBE listeners during a six-month public campaign last year, has been stored in the school system's facility at 52 Starling Street. It will be moved to the 45th floor of the Leveque-Lincoln Tower where it will be installed August 1.

Sittig says other necessary equipment for broadcasting in stereo has been installed this summer in WCBE's studios on the lower floor of the Education Center.

Station Manager John Sittig noted that once the transmitter is installed and necessary equipment tests are made, WCBE will begin its daily broadcasts in stereo.

Color Television Awarded

Ida Rutan of 82 N. High St. was the winner of a new color television set in a drawing sponsored by Sunni Brook Park Civic Association.

The drawing was sponsored in order to raise funds for the association's projects.

LET'S TOUR OHIO

Kings Island Top Tour

Southwestern Ohio offers both old and new on this tour around the Lebanon area.

The new is the Kings Island amusement park, located off I-71 at the Kings Mills exit.

This park, which opened its doors this season, features five themed areas. Oktoberfest provides a German flavor, while Rivertown recreates an Ohio River town of the mid 1800's.

Hanna-Barbera land brings to life some well-known cartoon characters, and Old Coney Island depicts the famous Cincinnati amusement park at the turn of the century.

International Street combines the charm of five Old World countries along a boulevard lines with specialty shops of distinct European architecture. Dominating the street is a 33-story replica of the Eiffel Tower.

The old is the Golden Lamb Inn at Lebanon, Ohio's oldest, dating from 1803. On the old stagecoach route between Cincinnati and Dayton, the Inn has served such distinguished guests as Charles Dickens and Henry Clay, and 10 U. S. Presidents from William Henry Harrison to William Howard Taft.

Glendower Memorial, built in the first half of the 1800's, is an outstanding example of Greek Revival architecture. The mansion reflects Ohio homelife of the 19th century, and is furnished with personal and household items from more than 400 pioneer families of the community.

The Warren County Museum has unique displays arranged in windows and shelves of storefronts surrounding a reconstructed village green. It includes a Shaker exhibit and a pre-historic geologic collection.

Nearby attractions include Cowan Lake State Park, offering facilities for all types of outdoor activity, and Fairmeade-Green Acres Farm, where standardbred horses are raised.

The AAA suggests this routing to the tour area; From Columbus, go southwest on I-71 to the tour area.

Police Get New Trailer

The Columbus Division of Police last week received a display trailer to assist them in their crime prevention programs.

The trailer was donated by Dannie's Mobile Homes, Inc. in the interest of a safer community.

Dannie Devol, owner and chairman of the board, presented the trailer to Chief Earl Burden, in a ceremony at the Columbus Police Training Academy.

The public will have an opportunity to see the trailer at the Ohio State Fair police display, which will be housed in Bay No. 3, Ohio National Guard Building.

COSI Tour Planned

A viewmobile tour of historic South Bass Island at the western end of Lake Erie plus a visit to Heineman's Winery and Crystal Cave will highlight a Center of Science and Industry-Franklin County Historical Society one-day bus tour Saturday, August 12.

Miss Teenage Contest Open

James Rogge, Group Sales Promotion Manager of Sears, today announced the kick-off of the 1973 Sears Miss Teenage Columbus Contest and the eighth annual search for the girl to represent Columbus in the Miss Teenage American Pageant this November.

Areas of judging in the Sears Miss Teenage Columbus Contest include poise and personality, scholastic ability, grooming and talent. There is no bathing suit competition.

The 20 outstanding finalists will participate in weeks of activity culminating in the Miss Teenage Columbus Pageant, Sunday, October 29 at Veterans Memorial.

Miss Teenage Columbus 1973 and the four runners-up will receive merchandise totaling $1,000 from Sears, Roebuck & Co., the local sponsor, and the winner will also receive the Sears Professional Modeling Course.

Last year Colleen Fitzpatrick of Lancaster was crowned Miss Teenage Columbus, then went on to win the national title. She relinquished her Columbus crown when she became Miss Teenage America 1972, and Lois Brown, a June graduate of Eastmoor High School and a freshman this fall at Ohio State University, assumed the Columbus title.

Contest entry blanks are available in the Junior Bazaar at Sears Northland, Eastland, Westland, Newark and Lancaster, and all girls between the ages of 13 and 17 are eligible. Deadline for entries is September 15.

Youngsters Welcome At Dairy Day

Ohio young people who are interested in dairy cattle are invited to participate in a statewide judging contest at 1972 Dairy Day August 11 at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center at Wooster.

Participants will judge in one of two divisions–one for FFA members and one for 4-H club members. Prizes will be awarded to team and individual winners in both divisions.

Registration for judging contestants begins at 9:30 a.m. at the OARDC Dairy Research Center. Judging will start at 10 a.m. just north of the pole barn.

Following the morning judging contest, youths will have time to view the educational Dairy Day exhibits. Lunch will be available on the grounds. At about 1 p.m. wagon transportation will be provided to the auditorium on the OARDC main campus.

Any young man or woman interested in participating in the dairy judging contest should contact his or her local county Extension agent, 4-H leader, or vocational agriculture instructor.

Dairy Day is sponsored annually by the Research Center in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service of The Ohio State University, and the Ohio Dairymen's Association. Chairman for 1972 Dairy Day is Dr. Donald E. Pritchard, area Extension agent, dairy industry.

Area Offers Two Ranges

There are two target ranges available in central Ohio to sportsmen who have a desire to "keep their eye", sight-in new equipment or target shoot for fun.

The largest range is at the Delaware Wildlife Area (located eight miles north of Delaware on Rt. 229) and offers a 100-yard rifle range and a 50-foot pistol range, both with benches. There is also an area provided for hand traps.

The 75 ft. range at Deer Creek Reservoir Wildlife Area is a primitive range (no benches) and is located three miles south of Mt. Sterling on Rt. No. 207.

The use of these ranges is free. Clay or paper targets only are permitted.

Report Shows Accident Causes

"Some improvement in highway safety has resulted since new federal laws were enacted in 1966 -- but the big hurdle is still the drunken driver."

This is the report received by the Columbus Automobile Club from annual national studies.

The report shows that it is the drunken driver, not speed, which is the greatest highway threat. While, it is noted, speed contributes to the severity of accidents, "the alcohol-impaired driver is responsible for more than 50 percent of highway fatalities".

One of the great needs, the national study concludes, is to develop procedures which will get the known alcoholic off the highways before he has a chance to kill or injure others.

The national accident study, Wilson says, reveals that the United States is far more lenient to drunken drivers than are other nations, where mandatory jail sentences are common for drunken driving, even where no accident occurs.

Other details of the study show that 75 percent of U.S. highway casualties last year occurred on dry roads under clear skies; 40 percent occurred on weekends, especially Saturday; drivers under 25 were involved in more than a third of all accidents; more than half the deaths occurred between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.

CARE SERVES

MEDICO, A Service of CARE, expects to send about 125 volunteer specialists overseas this year to teach their specialties to local medical personnel.

Ohio Wesleyan Sets Lecture, Artist Series

Buchwald, Buckley, and Burgess; Chisholm, Anderson, Hickel, Lerner; a "supervirtuoso" concert pianist; the Met's 1972-73 Carmen; the Cincinnati Symphony; New York City's newest dance theatre troupe, and three classic films. This is the schedule of Ohio Wesleyan University's 1972-73 Lecture-Artist Series. Season tickets are $15.

The series begins with a return visit of political satirist Art Buchwald, Oct. 6, and ends April 24 with the U.S. recital debut of the Metropolitan Opera Company's 1972-73 Carmen, Brigitte Fassbaender.

In the months between Anthony Burgess will speak about his screenplay "Clockwork Orange" and his attitudes toward violence (Nov. 17); Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm (D-N.Y.) will appear Oct. 27; Pulitzer Prize winning columnist Jack Anderson speaks April 6; and Walter Hickel, author, former governor of Alaska, and former Secretary of the Interior under President Nixon talks Apr. 20.

Pianist Ivan Davis will appear October 12.

The Lar Lubovitch Dancers will appear February 2.

Thomas Schippers will conduct the Cincinnati Symphony and Dino Ciani will be solo pianist, February 9.

The series also includes three classic films. The Japanese "Rashomon" is the only one scheduled at this date.

There will be no advance sale of individual performance tickets until a week prior to that performance. Persons desiring season tickets at $15 each, or a brochure on the 1972-73 Ohio Wesleyan Lecture-Artist Series, should address correspondence to: Ticket Chairman, Lecture-Artist Series, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, 43015.

Suggestions Profit Gardeners

Home gardeners can always use organic matter, particularly around homes where basement soil was spread over existing top soil. Getting plenty of this material is not always easy and the buildup from year to year in the gardening soil is slow.

So save those leaves, grass clippings, weeds that haven't gone to seed, citrus fruit peels and other materials that decompose into good organic matter. You can form a container for a compost pile with concrete blocks, chicken wire or hog wire. Hide the compost pile, if you can, from view by locating it behind a building hedgerow or other barrier.

Put down a layer of any organic material you have available in an area three to four feet square. Then add a layer of fertilizer such as 10-8-4 or equivalent (sprinkled heavily). Fertilizer speeds decomposition of organic materials and adds nutrients that will be available for garden crops. Next, add a layer of garden soil. Soil stimulates bacterial action which aids in decomposition. Repeat these layers as you have available organic material and wet the pile down each time. Spade or fork the mixture about every six weeks to two months. The compost pile should not be deeper than about four feet to facilitate easier turning as the material decomposes.

Water Vegetables

Hot, windy days in August can quickly deplete soil moisture in the vegetable garden--flower beds, too. You can avoid these problems by watering your plants once each week, if you do not get an inch or more of rain during the week. It is best to water thoroughly once a week than lightly several times. Leave the sprinkler or irrigation system on long enough to wet the soil at least six inches deep. Most of us fail to do this because it takes several hours per setting on lawns and gardens.

Mulches reduce loss of moisture in gardens and flower beds. Where you have two to four inches of mulch, check the soil underneath to determine if watering is needed.

MONEY might be the root of all evil (if that's the way you want it) but to Harold (Bud) Platter, Reynoldsburg Tomato Festival treasurer, it's part of the secret of the Festival success. This week Bud announced that a $500 merchandise first prize would be awarded to the lucky ticket holder who purchases the opportunity to select the merchandise from any single member or combination of members of the Reynoldsburg Business Association. Festival members have plenty of tickets, Bud indicated, and they will also be on sale at the Festival starting Sept. 13. Bud is a man of many hats for the Festival and here holds some of the money for ticket sales, a handful of tickets, a bumper sticker advertising the festival and a decal used by Reynoldsburg Business Association members. [illegible] put on the amount of garage sales that could be held at a residence during a given period of time.

The City of Bexley is the only city in Franklin county that has a "garage sale" ordinance on the books. Bexley limits one garage sale per residence in a 90 day period and if anyone else brings an item to that residence it must be listed on the $1 permit fee that is required.

Bexley's ordinance requires an applicant for a garage sale to submit information pertaining to the location of the sale, the dates of the sale, a description of the items to e sold and a list of all those persons selling items.

If under 10 items are sold, no permit is needed.

The Bexley regulation also controls advertising stating that "it shall be unlawful to place or display any [illegible] said property in front of the building setback line and it shall be unlawful to place or permit any signs advertising, promoting or giving directions to said sale at any location, other than the property on which the sale is conducted.

COUNCIL'S committee of the whole also discussed the proposed water tank storage contract as presented by National Homes.

Full council is scheduled to meet Aug. 14 when the public hearing is scheduled on the application by Complete General Construction to resone property at I-70 and Brice Rd. for apartment construction.

AT ALCOHOL, DRUG ABUSE INSTITUTE

Self-Reliance Stressed At ODC Seminar

Learning to rely on your own judgement and make your own decisions was the emphasis of a speech made by Dr. Frank Schimpfhauser as part of Ohio Dominican College's three day institute on alcohol and drugs.

Dr. Schimpfhauser was formerly with the ODC psychology department and is presently on the staff at Ohio State University.

Speaking to a group of approximately 200 high school juniors and seniors from all parts of Ohio, Dr. Schimpfhauser called the teenage years a "vulnerable but opportunistic period in their development."

"You are aware negitive aspects such as parental authority but there are also opportunities. Society hasn't provided you with learning opportunities to prepare you for a challenge adulthood."

He said he did not want to give the group a set of facts which they would forget, but rather a process for decision making or a core to fall back on when deciding about drug use and alcohol.

"The first point is personal challenge. We rely too much on others. Lets try imagining that you're here alone. Don't relay or depend on the people sitting next to you."

Dr. Schimpfhauser said people today don't take time out to be by themselves. "We confuse being alone with being lonely. People need to be by themselves to sort out their feelings and get to know themselves."

As part of the emphasis of his speech, he asked that the participants roll up a small piece of paper and pretend that it was a drug of some type. He then asked them to pass to the person sitting next to them.

Dr. Schimpfhauser used this method to get the audience to evalute for themselves how they would react.

After asking the audience to mentally picture the drug they held in their hand, he asked them a series of questions such as would they take the drug, why would they take it, if they knew what the drug was and what were it's effects? He also asked them how they decided which way to pass their pill and why someone would offer them a drug.

"Society has grown in size and complexity but man has become very dependant. We rely on others for almost all our needs and for a very personal reason.

"We have lost contact with ourselves. We have more faith in the judgement of others than we do our own opinions," Schimpfhauser said. "We have little idea of our own potential and have sold ourselves short."

He said it is the peer group which is the key influence. "When we're not doing something with the group we feel out of it and as if something is wrong with us."

Schimpfhauser said young people have to find themselves and where they're going and to do this they have to be alone to evaluate their feeling.

As to why people take drug, he said we are a drug oriented culture.

"Mass madia promotes drug use. We are told to take a drug for anything that bothers us and to take a drug to cure other drugs habits."

He also said many young people have a feeling of no future or no hope. "This feeling is rampant in the country. For example a teenage boy may feel if he is drafted he will not be around for the future so why worry about it."

Dr. Schimpfhauser said many writer term the feeling among the young a "search for intimacy."

"Young people want to be touched by something." He said this search was involved in the identity crisis and said this could occur at any age.

He said in the past drug abuse was limited to a very small intellectual group and now it touched almost every corner of our society.

"Some people are the type who can use drugs and manage. Other find they can't get out once the fall into this trap. More and more people are falling into this last group."

Schimpfhauser said there were over 30,000 hard drug abusers in Ohio. He said this meant those physically and psychologically dependent. "This means a hibit of around $100 a day on the average."

He said the number has tripled in the past two to three years as to the people using drugs.

"In 1970 there were over 600 arrests in this county for some violation of the drug laws. In 1971 there were over 800 and in 1972 so far over 900 persons between 14 and 21 have been arrested on drug offenses."

Schimpfhauser said there are several kinds of dependancy,, physical and psychological or both.

"Physical dependence is the using of drugs at an increased amount over a shorter interval. The psychological dependency is based on taking drugs for relief of emotional stress.

He said this was the most devasting area and the hardest treat.

As to why some people become users, Schimpfhauser said it was completely individual and you could not name a certain type. "Are you easily led, have you had a habit of some type before? You have to evaluate yourself."

Schimpfhauser concluded by saying "Life is one long search and if you're going to make it you have to keep fighting and looking and don't give up.

"Take time to be alone and evaulate you own situtions and emotions."

Besides special lectures, the participants also meet in small group for discussions.

These attending the three day program are selected by high school quidance counselors, members of the Ohio School Counselors Association, (OSCA) and various civic groups and business organizations.

Students selected are those considered to be peer group leaders whose positive influence can be effectively extended to their fellow students.

This summer's institute is the eighth annual and is sponsored by the Alcoholism Program of the State Department, of Health, ODC, OSCA, the Ohio Department of Liquor Control and the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Other topics of the seminars are the physiology, psychology and sociology of alochol and drug abuse.

Win or Lose--It Was Fun

DOGGONE! The competition looked pretty tough but Jody Withman and J.B. didn't seem to be too worried as they entered in the Berwick Playground Pet show last week. Jody seemed to be taking all the activities in stride, while J.B. remained undisturbed by all the barking and carrying on unavoidable when so many dogs congregate in one place. J.B. was entered in the Best Groomed category, but could have easily won best behaved.

PILOT PROJECT FOR BERWICK

New Method Planned For Street Resurfacing

A contract for the work has been awarded to Slurry Seal of Columbus, Inc., a subsidiary of Strawser Paving Company, 1388 Stimmel Rd.

WORK IS scheduled to start Monday, Aug. 14.

Wallace explained that vehicular and pedestrain traffic will be restricted on streets under repair until the fresh seal has time to cure.

The process is called slurry seal and is a mixture of liquid asphalt, water and crushed stone which is spread over the old asphalt pavement. It is poured over the asphalt in a liquid state to seal cracks and level minor depressions.

AFTER CURING the seal will provide a dense black armor coat which is expected to last many years.

This process is not new, but has been under development for more than ten years.

ONE OF ITS major disadvantages, until recently, has been that even under ideal atmospheric conditions of temperature, humidity and wind velocity, the curing process took five to as much as twenty-four hours. Until the cure has completed, vehicular or even pedestrian traffic will tear up and disfigure the coating, causing permanent marks.

A recently developed quick-set asphalt emulsion has reduced the curing period to about three hours; and under ideal conditions traffic can be permitted as soon as thirty minutes after the seal has been placed.

In order to control deterioration of asphalt pavements, periodic sealing of some type must be used. Until the development of the slurry seal, the only acceptable method was the application of liquid asphalt directly to the pavement, followed by a coating of fine stone chips to blot up the excess asphalt and permit the opening of the pavement to traffic.

THIS IS A relatively inexpensive process, and reasonably effective. However, the stone chips work loose under traffic and fill the gutters, coat adjacent sidewalks and driveways and ara a nuisance on curbed streets for several weeks until all the excess stone is worked loose and swept up.

The slurry seal process is slightly higher in initial cost, but will put an end to the loose stone chips and has a somewhat larger predicted service life.

THE ONLY serious problem is that all traffic must be prohibited until the seal has cured. This is easy to accomplish at the street intersections, but difficult on residential streets where each house has a driveway.

If the residents do not understand the necessity for prohibition of traffic, a trip to the corner grocery could easily tear up a large number of square yards of new seal coat.

The pilot program area which has been selected, is the old Berwick Subdivision, south and east of Livingston and College Avenues.

THE STREETS in this area were originally constructed between 1930 and 1955. When the work starts, barricades will be placed along the streets as the work is scheduled and notices will be delivered to each residence to explain the proposed work.

If the new quick-set materials work out as expected and funds can be budgeted, it is hoped that a larger resealing program can be accomplished next year so that more of the older residentail streets can be preserved.

Management Program Expands At Cap

Capital University's Management Development Program begins its 17th year this fall with an expanded selection of courses.

Sponsored by the University's business administration and economics department, the program will offer a choice of 15 courses. Six of those courses will be offered in the evening hours.

Of the total number of courses six will also serve to partially satisfy admission requirements for Capital's recently announced MBA program.

According to Associate Professor O. Henry Hoversten, chairman of the business administration and economics department, daytime courses have been scheduled in time periods which will give employees working the second or third shift an opportunity to enroll. Evening courses will run from 5 to 7 and 7 to 9 p.m. two days a week, and daytime courses will meet four days each week for one hour sessions.

Fall term classes begin Tuesday, Sept. 5. The management program will also be offered during the spring term, with classes beginning Feb. 13.

Courses offered during the fall semester include those which deal with the five areas of concentration in Capital's Business Administration and Economics Curriculum, namely accounting, marketing, management, economics and general business.

Students already enrolled at Capital may register for the program from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. daily, except Saturday. Two extended registration periods have also been scheduled: Tuesday, Aug. 29 from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., and on Saturday, Sept. 2 from 9 a.m. until noon.

Carnival Planned

Two east area girls will be doing their part to aid the fight against Muscular Dystrophy this weekend.

KIMBERLEY WEISMAN and Shelley Elkins will have a Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Carnival at 941 Enfield Rd. on Saturday, Aug. 12 beginning at 1 p.m.

The carnival will feature a raffle, an auction and bingo. Games planned include sponge toss, dart board, golf game, fish pond and others. There will be a cookie booth and fire engine rides.

FOOD ON SALE will include hot dogs, hamburgers, popcorn, potato chips and cold drinks.

Last year, in cooperation with the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, 26,143 Carnivals were held by children across the country and over $755,657 was raised.

Garden Club Schedules Flower Show

The Berwick Garden Club is planning its annual flower show on Saturday, Aug. 12 at the Bexley Library Auditorium, from 3:30 to 7 p.m.

The Gardener's Gazette is the name of the show which has been planned around a newspaper theme.

The show is open to the public and those interested in entering may contact Mrs. Fred Silberstein at 237-2188 or Mrs. Robert Best at 235-3585.

McNaughton, Broad Center Planned

Almour Securities, Inc., 88 E. Broad St., a service of Citizens Financial Corp., has originated a $465,000 construction loan for the development of Canyon Center, a neighborhood shopping center at the southwest corner of McNaughton Rd. and E. Broad St.

John S. Vogel, Almour assistant vice president and Columbus branch manager, said the center is being developed by Canyon Center Ltd., a general partnership of Equivestors Co., which is owned by Ohio Equities, and Investors Holding Co. All are based in Columbus.

The new property, valued in excess of $650,000, will be leased to a number of retail and service businesses, including a drug store, a restaruant, a beauty shop and a convenience grocery.

Construction is under way and completion is expected by April, 1973.

Mason & Isabel, Inc., of Columbus, is the general contractor and Trott & Bean Associates, of Columbus, are the architects.

Jefferson National Life Insurance Co. will provide the permanent financing.

Two East Men Elected As OWU Associates

Bruce A. Boyer, 5650 Indian Mound Ct., and William R. Bennett, 422 N. Parkview Ave., have been elected as Ohio Wesleyan University Associates.

The Associates are a group of approximately 200 outstanding men and women throughtout the nation dedicated to the development and growth of Ohio Wesleyan University.

BOYER IS vice-president of the City National Bank and Trust Company, 800 Michigan Ave. He graduated from OWU in 1962 and went on to further his education at the Stonier Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University.

Boyer is a trustee of the Center of Science and Industry. He is a member of the Downtown Area Committee and also belongs to the Seotoma Club, Shrine and the Masonic Lodge.

Boyer and his wife Jo Ann, have three children, including a daughter presently enrolled at Ohio Wesleyan.

BENNETT IS president of the Ohio Vision Services, Inc., located at 3620 N. High St., in Columbus. He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan in 1956 and received his masters in political science in 1962. He was a member of the OWU Administrative staff from 1958 to 1960. Bennett is also on the OWU Board of Alumni Directors.

He is a member of the Athletic Club of Columbus. He also belongs to the Gallery of Fine Arts and is chairman of the Columbus Symphony Conductor's Committee. Bennett is on the Executive Committee of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra Board of Trustees. He is also secretary of the Ohio Professions Council. Mr. Bennett has been a part-time lecturer at Ohio State and was elected to Outstanding Young Men of America in 1967.

Bennett and his wife, Sally, are the parents of two daughters and three sons.

And Noisy Too

BRIDGET WAS ENTERED in the "Cutest" category at the recent Berwick Playground pet show but she could have easily won if there had been a category for the loudest. Bridget didn't seem to care for all her fellow competitors as she spent most of the time barking at all the new arrivals. She apparently got her message across to one cat though, who could be seen running across the field toward home, leash and all just before competition began. Here Bridget gets a little reassuring from a friendly youngster.

Plan Fund-Raising Project

THESE FOUR BEXLEY RESIDENTS RECENTLY took part in the preparation luncheon for the annual fund-raising project for the Hannah Neil Home. The Home was begun 114 years ago as a private agency to care for orphaned children. At present the Home has an average of 30 children ranging in age from six to 12. This Year's project will be an invitational Dinner Dance at Fawcett Center for Tomorrow on Friday, October 27. The women are left to right, Mrs. Richard C. Addison, 2428 Bryden Rd.; Mrs. Philip Knies, 129 N. Columbia Ave.; Miss Fley Core, 2830 Sherwood Rd., and Mrs. C. Allen Jensen, 141 S. Drexel Ave.

Our Lady Festival Begins Tomorrow

The Church of Our Lady will conduct its second annual Summer Festival tomorrow, Friday and Saturday on the church grounds at 5401 Refugee Rd.

Festival hours will be from 4 until 11 p.m. all three days.

THE FESTIVAL will include a variety of games for adults and children, along with amusement rides (Moon Walk and Octopus for teenagers; other rides for small children).

Other attractions will include bingo, fish pond; white elephant sale, cake sale, football throw and carnival games.

Food (sandwiches, soft drinks etc.) will be available on the grounds during the festival as well as a beer garden for the older festival attendees.

GRAND PRIZE at the festival will be an all-expense-paid two-week Hawaiian vacation for two (can be taken anytime) or $1000. cash.

Pre-festival amusement ride tickets may be purchased (before 4 p.m. tomorrow) at five tickets for $1. – a 15-cent per ticket savings – by contacting Bob Bateman, 5170 Jameson Dr.

Proceeds from the festival will be used to blacktop the church parking lots.

Bowling League Planned

Ted Flickinger announced that a mixed bowling league for men and women 18 and older is being organized by the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department.

League play will open on Monday, Sept. 11 at the Jewish Center lanes on College Avenue.

The league will bowl each Monday night at 8:30 p.m.

Teams will consist of four players, with a mixmum of 12 teams in the league.

Playground Notes

ETNA ROAD

At Etna Road last week, the boy's 14-18 softball team won a double-header against Beechwood making their record 8-3.

There was a bubble gum blowing contest last Tuesday. Lisa Blankenship won first prize (a box of bubble gum) for blowing the biggest bubble.

Arts and crafts included the making of Gooney Birds. Winners in the weekly arts and crafts show were Brenda Todd (1), Jim Antoniak (2nd), and Lisa Blankenship (3rd).

KAE AVENUE

Physical Fitness tests were given during the week of July 31. Certificates will be given for completion of the test.

The softball team is getting ready for the City tournament, with hopes of pulling off an upset and becoming the new City Champions.

This week's arts and crafts program was concerned with the creation of Gooney Birds. This special event was just conceived and we hope to have a big crowd. It seems as though the youngsters of Whitehall will wind up their summer with loads of fun in the Weird and Wacky Olympics. These games will be strictly for fun and laughs.

All the playgrounds will compete and each time a participant wins a fun event, his playground will receive points. The playground winning the most points will receive a goofy trophy.

The games will start at 10..m. on Monday, Aug. 14 at Orton Davis Park.

The starred events are the egg throw, shoe grab, water ballon throw, and a Tug-O-War, in which the losers will take a mud bath.

Anyone interested in coming out and joining in on the ridiculous humor should sign up at their nearest playground or meet at their playground on Monday morning, Aug. 14, at 9 a.m.

ORT Plans Raffle

Hamilton Woods Chapter of Women's American O.R.T. is sponsoring a raffle of a 1972 Nova purchased from Quality Chevrolet to help provide funds for O.R.T.'s School Building Project.

The tickets costing $1 each can be purchased from any Hamilton Woods O.R.T. member and are also being sold at many locations throughout the community.

The drawing for the Nova will be at 10 a.m. on August 31.

The money raised by the raffle, will be used for O.R.T.'s School Building Project which helps construct buildings and major additions to buildings in whatever part of the world they are most needed. It also helps provide the necessary classroom and workshop equipment for these buildings. The O.R.T. Centers train approximately 10,000 youngsters each year.

Hamilton Woods O.R.T. members in charge of this major fund-raising project are Linda Rogvin, Chairwoman; Linda Schulman, Secretary; Harriet Leff, Treasurer; Bonnie Wedren, Hamilton Woods President; and Sharon Paine, Special Projects Vice President.

Uniform Gas Rates

The City of Columbus until recently had not committed itself upon the effort of the Central Ohio Mayors and Muncipal Officials Council to obtain a county-wide uniform gas rate.

But now, with COMMOC filing for leave to intervene and motion with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, Columbus is apparently getting a bit nervous.

Utility Director Robert Newlon has dropped the role of a benevolent, if silent, observer and stated that while Columbus wishes to cooperate with its suburbs, it must deal with Columbia Gas alone.

The thinking of Columbus is logical–up to a point. Newlon undoubtedly can read the handwriting on the wall and realizes the utility company, if forced to negotiate a unfiorm rate for the county, would strive desperately to minimize its loss of revenue from the suburbs and incorporated areas by pegging the county-wide rate above that now paid by Columbus residents.

But it appears that the suburbs have been subsidizing gas service received in the city.

No one who has the vaguest idea of what amortization of costs is all about can be convinced that it costs Columbia more to take gas to Bexley or Whitehall than it does to Far East and Southeast sections of Columbus.

The variances in gas rates actually make little rhyme nor reason.

Every suburb in Franklin County (with the exception of Canal Winchester and New Albany) is contiguous to Columbus and many of these are either completely or semi-surrounded by Columbus.

Thus the story repeated throughout the years by Columbia that it must recover the excessive costs of taking gas to "remote" areas doesn't hold water too well.

Other discrepencies noted in studying various gas rates, either extant or proposed, throughout the county show glaring inconsistencies such as the effort to negotiate a contract with Groveport that would make the village customer's average bill several dollars more than that of the more distant Canal Winchester.

Henry Eckhardt chairman of PUCO, has been quoted as predicting it will take the Commission at least 18 months to adequately review the gas rates in the unincorporated areas, Columbus and the 22 satellite communities.

Langdon Bell, attorney for COMMOC, is seeking to free the group from the responsibility of proving that the rate should be uniform.

His latest filing asks that, instead, the PUCO investigate why the cost of utilities should not be uniform.

In the meantime the delay is not working any undue hardship upon the suburbs who have refused to sign new contracts with Columbia.

The rate prevailing at the time each suburban contract expires continues in force until Columbia negotiates a new contract–or PUCO orders one.

According to Roger Higgins (who has spearheaded the COMMOC fight) few if any suburbs will succumb to the cajolery of "interim" rates which Columbia has been seeking from the suburbs.

Arlington fell for this ruse, and is currently stuck with an increase in rates.

One ace in the hole recognized by members of COMMOC is that the Utilities Commission is already bogged down by its case load–and that to an overworked board the attractiveness of one contract versus 24 separate contracts is obvious.

Newlon is only doing his job when he fights to retain the present city rates which are as much as 33 per cent below those paid by residents of the satellite communities.

And the utility company has made a pretty good case that it can legitimately show the need for increased revenues.

But there are approximately 300,000 people in the County who are fed up with carrying more than their share of the load.

If Columbus and its suburbs are going to make like one big, happy family and be mutually supportive, the city should realize it best do a little horse-trading.

A uniform gas rate may be a cheap way to buy suburban support of other regional concerns–including a transit levy and solid waste disposal.

Child Abuse

Generally speaking, those who pry into the affairs of their neighbors are regarded as busybodies who could better spend their time mending their own fences.

But there is one area in which any moral person should intrude–and that area is child abuse.

Reports of child abuse in Ohio have nearly doubled in the first half of the year and we must all realize that each of us has a responsibility to be his brother's keeper–when that brother is a helpless child.

Already this year eight children in Ohio have died as the result of parental mistreatment-a statistic that should jolt anyone out of his reticence to "be involved."

This week has been proclaimed "Protect Our Children" week. That fact means nothing, however, unless each of us undertakes the responsibility of policing his own neighborhood–52 weeks a year.

Many people fail to realize that a child can be irreversibly damaged without being exposed to merciless beatings.

The tragedy of a child burned, brutally whipped or sexually assaulted by his own parents is a crime beyond the scope of the normal mind.

But such tragedies do not stand alone when child abuse is considered.

The child from whom medical care is withheld, the child who is exploited by his parents into begging and stealing, the child whose body is racked by malnutition, or the child who is surrounded by filth, insects and vermin is also a victim of his parents.

Furthermore, emotional neglect can cause psychological trauma which heals more slowly than broken bones.

The tension created when disabilitating illness strikes a home, when marital discord makes the child's environment a battleground or when a child's self-image is undermined by the mother who inflicts hate rather than love is dangerous. And it carries the seeds from which mental instability and self-destructive tendencies are born.

Furthermore, although the warped personality who forces drugs upon a child is difficult for the non-psychotic to understand, police and hospital authorities are all too familiar with the addicted infant.

Another horror of the picture is that child abuse is not necessarily the product of the ghetto or the spawn of poverty and ignorance.

The child of the middle class and upper class home is not immune from the attack of his parents.

By law, physicians, dentists, nurses, school personnel, social workers and those serving in a ministerial capacity are required to report evidence of child abuse and neglect.

But most of us are not such professionals.

And while the law does not force us to maintain vigilance for the helpless, it does protect those who are ready to step forward and be counted.

Such crisis intervention can avert potential tragedy, but responsible citizens can also take steps which can help divert the crises from arising.

Working to eliminate the causes of abuse and neglect, such as sub-standard housing and violation of health regulations is one method.

Volunteer work as a "big brother", "big sister" or "mother's friend" can break the isolation of families without friends and relatives, and foster parenthood can bring about a child's rehabilitation.

Money and clothing donated to the County Welfare department can help extend social services offered to the victimized child and his families, and volunteer service to help the ignorant mother learn home-making skills is needed.

And seeking publicity for the cause through the news media, the churches and community leaders can enlist the help of the non-professionals.

The person who stands by and allows the helpless child to be beaten is as guilty as the flogger.

And countenancing the evils of hunger and poverty will only perpetuate the cries of the wounded psyches which never had a chance.

Raising Hopes

Two years ago Bethune Center opened, offering a program of health, educational and social service to unwed parents of the near East side.

Operated by the Columbus Urban League, Columbus Public Schools and Model Cities, Bethune provides not only the services of medical personnel and social workers, but classes which allow the unwed mother to continue her education during and after her pregnancy.

The centers maintains a nursery which provides care for the infants of mothers who are in class (often of a vocational nature to prepare the girl or women to support herself and her child).

Located in a residence at 1330 E. Broad St. the Center is moving to Maryland Park Elementary School

The 14,000 square feet of floor space at Maryland will allow more than [illegible] parents to be accomodated, about double the number who can now be enrolled at Bethune.

The attitude that the unwed mother must be punished by society is one that can no longer be afforded.

Two lives are involved–and rather than ostracism, the mother and her baby need the support which will give them the opportunity to become taxpayers rather than tax-users.

One may question the morality involved in pre-marital conception.

But the morality of stripping a woman of the opportunity for the education which she needs to survive in today's society is equally questionable.

Two wrongs do not equal a right and the combined effort of government, Columbus Pubic Schools and the socially-conscienced Urban League is a responsible approach to a problem conceived in irresponsibility.

Child's Play ?

Stopping The 'Buck'

It appears help may be on the way in the struggle to put a lid on the cost of hospital services.

The Ohio Hospital Association has announced a new course of attack aimed toward improving health care services while, at the same time, containing the cost of these services.

A great deal of finger-pointing has taken place as $32.84 a day has been added to the per-day cost of patient care since 1966.

In turn the hospitals proclaim their innocence, laying their woes to the unbending forces of inflation.

The Ohio Hospital Association hopes to call a end to the name-calling that has resulted from the paranonic defenses, and to work cooperatively to identify and check rising costs without sacrifice of Service rendered.

A look at the figures comparing hospital costs in 1966 to those of four years later shows that 56 percent of additional costs are due directly to inflation and new and improved labor costs.

The balance of the increase is due to a growning population which the hospitals must serve and the costs of additional equipment called for as medical technology becomes more and more sopnisticated.

Actually inflation can not be reasonably used as the the principal scapegoat.

Price levels have increased 19.2 percent which has added only $4.56 to daily patient care, while the improvement in salaries has added a whopping $13.92 -a-day to costs.

Almost equally significant is the cost of added equipment which has made a $10.40 a day impact on the patient's daily bill.

In the past hospitals have been evaluated on the quality of treatment offered.

Now, hopefully, such a yardstick measuring efficiency will become an equally valued tool.

Authorities believe that many facilities and services can be shared and costly duplication avoided.

Furthermore, Ohio is not taking full advantage of Medicaid and its hospitals now provide free service to 4 million people with incomes below $3,600 a year and care for a like number of persons at half the actual cost.

Yet another angle to be explored is the hoped for legislative and executive input into efforts to find the necessary solution.

The problems of hospitals are similar to those of schools. Both are basically "people business" with 70 per cent of available monies budgeted for labor.

This fact gives hospitals little leeway–but that leeway must be exploited to its outer limits.

Hospitals are threatened by bankruptcies and insurance companies state they cannot survive without further increase in premiums.

Patients on the other hand, are justifiably incensed that astronomical costs appear too often to be buying care that ranges from the slip-shod to the criminally negligent.

While the government, insurers and hospitals have blackened one another, the public interest has taken a back seat.

One way or another, Mr. and Mrs. John Doe pay the cost of maintaining our hospitals.

We're not getting our money's worth–and a cheated public is one that eventually will call for socialized medicine from the cradle to the grave.

Hospitals, insurers and the government do not want this to eventuate.

But it will–unless groups like the Ohio Hospital Association follow through on promises of aggressive programs to improve health service without further spiraling costs.

'Here Kitty, Kitty. . .'

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Up until the past six months, I have always known that if there were ever a Hall of Fame established for Great Non-Violent Americans I would have no difficulty being inducted on the first ballot.

It would take more than the combined forces of the CIA, Columbo and Jack Anderson to exhume the skeletons in my closet.

All they could uncover would be the fact that, at age 10, I shoved a classmate into a window when he wouldn't return a comic book (the proudest day of my mother's life) and the instance when I ran over a turtle somewhere in Arkansas back in '61.

Not exactly the type of stuff to discredit a vice-presidental candidate, right?

I ask you, who would be a more worthy hall of famer than the kid who stood fast while a pair of second-grade classmates threw his galoshes down the sewer (not exactly one of my mother's brighter days)?

But, alas, that was the non-violent idealist of yesterday. Before the rooster and duck. Before the cats!

When the man who lives behind me introduced the neighborhood to his pet rooster, I actually enjoyed the rural touch. After all, how many Columbus suburbanites could awaken to the throaty alarm of the farm?

That, of course, was before I discovered that roosters crow at other times than the break of dawn (they never did in the movies). Like 3 a.m., for example.

But the crow of the rooster can't hold a candle to the machine-gun staccato of the rooster's soul-mate – old "quack-quack-quack-etc."

But perhaps more unnerving is the Columbus ordinance which states that chickens, ducks etc. are legal pets when limited in number.

The city fathers who wrote that little dilly obviously never had the opportunity to discover that one wide-awake rooster at 3 a.m. can be equal in the irritant decibels to 17 wide-awake roosters.

Of course, the neighborhood fowl are restricted by fence to the limits of their barnyard.

That's more than I can say for the cats.

The cats (who bothers to count anymore) have taken a particular fancy to the seclusion of the evergreen bushes fronting my house.

I shudder to think of the instances of conception rendered under my bedroom window. Cats, incidently, take on an amazing vocal resemblance to a crying child while getting familiar (I've especially enjoyed the one who does a simply out-standing rendition of "I-want-my-mommy" during the wee hours).

As many other I am sure, I have often wondered about the logic that demands licenses for dogs, leashes for dogs, shots for dogs, confinement for dogs etc. and lets "here, kitty-kitty" run rampant.

And don't give me that baloney about cats being "free spirits", incapable of dog-type restrictions. I've known too many cat owners in my lifetime who dispute that nonsense.

If cats are uncontrollable, let's initiate an "open season" like we do for squirrels and bunnies. Boom!

Councilwoman Fran Ryan has been busy on the "control-the-dogs" kick. I'd like it a lot better, Francine, if you'd broaden your horizons somewhat.

Safety Director Benard Chupka admitted at a public meeting recently that the cat problem in Columbus is bad, but obscured by a dog problem which is worse.

Understand, I've got nothing against roosters, ducks or cats – in their place.

I'm the non-violent one, remember! The grown-up kid who cried 30 minutes a couple of decades ago when he inadvertently ran over a baby bird with a lawnmower.

But I find myself fascinated these days with advertisements in gun magazines...visions of roosters and ducks in the cross-hairs of telescopic sight...entertain diabolical fantasies of calling, "here kitty, kitty" with a saucer of cyanide laced milk behind my back.

"Ah yes, he seemed like such a decent sort," I can hear the neighbors saying. "Why, you'd never think he'd even swat a fly. Who'd have ever dreamed he'd —."

Well–now that I've blown it for the Hall of Fame – I'll shut up.

Whose Garden Is This?

BY RICHARD L. PAUGH (THROUGH YOUR LOCAL TD AGEN.)

100 Billion Throw Aways

One hundred billion throwaway luxury drink containers are sold to consumers each year and the figure is still rising sharply. THAT, in a nut-shell, is what happened to beautiful America.

In every single case where the will of the people prevailed and laws were passed against throwaways or mandatory deposits were voted, the local bottlers, the American Can Company, and the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute have immediately taken the law to various levels of courts.

FIRST, THE city of Bowie, Maryland passed a law against non-returnables. Under great pressures from the tin, glass, and drink people, the law was suspended. Attorneys and public relations men from industry literally swarmed over the 40,000 population town until the beleaguered council gave in. The outcome of the case is still unknown.

In 1971 Oregon's governor signed into law a mandatory container deposit of five cents on almost all beer and soft drinks sold after Oct. 1, 1972. State operated centers were to be established where all containers would be refunded for the five cents. The drink and container people filed suit in Oregon courts arguing the law would penalize both the industry and the consumers.

What they really mean is that the container industry cannot afford to allow that first drink sold in a mandatory-deposit bottle. If that ever happens, it will be the beginning of the end of throwaways.

AT THIS point in the struggle, all eyes are on the Oregon case. Naturally, whichever side loses it sure to appeal it to higher court until the top - the United States Supreme Court - is reached. Then, once and for all, the drink container battle will reach a plateau. The battle will slow until the loser finds another, different approach to his case.

Also in the foreground of this fight is the state of Vermont which recently passed a tax on non-returnables, and Oberlin, Ohio where it is illegal to sell or possess non-returnables.

Local communities and also states have to pay for solid waste disposal. In effect, society subsidizes the cost of industry conveniences.

WHILE IN Mexico recently I noticed that the deposit on a bottle of Coke equalled the price of the ingredients. The bottles were very apparently well traveled. One peso for Coke, one peso for the bottle.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Quit buying drinks in non-returnable containers. If your grocer does not stock your brand in returnables, advise him you'll buy where it IS available.

DEAR CONSUMER

ABC's Of Food

BY VIRGINIA KNAUER

Special Assistant to the President, and Directer, White House Office of Consumer Affairs

How is your food I.Q.?

Are you good at choosing high quality goods at bargain prices? Do you handle food items properly after purchase?

See whether you would classify the following statements as true or false:

1. An eye-of-round beef roast is more tender than a ribeye roast.
2. Smaller eggs are likely to be of better quality than larger ones.
3. Butter should never be frozen.
4. Potatoes are more fattening than most other foods.

IF YOU classified any of these statements as true, then perhaps there is room for improving your knowledge about foods. All four statements are false.

Ribeye roasts and rib roasts are the most tender beef cuts, followed by rump and sirlion-tip roasts. Eye-of-round, being much less tender, is near the bottom of the scale.

The quality of an egg is not related to its size - large eggs may be of high or low quality, and high quality eggs may be either large or small.

BUTTER, IF not intended for use within two or three days, may be frozen in order to preserve its quality for two months.

And potatoes are no more fattening than other foods. They get their bad reputation by associating with various high-calories gravies and sauces and, of course, the grease of french fries.

If you'd like to bone up on your food facts, perhaps you can benefit from the how-to-but series of pamphlets issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and available from Consumer Product Information.

FOR EXAMPLE, you can get a copy of the 16-page pamphlet How to Buy Beef Steaks by sending 10c to Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C. 20407 and including the stock number, 0100-8007.

We're Healthy

Columbus and Franklin County have something to crow about.

Each of the seven other counties in which Ohio's major cities are located show a marked decrease in employment from May of 1971 to May of 1972–the most recent figures available.

According to the report released by the Ohio State University Center for Business and Economic Research the capital city bucked the trend and can boast a three percent May-to-May increase.

Declines in the other counties range from one per cent in Lucas (Toledo) to five per cent in Stark (Canton.)

Furthermore, the statistics reveal May was not merely a fluke month for Franklin County.

In tallying employment figures for the first five months of the year, again Columbus showed the only increase–one to three percent, while other county decreases were as high as eight percent (Dayton-Mahoning).

The Columbus area record is especially heartening when it is realized that construction employment locally was off a whopping 26 per cent–the greatest drop in the state.

'IN' fashion

with Tess Stern

IT'S GETTING harder to pin down sportswear as a category, when much of evening wear, lingerie and high fashion have the same casual look...however for fall, the designers have come up with endless variations of the classic theme...combining patterns and colors as never before...the monotone look with all separates in the same color, different patterns and textures, and by turning on the traditionals with bright bold colors.

"SPORTSWEAR like all of fashion is growing up," says Kasper whose new division J.L. Sport, Ltd. is raising sportwear to a soft new realm of elegance...pale and plush fabrics, angora, mohair soft wool, and supple suede, in a variety of trousers, vests and jacket shapings...matched with gingham, paisley shirts and soft sweaters. Colors range from crystalline pale shades to subtle neutrals, monotone combinations and marvelous mixtures of plaid.

STAN HERMAN, whose Lifestyle 70's collection was designed with ecology in mind, has delved into new materials that can function as replacements for the endangered species of the world. Have you ever seen a plaid lamb walking or a panda with pants? Silhouettes are the tent (short as you can wear it)...the unbuttoned chemise...the flabby arm silhouette (better known as the dolman)...the ski jacket...the dog walker, a covered look from head to toe.

SOMETHING! is Oscar de la Renta's new sportswear collection specifically designed for the notable, world-circling women who wear his couture clothes. Each separate part means something, building up into a purpose or look...the short coat in several lengths and fullness, superlatively cut pants, day skirts, sweater pairs. The evening costumes follow the lines of the day clothes in opulent fabrics...sequin shirts and cardigans, velvet skirts and pants, long metallic sweater tubes with matching cardigans.

LAST BUT not least, Davidow has hopped on the sportswear bandwagon with a most imaginative collection....John MacDougall Ltd. designed by Marshall Klugman includes battle jackets and toppers in tweed or plaid to match up with pants or skirts and a group of sweaters, shirts and vests. Black serge dinner jackets and black satin separates are for a dressier mood. The costume I simply drooled over is the English flannel short cropped jacket with matching man-tailored cuffed pants...a touch of opulence...genuine badger fur sleeves!

MRS. DAVID LEWIS EDWARDS

Miss Marshall Edwards Wed

Miss Tammy Lee Marshall and Mr. David Lewis Edwards were married at Whitehall Nazarene Church on Saturday, Aug. 5.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn McFarland of 4101 Doney St. and Mr. James Marshall.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Edwards are both graduates of Trevecca Nazarene College in Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Edwards hopes to teach in the Muscogee County School System. Her husband is part ownernof Edwards Landscaping and Nursery, Inc., in Columbus, Ga.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. Donald Carrico and the Rev. Harold Smith. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Roger Nelson Wicks.

She wore a long lace covered gown with long puffed sleeves which were scalloped at the wrist.

The gown was fitted at the waist with a flowing white ribbon. The dress was tiered in layers of lace from the waist to the floor. A lace mantilla matching the dress was also worn.

She carried a cascade of carnations tipped in pink with deep pink roses intermingled with the Baby's Breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Ruthe Jackson and her attendants were Miss Pamela Gerard of Clearwater, Fla., Mrs. Sue Ann Dixon, Columbus, Ga. Miss Beverly Parson, Columbks, Ohio, and Miss Brenda Wicks of Landcaster. The flower girl was Miss Karen Sue Dixon.

Her attendants wore a full and long, hot pink gown with ruffles around the hemline, neckline, and wrist. The gowns had empire waist with full sleeves and they wore pastel pink hats.

Mr. L.E. Edwards served as best man and the ushers were Mr. Donald Lockhart of Charleston, W.V., Mr. Jordon Conger, Nashville, Tenn., Mr. Dalew Killingsworth, Decatur, Ga., and Mr. David Dodge, Nashville. Ring bearer was Robbie Black.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

Marriage Vows Taken In Double Ring Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony at Eastview United Methodist Church, Miss Linda Karen Ludwig and Ronald M. Riker were united in marriage on June 24.

The Rev. David W. Skeen officiated at the ceremony, before an altar lighted by two seven-branch candelabra and decorated with vases of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, fern and palms. A reception followed at Desert Inn.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Ludwig of 988 Westphal Ave., and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Ludwig; Mrs. Claude M. Campbell and the late Dr. Campbell. The groom is the son of Mrs. William M. Riker of West Palm Beach, Florida and the late Mr. Riker.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white nylon chantilly lace fashioned with an expire waist, banded with satin ribbon, high neck, full sheer bishop sleeves ending in a ruffle, A-line skirt with scalloped hemline and a full attached flowing chapel train. A crown of simulated pearl loops and pendant crystals held her bouffant veil of illusion. The bride's only jewelry was an heirloom diamond lavaliere belonging to the groom's family. She carried a cascade of yellow roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Lloyd Perine served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Frankie Riker, sister of the groom; Miss Pamela Mathews cousin of the bride; Miss Vickie Robbins and Miss Debbie Nemec. Flower girl was Debra Ludwig, niece of the bride. Mrs. Stan Bradham served as hostess.

The attendants wore formal length gowns of flocked voile, designed with slight empire waist, rounded neckline with ruffle-edged bertha collar, large leg-o-mutton sleeves and A-line skirts. The matron of honor and flower girl wore yellow flocked gowns; the bridesmaids' gowns were flocked with blue flowers. Their picture hats were banded with ribbon to complement their gowns and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and carnations.

Mr. Lloyd Perine served as best man and ushers included Mr. Michael Ludwig, brother of the bride; Mr. Morris Scott, Mr. Stan Bradham and Mr. Ralph Williss. The ringbearers were Matthew and Mitchel Ludwig, the 3-year old twin nephews of the bride.

Following a honeymoon trip to New Orleans and Tampa, Florida, the newlyweds are residing at 170 Maplewood Ave. Both are graduates of Whitehall-Yearling High School. The groom attended Franklin University and is an instructor at the Management Development Center of The Standard Oil Co. and the bride is employed in the accounting department of Commercial Motor Freight, Inc.

KINGSCOURT MEDICAL CENTER

MR. AND MRS. Sidney Gafkin and son Mike, owners of the Columbus Sewing Center for the past eight years, welcome sewing-conscious women to their facility at 5588 N. High St.

New Knits Demand Special Skills

Sewing a knit garment at home can be a delight or a disaster. It's easy to turn out a no-crease, no-iron and no-care wonder garment. But it's just as simple to sew something that soon begins to sag out of shape.

The solution to the latter problem, according to Mrs. Judy Robinson of the Columbus Sewing Center at 5588 N. High St., is to learn how to select knit fabric and sew it.

DOUBLE KNITS, she says, will give or stretch in two dimensions – along the length and width of the fabric. But different types of knits "give" more in one direction.

Horizontal knits should be sewn into suits, skirts and dresses while vertical knits are best used for pants (especially ski pants) where stretch is demanded in the length of the garment.

"When you stretch a double knit, it should give in both directions but more in one (direction) than the others," Mrs. Robinson says, "and it should snap right back into shape."

"THESE FABRICS do not need to be lined. A single knit will give in one direction only and will begin to 'bag' after a few wearings."

Some double knits stretch almost equally in both directions. These are usually made of a spandex-type of material and used for bathing suits. They should be treated for use in chlorinated water.

Mrs. Robinson, a home economics graduate of OSU, teaches women how to sew on double knits – the only type stocked at the Sewing Center. The store also sells stretch fabric made for swim suits.

ONE OF the biggest mistakes in sewing on double knits is cutting the fabric too large and not allowing for the resilience in both directions, according to Mrs. Robinson.

"Customers also buy excess yardage of the 72-inch wide fabric," she says. "They think they have to buy half again the amount of material they need."

Mrs. Robinson helps Sewing Center customers adjust yardage listed on patterns to the width of knit fabric.

SHE IS currently teaching five classes, each with a maximum of five students. The lessons include making sweaters from knitted material, sewing skirts, slacks and bathing suits. The final lesson is scheduled for questions and individual help.

The Columbus Sewing Center carries a complete line of Viking sewing machines. Viking has developed a sewing machine you never need oil.

That's a consideration since an oil spot on a nice piece of fabric may more or less ruin it. And, if the spot is on a garment you have spent a great deal of time making, all the pleasure of sewing can be destroyed.

THE NEW Viking 6000 will sew any type of fabric and with professional-looking results, thanks to Trimotion – the three-way sewing action of the needle and feed mechanism. Trimotion produces super-strong, super-elastic seams, essential for modern knit and stretch fabrics.

Whether it be testing the new Viking sewing machines, having special sewing problems solved or just browsing throught the complete line of sewing accessories, you'll find the people at Columbus Sewing Center ready to serve you.

Our intermediate boys softball team was once again victorious, both in league play and out of league practice. Junior boys lost to Fairmoor while the junior girls also lost to Scottwood.

We are now busy in arts and crafts preparing for the Lantern Parade at Far East Recreation Center. Arts and crafts begin at 1 p.m. daily.

COURTRIGHT

Scottwood playground has invited the teens of Courtright to a teen party on Thursday from 6 to 8:30 p.m. There will be games, music and food. Anyone 11 or older that is interested should contact the leaders at Courtright for additional information.

Also to end the playground season Courtright is having a pizza party on Aug. 22. Those interested in coming should bring 50 cents or 10-five cent pop bottles.

FAR EAST

THE RUSH SCHEDULE OF OUR pageant caused us to postpone the Swap Shop. It will be held on Friday Aug. 11 at 7 p.m.

Our fishing contest is still continuing. Leaders so far are Bob Miller and Bob Missell. The fish must be caught in Big Walnut Creek and measured by the Recreation Leaders.

Crafts this week will be centered on weaving projects. Classes are at 1:30 every day.

FAIRMOOR PLAYGROUND

ACTIVITIES this week have included physical fitness tests and pageant rehearsals. The children are preparing colorful hula girl, sailor fishermen, octopus, sunbather, mermaid and seaweed costumes.

The girls intermediate team won 18-17 in an overtime Wednesday night against Barnett.

JAMES ROAD

THIS WEEK'S girls softball game was won by Pinecrest with the score 11-4. Our last softball game will be with Barnett.

Intermediate boys rallied for an 11 run-inning, led by the hitting of Hugh Murray, Steve Isenbarger, and Drew Tyack, to defeat Pinecrest 19-8. The senior boys may be heading for the city tournament after beating Courtright.

LEAWOOD

LEAWOOD WISHES TO INVITE THE parents of Leawood area to attend our annual drama pageant at the Ohio Theatre on Aug. 14 at 7:15 p.m. We will be performing a short skit called "Motorcycle Mama."

We also extend our thanks to the boys who participated in the softball leagues this summer.

Drama practice will be everyday at 7 p.m. for all those involved. Everyone should bring their food. We will have a grill to cook hotdogs and hamburgers on for those who attend.

MAYBURY

SOFTBALL SEEMS TO BE the word at Maybury. Everyone is enjoying it--but in addition several of our teams are continuously winning. These include the girls intermediate and junior 1 and boys intermediate, junior 1 and Pee Wees.

If by chance you saw an exhausted band of people riding bicycles Friday on Livingston Avenue it was some of Maybury's bike enthusiastis peddling to Blacklick Park.

Title for our pageant production is "Tijuana Taxi."

OAKMONT

PLAYGROUND PROUDLY boast two teams which have won their league championships. These teams, junior boys and girls will play in the sectional tournament this week. Both are undefeated.

Aug. 14, Oakmont will participate in the East side pageant at Ohio Theatre. The theme of the pageant is "all Aboard for Fun." We are presenting a pantomine entitled "The Great Train Trip" which depicts a train trip in which the train is passed by a stage coach. Those who are acting in this pantomine are Trina, Kurt and Rusty Platt, Beverly McDougal, Bob Hager and Tony and Scott Mangini.

Twenty - seven youngsters from the Oakmont Playground qualified to be certified physically fit after taking the A.A.U. Physical fitness test.

OLDE ORCHARD

OLDE ORCHARD'S JUNIOR GIRLS went down in defeat last week to Oakmont. Olde Orchard's junior girls now have a record of tw o wins and three losses.

Presently we are working on our annual pageant presentation planned for Aug. 14. Those taking part are Mary Burge, Joanie Burge, Barb Carroll, Mary Carroll, Pam Godfrey, Linda Rubenstein and Jill Rubenstein.

Future events are the traveling zoo today from 1 to 2 p.m. and the Lanteran Parade Aug. 21.

PINECREST

Junior boys finished the regular season with a 4-0 record by beating Fairmoor 7-4.

SCOTTWOOD

SOME OF THE CHILDREN AT Scottwood have organized a carnival in their back yard for Muscular Dystrophy. Those in the project are Carol Kosciuk, Beth Nuzum,. Debbie Collins, Cherry Ault and Sharon Crane.

SHADY LANE

SHADY LANE IS GETTING READY for their yearly pageant with the theme of up and away and dreaming. Interested persons may see it at the Ohio Theatre on Aug. 14.

In softball boys intermediate and junior as well as junior girls went down in defeat.

WILLIS PARK

IN GIRLS SOFTBALL action at Willis Park last week, Paula Swider, Cindy Glenn and Bobbi Little led the seniors while Fran Goldstein, Kim DeGroft and Sheri Nungester were standouts for the juniors.

The senior boys took first place in the league with a victory over Woodcrest. The team was led by Jim Nungester, Harold Mutter, and Chris Cophart with able coaching from Chuck Peselnick. Standouts for the intermediates were Max Monroe, Phil Dye and Anthony Marchese.

WOODCREST

LAST WEEK WAS a good week for the intermediate boys team at Woodcrest. They beat Oakmont 14-11 and then beat Shady Lane 7-3.

The Pee Wee boys team won by forfeit to Maybury. The junior girls and boys also lost to Maybury.

Congratulations go to Mark Kleingler. He placed 3rd in the nine to 11 year olds in the triple jump in the Junior Olympics.

Playground Notes

BEXLEY CASSINGHAM

Over 75 two-square champs invaded Cassingham playground to match skill in a tournament on Friday, July 28. There were three age brackets and winners in each were as follows: seven & under girls - Judi Szymczak; seven & under boys - Timmy Gibboney; ages eight to 11 - Linda Beck, first and Ed Rice, second; ages 12 & over - Lyndie Borror, first and Tim Beck, second. Many parents came to watch and stayed to share in a watermelon feast after the tournament.

Monday, July 1st over 40 Kassingham Kids teamed up to collect newspapers in the area, tripling the amount we already had collected toward the paper drive which ends this Friday, August 11th.

Tuesday evening, August 1st the Kassingham Kuties stormed the diamond at Maryland playground to leave victorious with a 10-9 decision over the Maryland girl softball team. The Kuties went into the final inning with a three run defecit, but the excellent batting strength of the team gave them the win. Winning pitcher for Cassingham was Linda Williams.

Friday, August 4th all the Kids displayed their talents at the Talent Show. Some of the special features were a surprise act by Kim Neuman and Linda Williams and skits by Tammy Clowson, Linda Beck and Lisa Williams.

Wednesday, August 9th Cassingham playground will hold a Masquerade Party and Carnival. Judges will be on hand to select the outstanding costumes. Games will include a cup-cake walk, apple bob and penny pitch among others and prizes will be awarded.

This Friday night, the 11th will be family night at Cassingham. Special games have been scheduled: Fathers and sons will play a football game, mothers and daughters will meet for a softball game. Festivities will begin at 7 p.m.

All week long we have fun, games, special activities at Cassingham. Don't miss out - join us!

MARYLAND

Our playground had a busy week of tournaments. A two-square tourney was held, and after the dust cleared Cheryl Froisy won the girls competition and a sundae from Baskin-Robbins. Leader Jeff won the boys competition - sorry, guys! The Maryland gang are reminded to sign up now for the annual Swim Meet at the Bexley Pool on August 16th. Deadline for sign-ups is next Monday, the 14th, at 9 p.m. Events are scheduled for pre-schoolers through 18 years olds.

All Maryland area kids are urged to come over and help us with the Newspaper Drive that ends this Friday. Maryland took first place honors in this ecology-related event last summer -- LET'S MAKE IT TWO IN A ROW! Special thanks goes to Ms. Simon for bringing in telephone books and newspapers, how about the rest of you Maryland neighbors? Anyone who has newspapers may bring them to the playground during hours of operation - 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. the rest of this week.

MONTROSE

Today a number of Montrose kids went to the Teen Horseback Ride at Far East Riding Club. Special fun features included a swim in the pool and a cookout lunch. Those that went really enjoyed it, but have sore led muscles now!

Tonight, Wednesday, we are having a Three Stooges comedy as our playground movie at 9 p.m. Bring your lawn chairs, a snack, and enjoy the fun!

Monday the 7th the leaders and kids went to Putt-Putt Golf for a morning of matching skills with a putte and ball.

Tomorrow night at 7 p.m. will be family fun night as we have a wiener roast and games for the entire family. Friday we are planning a teen dance from 7 to 9 p.m. on the playground.

Don't forget to register for the Swim Meet to be held next Wednesday morning at the Bexley Pool. Registration ends at 9 p.m. next Monday. Let's go Montrose!

Lutherans Out Front In Old Timers' Race

Cola. Copy Products and Klamfoth Honda both picked up easy wins last week to stay in a tie for the Bexley Under-Thirty League top spot; but the Old Timers' lead found itself in the sole possession of Christ Lutheran Church.

In Under-Thirty action, Klamfoth destroyed Brad Salt 31-3 with Mike Foote's pair of roundtrippers (and 5-for-5 plate performance) settting the pace. Teammates John Moriarity, Pat Leach, Kevin Griffin and John Wholesteing collected four safeties apiece.

COPY PRODUCTS kept pace by blistering the Conglormerates 20-1. Ted Fickenger led the way with four hits; John Brennan, Tom Hall and Carl Gruenlar added three each while Tom Theibert got three for the losers.

The other contest saw Cohagan Maddogs get by Love Studio 13-9 behind the hitting of Bill and Jeff McClelland. Tim Greiner hd three hits for Love.

IN OLD TIMERS' action, Christ Lutheran downed Susil Construction. 11-3 to up its record to 3-0. Meanwhile, Central O. Welding was knocking Brad Salt out of the unbeaten ranks by a 5-2 count–and that left the Lutherans all alone on top of the second round standings.

Bill Conley was the Lutheran offensive leader with four safeties; while Dave Little's three hits paced the Welders.

Jeff Pearson and Sig Munster collected four hits each as the Pussycats dumped Dollar Federal 14-9. Jim Ferguson and John Loenhert had three apiece in the losing cause.

Ehrman Keys Bexley Win

Doug Ehrman, shortstop on Bexley's Tri-County Pony League entry, generated his own game-winning rally last week as the locals took an 11-9 verdict over South Optimist.

Ehrman ignited a Bexley surge in the bottom of the sixth inning with a solo blast over the centerfield fence–then came up again in the same frame after his mates had batted around to plaster a three-run shot (also out of the park) for the margin of victory.

E-M Pony Grad Nine Rolls To League Title

Made up of Eastmoor sophs and juniors-to-be, the Eastmoor-Berwick Kiwanis Pony Grad baseball team gave Warrior diamond rooters even more to look forward to next year; posting a 15-1 league slate to capture the Don Jones Memorial loop pennant.

Coached by Steve Georgeff and Sandy Schwartz, a pair of former E-M baseball standouts now at OSU, the Easterners rolled to a 19-4 overall record that included a 10-8 win over National Pony Grad runnerup Brookshire.

THIRD SACKER Craig Passen, a regular on Ron Golden's Warrior varsity last Spring, paced the hitters with a hefty .512 average. The sparky infielder had 24 hits to lead the team, scored 22 times and drove home 15 more tallies.

Strong-armed catcher Mark Williams not only hit .392 with 18 RBI's–he also posted a 3-1 mound record and rifled the third strike past 27 enemy hitters in 25 innings.

Lefty Brian Stertzer kept up his batting form from varsity action, hitting .327 with six extra-base hits and a team-leading 20 RBI's. He also raised some eyebrows on the mound–posting a 3-0 record with 23 strikeouts in just 19 innings and a 2.17 ERA.

OTHER OFFENSIVE stars included Tim Kauffman (.340 average, 30 walks and 20 stolen bases); Jim Fryer (.354 with 8 doubles and 15 RBI's) and sop-to-be Scott Stewart (.303 with 16 steals and 16 RBI's).

Dave Reynolds did just about everything.

He took the mound eight times and would up 8-0, with six complete games, 50 strikeouts and a 2.24 earned run average. Just for good measure he led the club in stolen bases (21), runs scored (29) and starred defensively when he wasn't pitching.

It would appear that Mr. Golden faces a serious problem come next March–like how to get all his talent on one lineup card.

E. Kiwanis Wins Bexley LL Crown

First round champ Eastern Kiwanis came up with two runs in their half of the seventh inning Monday, then held off a game rally by Drexel Theatre in the bottom of that frame to win the '72 Bexley Little League championship 7-6.

The loss snapped a 13-game Drexel win streak that stretched all the way back to the second week of the season. After losing to Kiwanis on opening day, Drexel had taken care of all comers (including Kiwanis in their second-round meeting) before falling short in Monday's title tilt.

JIM DAMRON was the hero for Kiwanis, pitching a regulation six innings of four-hit baseball and smacking a home run and a triple in four at-bats before Eddie Benedetti came in to finish up on the hill.

Benedetti collected a single and a double to help the Kiwanis run total, and Scott Edwards went three-for-four in the winning cause (a single, a double and a triple).

Spectator Sports

Jay Holzworth played a great defensive game at shortstop for Drexel and collected two hits in four trips, as did teammate Steve Gust.

BOTH TEAMS wound up the season with 13-2 overall records.

In last week's final regular-season contests, Drexel copped the second round title with wins over Divine Realtors (7-6) and Hanna Paint (21-12) while Kiwanis closed with big victories over R.C. Cola (36-2) and Divine (19-5).

In other final-week games, A.O. Wing beat Bexley Lions 14-5 as Jed Donahue and Mike Schiff led the hitting with two extra base hits and four RBI's each. The Wing team lost its final game to R.C. Cola, giving up 14 runs in the first inning before rallying behind some great catches by Seth Borenstein and Steve Snyder.

The 14 run lead proved to be too much, and the Columen went on to take an 18-10 decision with Doug Hill relieving Ron Flowers in the last inning to slam the door.

Bexley Lions came from behind to beat Dollar Federal 13-10. The Lions trailed by as many as ten runs, but the hot home run bat of Jim Acton (3 for 3 - all homers) proved to be more than Dollar Federal could handle.

Mr. Lucky Tops Merchants For '72 W-H Softball Crown

Mr. Lucky, unbeaten champ of the Whitehall National League and conqueror of '71 City king Un Kappa Keg in last week's semifinals, made it a perfect year by smacking previously undefeated Whitehall Merchants 9-5 and 21-3 Sunday to reign as their year's Whitehall Men's Softball kings.

The back-to-back defeats were doubly bitter for the Merchants, who for the second straight year roared to the Friday night North American loop crown untouched–only to drop two straight in the title series.

THE BROTHER ACT of John and Ernest West keyed Mr. Lucky's 9-5 first game triumph. John belted two doubles and a single and Ernest had a pair of two-baggers in three trips. John Craig went four-for-five with two doubles.

Then, with the Merchants in hot water, the Lucky hitters took advantage of some spotty fielding for a nine-run outburst in the second inning of the next contest–and waltzed to a 21-3 title clincher.

Clifford Martin was the Lucky hitting star with a perfect five-for-five day, while mates Garvin Harriston and Charles Ellis went four-for-five, Ellis banging out three doubles.

TERRY TAYLOR'S second-game homer was just about the only bright spot on a disappointing day for the Merchants. They ran up a 10-0 slate last summer in regular season play, then lost two straight to Un Kappa Keg in the playoffs.

Mr. Luck finished with a 14-0 season slate.

Salt Fork Lake Hosts Canoe, Kayak Races

Salt Fork Lake, part of Ohio's newest State Park complex, will host the national flatwater canoe and kayak races this weekend–to be followed August 19-20 by the North American championships over the same course.

The races will be contested on a combination 1,000 and 500 meter course laid out over the lake's 3,000 acre surface.

THE NORTH American event will feature many of the top racers from the U.S. and Canada who'll be competing at the Munich Olympics later this month.

A field of 150-200 top American racers is expected for this weekend's national championships–which begin Friday and continue until champs are crowned Sunday afternoon.

Salt Fork State Park is located near Cambridge, O., close to the interchange between I-70 and I-77.

ADMISSION FOR both the American and North American championships is free to the public.

Engagement and wedding announcements are printed in The Spectator Newspaper free of charge.

"Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.
The Audi 100LS The Porsche 911 The Porsche 914
The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi
It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty-one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)
The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911.
A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.
And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.
We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.
We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.
And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look.
The way they work.

DINNER THEATRE

"Last Of The Red Hot Lovers," the current offering at the Columbus - Springfield Dinner Theatre, revolves around a 47-year-old married man who is not such a hot cookie after all.

The lover is Barney Cashman, a seafood restaurant owner and a husband. He decides on a fling, but is quite timid and out-and-out scared of being caught. Rather than check into a motel, he bring his gals to his mother's apartment.

The first meeting takes place on an afternoon in December. He is ready to leave before his friend arrives. Elaine Navazio is a gal he met in his restaurant. She is there for one reason, and makes no bones about it.

Barney wants to engage in a long conversation with Elaine, he puts it, "to get to know each other better". Since they only have a few hours before this mother arrives, she doesn't appreciate all the conversation. Elaine is a scotch and cigarette type and doesn't appreciate his half-ounce shots and the fact there are no cigarettes in the apartment. Since Barney doesn't drink or, he is rather appalled by all of this.

His first "affair" ends-up in disaster. The girl walks out in disgust.

I think one can imagine the funny dialogue this situation creates. It's good for many laughs. The second act takes place several months later, when good old Barney decides to try it again. This time he brings a girl he met in Central Park to this mother's place. This one is a talkative, ding-bat individual. In fact, she is way-out.

Bobbi imagines that she is always being followed and tells Barney that someone followed her to the apartment. This news is enough to give him cardiac arrest. Afraid that the neighbors will hear as well as see, he wants her to talk softly. The real clincher is when Bobbi Michele (portrayed by Patricia Allen) lights up some grass. Barney gets so upset that he takes a few puffs—and ends up in orbit. This bit is the most hilarious in the entire play. Needless to say, he strikes out again.

In the third act, it is again several months later and Barney tries once more. This time he is loaded for bear, plenty of booze and cigarettes. But, the problem is that Jeanette Fisher is a frustrated old gal, who also happens to be the wife his best friend. She is more scared and worried than Barney. He can't even get her to put down her pocketbook, until Barney becomes brazen (for him) and tears it from her grasp. By the time both of them psychoanalyze each other, they're out of the mood.

Doris Margulis (as Jeanette) does the best job of all three girls. She's very convincing and turns is a fine job. Irene Lasdin as Elaine makes this role perk.

While the show tends to drag in places, (which I'm sure will be remedied by this week) it is really a laugh-filled play. The man who adds most of the laughter is Chris Barrett, an excellent actor. He plays Barney to the hilt.

CUBBYHOLE COOKING

By MYRNA MCCAULEY

One of the nice things about writing a column is the number of pen pals you acquire along the way. And today I'd like to share some of their letters and bright ideas with you.

Dear Myrna:
What's a young lady to do about the high cost of entertaining these days? Be cagey – put your hard-earned dollars where they bring the best return. For instance, have a cocktail bash before a charity dinner or arts ball. The advantages are numerous: the munchies can be kind of sparse and there's a definite cut-off time for the liquor. You're on the side of do-good to start – and everybody's all dressed up and already in a festive mood. And methinks in my coniving way, what a perfect opportunity to view the available manpower.

Phyllis Ince
Chevy Chase

Dear Myrna:
How's this for something new in cocktail hors d'oeuvres-Antipasto A Jus served in bowls and eaten with forks? You can start making it several days in advance, if you want. Add or subtract as the cupboard or the budget dictates. The secret ingredients follow (the proportions are deliberately loose):

ANTIPASTO A JUS

Italian dressing, one or two cups
Marinated artichoke hearts and juice
Sweet green peppers (mild), one jar
Carrots, cut in bite-sized pieces and cooked a few minutes until tender but crisp
Cauliflowerettes, cooked the same as carrots
Celery, cut into bite-sized pieces
Mushrooms, pickled or small fresh button kind, juice
Black pitted olives (small)
Garbanzo beans, drained, one can
Pimiento, cut into bite-sized pieces
Anchovies (flat), mashed, and oil
Tuna (white albacore), drained
Fresh garlic, mashed, one or two cloves
Fresh ground pepper

Boil up the oils and pickle juices drained from ingredients, add them to the Italian dressing. Pour over all ingredients-except the tuna. Add pepper. Mix well and marinate in refrigerator at least 24 hours. Just before serving, add one or two cans of tuna, separated into bite-sized chunks.

Serve with party rye or melba toast. Set out saucers, bowls and forks and let guests spoon out tehir own antipasto. Should serve a dozen or more (depending on how you load it).

Angie Clement,
St. Paul

Dear Myrna:
I don't know about other apartment dwellers, but I feel there's a certain civility about a separate dining room. And without one–a make-shift dining room is better than none at all. So for the past year or so, I've been using my bedroom as a dining room when I entertain.

Beforehand I shove the bedroom-type furniture away from the window wall and block it off with three-sectioned screen. This area serves for coats and "primping" section. Then at the window view I set up a card table, on top of which I place a folding "round" to accommodate a greater seating capacity. For buffet service, I clear off a large low bedroom cabinet.

I came to this plan because I feel people like the ceremony of going to another room to eat. They don't particularly enjoy seeing the hostess at work, which is the drawback of serving in the living room or dinette. Also, it's nice to get away from the mess when the dinner is over.

DR Daffy,
Chicago

Dear Myrna:
Pass this on to the cholesterol-conscious cook who easts alone and broils one lone lamp chop or itty-bitty steak. Use a bakery pie tin or round cake pan with a wire cooling rack to fit. Add a little water (about ¼ cup) to the pan. The fat drops into the heated water and doesn't splatter in the oven. Better yet, the meat sheds a lot of that naughty-naughty cholesterol!

Kay Vernor,
Milwaukee

Around Town . . .

(Con't from previous pg.)

Dinner Theatre but it still makes for an entertaining, fun-filled evening. Add a delicious meal, and you will not go wrong with night with the "Last of the Red Hot Lovers."

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

This past Monday morning I was honored to have breakfast with a very beautiful girl, Lenore Stevens. Lenore is a personable movie star and a former Miss Nevado in the Miss World contest.

Her current flick "Bonnie's Kids" sounds like a real wild one. It is about two girls, raised by their father, who try to attack the oldest girl who in turns, kills him. This all happens in the first couple of minutes of the movie. From then on, just one thing after the other happens. Lenore is a five foot four inches bundle that did not rise to stardom, she rocketed–from a little gal in Las Begas, N.M. to the Sands in the other Las Vegas to Hollywood in short order ....

Had dinner at the Club House restaurant the other evening. This is a gorgeous place and has very fine service and food that is fit for a king with a price fit for everyone. I can't give you the entire story the week on the Club House Restaurant, because of tight space. This will be in next week. In the meantime, run down to the Club House (on U.S. 23) you will be happy that you did ... For a laugh-a-minute good time, Glenn and Bill are a must for you. You can catch the two fellows Tuesday through Sunday at the Olentangy Inn. You will not find a better, funnier, more talented duo anywhere in the county. That's Glenn and Bill and the Olentangy Inn. Speaking of good things, don't forget about Kuenning's Restaurant. This is a place that has been in business for many years. You know you will receive the finest, most a tasty meals in town at Kuennings. This is one of my favorite dining spots. And, you don't need a Brinks express following you here. The prime rib is out of this world ... If you want the best in keyboard stylings, then Geoff Tyus, at the Marriott Inn, should be on your schedule. This guy is a whiz with the black and whites. He is truly an artist, in every sense of the word. His musical moods have as much color as many paintings. Geoff is backed by two fine rhythm men. You end up with an evening of excellent music... The Keith-Charles Duo opened this past Monday night for the One thousand time at Lincoln Lodge. They keep being brought back again and again because people just keep asking for them. Keith is a fine singer and a darn good drummer as well. His partner Charles is one of the finest organists around these parts. Together, they make a nice relaxing and entertaining duo. When they throw in some comedy, the act isnt so relaxing. It now becomes an exciting, fun-filled twosome. But, if you want to listen to two good musicians, with one of them being an exceptional vocalist, then head for Lincoln Lodge. You'll have fun, that's for sure.

'Snuggles, Nosey' Win

Receives Top Honor

..BRIAN DAILEY (right), co-owner of the Columbus Partime office, is presented the "Office Of The Year" awarded by Howard W. Scott, Jr., president of Partime, Inc., international temporary help service, during a conference of the company's National Advisory Board in San Francisco. Dailey's office, which was one of the first franchises in the system, recorded the greatest increase in production during the year in competition with the 55 Partime offices throughout the U.S. and Canada. The Columbus office also won this award in 1969.

'Using ESP' Is Lecture Subject

Worthington resident and Inner Peace Movement member Mrs. Nancy Wellman will lecture on "Using Your ESP" Monday (8 p.m.) at the YMCA (Room A) 40 W. Long St.

Cost of the lecture will be $1.50 (75 cents for students under 21).

ACT II

By BETTY DRAGONETTE

Summer is fast coming to a close. Swim team finals are being held, summer school is over, the corn is as high as an elephant's eye and all over the city people are taking their sun tans indoors for tryouts.

Little Theatre Off Broadway cast "On a Clear Day" and I hear Linda Browning captured a leading role. Players Club is in the process of casting the George and Ira Gershwin '1926 musical, OH KAY, which will be the season opener Sept. 22. This will be their first trip back to the world of nostalgia for their fiftieth anniversary. But more about that later.

Welsh Hills Players first production will be "110 in the Shade," a fast paced musical adaptation of "The Rainmaker." I am always amazed that they can take a drama and turn it into a musical comedy with a touch of chorus here and dancing there. Jeff Risner will direct with open casting Aug. 20 and 21.

The last three productions at Weathervane Theatre, that's Bob Stegmiller's summer theater, are "Streetcar Named Desire" Aug. 9 to 13, "Arsenic and Old Lace" Aug. 16 to 20 and "Sound of Music" Aug. 23 to Sept. 3. That sounds like the old magic formula - you take one drama, add a little comedy and then top it off with a musical. Hey, if it works for your theatre, don't knock it!

I was just handed, on the back of a Gallery Players News Letter, the list of their shows for the coming season at the Jewish Center. It sounds, with the exception of the opener, pretty ambitious. In order of appearance (I am told) they are "Enter Laughing," an original musical by Jimmy Rawlins, "The Price," and "Dark of the Moon." No more space now, so I will have all the news on the up-coming Ohio Community Theatre Association Conference in Cleveland in next week's column.

Franklin fits your way of learning.

Franklin University is a college with a difference — where our schedules can be adapted to fit yours, not yours to fit ours.

Even if you work and you're interested in continuing your education, chances are good you can arrange a full schedule at Franklin University. Our curricula include Accounting, Business Administration, Industrial Management, Engineering Technology, Engineering and Construction Drawing and Electronics.

We offer two- and four-year degrees in day and evening course programs. All courses combine practical experience with academic theory. Transfer students are welcome, of course.

Since 1902, we've been trying harder to help our students—old enough for tradition, young enough for change. Maybe that's why we're the second largest educational institution in Central Ohio.

CUT WINTER HEATING BILLS NOW

The Gas Company has a plan that makes it easy. It's a 12-month Budget Payment Plan that lets you avoid peak heating bills in the cold months by spreading the cost of your winter heating over the entire year. Here's how the plan works. You simply slice up your yearly heating bill into twelve small equal parts. And with Gas, that's slicing it pretty thin! The amount you would pay each month will be shown on your next gas bill.

Ask about our Budget Payment Plan at your local gas company office.

Tuscarawas Tour Shows Life Styles

(One of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by The Columbus Auto Club Travel Department)

REVOLUTIONARY early Ohio life styles, a master woodcarver's museum and an outdoor drama highlight this week's AAA tour of Tuscarawas County in eastern Ohio.

Zoar Village – State Memorial marks the center of what was for 81 years Zoar Community where citizens worked and shared alike under their leader, Joseph Baumler, from 1817 until 1898.

Points of interest include restorations of Baumler's palatial home, the community's Number One House, a bakery, tin shop, garden house and Bimeler Museum containing historical material of the period.

THE community garden, geometrically patterened to symbolize the New Jerusalem, is maintained in almost original form.

Warther Museum at nearby Dover is the unique workshop and museum of master woodcarver Ernest Warther. Working models of locomotives and the Dover steel mill where Warther once labored are of special interest.

Schoenbrunn Village State Memorial at New Philadelphia marks the site of the first Ohio village, founded in 1772. Moravian missionaries built 60 cabins and the first church and schoolhouse west of the Alleghenies. The village was abandoned in 1777 due to hostilities between Revolutionary War armies.

Restorations include the schoolhouse, church and 13 cabins.

NEARBY is the Trumpet in the Land amphitheater, home for the historical drama which tells the story of Schoenbrunn. The amphitheater seats 1,650 and was built with state funds. Performances are held Tuesday thru Sunday from June 29 - September 3.

Atwood Lake Lodge and vacation cabins are located on the 4,365-acre lake east of New Philadelphia on Ohio route 542. Swimming, golf, camping and other recreational activities are available.

The AAA Club suggests this routing to the tour area: From Columbus go east on I-70 to Jct. with I-77; north on I-77 to the tour area.

Engagement and wedding announcements are printed in The Spectator Newspaper free of charge.

Ohio State Fund Up 21 Per cent

Contributions to the Ohio State University Development Fund for the fiscal year (ended July 1) totalled more than $5,355,000– a 21 percent increase over the previous fiscal year.

The Development Fund is the official gift-receiving agency of the University.

Included in the total of 33,459 contributors, were 32,402 alumni and friends of the University, 467 business organizations and corporations and 590 foundations.

It will be several months before national rankings are established, but Ohio State should retain its number two position among all colleges and universities in the nation, both public and private, in the number of contributing alumni.

In the previous year, according to a report of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Harvard was in first place with 44,392 contributing alumni, while 34,231 Ohio State alumni made gifts to the University.

Theives Take Cash Drawers

Whitehall police this past week were busy investigating several reported thefts of items including cash drawers, firearms and stereo equipment.

The owner of the Phillip 66 station at 4257 E. Main St. told police he found the cash drawer missing along with approximately $500.

HE SAID HE was working in the back last Tuesday and believes someone removed the draw during that time.

A bartender at the Howard Johnson Motel, 5000 E. Main St., said she closed about 2:30 a.m. last Wednesday. She said two men were still in the bar when she left.

A maintenance man discovered the cash drawer missing the next morning. About $300 was believed taken.

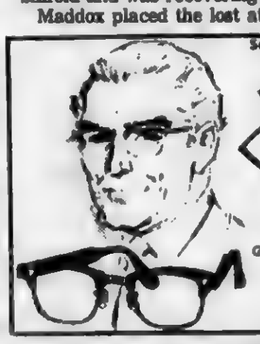
MRS. CHERYL Radcliffe of 256 Parklawn reported the loss of $430 in stereo equipment from her apartment last week.

Mrs. Radcliffe said she had lost a set of keys the previous week and believed this was how the offenders entered the apartment. She said before finding the larger items missing she had found several smaller items gone recently.

Police are also investigating a report that unknown offenders removed two guns from the racks at the Western Auto store at 3988 E. Broad St.

POLICE ARRESTED Leonard Walker, 30, of 52 S. Monroe St. last week after he allegedly tried to remove some linen from Penny's store at 3776 E. Broad St.

A customer reportedly saw the suspect putting sheets and pillow cases into a shopping bag.



The woman informed the department manager who began watching Walker. When the offender tried to leave the store he saw the manager and dropped the bag. He was apprehended before he could escape.

RICHARD MADDOX, 19 of 119 S. Ardmore Rd. was in the Peacock Kitchen at 3993 E. Broad St., last week when he discovered his wallet missing.

Maddox reported this to the manager who said he had seen someone pickup a wallet and leave.

The manager said he thought the man had just dropped the billfold and was recovering it before leaving.

Maddox placed the lost at about $70.

EXPERT OPPOSES LEGALIZING MARIJUANA

Drug Abuse Result Of Irrational Nature

By Lynn Williams

Man is not rational and therefore one of the results is drug abuse, according to Dr. Rupert Salisbury, assistant dean of the Pharmacy College at Ohio State University.

Dr. Salisbury made the statement in a speech at the second session of the Ohio Dominican College workshop on Alcohol and Drug Abuse Institute being conducted this week.

SALISBURY TOLD the audience of about 125 young people, man has become very superior as far as technological advancement but is lacking as far as his philosophical development.

"This imbalance has given man a genius for taking a technical development and misusing it," Rupert said. "Look what they did with the wheel, the bow and arrow and atomic energy."

He gave as an example the development of DDT.

"MAN DEVELOPED this marvelous insecticide, so effective that we have the ability to feed the entire population, but by using it irrationally we have caused a disaster and now the insecticide is banned."

Dr. Salisbury said drugs constitute a great technical advancement and have kept millions of people alive. "We have increased the number of years of life expectancy with drugs, but we have also misused them and created another disaster.

"There is no such thing as a safe drug." No one uses drugs intelligently, he said, adding that people will miss taking a vitamin one day and take two the next to make up for it.

"THEY WILL also take pills for a back-ache they got eight years ago. This is not rational."

The drug problem is not a problem of the young exclusively. He said drug companies make more drugs every year and more and more people are taking them.

"We subscribe to a philosophy that life can't be lived without drugs. I think television commercials accurately describe our society. A pill can cure anything."

HE SAID THERE were no real statistics in the area of drug use but said he felt they would show more adults taking drugs such as barbiturates and amphetamine than young people experimenting with drugs.

"The young are abusing drugs and they always have. Alcohol has been with us for a long time."

Dr. Salisbury also said the psychological state or mental state plays a part in reaction to drugs.

"WHEN I WAS young the thing was to dissolve aspirin in coke and then have a marvelous time thinking you were stoned. Actually there is no effect but if you want to be stoned you will be.

"It is also impossible to become intoxicated on one glass of beer unless you weight about 34 pounds but if you want to be intoxicated you will be."

Over the years several "fads" have started on ways to hallucinate which have had very little basis scientifically.

DR. SALISBURY said several of these includes scraping banana skins, baking it and then smoking it. Another was to make tea from kitty litter.

"This was the most ridiculous and after a while it died out, but while it lasted you couldn't find bananas or kitty litter in the stores."

Dr. Salisbury said there were many very potent drugs available to young people. "Marijuana is available in every junior high in this state as far as I know."

THOSE EXPERIMENTING with the drugs are getting younger all the time. "It's gotten to the point where college students are shocked with the experimenting in high school and high school students with what is going on in junior high."

He said it was harder to reach younger children because they are even more irrational.

"There are fruit salad parties going on at which everyone brings any kind of drugs they can find from laxatives to barbiturates. They dump all of these together in a bowl and then everyone takes handful."

HE SAID THERE is no way for even experts to determine the results.

Dr. Salisbury said there was a difference between drug abuse and dependency.

Talking about the pattern of dependency, Salisbury said as far as alcohol is concerned he would guess that almost 100 per cent of our society had at least had one glass of beer.

"WE DON'T HAVE any real statistics here either but one estimate I heard was that there are between 80,000,000 and 90,000,000 Americans who use alcohol.

"There are some desirable effects such as its tranquilizing effect and the way it relieves tension."

He said other figures indicated that between five and 15,000,000 people in this country are alcoholics.

"THAT MEANS five to 15,000,000 lives ruined. Sixty-two per cent of all motor vehicle accidents involve the use of alcohol by the drivers. Fifty per cent of all deaths on the highway are due to alcohol and 67 and one half per cent of all crimes of violence involve drinking on either the part of the victim or offender or both."

He said if alcohol was a new thing, the government would not allow its sale because the bad effects far outweigh the good.

"During prohibition the bootlegger was like the pusher. He didn't care what he sold. Some of the liquor contained methanol alcohol and people were blinded."

IF MARIJUANA is legalized, Dr. Salisbury said he predicts the country will be buying a greater national disaster than alcohol. "I feel it will be at least as great a social problem if not larger."

He said if marijuana is legalized then people will be able to buy "good stuff."

"If a person smokes Ohio grass it might take 12 joints to hallucinate but one Lebanese joint will stone four adults."

DR. SALISBURY SAID he had no solutions.

"A person's mental health is related to his drug abuse. It may be either pre-existing or may be caused by the drug use. You have to work on the mental illness."

He said psycho-therapy was a long drawn out process and was even more difficult with drug users.

"THE DOCTOR must develop a rapport and trust and the person must see that he needs help. A drug user sees only that he needs the drug to help him."

Dr. Salisbury said laws could not eliminate drug abuse and he said many people feel education is the last resort.

"I'm not sure even that will work because to believe that knowledge will work you have to believe that man is rational and we've shown that he isn't."

Outdoor Sessions Part Of Activities

THE STUDENTS SELECTED to attended the Institute on Alcohol and Drug Abuse at Ohio Dominican College this week come from all parts of the state and are selected because they are peer group leaders whose positive influence can be effectively extended to their fellow students. Besides attending lectures the students meet in small groups like the one above to discuss various topics of concern in the area of drug abuse.

APPROVES TIME SCHEDULES

School Board Hires Reading Specialist

The Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the hiring of a reading specialist to work with grades one through eight.

Sister Mary Iona Taylor has a doctorate from Indiana University and comes to the district with 35 years experience.

SHE WILL BE working with administrators and teachers on reading programs.

Steve Drummond, assistant superintendent, said this is the first time the district has hired a specialist in a specific field such as reading.

"Reading is one of our top concerns and was put on the list of main priorities last year," Drummond said.

HE SAID DR. Taylor will give the reading program direction.

"She may for example work with a teacher on one student's particular problem, making a diagnoses and then recommending a program.

He said school officials were very excited about the new position.

"YOU CAN SPEND hundreds of dollars on materials and equipment and still not get what you need. Dr. Taylor will be able to guide us and evaluate our needs."

Dr. Taylor has been with a textbook firm in Chicago for the last six months. She has been working on a reading program there.

In other action the board approved the time schedules for the various schools.

ASBURY, DUNLOE and Sedalia will begin at 8:45 a.m. and end at 3:15 p.m. Morning kindergarten will begin at 8:45 and end at 11:25. The afternoon session will begin at 12:30 and end at 3:10.

Brice elementary school will begin at 9:25 a.m. and end at 3:56 p.m. The two kindergartan sessions there will be 9:25 to 12:05 and from 1:10 to 3:50.

Edwards, Glendening and Groveport Elementary Schools will begin at 9:10 a.m. and end at 3:40 p.m. The kindergartens will be at 9:10 to 11:50 and from 12:55 to 3:35.

MADISON ELEMENTARY School will start its day at 8:55 and end at 3:25 p.m.

The kindergartens will be from 8:55 to 11:35 and from 12:40 to 3:20.

At the junior high school, eighth grade will be from 7:30 a.m. to 12:10 p.m. and the seventh grade will attend classes from 12:35 to 5:15 p.m.

The high school will begin at 8:08 a.m. and end at 2:43 p.m.

AUTHORIZATION was also given for several site improvement plans totaling $8,124.

The Board agreed to grading at the high school varsity baseball diamond, the practice football field and enlargement of the bus parking area.

Estimated cost for this work is $2,124.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS planned include installation of a drainage tile system for the high school varsity baseball diamond, blacktop work at the Asbury playground and at the parking area at Groveport Elementary School.

An adjourned meeting is scheduled for August 28 at 7 p.m. to take care of unfinished business before school begins Sept. 5.

Bell Labs Hosts SSTP

Seventy high school students enrolled in the Student Science Training Program (SSTP) sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Ohio State University took part in a special program at Bell Laboratory last week.

THE STUDENTS were acquainted with the projects being worked on by staff engineers engaged in the design of telephone switching systems equipment and apparatus.

The participants in the program heard presentations by S.H. Washburn, executive director of Bell Labs Toll Switching Division, Dr. W.M. Boyce, head of the Mathematics Analysis Department at Murray Hill and R.E. Koogler, member of the technical staff in the Toll Switching Systems Department.

THE SSTP program has been offered at OSU each summer for the past eight years. It was previously offered at the University of Notre Dame where it was initiated by Dr. Arnold E. Ross, now chairman of the OSU Department of Mathematics.

Students in the program are selected on the basis of their exceptionally strong interests in mathematics and the sciences and demonstrate a high ability in grades 10 through 12.

THE PROGRAM is under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation, which pays for the cost of instruction in the program.

Students pay their own expenses for room, board and travel for the eight week course.

PROFESSOR ROSS describes the program as a genuine talent search directed toward those young people who have been able to develop a strong interest in mathematics.

The actual content of the SSTP program has been selected with the view of encouraging a deeper academic involvement by each student through the heightening of interest in observation, in experimentation and in the use of mathematical reasoning.

THE ULTIMATE goal is to develop the best qualities of academic citizenship and thereby help meet the need for very talented individuals capable of intelligent, initiative and imaginative innovation which is so great in today's society, according to Dr. Ross.

DR. RUPERT SALISBURY, assistant dean at the Pharmacy College at Ohio State University was one of the guest lecturers at the second session of the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Institute at Ohio Dominican College this week. Dr. Salisbury spoke Monday to a group of high school students from around Ohio. The three day institute is sponsored by The Alcoholism Program of the State Department of Health, ODC, the Ohio School Counselors Association, the Ohio Department of Liquor Control and the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers.

'HAND-ME-DOWN, NOT HAND-OUT'

Will You Help Send A Child To School?

For the past two years that The Spectator Newspapers have assisted in a Back-To-School Clothing Drive with Volunteer Services of the Franklin County Welfare Department, we've asked a simple question of our readers:

Ever try to outfit each of your children for school on a five-dollar allowance?

THIS YEAR the question is different — drastically different.

Ever try to outfit each of your children for school with NO clothing allowance?

Since The Spectator's clothing appeal last August, the State and Federal clothing allowance has been trimmed from the assistance plan.

THE ALLOWANCE has not been discontinued because there is no longer a need but, rather, because there are no longer funds available.

"The need is even greater this year than last," reports Julia Stewart of Volunteer Services.

Simply stated, donated clothing that is clean and in good repair may well mean the difference between a child who goes to school next month and one who must remain home.

IF YOU HAVE such clothing (shoes, shirts, blouses, pants and winter coats are especially needed), please don't "put off" this chance to help assure the wonderful opportunity of education to some of our local children.

These kids aren't asking for a "handout", only a hand-me-down.

Some of our local merchants have consented to serve as collection points for the '72 Back-To-School Clothing Drive so that Spectator readers who have out-grown clothing need not travel far from home to help a hopeful child.

THIS WEEK please check your closets, trunks and dressers for clothing that you've saved but will never use. Place it in the Spectator-marked receptacles and send a child to school next month.

Here is the list of locations where Spectator readers may drop off clothing for needy school children:

Playground News

CASSINGHAM

Last Monday, Aug. 7th, we began collecting papers for the playground newsaper drive. Over 40 helped to collect and stack papers into the van. Monday was also the day we started getting ready for the Cassingham Carnival held last Wednesday evening.

Over 170 children and adults came to the masquerade party and carnival of which about 50 children were in costume for the judging. Results of the costume parade were: Ugliest - Tom Rice, disguised as the red devil; Prettiest - Ronnie Sokol in her ballerina costume; Funniest - Steve Williams dressed as an upside down person walking on his hands; Scariest - Frankenstein, really Robbie Szymczak; Most original - Laurie Strang dressed as an Arabian Desert girl.

Games at the carnival varied from a sponge throw, to tossing bean bags through the witches' mouth, to a cupcake walk. Fantasio the Magician gave a magic show, proceeds of which went to Muscular Dystrophy. An award of a certificate for five White Castle Hamburgers was presented to Jeff McGuire for guessing the amount of popcorn kernels in a pint jar.

Friday, Aug. 11 was the Mother-Daughter softball game and the Father-Son football game with a good turnout for the night and fun for all.

This week was also spent signing up Kassingham Kids fro the annual Swim Meet held this morning at the Bexley Pool. The Kids were all excited about the meet, the last special event featuring intra-playground competition for the summer season. This week the Kassingham Kuties softball team will wind up their winning season. The Bexley Belles, women softball enthusiasts in Bexley, have challenged the Kuties to a game, which should prove to be a good one.

We are working on the Kassingham Krier, a newspaper to be given to all residents in the area. This will let them know what has been taking place at Cassingham, and thank them for their support throughout the summer.

Kassingham Kids will be taking a trip to an Amish farm next Monday, the 21st. All those wishing to go must have parent permission slips, and drivers are needed. Contact Sue, Sandy or Larry at the playground about the trip.

Another trip for the Kids is one to Putt-Putt this Friday morning, the 18th. Permission slips and drivers are needed for this event, also.

The final day for the playground season will be next Wednesday, Aug. 23rd. Playgrounds will be closed that evening so that parents and kids from all three Bexley playgrounds can attend the FINAL FLING picnic in Jeffrey Park, where lots of fun will be on tap for all comers.

MONTROSE

Summer is coming to end soon, but the fun at Montrose is still going strong. The newspaper drive is finally over - thanks to all of you for your help and enthusiasm.

Monday the children had a penny-pitching contest, and Wednesday morning we were all at the pool rooting on the Montrose team in the annual swim meet. Tonight you are all invited to come to the Wednesday night movies at Montorse, starting at 9 p.m. Bring you lawn chairs, or blanket, and snacks.

Tomorrow night all the games equipment will be out for an evening of family fun on the playground.

Next week will be closing time for the playgrounds. Don't forget the family Final Fling picnic at Jeffrey Park for families from all three playgrounds. It starts at 6 p.m. next Wednesday, Aug. 23rd.

Miss Kuns, Dr. O'Neill Wed Aug. 12 In Dayton

Miss Kathleen Ellen Kuns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Kuns of 414 Elm Grove Dr., Dayton, became the bride of Dr. James Allen O'Neill on Saturday, Aug. 12.

The bride attended Ohio State University and has been teaching in the Westerville High School.

The groom is a graduate of Eastmoor High School and the college of Veterinary Medicine at OSU.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy O'Neill of 3607 Seabrook Ave.

The ceremony took place at Fairview United Methodist Church in Dayton with the Rev. Kenneth Krueger officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white organza with a panel of lace down the front and long sleeves. The hemline was trimmed in scalloped edges of lace with white pull-through satin ribbon and ended in a long chapel train in back.

The veil was a full length white illusion mantilla, trimmed in matching lace and highlighted with several layers of matching bouffant veils.

Her maid of honor was Miss Brenda Jane Brown and her attendants were Mrs. Richard Nemecek, Mrs. Keith Kuns, Mrs. Sue Cox and Mrs. Richard Flickinger.

Best man was Patrick Joseph O'Neill and ushers were Mr. Dana J. Kuns, Mr. Keith J. Kuns, Dr. Michael Ring and Dr. Larry Winters.

Engagement and wedding announcements are printed in The Spectator Newspaper free of charge.

'Catching A Car'

The odds look good that Ohio voters will have the opportunity in November to vote themselves a fiscal headache of monumental proportions.

Unless the state is able to out-maneuver those behind the Citizens for Repeal of Ohio Income Tax, the state's citizenry will be asked at the general election to approve a constitutional amendment banning an Ohio personal income tax without voter okay.

Such an amendment would sound the death knell for the present income tax.

Even those violently opposed to such action have indicated a grudging admiration for the "gutsiness" with which the repeal proponents went after their goal.

Without structured financing, they apparently have reached first base. The shrewdness and the judicial know-how of their attorneys and the political sophistication of a segment of Republican legislators may well put them on third before Nov. 7.

If this occurs, only the voting public can bat the repeal home.

Any many will ask themselves, "Why not?"

The lyrical sound of lower taxes is sweeter than any song sung by Lorelei--and just as treacherous.

Somehow those so diligently pursuing repeal of the income tax call to mind a dog chasing a car.

Exactly what would he do if the pursuit was successful and the prey was downed?

From the wealth of material flowing out of state offices recently as the petition deadline neared, one might surmise that government service, now dependent upon income tax resources would come to a crashing halt if the repeal were implemented.

Such releases point to the millions of tax dollars going to the schools, being returned to local government, and being spent on everything from increased employe salaries to environmental protection.

But only the politically naive can believe the state would attempt to meet the financial crisis that would be triggered by repeal through reduced expenditures.

It just isn't the way the ball bounces.

Once the state government finds a slot for its money, that spending is husbanded as jealously as the source of revenue that makes the spending possible.

For example, through increased funds for allocation to the schools, the state has been able to "or else" pressure the schools into higher minimum levels of local taxation, conformance with state standards and improved salary schedules to insure the continued support of the Ohio Educational Association.

State goernment is not about to upset this little apple cart-anymore than it is to embark upon an austerity program that will lose hard-earned votes left and right.

No, that would not be the answer.

It does not take a Jean Dixon to tell you what would happen.

Probably before property owners could croak "Help" the 10 percent tax roll back would be ditched--and before the Retail Merchants could cry "Foul", Ohio would have a seven cent sales tax.

The crisis would be met, the low and middle class would bear the burden and government would go on its merry way.

Yes, if the Citizens for Repeal of the Income Tax catch their "Car" it won't take too long to see state services didn't suffer.

The only person to be really hurt is the little guy.

Lingering Spirits

Whose Garden Is This?

BY RICHARD L. PAUGH (THROUGH YOUR LOCAL TRAINER)

Dr. Ira Whitman

Now that Ohio has an Environmental Protection Agency (called the worst in the nation as far as citizen input goes), the real test of the clean-up mechanism will be carried out by its newly appointed director, Dr. Ira Whitman.

I first met Ira during the 14 weeks of the Governor's Task Force on the Environment. He was on the staff under Col. John Glenn as a technical advisor. He was very quiet, only occasionally offering testimony but keeping close watch over the 53 different disciplines represented during the deliberations.

PREVIOUSLY, Dr. Whitman was a scientist in "Urban and Social Problems" for Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus. During the past six months he has served as Deputy Director of Environmental Health under Dr. John Cashman, Director of the Ohio Department of Health.

It was Dr. Whitman who flew hurriedly into eastern Ohio when the Ohio River valley area around Steubenville became untenable to human life. He quickly called for the second phase of a four-phase system which required an immediate halt to all open burning.

Observers gave most of the credit to a moderate wind when, after only two days, the alert ended. This does not take from the fact that Whitman was on hand and did act. Insiders swear he was on the verge of ordering the steel mill fires banked and the power companies to switch to cleaner fuels.

IT'S REALLY too early to hang a guess on how firm Whitman will be with the polluters. The first six months should tell the story. His first task should be a total, word-for-word assessment of the EPA law. There are so many loopholes built into the permissive language, it will be extremely difficult to bring even the most flagrant polluters into court.

His second job (in my estimation) will be to get the cooperation of the thousands of devoted conservationists now alienated from the state government by avoidance of due process during the EPA hearings. These people have been moderates in the past compared to the peace and civil rights demonstrators.

It has been a tough job at best to keep the rabble-rousers out of the environmental picture. Recognizing the importance of keeping interest high for a long time, establishment-oriented conservationists have tried to avoid burning the issues too brightly.

THIS ONE exception to this rule was the do-or-die stand to forge a better strip mine reclamation law against no-holds-barred coal operators. On that occasion, towards the last of the twelve-month fight, the hearing rooms were filled with future voters.

Wooing the many levels of environmentalists back into the action is a must for Ira Whitman, if he is to patch up Fractured Substitute Senate Bill 397.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Keep a win-loss record of the new EPA. You'll be able to tell how effective it is without asking your local politician.

Letters To The Editor

The Spectator Newspapers welcome letters from readers, expressing their views on subjects of interest to them -- whether initiated by news stories or editorial expression in this newspaper or not. Because of space limitations, we prefer letters which do not exceed 300 words. All letters submitted for publication must be signed with the writer's name and address, although -- upon request -- the name of the writer can be withheld. Letters should be marked: "To the Editor, Spectator Newspapers, 3421 S. Boulevard, Columbus, Ohio 43204" and must be received by Monday noon prior to publication date for publication in that week's edition.

People, Not Cat, Control Needed

To the Editor:

In regard to Jack Wittenmeier's column "Here Kitty, Kitty" (Aug. 9 Spectator), I would like to reply (and have my reply entitled): "Francine (Ryan), in your ordinance machine, help put cats to the front; stamp out them being rear wipers for dogs."

Rear wipers and "open season" are a little too much.

I agree with Jack that there are certainly too many cats and there are really no controls. But we must remember that controls must be directed at the people.

We must make new laws and enforce them, along with those already on the book.

Cats fighting at night for food or female is not pleasant nor many holes dug in flower beds and gardens (even though covered by the feline) is not in good taste and certainly show that owners are irresponsible and certainly do not care about being good neighbors.

In other large cities (such as Los Angeles) a spay program has been set up through city council and has done much to cut down on the cat over-population.

I feel that preventing something is a much better solution than destroying. Millions of dollars are spent annually to destroy animals when the money could be used in prevention.

Legal ordinances have been drawn up and will be presented to city officials. We are making sure this time the ordinances that cost money will not be tossed in a waste can.

This new program does not make socialized vet care. It only provides for help to control the surplus.

We have read where large humane groups have backed the new research program for developing the safe shot or pill to keep animals from producing. One humane official stated that it would help eliminate all the strays.

After deep thought I really cannot see where the shot (no matter how safe or soon it will be available) can help the cat that is homeless from reproducing.

I do not feel this particular cat knows where her vet is and besides do you really believe the cat would have $15. or a charge plate. This is not the answer.

We need to get humane education to the public in schools, a successful spay clinic program and laws in our city code that we can enforce.

People who frown on cats under windows, in petunias and carrots should be ready to help get our city fathers down to the business of doing something that will control this horrible situation.

We could actually see a lot of new faces after the next election if we cannot get some kind of help with this problem. It's about time city officials gave the people a chance to do something.

We must all strive for the same goals. We need every cat owner and the people who hate cats, set up a meeting and then present our program together at City Hall.

They have frowned and laughed before at animal lovers. After all, we must know that in our city code today we have a law that includes cats, as well as dogs -- stating that both dogs and cats must be kept on ther own property and not be allowed to stray.

But you see no one wants to become involved. They have the attitude: "Let George Do It." So we continue to allow a serious problem to grow.

Thanks for the opportunity to tell my side as a cat lover. I hope, Jack, that you will be one of the first to offer a suggestion or two to hasten the control program that works into our city.

Anyone who is interested enough to help, feel free to contact me (279-0645). Those who do not wish to have their name involved, do not waste our time -- only those who want to see action that brings results.

Public Safety At Stake'

To the Editor:

A "child" died in Columbus Saturday, July 22, surrounded by what appears to be mysterious, foul and vicious circumstances!

Barbara Ann Thomas-a black girl-"reportedly" drowned while in the company of five white men. That she may have enticed the company of these five men is "not" important! The only thing that "is" important is that she was a Human Being and did nothing worthy of death!

Barbara Ann was a minor, yet it appears that law enforcement authorities have shown complete indifference and have failed to thoroughly investigate the matter. Reportedly, incriminating evidence is being ignored. The circumstance itself should cause intense suspicion in the minds of authorities!

This is not merely a black - white issue. If it were though, it should not make "any" difference in the carriage of Justice! What is at stake is the public safety of "all" citizens in our community! If you recall, the killer of a small, white suburban child still roams our streets and the murderer of a white housewife as well!

If this incident is permitted to go uninvestigated - simply because the child is black, simply because of the "reported" insinuations surrounding the matter - it will be accepted as an unspoken "license to kill" by sadists within our city!

If facts finally do substantiate the incident happened as reported-fine. But I implore every concerned citizen to request an immediate, thorough and open investigation into this mishap. As a mother of three teenagers, I beg you - in the name of God, please do - or next time it might be my child...or "yours!"

Making Of A Veep

The candidate was sitting heavily in the stuffed chair as his aide entered the room, stepping through the telegrams scattered all over the floor.

"Excuse me, Senator," he said softly.

The tired eyes looked up hopefully, only to see the slow, sad horizontal nod of his aide's head.

"Well?," he asked dejectedly.

"Hubert said personally he'd be pleased as punch but George Meany says you're a 'no-no'."

"And the call to Hyannis Port?"

"The Senator's still out on his yacht."

"Did they say when he'd be coming back?"

"1976, the maid said."

"Did Ed Muskie ever call back?"

"Yes, but he said he'd like to check a couple more primaries first."

"Are you sure you've checked everybody?" the candidate asked glumly.

"Yes sir, we even called The Ranch. Lady Bird was downright snippy."

"Hey, wait a minute! What about that fella in Ohio? Ahhhh... whats-his-name?"

"Frank says we'd better not. We can't take the chance with the Grand Canyon and Yellowstone."

"How about our classified ad in the New York Times?"

"Just two wrong numbers and a guy who wanted to know if we'd take a '65 Olds in trade."

"Well, that's it. I guess there's just one thing left to do. Hand me that Los Angeles telephone directory and the sharp dart on the desk."

The candidate opened the book, propped it against the desk, stepped back and flung the pointed missile deeply into the center of a page.

Just as he retreived the book, a second aide rushed excitedly into the room.

"Senator," he exclaimed breathlessly, "We've done it! We've got Sargent Shriver!"

The candidate frowned. "You know how I feel about the Pentagon," he snapped angrily.

"No, no -- Sargent Shriver. You know, Peace Corps....Kennedy in-law....parlezvous-Francais?"

"Oh, that Sergeant Shriver! How's he check out?," the candidate asked cautiously.

"Perfect! He doesn't drink, rarely drives and sent a congratulatory telegram to Jack Anderson back in '68."

"Gentleman," the senator said with a frown, "I think we've got a ticket."

The candidate sat back down in the easy chair as the two aides left the room, slapping each other on the back.

Carefully, he pulled the dart out of the telephone book, jotted the name on a slip of paper and shook his head.

"Maybe it's just as well," he sighed to himself. "Who'd ever go for a George McGovern-Teddy Wallace ticket anyway?"

How Many Miles?

A couple of secrets are usually closeted away with the family skeleton.

The wife doesn't tell how many years she's put on the old chassis--and her husband doesn't reveal how many miles he's driven the old jalopy.

As a result, women are as young as Clairol can make them look, and the odometer on a used car boasts the lowest mileage that the gullible can conceivably swallow.

And now we read the second of these human foibles is to become a relic of the past.

The Ohio Motor Vehicle Dealer and Salesman Licensing Board has ruled any car dealer shall keep on file for each hunk of iron the previous owner's affidavit, specifying the mileage when he sold it.

No longer shall the used car customer be duped-so says Ohio officials.

Furthermore, the moon is made of blue cheese and green apples never gave anyone a bellyache.

We've long lamented that government cannot legislate away man's inhumanity to man--but we never blamed it for trying.

But to try to extinguish the spark of larceny that glows in each man's soul when he gives the old college try to squeezing a few extra bucks out of a trade-in is as futile as snipe hunting.

Attaching any validity to an affidavit, wrenched from John Doe when he is in the frenzy of trading cars is as naive as believing a woman who does a hot Charleston is on the sunny side of forty.

The licensing board may have made Honest Johns out of the 6,000 dealers in the state--but for every dealer there are thousands of car [illegible].

And when it comes to trading horses or automobiles, few of us could have convinced Diogenes to blow out his lamp.

'The Good Things'

One question I as a reporter have been asked numerous times is: "Why don't papers print the good things young people are doing?" We all know there is a lot of good being done by the young, but it's always nice to have a specific example about which to write.

A few days ago I got a call from someone in Bexley with just such an example.

It seems that around the first week in August two young Bexley girls, Pam Bendle and Angela Tanner, both 10, were riding their bikes on Havenwood.

The girls thought they heard someone calling for help from a house at 2415 Havenwood Park S. The girls stopped and walked up to the door to see if they could help.

Pam and Angela didn't go in but through the screen asked if anything were wrong.

It seems that Mrs. Myrtle Sharp had fallen down a flight of stairs and was unable to move.

The girls stopped a man passing on the street who, in turn, called the Bexley police.

Lt. Tom Tobin said the woman suffered a possible fractured hip in the fall and had been home alone at the time, adding that if the girls had not come along she could have been without help for sometime.

A story like this always makes you feel good when so often you hear about people ignoring cries for help. It's also good to note that the girls were cautious and didn't run right into the house. Unfortunately, you also hear about those who do stop to help and, in turn, become the victim.

We at the Spectator are proud of Pam and Angela--who are also, the the way, Spectator carriers. We also appreciate the Bexley resident who called to tell us the story and we hope we'll hear more good things about the people in our communities.

Remember Safety In Toy Selection

By Virginia Knauer

Sometimes it is difficult being a grandmother--especially in deciding on toys to give the grandchildren.

I know. I have bought many toys and games for my grandchildren through the years.

Is it safe?

More and more grandparents--and, of course, parents--are becoming concerned about toy safety. An unsafe toy can cut a child, cause burns and maybe cause death because a part of the toy (such as the squeaker from a squeeze toy) becomes lodged in his throat.

Anytime we're shopping for toys, we should keep in mind the following helpful hints in choosing safe toys:

1. Choose a toy appropriate for the child's age and development. (Many toys have age-group labels on the package.)

2. Remember that younger brothers and sisters may have access to toys bought for older children.

3. CHECK fabric labels for "non-flammable," "Flame-retardant," or "flame-resistant" notices.

4. Check instructions. They should be easy to read and understand. Instruct the child in the proper use of any toy.

5. Avoid toys that produce excessive noise. (Even toy cap pistols fired too close to a child's ear can cause damage).

6. AVOID shooting games, especially those involving darts and arrows, unless the games are to be used under parental supervision.

7. When choosing a toy for small children, make sure it:

--does not have detachable parts that can lodge in windpipe, ears or nostril,

--is too large to be swallowed,

--is not apt to break easily into small pieces or leave jagged edges,

--does not have sharp edges or points,

--has not been put together with easily exposed straight pins, wires, nails, etc.,

--is not poisonous or toxic, does not have exposed flames or build up heat to dangerous levels,

--does not have flimsy electrical wiring.

8. CHOOSE carefully. Any toy if misused can be dangerous. There can be no substitute for parental interest and supervision.

The current list of banned toys, as well as the complete list of toys banned since December 1970, is available free by writing to L.J. Chrisholm, Bureau of Product Safety, FDA, 5401 Westbard Ave., Bethesda, MD 20016.

Answers About Your Insurance

(Presented by the Columbus Chapter of the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters)

READING THE AUTOMOBILE LIABILITY INSURANCE POLICY SEEMS TO BE AN ENDLESS AND LEGALISTIC TASK. WHY DON'T INSURANCE COMPANIES HAVE A BRIEF EASY-TO-READ CONTRACT THAT CAN BE ANALYZED BY ANYONE?

Such a contract would be welcomed by everyone; however, an insurance policy is a written contract, not a tangible product of the marketplace. It expresses standard legal phraseology uniformly applicable to all policyholders.

All contracts, whether insurance or not, are subject to court interpretation. The courts construe all ambiguities against the insurance companies. It is impossible to draft any document that "can be analyzed by any insured." All of us have a different capacity of comprehension. We need courts to interpret insurance policies as "reasonable" persons would normally comprehend their intended meaning, whether an individual insured can understand it or not.

Since the bargaining power favors the company, the insured enters into what is called an "adhesion" contract. All facets of the policy, therefore, are interpreted by the courts most favorable for the benefit of the insured. Any doubt as to an insuring agreement or condition is resolved for the insured. The legal burden of proof is on the company to prove an exclusion even applies.

Dress On Stage . . . For This Fall

'IN' fashion

A MARVELOUS way to start off Fall is this patterned polyester and wool knit dress with easy shaping, its own leather belt and fringed scarf, from ABE SCHRADER. (Photo taken in New York by Linda Stern.)

PAT SANDLER puts together pale beige cashmere jersey for a charmer, with long argyle and striped patterned sweater...RIDRIGUES for Peter Clements designed this short chemise in cranberry matte jersey and double layers of ivory silk chiffon for short evenings...THE WRAP-DRESS from Nat Kaplan in pale sheer wool, highlighted in navy wool braid and fringe...self belt.

HAPPILY, WOMEN will have a chance to show off their legs again. Daytime dresses in all the Fall Collections hover somewhere around the knee...the object is to look pretty and feminine again. Even the short evening dress is back looking soft and sensuous in fabrics that fit today's mood.

THE MOST important dress shapes are the easy-fitting chemise, often flaring at the hemline...the smock dress...the seamed body dress...the shirtwaist...the wrap dress...the jumper dress...and the layered dress-plus-sweater. What gives them a new look are important sleeves...pleated skirts emphasize the feminine look.

DESIGNERS rely on fabrics for much of the interest...and they are beautiful. Fuzzy, fluffy fleecy mohair, angora or cashmere...brushed wool or synthetic fabrics with surface interest...wool and matte jersey, and knits...all kinds of knits from printed single knits to ultra-thin knits that look like wool crepe. The perennial favorites are grey flannel, camel hair, gabardine and sheer wool voil.

WHILE BRIGHT primary colors take a positive stand, the power of pale shades is seen everywhere...the pale mono-tone look in baby pastels and pale neutrals.

BEST OF ALL, you don't have to be a physical fitness fanatic to find dresses that look great...there's a flattering silhouette for everyone!

Group Plans Membership Meeting

A number of young Jewish women have organized a new Hadassah group in Columbus.

The new Hadassah group, Sabra, will involve young women in community affairs, education for creative Jewish living, through study by discussions and book review groups, and seminars.

Sabra will be involved in all the Hadassah sponsored program in Israel. These include programs such as Medical Schools and centers; libraries; and schools for vocational training.

The theme of Sabra's first membership meeting will be "Up, Up, and Away with Hadassah," The first get-together will be a coffee tonight 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Nathaniel Goldman, 2900 E. Broad St.

Featured at the coffee will be a film concerning the history of Hadassah, and what it has meant to the development of Israel and Jewish people all over the world.

'Fun Fling' Set At T&C Center

A final "fun fling" for small fry before that fateful return to school has been scheduled Friday and Saturday at the Town and Country Shopping Center.

All Friday afternoon Rollo, a Ringling Brothers' circus clown, will journey up and down the center walks doing his thing – blowing balloons into fantastic animal shapes.

The annual Kid's Amateur Dog Show is set for Friday at 5 p.m. with Rollo entertaining before hand.

The Phil-Jac Kennels will stage a Guard Dog Obedience Demonstration Saturday (2:30 and 4:30 p.m.) near the Richman's store.

Free rides on an old horse-drawn railroad station wagon and free popcorn will add to the fun.

Club and organizational news should be sent to the Spectator by Thursday noon.

Zena's - Supermarket For The Unique

When you enter a gift shop you expect to find the unique. But at Zena's Gift Shop, 887 S. Hamilton Rd., you are literally overwhelmed by the unusual.

OF SPECIAL interest are the large coin and stamp collection, the antique doll collection and a doll "hospital."

The coin and stamp collection is operated by Mr. Licavoli, a recognized authority in stamp collecting, and Charles Lephart, a long-standing and active member of the Columbus Philatelic Association.

Although all of the stamps have not as yet been unpacked, Lephart explained that the collection includes complete sheets of United Nations, Vatican and Israel releases plus all first-day covers and most imprint blocks and plate blocks.

THE SHOP also has a good collection of early U.S., early mint U.S. and older U.S. stamps including plate blocks.

Other assorted foreign collections plus all types of postcards and envelopes make for an assortment that will interest even the most avid collector.

The coin collection (although only partially displayed as of now) is quite extensive, assures Lephart. Features of the collection are an early-run 1796 half-dollar and an unidentified 1672 German coin.

THE DOLL "hospital" is a first-time public service for Columbus. Madame Perri has previously only worked for private collectors.

All repairs on dolls are done by hand and then only after researching the doll to insure repairs and new costumes are authentic.

Repairs can be quite time-consuming and Madame Perri will not release a doll until she is completely satisfied with the repairs.

IN ADDITION to rejuvenating antique dolls, Madame Perri offers reproductions of antique dolls, Bisque and china.

Papier mache, wax and cloth reproductions will be available at a later date – and original creations as time permits.

If you're looking for that unusual gift – possibly something with the continental touch – a rare addition to your stamp or coin collection or just enjoy browsing through aisle after aisle of unique creations, try Zena's.

ONE WORD of caution, however. If you plan to stop in during a lunch hour, you had better dream up a good excuse. There's so much to see, it's likely you'll be late getting back to work.

Achievement! Thru Adult Education

This edition is designed to aid you in selecting a school in which you may secure further desired training, and to help you in finding employment suited to your skills and training. May we suggest that you keep it for future reference.

Crafts Term Begins Soon

The Columbus Recreation Department's Adult Arts and Crafts Center has long been active in community cultural development. The Center provides the citizens of Columbus with a workshop for creative expression, development, and fellowship.

A wide variety of classes taught by skilled professionals are open to all adults starting with the fall term (Sept 11).

THE CENTER is one of the few places one can learn Enameling, a method of applying porcelain enamel to copper and silver. Simple raising of bowls and plates, jewelry, and decorative panels are a few of the things that can be made in this class.

The ancient art of Batik (a method of fabric decoration using hot wax and dyes) is another class which is gaining in popularity.

Weaving on large floor looms is offered at the Center, as well as macrame, braiding, dying, and spinning.

A VERY fine class in Jewelry covers all techniques of working in silver and gold, semi-precious stones, and various natural materials.

Registration may be made by calling the Art Center (221-8602) or picking up a schedule during the hours of operation (1 p.m.-10 p.m.). The Center is located at 734 Oak St., in an old firehouse.

Worthington Will Offer 31 Choices

Registration for Worthington's Adult Education Fall term will close Wednesday, Sept. 13.

The upcoming term, which runs from Sept. 25 through Nov. 16, includes the following courses:

(con't. on next pg.)

CBU Offers Mini Courses

Short courses, designed especially for those who wish to reactivate old skills or those who wish to quickly develop marketable skills, will be offered again this fall by Columbus Business University's evening school.

Starting Sept. 26, the "mini" courses are: "Mini Secretarial," "Mini Receptionist-Clerk- Typist" and "Mini Bookkeeping."

Classes meet two evenings a week, and those entering in the Fall quarter will graduate in March with a certificate of fulfillment of the course requirements.

"It is the opportunity for both men and women to gain skills that lead to secure and well-paying jobs in a very reasonable length of time," according to Richard Miller, director of CBU.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

1972-73 Goal; Closing The Adult Education Gap

(EDS. NOTE – Stanley R. Borenstein is the outgoing president ('71-'72 term) of the Central Ohio Adult Education Association. Below, Borenstein both looks back over the past year and ahead to the challenge of 1972-73 in Adult Education).

BY STANLEY BORENSTEIN

Columbus and the nation's emphasis in recent years in the area of adult education has appeared to emphasize the recreation needs of our community and country.

There have been retraining programs and vocational training programs for the adult in recent years but the programs that have brought the registrants to our public and privates classes have, as often as not been in the area of Ceramics, Art, Handicrafts etc. with generalized training such as typing, English and business courses adding their weight.

IN GENERAL, the big gap has been on graduate evening training for adults. Only recently has OSU even beckoned in the area of recognition here by stating that it might look into more openings for part-time and evening students.

The neglected person is quite often the man or woman in mid-career and mid-life. He is too old for full-time undergraduate training on a college level or technical school simply because he lacks the finances. He is too young for the crafts and recreation because he is too possessed with the problems of making a living and raising a family. He can not afford to go back to school.

Until now, those seeking graduate degrees who have families and need to study at night have mainly had to commute to Xavier in Cincinnati or other distant points on Saturdays and evenings because of the gross neglect of our local higher education institutions. We have had tokenism in terms of attention to this problem by those dealing with education in our community.

WE CAN NOT blame them, however. Too often, the twin demons of superficial requirements aimed for the young, first-time college students (like residence requirements, physical education, required courses that do not meet the needs of today etc.) and the lack of financial aid for the adult have made college administrators look the other way.

When the Federal government made a pilot experiment in retraining engineers designed for a few hundred students, tens of thousands of applicants applied. The need is here–the means are lacking.

It was only this past February that Mrs. Bella Abzug introduced H.R. 13376 in the 92nd Congressional session which makes a feeble attempt (but the best so far) to find training and jobs for the middle and older age citizen.

EVEN THIS does not do what is needed - the setting up of a "G.I. Bill" for those 45 years or older. It does establish a Department of Labor bureau known as the Midcareer Development Service.

I would like to see legislation in Congress making it possible for anyone 40 or over to take courses at government expense in the evening or weekend if they are working and during the day if they are not.

I would like to see an allowance for full-time students and a dependency allotment. For part-time students, I would like to see an allotment for books, tuition and maybe even a modest grant.

LEARNING should never stop. It becomes more expensive and more difficult in the years between 25 and the retirement age. When one retires, there is a slight decline in financial tensions. Before 25, there is usually less family financial pressures.

Must we lose our best managerial, supervisory and technical talents because of the economic stresses of a poor economy? It is time for a G.I. Bill of Rights for adult education especially for those beyond the college age of the

FU Theme: 'No One Finishes Education'

"No one ever finishes his education," says Joseph F. Frasch, president of Franklin University, Columbus' only metropolitan university.

"The person who thinks of graduation from high school or college as the point of completion of his education will be only partly educated. Education," says the president of mid-Ohio's second largest university, "begins at birth and continues throughout life."

FOR THE PAST 72 years, Franklin has offered individual course study, and degree programs in the day or evening hours. Recently, Franklin has offered "early-bird" courses on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 7 a.m.

"These courses are popular with the students," says admissions director Gene Marshall. "The early classes allow the student to get his class time in before reporting to work. He's much fresher in the morning and ready to absorb the lectures."

Almost two-thirds of Franklin's 3200 student body attends evening classes and on Saturday morning and afternoon hours. About 90 percent of Franklin's day students are employed and 99 percent of the evening students have full time employment.

THE UNIVERSITY'S entire course program is geared toward the student who earns his way and continues his learning process. Day students are able to work because their classes are lumped in morning hours and their afternoon and evening hours are free, except for study time.

Day classes meet five mornings each week for one hour each morning. Evening classes meet one night a week for three consecutive hours and carry three hours of credit.

"We try to make our university, people-oriented," says Frasch. "Social and technical forces are combining to make certain occupations obsolete within our lifetime," he comments, "We adapt our courses of instruction to meet those situations.

"SO FAR, our open enrollment system has worked well; it permits persons to do certain things and later come back into the educational system and learn new techniques or a completely new field."

Franklin operates a general college and a technical college. The general college program includes accounting, business administration and industrial management.

The technical curriculum offers electronics engineering, engineering drawing, construction drawing and engineering technology. In both of these colleges a two-year Associate of Science or four-year

FROM ELECTION TO OCEAN

OSU Evening Offerings Span Interest Spectrum

Sixteen non-credit evening courses, covering such widely divergent fields as current social and civil rights movements, work motivation, and man and the world ocean, will be offered this fall by the Division of Continuing Education at the Ohio State University.

The courses, some of which will be held in the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow at 2400 Olentangy River Rd., are part of the University's on-going programs which are designed to serve the needs of those persons in the community who wish to continue their educations, but who are not seeking degrees, according to Dr. Alan S. Hackel, Associate Director of the Division.

"THE COURSES this Autumn Quarter reflect the widening interest of persons in the Columbus area," Dr. Hackel said, "as well as the needs of those persons who are looking for beginning courses in the creative areas such as music and painting."

"The 1972 Presidential Election: Analyses, Forecasts and Interpretation", should be of special interest to many. The course, a once-in-four-years event, will discuss the general pattern of political behavior in the U.S. emphasizing the unfolding events surrounding the 1972 Presidential Election.

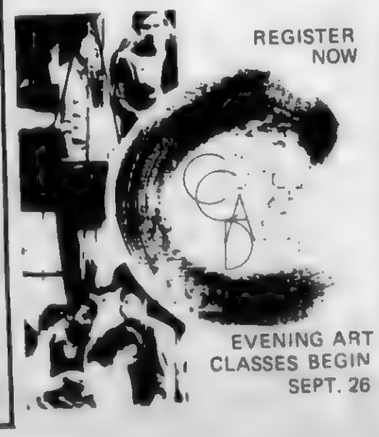
"Humanities of the Sea", a multi-disciplinary course co-sponsored by the Navy League and the Oceanic Educational Foundation, is one of the newest additions to the non-credit course offerings. A number of nationally known experts and scholars will present lectures on topics such as the history, economics, politics and environmental factors of the ocean.

A CAPSULIZED study of the Black American, "Introduction to the Black Experience", will examine the history of Blacks in this country from 1600 to the present. Some of the topics include- Black contributions, separatism vs. integration, White Justice, and African heritage.

Two courses of particular interest to women have been added to the offerings: "Women and Media Images" and "Twentieth Century Feminist Writers". The former course will look at the reality of the woman's role as contrasted to the woman's image created in advertising, literature, television and other media. Consideration will be given as to how to change such images.

In the latter course writers from this country and Europe will be discussed, including Simone de Beauvoir, Virginia Woolf, Germaine Greer and Betty Friedan.

FOR THOSE persons interested in adopting children, in the adoptive process, or who may already have adopted children, a special course on "The Changing Face of Adoption" will be offered. Community leaders who may be in positions of counseling persons interested in adopting children, particularly special needs children, will find this course of special value.



Topics include legal and social aspects, psychological adjustments of both parents and children, and bi-racial adoptions. All of the metropolitan area's agencies which place children for adoption are cooperating in the course, along with community leaders knowledgeable in the field.

"Work Motivation and Performance Appraisal" and "Organizational Effectiveness" are two other of the Autumn Quarter courses and both will offer specific information related to how people behave and can improve themselves in their employment settings.

ALSO INCLUDED in the Autumn offerings are beginning and intermediate painting, piano classes, "English as a Second Language" for students who need the basics of spoken and written English, newswriting and creative writing.

Each class is held one night weekly for the 10 weeks of the Autumn Quarter, beginning the first week in October. The classes run from 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Additional information about all of the classes and registration procedures may be obtained from the Division of Continuing Education, Non-Credit Office in the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, or by calling 422-2947. Brochures are available upon request.

ETNA ROAD

The usual softball games were played and the daily arts and crafts program included the making of clay pottery, boxes from popcicle sticks and painting pictures.

KAE AVENUE

Kae Avenue's representatives in the City-Wide Checker Tournament will be: Girls (9-12) Carolyn Ballenger, (13-15) Ida Aldridge, (16-18) Eva Ballenger; Boys (9-12) Jimmy Knox, (13-15) Terry Rhinehart, (16-18) Phill Powell.

The softball team lost two straight games in the city tournament, but still has hopes of repeating as the City Kickball Champs in this week's tournament.

ADULT RECREATION NEWS

The Whitehall Recreation Department is forming a bowling league this winter.

The league will be at Holiday Lanes in Whitehall and bowling will be on Sunday nights at 8:30 p.m Bowling will begin October 1, but a league meeting will be held on September 24 at 1 p.m. at Holiday Lanes.

The cost of bowling will be $1.95 per person, and the league will last 30 weeks.

The league is open to couples and a team will consist of two couples. The league will be sanctioned by ABC and WIBC and cost of sanctioning is $2.55 for men and $1.60 for women.

Anyone interested should contact Marge Bryant at 239-0517 or Teresa Frye at 237-7813.

This league will be filled on a first come first served basis, so anyone interested should call as soon as possible. Attendance is mandatory at the league meeting, where rules and regulations will be discussed and the election of officers will be held. Senior Citizens are welcomed and encouraged.

'Fun Fling' Set At T&C Center

A final "fun fling" for small fry before that fateful return to school has been scheduled Friday and Saturday at the Town and Country Shopping Center.

All Friday afternoon Rollo, a Ringling Brothers' circus clown, will journey up and down the center walks doing his thing – blowing balloons into fantastic animal shapes.

The annual Kid's Amateur Dog Show is set for Friday at 6 p.m. with Rollo entertaining before hand.

The Phil-Jac Kennels will stage a Guard Dog Obedience Demonstration Saturday (2:30 and 4:30 p.m.) near the Richman's store.

Free rides on an old horse-drawn railroad station wagon and free popcorn will add to the fun.

Club and organizational news should be sent to the Spectator by Thursday noon.

Zena's - Supermarket For The Unique

When you enter a gift shop you expect to find the unique. But at Zena's Gift Shop, 887 S. Hamilton Rd., you are literally overwhelmed by the unusual.

OF SPECIAL interest are the large coin and stamp collection, the antique doll collection and a doll "hospital."

The coin and stamp collection is operated by Mr. Licavoli, a recognized authority in stamp collecting, and Charles Lephart, a long-standing and active member of the Columbus Philatelic Association.

Although all of the stamps have not as yet been unpacked, Lephart explained that the collection includes complete sheets of United Nations, Vatican and Israel releases plus all first-day covers and most imprint blocks and plate blocks.

THE SHOP also has a good collection of early U.S., early mint U.S. and older U.S. stamps including plate blocks.

Other assorted foreign collections plus all types of postcards and envelopes make for an assortment that will interest even the most avid collector.

The coin collection (although only partially displayed as of now) is quite extensive, assures Lephart. Features of the collection are an early-run 1796 half-dollar and an unidentified 1672 German coin.

THE DOLL "hospital" is a first-time public service for Columbus. Madame Perri has previously only worked for private collectors.

All repairs on dolls are done by hand and then only after researching the doll to insure repairs and new costumes are authentic.

Repairs can be quite time-consuming and Madame Perri will not release a doll until she is completely satisfied with the repairs.

IN ADDITION to rejuvenating antique dolls, Madame Perri offers reproductions of antique dolls, Bisque and china.

Papier mache, wax and cloth reproductions will be available at a later date – and original creations as time permits.

If you're looking for that unusual gift – possibily something with the continental touch – a rare addition to your stamp or coin collection or just enjoy browsing through aisle after aisle of unique creations, try Zena's.

ONE WORD of caution, however. If you plan to stop in during a lunch hour, you had better dream up a good excuse. There's so much to see, it's likely you'll be late getting back to work.

Achievement! Thru Adult Education

This edition is designed to aid you in selecting a school in which you may secure further desired training, and to help you in finding employment suited to your skills and training. May we suggest that you keep it for future reference.

Crafts Term Begins Soon

The Columbus Recreation Department's Adult Arts and Crafts Center has long been active in community cultural development. The Center provides the citizens of Columbus with a workshop for creative expression, development, and fellowship.

A wide variety of classes taught by skilled professionals are open to all adults starting with the fall term (Sept. 11).

THE CENTER is one of the few places one can learn Enameling, a method of applying porcelain enamel to copper and silver. Simple raising of bowls and plates, jewelry, and decorative panels are a few of the things that can be made in this class.

The ancient art of Batik (a method of fabric decoration using hot wax and dyes) is another class which is gaining in popularity.

A VERY fine class in Jewelry covers all techniques of working in silver and gold, semi-precious stones, and various natural materials.

Registration may be made by calling the Art Center (221-8602) or picking up a schedule during the hours of operation (1 p.m.-10 p.m.). The Center is located at 734 Oak St., in an old firehouse.

Worthington Will Offer 31 Choices

Registration for Worthington's Adult Education Fall term will close Wednesday, Sept. 13.

The upcoming term, which runs from Sept. 25 through Nov. 16, includes the following courses:

(con't. on next pg.)

CBU Offers Mini Courses

Short courses, designed especially for those who wish to reactivate old skills or those who wish to quickly develop marketable skills, will be offered again this fall by Columbus Business University's evening school.

Starting Sept. 26, the "mini" courses are: "Mini Secretarial," "Mini Receptionist-Clerk-Typist" and "Mini Bookkeeping."

Classes meet two evenings a week, and those entering in the Fall quarter will graduate in March with a certificate of fulfillment of the course requirements.

"It is the opportunity for both men and women to gain skills that lead to secure and well-paying jobs in a very reasonable length of time," according to Richard Miller, director of CBU.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

1972-73 Goal; Closing The Adult Education Gap

(EDS. NOTE – Stanley R. Borenstein is the outgoing president ('71-'72 term) of the Central Ohio Adult Education Association. Below, Borenstein both looks back over the past year and ahead to the challenge of 1972-73 in Adult Education).

BY STANLEY BORENSTEIN

Columbus and the nation's emphasis in recent years in the area of adult education has appeared to emphasize the recreation needs of our community and country.

There have been retraining programs and vocational training programs for the adult in recent years but the programs that have brought the registrants to our public and privates classes have, as often as not been in the area of Ceramics, Art, Handicrafts etc. with generalized training such as typing, English and business courses adding their weight.

IN GENERAL, the big gap has been on graduate evening training for adults. Only recently has OSU even beckoned in the area of recognition here by stating that it might look into more openings for part-time and evening students.

The neglected person is quite often the man or woman in mid-career and mid-life. He is too old for full-time undergraduate training on a college level or technical school simply because he lacks the finances. He is too young for the crafts and recreation because he is too possessed with the problems of making a living and raising a family. He can not afford to go back to school.

Until now, those seeking graduate degrees who have families and need to study at night have mainly had to commute to Xavier in Cincinnati or other distant points on Saturdays and evenings because of the gross neglect of our local higher education institutions. We have had tokenism in terms of attention to this problem by those dealing with education in our community.

WE CAN NOT blame them, however. Too often, the twin demons of superficial requirements aimed for the young, first-time college students (like residence requirements, physical education, required courses that do not meet the needs of today etc.) and the lack of financial aid for the adult have made college administrators look the other way.

When the Federal government made a pilot experiment in retraining engineers designed for a few hundred students, tens of thousands of applicants applied. The need is here—the means are lacking.

It was only this past February that Mrs. Bella Abzug introduced H.R. 13376 in the 92nd Congressional session which makes a feeble attempt (but the best so far) to find training and jobs for the middle and older age citizen.

EVEN THIS does not do what is needed - the setting up of a "G.I. Bill" for those 45 years or older. It does establish a Department of Labor bureau known as the Midcareer Development Service.

I would like to see legislation in Congress making it possible for anyone 40 or over to take courses at government expense in the evening or weekend if they are working and during the day if they are not.

I would like to see an allowance for full-time students and a dependency allotment. For part-time students, I would like to see an allotment for books, tuition and maybe even a modest grant.

LEARNING should never stop. It becomes more expensive and more difficult in the years between 25 and the retirement age. When one retires, there is a slight decline in financial tensions. Before 25, there is usually less family financial pressures.

Must we lose our best managerial, supervisory and technical talents because of the economic stresses of a poor economy? It is time for a G.I. Bill of Rights for adult education especially for those beyond the college age of the

"No one ever finishes his education," says Joseph F. Frasch, president of Franklin University, Columbus' only metropolitan university.

"The person who thinks of graduation from high school or college as the point of completion of his education will be only partly educated. Education," says the president of mid-Ohio's second largest university, "begins at birth and continues throughout life."

FOR THE PAST 72 years, Franklin has offered individual course study, and degree programs in the day or evening hours. Recently, Franklin has offered "early-bird" courses on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 7 a.m.

"These courses are popular with the students," says admissions director Gene Marshall. "The early classes allow the student to get his class time in before reporting to work. He's much fresher in the morning and ready to absorb the lectures."

Almost two-thirds of Franklin's 3200 student body attends evening classes and on Saturday morning and afternoon hours. About 90 percent of Franklin's day students are employed and 99 percent of the evening students have full time employment.

THE UNIVERSITY'S entire course program is geared toward the student who earns his way and continues his learning process. Day students are able to work because their classes are lumped in morning hours and their afternoon and evening hours are free, except for study time.

Day classes meet five mornings each week for one hour each morning. Evening classes meet one night a week for three consecutive hours and carry three hours of credit.

"We try to make our university, people-oriented," says Frasch. "Social and technical forces are combining to make certain occupations obsolete within our lifetime," he comments, "We adapt our courses of instruction to meet those situations.

"SO FAR, our open enrollment system has worked well; it permits persons to do certain things and later come back into the educational system and learn new techniques or a completely new field."

Franklin operates a general college and a technical college. The general college program includes accounting, business administration and industrial management.

The technical curriculum offers electronics engineering, engineering drawing, construction drawing and engineering technology. In both of these colleges a two-year Associate of Science or four-year

OSU Evening Offerings Span Interest Spectrum

FROM ELECTION TO OCEAN

Sixteen non-credit evening courses, covering such widely divergent fields as current social and civil rights movements, work motivation, and man and the world ocean, will be offered this fall by the Division of Continuing Education at the Ohio State University.

The courses, some of which will be held in the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow at 2400 Olentangy River Rd., are part of the University's on-going programs which are designed to serve the needs of those persons in the community who wish to continue their educations, but who are not seeking degrees, according to Dr. Alan S. Hackel, Associate Director of the Division.

"THE COURSES this Autumn Quarter reflect the widening interest of persons in the Columbus area," Dr. Hackel said, "as well as the needs of those persons who are looking for beginning courses in the creative areas such as music and painting."

"The 1972 Presidential Election: Analyses, Forecasts and Interpretation", should be of special interest to many. The course, a once-in-four-years event, will discuss the general pattern of political behavior in the U.S. emphasizing the unfolding events surrounding the 1972 Presidential Election.

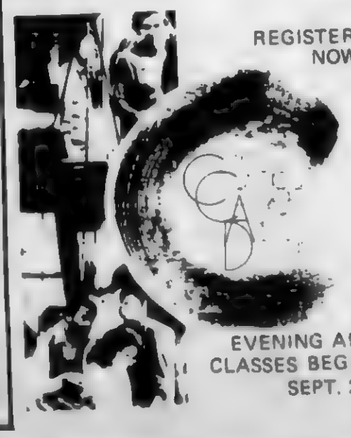
"Humanities of the Sea", a multi-disciplinary course co-sponsored by the Navy League and the Oceanic Educational Foundation, is one ot the newest additions to the non-credit course offerings. A number of nationally known experts and scholars will present lectures on topics such as the history, economics, politics and environmental factors of the ocean.

A CAPSULIZED study of the Black American, "Introduction to the Black Experience", will examine the history of Blacks in this country from 1600 to the present. Some of the topics include Black contributions, separatism vs. integration, White Justice, and African heritage.

Two courses of particular interest to women have been added to the offerings: "Women and Media Images" and "Twentieth Century Feminist Writers". The former course will look at the reality of the woman's role as contrasted to the woman's image created in advertising, literature, television and other media. Consideration will be given as to how to change such images.

In the latter course writers from this country and Europe will be discussed, including Simone de Beauvoir, Virginia Woolf, Germaine Greer and Betty Friedan.

FOR THOSE persons interested in adopting children, in the adoptive process, or who may already have adopted children, a special course on "The Changing Face of Adoption" will be offered. Community leaders who may be in positions of counseling persons interested in adopting children, particularly special needs children, will find this course of special value.



Topics include legal and social aspects, psychological adjustments of both parents and children, and bi-racial adoptions. All of the metropolitan area's agencies which place children for adoption are cooperating in the course, along with community leaders knowledgeable in the field.

"Work Motivation and Performance Appraisal" and "Organizational Effectiveness" are two other of the Autumn Quarter courses and both will offer specific information related to how people behave and can improve themselves in their employment settings.

ALSO INCLUDED in the Autumn offerings are beginning and intermediate painting, piano classes, "English as a Second Language" for students who need the basics of spoken and written English, newswriting and creative writing.

Each class is held one night weekly for the 10 weeks of the Autumn Quarter, beginning the first week in October. The classes run from 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Additional information about all of the classes and registration procedures may be obtained from the Division of Continuing Education, Non-Credit Office in the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, or by calling 422-2947. Brochures are available upon request.

Self-Improvement Courses Offer Wide Variety

Some adult education courses offered by Columbus Public Schools are not necessarily vocationally oriented.

In fact, a few of the courses in the "Adult Self Improvement Program are primarily for fun. In this category, for example are "Know Football," "Gourmet Cooking" and "Pioneer Arts and Crafts which teaches the skills practiced two centuries ago.

Registration for all courses will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 12 and 14 in seven area high schools.

These schools are Brookhaven, Eastmoor, Marion-Franklin, North, Walnut Ridge, Whetstone and West.

Classes will begin at these high schools and at specialized facilities Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 26 and 28. The addition centers are the Adult Education and Schools Services Center, 52 Starling; Trades and Industries Center, 278 E. Spring St., and the Center of Science and Industry, 280 E. Broad St.

The fees, usually $15 or $20 are reduced by half for persons 65 or older.

Classes will be cancelled if enrollment is insufficient.

The only course offered other than on Tuesdays and Thursdays is Driver Education for which the fee is $60. It will be given at North High School on Saturday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon.

It is designed to prepare adults to take the state drivers license examination and a temporary drivers license is necessary before the student can actually drive.

The following classes are tentatively offered on Tuesdays. Unless otherwise specified the courses meet for from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for 10 sessions from Sept. 26 through Nov. 28.

Business Degree Is One New ODC Dimension

It used to be the three R's - readin', writin' and 'rithmetic ... but times have changed ... everywhere!

At Ohio Dominican College, the Continuing Education Division (formerly the Evening Division) now themes its work with "Lifelong Learning."

RICHARD R. Teaff, director of the CED at Ohio Dominican, today outlined recent steps his division has taken to meet the needs of the community – the business community as well as those of the average citizen.

"For the first time it will be possible for ODC evening students to qualify for a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration," Teaff explained. Perhaps one of the prime factors which made this possible is the establishment of the Xavier University Master of Business Administration Center at Ohio Dominican College, which will open Aug. 28, on the 1216 Sunbury Rd., ODC campus.

While the MBA classes will be taught by fulltime Xavier University faculty members, and the graduate degrees granted by Xavier, the Continuing Education Division of Ohio Dominican is providing such undergraduate courses as required for admission to the program.

ADDITIONALLY, Teaff's division drew suggestions for courses to serve various employee groups from leaders of local firms who attended the Business-Industry-Ohio Dominican Curriculum Forum in June.

As a result of one suggestion, courses in the biological and chemical fields and evening classes in Analytical Chemistry will be offered during Fall Semester.

Workshops, in-service training programs as well as expansion of evening degree programs to fields other than business administration are on the drawing boards, Teaff said, as are visiting professor programs whereby specific courses will be taken to places of employment as a service to employees of various companies in the area.

OHIO DOMINICAN offers more evening fully-accredited, undergraduate liberal arts courses than any Central Ohio college or university.

Registrations for credit courses are now being received.

Thirty-seven credit courses will be included in the Fall Semester evening curriculum at Ohio Dominican. They include classes in art, chemistry, economics and business administration, education, English, history, library science, mathematics, music, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, religious studies, sociology, modern early twenties and the retirement age.

Of course, I would like to see a G.I. Bill for all college students but this is the age when retraining and the financial burden makes financial assistance the most crucial. There are usually no parents to help ease the financial burden and the children themselves are struggling.

THE MIDDLE-AGE learning adult has to struggle. We should find ways of helping. Most scholarship grants are too small to help such students. It is time that the Federal government steps in with an assist in this area.

Anyone interested in strengthening the intellectual and technical growth of our country–regardless of age–should start exerting their influence and voices now. Congressmen and others should not be allowed to sleep the time while technical, professional and managerial talents are wasted away by a neglect of adult education.

Local institutions should also do their part to expand opportunities as do many far-sighted business concerns who subsidize advance training for their employees because they know that their own business will benefit in the long run.

IN THE long run our country and community will benefit by increased adult education.

Columbus Tech Adds 'Continuing Education'

Because of the increased interest in Columbus Technical Institute's evening program, a Division of Continuing Education was recently created.

"COLUMBUS Tech's Division of Continuing Education encompasses an associate degree program and special courses," CTI president Clinton E. Tatsch explains. This fall enrollment in these programs is expected to reach over 1500 students.

Adults entering the degree program may complete all course work and receive an associate degree in applied business or applied science in one of 13 areas. General Education courses in the area of math, communication skills, basic and behavioral sciences also may be taken. Last spring Columbus Tech graduated its first student who completed all his course work in the evening.

For the first time this year Columbus Tech is offering one-year certificate courses in Electronic Services Technology and Mechanical Drafting Technology.

ADULTS MAY take special programs without formal enrollment at Columbus Tech. These courses, according to Dr. Tatsch, were designed to meet needs of the community and they vary from reading development to private police school to childbirth classes.

Information regarding Columbus Tech's Continuing Education Division can be obtained by writing the college at 550 E. Spring St., Columbus, Ohio, 43215 or by phoning the college at 221-6743 (ext. 24).

Bachelor of Science degree is offered.

FINANCIAL assistance is available for eligible students in the form of the Ohio Instructional Grants Program and often through the students' own company. Many firms and businesses finance all or part of the tuition and some even pay the textbook costs. Veterans receive tuition reimbursement under the veterans educational assistance program.

Franklin also recognizes those persons who have acquired their education in nontraditional ways by demonstrating what they have learned through the College-Level Examination Program (CLEP). This is a nationally recognized program.

It enables those who have reached the college level through independent study such as correspondence study, on-the-job training and experience, to assess their achievement. Advance college credit is given depending on the student's scores on the examination.

ADDITIONAL FACULTY members, including those who have earned their Ph.D., recently have been added to Franklin's teaching staff. Faculty members devote their time to teaching and individual counseling with students. One of the main goals of Franklin is the strong tie between theory and practical application.

Admissions information can be obtained by visiting, writing or calling the university at 201 S. Grant Ave., from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Fridays and on Saturday until 3 p.m.

Franklin fits your way of learning.

Franklin University is a college with a difference — where our schedules can be adapted to fit yours, not yours to fit ours.

Even if you work and you're interested in continuing your education, chances are good you can arrange a full schedule at Franklin University. Our curricula include Accounting, Business Administration, Industrial Management, Engineering Technology, Engineering and Construction Drawing and Electronics.

We offer two- and four-year degrees in day and evening course programs. All courses combine practical experience with academic theory. Transfer students are welcome, of course.

Since 1902, we've been trying harder to help our students—old enough for tradition, young enough for change. Maybe that's why we're the second largest educational institution in Central Ohio.

Management Program Expands At Cap

Capital University's Management Development Program begins its 17th year this fall with an expanded selection of courses.

Sponsored by the University's business administration and economics department, the program will offer a choice of 15 courses. Six of those courses will be offered in the evening hours.

Of the total number of courses six will also serve to partially satisfy admission requirements for Capital's recently announced MBA program.

According to Associate Professor O. Henry Hoversten, chairman of the business administration and economics department, daytime courses have been scheduled in time periods which will give employees working the second or third shift an opportunity to enroll. Evening courses will run from 5 to 7 and 7 to 9 p.m. two days a week, and daytime courses will meet four days each week for one hour sessions.

Fall term classes begin Tuesday, Sept. 5. The management program will also be offered during the spring term, with classes beginning Feb. 13.

Courses offered during the fall semester include those which deal with the five areas of concentration in Capital's Business Administration and Economics Curriculum, namely accounting, marketing, management, economics and general business.

A full schedule of courses and times is available by contacting the Capital University registrar's office or R. L. Compton, assistant professor of business administration and economics, who is serving as coordinator of the management program.

Management development courses carry full academic credit and are part of the regular business administration and economics curriculum offered at Capital. All courses are taught by members of the Capital faculty.

Upon satisfactory completion of eight courses, a student will be awarded the Management Development Certificate. In addition, all credits earned may be applied toward a bachelor's degree.

Tuition is $250 per course. Applicants, if not already enrolled at Capital must meet admission requirements before they can register for the management courses. For details, contact the registrar's office at 236-6708.

Students already enrolled at Capital may register for the program from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. daily, except Saturday. Two extended registration periods have also been scheduled: Tuesday, Aug. 29 from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., and on Saturday, Sept. 2 from 9 a.m. until noon.

languages, and speech and theatre.

IN ADDITION Teaff's division, as a special community service, has scheduled three new non-credit courses for which registration will open Sept. 1.

"Investing for Beginners," to be taught by Michael M. Wagner, B.A. in Business Administration, broker with Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis, is non-credit and is designed to present the fundamentals of putting dollars to work in stocks, bonds or mutual funds.

Designed for the inexperienced as well as the experienced investor, the course is intended to help participants evaluate and plan their investments in America's business. Eight Monday sessions will meet from 7 to 8 p.m., beginning Oct. 2.

ANOTHER non-credit ODC evening offering will be "Self-Image Psychology: The Psyche of Self Expression." The course, to be taught by Clemens L. Bartellas, B.A., B.D., S.T.M., Ph.D. candidate, is intended to teach participants to "read" reactions of others through verbal and non-verbal means and to help individuals project a fuller self-image.

Body language, sensitivity training, stress reduction and subthreshold messages are among the areas of self-expression participants will cover in the five classes scheduled from 7 to 8:30 p.m., Tuesday evenings. The opening session will be Oct. 3.

The third non-credit evening course will be "Rights and Rsponsibilities: a Summary of Practical Law," which will meet from 7 to 8 p.m., Wednesday for eight successive weeks, beginning Oct. 4.

JAMES ALBERS, J.D., attorney at law, will instruct the participants in contemporary law, underscoring the individual's legal rights to provide participants with protection against costly legal involvements.

It is designed to help individuals answer legal questions for themselves. A wide variety of topics will be covered including discussions about marriage, contracts, divorce, negligence, wills and others.

Teaff concluded: "It is our determination to make learning a lifelong activity. We are revising our evening curriculum to reflect community needs. I urge anyone who has an educational need to contact us. We will survey the community to determine the number who are interested in the subject. If at all possible, we will schedule the course."

FOR INFORMATION on admission, registration and tuition for credit or non-credit evening courses which will be offered by the Continuing Education Division at Ohio Dominican College, or to suggest courses for later scheduling, write the division at 1216 Sunbury Rd., or phone 253-2741.

Busche School Offers Modeling Versatility

The Kathleen Busche Prestige School at 1720 E. Broad St. was organized to meet the growing needs of progressive stores and other related fashion organizations for personnel capable of promoting their products.

The problem has been specifically designed to equip young people who have the ambition, personality and background to qualify successfully for a rewarding career, and to place them in lines of activity which lead to the interesting positions and the potential for increasing advancement.

EACH BUSCHE student is regarded as a distinctive individual whose abilities are to be developed and channeled during their schooling, so that they will be able to take their place in the business world with assurance and competence.

The majority of the classes are small. The curriculum provides a general understanding of the business field. It gives the student ample opportunity, through numerous practice sessions, to apply knowledge to practical assignments.

In this manner students are prepared so well for actual work situations that they make rapid progress in their careers after graduation.

IN ADDITION frequent conferences with the instructors and guest lecturers give the student expert, personal direction, during the vital formative period of their professional education.

Named Chairman

JAMES T. FOLEY, vice president-general manager of the Nationwide Development Company, has been named chairman of the Men's Division of the HOPE Ball. The annual event is designed to provide funds for Project HOPE.

East Playground News

This playground season has been a very successful one for the Columbus Recreation Department's Far East Playgrounds. All the playground leaders of this section would like to express a sincere "thank you" to all the children and parents who helped make this a successful season.

BARNETT

BARNETT WAS exceptionally lively this week. Most of the kids anxiously awaited the day of the pageant, especially our stars Valerie and Jeff Headley, Terry Davaney and Paul McIllwaine.

Everyone worked hard getting our program ready.

The next big event is the lantern parade and everyone is invited to attend. The leaders at Barnett would like to thank everyone for coming out and making our summer program a successful and enjoyable one and wish everybody good luck in school this coming year.

SCOTTWOOD

ON THURSDAY the 10th Scottwood playground invited the teens (11 and over) of Courtright over for an inter-playground party.

Approximately 75 teens turned out for the softball, volleyball, group party games and dancing. Refreshments were supplied by each of the teenagers.

In the next week and a half our closing activity will be the Lantern Parade which will center around the theme of wildlife preservation.

The junior boys softball team advanced to the city tournament after beating Pinecrest 18-2.

PINECREST

THE ANNUAL Lantern Parade for Pinecrest school will be at the Far East Recreation Center on Aug. 21. Children are asked to save plastic milk cartons or bleach bottles and bring them to the playground today.

Playground leaders Gary Garver, Judy Hubbel and Sandy Wolter would like to thank all those who participated in the program this summer and helped make it an enjoyable season.

JAMES ROAD

THIS WEEK'S girls softball game remained at 6-2 in favor of Barnett after a strong downpour. We will be playing a skrimage to end the season.

Recognition for the season goes to Anita Lawson, Dorothy Dowler, Tina Dowler, Kathy Dowler, Kelly Pyne, Lisa Sindel, Terri Woods, Joan Fitzsimons, Karen Dickson, Nancy Sittig, Theresa Jones and Kim Pyne.

We will be making lanterns for the parade on Aug. 21 this week. Arts and crafts will also be making baskets, closepin puppets, wood structures, paper bag heads and paper machie crafts.

Ed Chappetta was winner of our ping pong tournament.

The intermediate boys finished a fine season winning their league in a tough playoff with Fairmoor 5-3. The team lost to James Road in the sectional 10-6.

Senior boys are headed for the city tournament still undefeated.

COURTRIGHT

COURTRIGHT'S JUNIOR girls completed their softball season undefeated and earned the right to participate in the city tournament.

In their final game they beat Fairmoor 20-0. Kris Kramer hit two homeruns and Cindi Graybill and Sandy Springsteen each hit one.

On Tuesday, Aug. 22 at 6:15 p.m. farewell of this season will be said via a pizza party. Those wishing to attend should bring the leaders either 10 nickle pop bottles or 50 cents.

FAIRMOOR

FAIRMOOR CHILDREN who qualified for AAU junior physical fitness awards are Diane Ashburn, Chip Ayotte, Cindy Hutton, Michele Buckley, Kelly Ayotte, Julie Jolliff, Debbie Ashburn, Robert Burlingame, Michelle Russell, Charles Gordon, Roger Ruggles, Tom Jones, Bill Hoffman, and Shelby Williams.

The girls intermediate softball team beat Pinecrest and Barnett. They beat Easthaven and won the sectional championship.

Those going to day camp are: Debbie Roberts, Bruce Case, Diane Ashburn, Donna Bouchard, Kevin Case, Wayne Roberts, Susan Bouchard, Billy Hoffman, Debbie Ashburn, Billy Gilcrest and Karen Tew.

EASTHAVEN

THIS WEEK both of the softball teams were victorious. The intermediate boys cinched second in their league by defeating Barnett. Our intermediate girls won their league by winning over Berwick. The score was 17-10 with the help of tremendous hitting by Nancy Warner, Patty Law and Kim Palmer.

The team lost to Fairmoor 17-7.

LEAWOOD

THIS THURSDAY, Leawood will have an ice-cream party. We will be serving homemade ice cream and the children will be making their own.

Those in our skit on Monday were Jean Jones, Liz Jones, Bart Newman, Carleen West, Tom Friedly, Sue Friedly, Sophia Lucas, Beth Hassons, Janice Cooper, Marce Capalino, Bart Trien, Robin King, Jackie Holmes, Matt Gioia, Mark Besset, Kirk Pennington, Kam Grandstaff.

Tonight at 6:30 Leawood will host a father-son softball game.

BERWICK

SINCE THIS is the last time we will be reporting to you, we would like to congratulate and thank the members of our four fine softball teams.

Our intermediategirls were: Jane Bosworth, Sharon DiSabito, Kathy Feeney, Cheri Hicks, Angie Horton, Carolyn Kropp, Cinday Kuhner, Marsha McNally, Lisa Murray, Sharon Proper, Trancy Quint, Sharon Ritchie, Carmen Sims, Tina Latorre, Terri Van Eman, Kathy Wirthman , and Sue Woerner.

Those on the junior girls were: Regina Bollinger, Cicie Claprood, Mary Galloway, Crystal Griffin, Jackie and Venet Ireland, Debby Johnson, Debby Levine, Chris and Linda Malone, Melissa and Mary Ellen Messmer, Julie Mittman, Colleen O'Donnel, Debby Plotnick, Julie Winkel, Lisa Wirth, Jenny Wirthman and Sally Zacks.

Intermediate boys finished with a 7-0 record and team members are Jim Andriuff, Mike Gordon, Jim Michael, Doug Parker, Ed Parker, Kevin Scholz, Nick Volosin, Ed Nolin, Dave Nollenver, Mark Rapenport, Jeff Nayheny, Jack Reynolds and Kurt Mayo.

Congratulations are also in order for the following girls work did a fine job on the pageant. There are Terry Baumann, Cicie Claprood, Jackie Ireland, Debby Levine, Sus McNamara, Tina Ruan, Amy and Cindy Sites.

WILLIS PARK

OUR PET show highlighted the week at Willis Park. Many pets in many costumes were exhibited.

The intermediate boys challenged the intermediate girls to a softball game this past week. The boys won with Mark Hale, Greg Ammerman and D.J. Richards pacing the attack.

Coming events to look forward to at the playground include the Lantern Parade next Monday at Far East. All Children interested are invited to construct lanterns and participate.

FAR EAST

ON MONDAY the 21st, the sectional lantern parade will be at our center. Youngsters from 12 playgrounds will assemble at the park at 7 p.m. At dusk candles will be lit and the youngsters will march around the pond.

A farewell park will be at the center on Friday the 18th. All parents and friends are invited to the cookout beginning at 5 p.m. After dinner there will be games and contests and prizes. Sign up now with the leaders.

OAKMONT

August 22 at 7 p.m. the playground will sponsor a pizza party. All those wishing to attend are asked to bring five returnable soft drink bottles or 25 cents to the leaders by the 21st.

The lantern parade will be at Far East on the 21st at 7 p.m. Oakmont will make their lanterns this week.

A paddle tennis tournament was held Aug. 10 and 11. Lynn Callendar and Margaret Tawscher won the girls. Carlton Miller and David Doyle won in the boys division. A doubles paddle tennis tournament will be held tomorrow.

MAYBURY

MAYBURN'S INTERMEDIATE boys and girls plus junior boys and girls won all their season games and are now playing in the city tournament.

The pet show had a great turnout. The winner of some of the awards were Chris Meinhart, Theresa and Julie Blank, Tammy Herald, Chris Chapman, Karen Butler, Regina Benson, Luanne Lilly, Melisa Madden, Mark Madden, Paul Chick, and Nancy Evans.

OLDE ORCHARD

OLDE ORCHARD junior girls went down to Maybury by a score of 20-12.

Standouts in boys softball were Tom Stavroff, Ed Zoog, James Gang, Mick Jaegger Huskey and many thanks to all the rest.

Standouts on the girls team were Debbie Dunfee, Lori Wilkins, Diane Vennerro, Robin Muldoon, Lisa Brown, Mary Beth Donaldson, Karen Deeble, Edie Levine, Kay Bower, and Jakie Barnett

WOODCREST

THE MAGICAL mystery tour was Woodcrest's skit Monday night and was a big success.

Congratulations to performers Melody Carter, Jana Berry, Nancy Mentes, Shelly Fishkind, Sally Wardlow and Ann Williams.

Woodcrest youngsters will be making lanterns for the parade next Monday.

Our theme is Sea World and lanterns will represent types of fish and sea animals.

SHADY LANE

SHADY LANE playground activities were highlighted this week by a boys and girls softball game—with the girls winning.

For the past week Shady Lane rehearsed for the pageant which was at the Ohio Theatre.

Salt Victory Knots Old Timers' Chase

Brad Salt dumped erstwhile frontrunner Christ Lutheran Church in last week's Bexley Old Timers action, to throw the league title chase into a three-way deadlock.

Bill Burke collected three hits as Salt hung a 9-4 defeat on the Lutherans—their first in second round play. The win upped Salt's slate to 3-1 and earned 'em a share of the top spot.

ALSO CLIMBING into contention was first-round king Central Ohio Welding. The Welders waited out Tuesday's showers to pick up a forfeit win over Dollar Federal, and that boosted them to a 3-1 mark.

In the other contest, Susil Construction got by the Pussycats 13-10 as Ted Flickinger banged out four safeties and teammates Bud Susil and Roger Ruth collected three apiece.

Sig Munster and Jim Merkle got three each in the losing cause.

BY THE TIME the Old Timers had finished, a steady downpour had started and it eventually forced the whole Under Thirty League schedule to run for cover.

Those contests are being made up as possible, and the title pictures in both loops should be pretty well decided by press time next week.

'Orangemen' Capture Bexley Midget Flag

Montrose "B" came from behind in the final frame to defeat Cassingham "A" 8-7 last Saturday and take the Bexley Midget League title.

The Montrose club finished with a 4-1 slate, a game in front of Maryland "B" after rallying from a 7-5 deficit in the last inning of their finale.

JEFF FERRELL doubled home Chris Durst for the first tally, Tracey Peters singled, then Steve Miller lashed a bad-hop double off the face of Cassingham rightfielder Rick Vogel to plate the tying and winning runs.

Bobby Sanford's pair of triples were the high point for the losers.

Maryland "B" took a 7-6 squeaker over Montrose "A" behind the two-for-two batting performances of Brett Flickinger, Johnny Pike and Steve Nickerson.

CASSINGHAM "B" took an 11-7 verdict from Maryland "A" in the other game. The winners got five runs in the first inning and five more in the third, then hung on for the win.

Howard Torch, John Zelkowitz and Terry Gibboney all had two hits for Cassingham; Andy Davidson and Doug Lunsford did likewise for Maryland.

After the three-game card was completed, all six teams and their families headed for Jeffrey Park and a picnic supper.

Pin League Opens Sept. 11

Bexley's Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor a Mixed Bowling League on Monday nights this fall at the Jewish Center lanes on College Ave.

The league, which will open Sept. 11 at 8:30 p.m., has room for 12 teams of men and women over 18, four bowlers per team.

Costs is $2.25 per person per night, shoes are free. The league will run till April 2.

Anyone interested in signing up should contact the Department at 258-5755.

PROMOTED

Marine Sgt. Christopher F. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Fisher of 3984 E. Main St., was promoted to his present rank while serving at Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Jewish Center Cage Program Opens Early

The Jewish Center's '72-'73 Boys' Basketball program will begin Oct. 22 instead of the former January opening date; and players will get a chance to visit Capital U. practice sessions in two moves announced last week by the Center's boys basketball committee.

Other new wrinkles will include a Pioneer League for boys in fifth and sixth gade, and full uniforms for players in the regular boys' league.

Committee members include Mike Gurevitz, Bill Kuhn, Bob Feldman, Irv Flox, Mike Talis and Sandy Schwartz.

Registration for this year's cage program will be held Oct. 1-2 at 4 p.m.—fee will be $4 per player.

Bex. Youth Gridders Open Drills Monday

The new Bexley Youth Sports Association will hold a first practice session for its boys' tackle football program next Monday (Aug. 21) at 5 p.m.

Site will be the field between Cassingham and Cassady on Delmar Drive.

Program spokesman Pat Patterson says registrations are still open for Bexley boys only between the ages of 9 and 12 and weighing between 65 and 120 pounds.

PLANS ARE to drill the boys in fundamentals for several weeks before beginning an independent schedule against other Columbus-area little league clubs.

Interested boys should report to the Monday practice session.

Honors Ohio Hunters, Anglers

Governor John J. Gilligan recently proclaimed September 23, Hunting and Fishing Day in Ohio.

"Hunters and fishermen were among the first to be aware of environmental abuses and call for their elimination," Gilligan said. "Every citizen of Ohio should be aware of the invaluable contribution the hunters and fishermen of Ohio have made to the preservation of the state's environment."

Coaches, Officials Needed

Signups Set This Week For Bexley Rip-Flag Grid Loop

Men interested in coaching or assisting with the Bexley Boys Rip-Flag Football League are asked to call John Brennan at the office of the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department, 258-5755.

There will be twelve teams, six in each league. League A is for boys in grades five and six. League B for boys in grades three and four. Coaches may choose which league they want to work with, and practices are scheduled at the convenience of the individual team coaches.

THE LEAGUES will be organized on Sept. 9 at each school playground, and games will be played on Sunday afternoons starting Sept. 24 and ending Oct. 22 with championship games played on October 29th.

Boys interested in playing this fall may register at their nearest school playground. Fee for the program is $3, payable at the time of registration.

John Brennan, supervisor of recreation, will be at the school playgrounds to handle registration according to the following schedule: Maryland from 10 to 12 noon on Friday, Aug. 18; Cassingham from 10 to 12 noon on Monday, Aug. 21; Montrose from 10 to 12 noon on Tuesday, Aug. 22.

THOSE BOYS unable to register next week can sign up for the program on Saturday morning, September 9th. For further information, call the office (258-5755) week days.

A meeting of all Rip-Flag coaches has been scheduled for next Thursday (Aug. 24) at 7:30 in Jeffrey Mansion.

Riegle Twin Entry Early Scioto Pick

The Gene Riegle stable entry of Tarzan Hanover and Almonte Hanover head up an impressive field of seven starters in the $8,550 three yr-old pacing division of the Scarlet and Gray Cup Series Thursday night at Scioto Downs.

Both Riegle entries are by the 1962 Little Brown Jug winner, Lehigh Hanover, and both sophomores bring with them cconvincing credentials.

TARZAN HANOVER, owned by the Koehler Brothers of Findlay, Ohio and Alfred Spriggs of Ironton, Ohio, is the Season Champion 3 yr-old pacing gelding this year with a dazzling victory in 1:59 3-5 at Scioto on July 22.

Almonte Hanover, owned by Kamton, Inc. and James Wiggins of Columbus, won in 2:02 1-5 at Wolverine Raceway, and last week came within three fifths of a second of the track record at Urbana, winning the Champaign County Futurity in 2:02 4-5.

Town Leader, the brilliant bay son of Baron Hanover, won the second division of the Lord De War stake at Brandywine Racewy on July 14 for his lifetime mark of 1:59 1-5. Trained and driven by Dick Brandt, Town Leader paced the last half in :58 seconds for the thrilling victory..

FAST CLIP, the powerful bay son of Good Time, will be driven by Bruce Nickells. Last year Fast Clip took a time trial mark of 1:54 3-5 at Lexington, Kentucky, and this year has been clocked in 1:59 2-5, finishing behind Jay Time in his track record mile of 1:57 4-5.

Painter's Son, trained and reined by veteran Harry Baker, moves from a string of strong county fair performances to Scioto for Thursday's test. In eight starts on the fair circuit the speedy bay has posted five wins and two seconds.

Woodsboro Crain, driven by owner Bernie Offutt, and Bentom Bomber with Don Irvine in the bike round out Thursday's field.

Rams' Wilson With Ashland

Former Whitehall-Yearling grid standout Rusty Wilson will be battling for a varsity berth at Ashland College this fall according to the school's athletic department.

The 6-3, 280 pound offensive tackle was a three-year starter for the Rams, and a member of their '69 OCC title team. He earned moat valuable lineman honors in his senior season.

Ashland coach Fred Martinelli sees Wilson as "a real sleeper, with some added speed he should be a fine prospect."

Ashland opens its 11-game schedule Sept. 9 at Franklin (Ind.) College. First home contest is a Sept. 16 duel with Capital.

TRAINING

Navy Ensign Neil D. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baker of 1062 S. Hampton Rd., has completed Environmental Indoctrination School at Pensacola.

His training, which included aerodynamics, aviation physiology, engineering and land and sea survival, is part of a total of 18 months training leading to his designation as a Naval Aviator.

SUNDAY AUGUST 20 or THEREAFTER.
BEXLEY LOCATION

Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.

The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi. It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty-one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)
The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911.
A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.
And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.
We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.
We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.
And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look:
The way they work.

AROUND TOWN

THAT'S SHOW BIZ

The life of Robert F. Slatzer, former local ad agency owner, has been threatened, according to reports received from him in Hollywood.

Slatzer who was a well known man about town and well liked used to be a movie writter and producer before his return to Columbus many years ago. After his first stint in the film city, Slatzer sold advertising for the Old Columbus Citizen newspaper before opening his own successful advertising agency and prior to returning to the glamor city a few years ago.

It was while he was in Columbus that Slatzer established a close friendship with the famous Marilyn Monroe. He even had a special phone installed, so that MM could call him anytime day or night. The glamor girl made several trips to our city.

Slatzer, now based at Columbia Pictures, has written a book about Marilyn Monroe. Titled, "Sincerely, Marilyn Monroe." The book deals with the intimate life of the late sex symbol. In fact, there are even a few local names mentioned in the book.

The book was released this past Monday. According to the Hollywood film producer, Slatzer said that he "could only surmise that people in high places are afraid the never-before-told events in the life of Marilyn Monroe, who died ten years ago of drug poisoning, may be related in, "Sincerely, Marilyn Monroe."

Slatzer, 46, made his report to Hollywood police shortly before leaving for Santa Paula to be a pall bearer at the funeral of glamor girl Joi Lansing, 37, who died last Monday of cancer. She was co-star in Slatzer's latest film, "Bigfoot."

He has already hired two bodyguards, but alerted police after a man was beaten by unknown assaliants in the home of his publisher. They threatened to give Slatzer the same treatment "if that book comes out."

According to Slatzer, he has been warned on several occasions in the last few years against publishing the book. His studio offices have been burglarized of valuable research material on her life and tapes of her conversations with him were burned. However, some tapes were spared.

Slatzer added he has been long convinced that the blond film star did not take her own life, that she was "bubbling with life shortly before her death - completely over her depression." Slatzer has talked to her, less than 48 hours before her death from Columbus regarding her arrival here within a few days.

CLUB HOUSE:

There's another new restaurant in our area. This is one, folks, you don't want to miss. The food is absolutely excellent, the service is first - rate and the atmosphere is just plain easy-going. You won't find any better in all three categories anywhere.

I am referring to The Club House Restaurant, located five miles south of Scioto Downs, on U.S. Route 23, in Pickaway County. The place easily seats 150. If need be, they could seat a lot more because they don't crowd you on top of each other. The decor is a very elegant and relaxing. Besides the dining area, there is a beautiful little lounge area, a nice intimate bar, separate from the lounge and there is also a lovely party room that holds another 150.

Take my word for it, the casual atmosphere and beautiful appearance is well worth the trip.

But, here's what is really worth the trip the food. I started my dinner with a beautifully flavored cup of home made Frech onion soup. This is as good as you will find. The salad was certainly enjoyable and different from the run-of-the-mill salads you are served, even in the very expensive restaurants. It was a shrimp salad, with crisp lettuce and topped with plenty of tomato wedges, egg slices (I'm making myself hungry just thinking about this) and Roquefort cheese. This was yummy, yummy. I could make a meal on just two of these.

Then came the main course, broiled filet mignon. This was done to perfection. Their chef, whose name I did not get, is a true chef, in every sense of the word. This meat practically melted in my mouth it ws that tender. From a flavor standpoint, it was succulent and delicious my mouth waters just thinking about it.

All in all, you will find the Club House Restaurant to be one of the best. And, by the way, you don't need a Brinks Truck to follow you. Prices are reasonable for what you're served. Put The Club House Restaurant on your menu the next time you want a wonderful dining experience.

RAMADA INN NORTH

I've heard and reviewed thousands of groups, but seldom do I find on that has it all together as does Sweet Season, currently at the Ramada Inn North. This is one fine quintet, to say the least.

First there is vocalist Wanda Lee. This gal is a singer, in every aspect. Plenty of vibrato, control that is as good as Jack Nicklaus and a sound that makes you want to hear more and more are just a few of the ways to describe Wanda's singing talents. She sings with lots of drive. This is true with the entire group, plenty of drive, both instrumentally and vocal wise.

Then there is organist and trombone man, Dick Buts. This guy is a musicians musician. He has talent dripping from his body. He handles both with unique stylings. I could sit and listen to this fellow play for hours on end.

In fact, the entire group is way above average in the talent department. Ruben Weitzel is an expert on banjo, trombone, and guitar. Just wait until you hear some of the great sounds created by Dick and Ruben on some way out trombone duos.

Add Ben Wiebe's great bass and vocal chores and drummer Bob Marlarck to all of this, and you see why I am flipping over Sweet Season.

Small Craft Safety Course Is Offered

The Franklin County Chapter of the American Red Cross (Safety Programs) will conduct Small Craft Courses Aug. 25-27 at the Jewish Center Tween Camp, 4296 E. Walnut on Hoover Dam.

Classes are available in Basic Sailing and Basic Canoeing with instructor courses in both also being taught. Prerequisite is a minimum swimming ability (including a five-minute swim in full clothing appropriate to boating and the ability to swim 20'feet to obtain a personal floatation device).

The lessons, taught by Red Cross volunteers and staff, are free. A $5 fee covers use of the facility, insurance and materials. Meals and lodging are not included, but campsites are available in the area.

Small craft will be provided, but participants are encouraged to bring their own. Registration deadline is Friday, at the Red Cross (253-7961).

CPS Enrollment Deadline Nearing

Norval Goss, director of pupil personnel, reminds the parents of children who need to be enrolled in the Columbus schools for the coming year to contact the principal of the school their child will attend.

Goss said principals have returned to their offices throughout the school system and are available to enroll new students.

Students who are new to the Columbus schools (or who have moved during the summer to a new school attendance area) must be enrolled for the 1972-73 school year which begins Sept. 6.

Goss pointed out that youngsters being enrolled in kindergarten must be five years old on or before Sept. 30, and said first graders must be six years old on or before that date.

Goss added that parents who do not know which school their child will attend this year may contact his office (225-2763).

Cubbyhole Cooking

By MYRNA MCCAULEY

Cooking On Wheels

Going to hit the road for parts unknown in your camper or trailer home? Then let's consider a few easy favorites for cooking on wheels.

Heading my list is Gypsy Goulash, a hamburger casserole which you prepare at home and transfer to the refrigerator or freezer of your motor kitchen. It's a dandy helper at the end of a long day's ride, because it puts a complete meal on the table in the time it takes to reheat. Add cookies and fruit for dessert, plus a beverage and you've got it made.

IF YOU DECIDE to freeze the casserole, and you want to save on space and dishes in the motor kitchen, try this. After cooking the Gypsy Goulash at home, line a two-quart baking dish with an extra large piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil – enough to allow ample overwrap. Spoon in the hot goulash, let it cool and seal edges of foil tightly.

Freeze this way, then for further freezing remove foil package from baking dish – leaving the dish free to carry something else, like tuna fish salad for the lunch break. When you're ready to reheat the Gypsy Goulash, slip the frozen foil package back in place in the baking dish. Add an extra 10 minutes for reheating from the frozen state.

GYPSY GOULASH CASSEROLE

1 lb. hamburger
2 medium-sized onions, chopped
2 celery stalks, chopped
28-oz. can whole tomatoes, drained
10 ¾-oz. can tomato juice
1 cup cooked macaroni (½ cup uncooked)
½ tsp. salt
Dash pepper

Brown hamburger and onions together in skillet. Saute celery in hamburger drippings and drain off excess fat. Combine all ingredients in two qt. baking dish. Bake in 350' oven for 45 minutes, or until mixture has bubbled up for 15 minutes. Serves 4.

To reheat refrigerated casserole in motor kitchen, give it 30 minutes in 350' oven. To reheat frozen casserole, bake 40 minutes at same temperature.

DOING A LITTLE fishing en route? If you're in walleye or Northern pike country, get the master chef to turn his catch into a fisherman's feast with the following recipe. It comes from Herman McClain of Flagstaff, Ariz., who travels by camper.

'BIG FISH' FISH FRY - Clean and fillet walleyes or pike. While fillets are still wet, dip them into a mixture of cornmeal, instant potato flakes and flour (1 to 1 to 3 ratio). Melt enough shortening to cover bottom of fish fryer or iron skillet; bring shortening to high heat. Place fillets in pan and fry about 15 minutes, turning once. While cooking, sprinkle with lots of pepper and a little salt. Fish is done when golden brown or it flakes easily with fork.

Mr. McClain's daughter and son-in-law, Peggy and Paul Wittnebel of Minneapolis, contribute this method for par-frying sunfish or crappies.

SMALL FISH FISH FRY - Scale and clean sunfish or crappies. While still wet, dip fish in flour. Next dip in milk and egg mixture. (two tbsp. milk to one egg). Then coat fish with finely-crushed potato chips. Fry in butter until golden brown, three to five minutes per side. Serve with melon wedges.

Surely you're going to take along some homebaked cookies to make your motor house a home. And you'll pack them in a tightly-covered plastic container to keep them nice and fresh. Or, if your passengers are partial to a candy-kind of cookie, try the old Chinese chow mein noodle trick – but be sure to tuck these no-bake cookies in the refrigerator when the weather's hot.

CHOW MEIN NOODLE COOKIES

12 oz. package chocolate chips
12 oz. package butterscotch chips
3 oz. can chow mein noodles

Melt candy chips in double boiler over hot, but not boiling, water. Add noodles a handful at a time and stir into melted candy. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Cool in refrigerator. Makes about 36 cookies.

Auxiliary Sets Special Election

The Southway Unit 144, American Legion Auxiliary, will hold a special election Friday, Aug. 18, 8 p.m., at the Post Home, 874 S. High St.

The election has been scheduled because of the resignation of an officer.

ACT II

By BETTY DRAGONETTE

The next really big event for Community Theater buffs in Ohio is the 20th annual Ohio Community Theatre Association Conference to be held at the Sheraton Cleveland Hotel in Cleveland, Sept. 15, 16 and 17. Needless to say, I'll be there.

The theme of this years conference is "Tomorrow's Theatre Today". What can we expect of theatre in the next few years? Where is it heading? To help us explore these questions we have experts in the field of professional and educational theatre.

Johnny Price is the founder and producer of Musicarnival, the nationally famous summer music theatre-in-the-round, now in its 19th season. As keynote speaker, Johnny will have a worthwhile message.

Jack Booch is with the Sacramento Music Theatre and has directed a number of John Kenley's productions. Here in Columbus we are all familiar with Kenley Theatre. He will be conducting acting sessions on Saturday afternoon at the conference.

Martin Bennison is on the staff of the Theater Department at Miami University. After an exhilerating summer of repertory theatre in Missouri, he just recently conducted OCTA's first Summer Workshop at Miami University. He will bring us fresh insights into directing.

For eight seasons the Cleveland Playhouse has employed Robert Snook as both actor and director. In his career he has directed and acted in 400 plays, but still has found time to become an expert on stage make-up. Snook conducts classes in this phase of theater at the Playhouse and will be conducting a workshop on make-up at the conference.

Mike Griffith is also on the Miami University theater staff, and will be heading up a workshop on technical theater. He displayed his talents at OCTA's summer workshop.

Janice Kumin and John Magill will present a dance demonstration as it applies to theater.

In addition to all this knowledge to be gained, there will be loads of fun. There is a tour of the Cleveland Playhouse and Karamu Theater on Friday night, followed by The Corn Ball. Saturday night is the Beaux Arts Masque Ball, and how could I forget to mention the Play Excerpt finals. Of course, I will be rooting for our Central Region in this event.

SERVICE MERCHANDISE CO. ANNOUNCES THE GRAND OPENING OF TWO COLUMBUS LOCATIONS--EAST MAIN & WEST BROAD ST.

Diamond Girl's Best Friend; Expert Is Gem's Best Friend

Service Merchandise Writer

Harry Zimmerman's appreciation of fine diamonds and his knowledge are the main reasons for the complete Service Merchandise jewelry department.

To see this expert, with a jeweler's loop in his eye, examining a stone; checking it for flaws, appraising its color and the workmanship of the cut; is to see a man truly in love with his work. To quote Mr. Harry:

"To me the diamond reflects all the beauty of nature. It is the hardest of all materials, yet represents the tenderest of human emotions. It is quite dull in the rough yet polishes to a permanent brilliance. It is practically colorless, yet it picks up white light and reflects, to the beholder, all the colors of the rainbow.

"It is the smallest thing that can be possessed, yet is of immense value and is immediately negotiable in any country of the world. It is the true, tender and enduring gift of love."

With a romanticist like this in charge of a jewelry department - how could it miss? Well - it can't. (Service Merchandise boasts the finest stock of jewelry in Ohio.) From the famous "Trubrite" diamonds to the "Westclox watches" and all pins, bracelets, earrings, watches and costume jewelry in between, you're likely to find what you want. Many of the pieces are originals designed by Zimmerman.

With a feel like his for jewelry design, he has the capability of creating the finest pieces. Diamonds are just one part of this fine department; of course, a very important part.

The watch line boasts the finest names in the industry: Waltham, also Gruen, Helbros, Benrus, Lucien Piccard, pendant watches and clocks by Welby, United, Spartus, Sunbeam, Westclox, Sankyo and G.E.

The costume jewelry is in good taste and all precious and semi-precious gems are represented. There is men's jewelry as well as items for boys and girls.

For charm collectors the assortment is complete in 14-karat solid gold or in sterling. Most of the charms found here are not to be found elsewhere and there is this advantage: The catalogue listing with pictures is complete.

The earring department is a world of its own. Every design, size and shape is displayed and range from very fine diamonds, rubies, emeralds and all precious stones to just plain gold and silver pieces.

Those without pierced ears will be delighted to find that many of those elegantly styled earrings for pierced ears are now available with French backs. "Pierced" or not, the selection is tremendous!

Rings are in a world of their own. Fraternal rings are set with all types of beautiful stones. Wedding rings and engagement rings dazzle those with stars in their eyes. Opals defy description in their tender, feminine loveliness; birthstones please anyone with an appreciation of the beauties of nature combined with the genius of man.

There are pendants, necklaces, brooches, pins, tie tacs, cuff links, watchbands and many other items.

After having looked at jewelry prices for years in many cities, both large and small, we know that these prices are truly lowered, considerably, from regular retail prices and best of all - no card is necessary. Anyone can walk in and buy.

The quality is the finest and the prices are the best. You can buy with complete satisfaction or you can return the merchandise and get your money back.

Two New Service Merchandise Co. Showrooms Total--150,000 Sq. Ft.

President's Message:

It is with great pleasure we announce two new catalog locations in Columbus and Whitehall each containing 75,000 square feet of showroom and warehousing.

Our new carpeted showrooms, brilliantly lighted with a sample of everything in our catalog is marked so that the customer can immediately determine the regular retail price and the Service Merchandise customer's price.

We introduce a new concept to Columbus in order to serve our customers in a more leisurely and efficient manner. Just browse to your heart's content and look at all the brand-name merchandise in the showrooms.

We merely pick up an order form, fill in the stock number, quantity desired and the low Service Merchandise price and then hand the order form to one of our attendants at our Information Desk.

Your order for merchandise will be dispatched immediately via speedy vacuum tubes to our central warehouse behind the showroom where efficient expeditors will pick brand new merchandise packed in factory boxes, put it on a conveyor and in a matter of 2½ to 3 minutes on single items, the merchandise can be picked up at a pick-up station near the front door. In the meantime, the customer will have been paged and pay for the merchandise to a Cashier who validates the receipt for same. Larger orders can take a little longer.

Our new 500-page catalog will be ready for distribution about the first week in September and practically all of the merchandise is listed graphically in four-color and our customers refer to this as their "dream" or "wish" book.

We have attempted to hold the line on prices and in many instances, we have actually reduced our prices from last year.

A visit to our showrooms will be one of the high-lighted experiences in the shopper's life.

We hope to see each and every one of the folks in Columbus and the surrounding trade territory on opening day, August 17, 1972.

Brand Names Play Key Marketing Role

Asked if brand names were important to a business such as Service Merchandise Co., Mr. Barton replied:

"We think they are very important to our operation. Of course, we have some manufacturers' items which are not too well-known to the public, but for the most part we have only well-known brand names. This serves two functions," he said.

"First, these names are well advertised from old, reliable manufacturers. Their products are dependable and usually trouble-free.

Secondly, their merchandise is readily identifiable on our shelves and on all retail store shelves. We like our customers to shop and compare.

"Many are never convinced that we sell at lower prices until they find a similar item priced much higher. Then they are convinced."

"However," he continued, "if a customer will take the prices of a number of items in the store and compare the same exact items, we will always have the competitor beat."

Xmas Toyland Opens Early

Santa Claus and all his helpers broke all records to bring to the Service Merchandise Grand Opening their largest and best line of brand name toys for boys and girls.

For the small tots there are cuddly toys, educational toys, and baby dolls. For the larger girls there are Barbie and friend dolls, doll carriages, make-up kits, Parker and Bradley games, toy dishes and furniture. For the boys you see Space sets, erector and chemistry sets, electric football and baseball games, hockey games, footballs and basketballs, air rifles and holster sets.

Boys and girls bicycles in the most modern styles are breathtaking and you will want one of each kind. The 10-speed lightweight with front and rear hand brakes and racing handlebars looks inviting enough to whisk you away.

Reasons For Success

By KARL LEVY
Service Merchandise Writer

Service Merchandise Co., a very progressive catalog showroom and warehouse firm, opens this week in Columbus and Whitehall.

The men behind this new type merchandising outlet are Harry and Raymond Zimmerman, a father and son team.

Prior to 1960 the Zimmermans for years ran a most successful wholesale business-Service Wholesale-servicing the Eastern and Middle Western United States.

The idea for a new type of consumer distribution operation was conceived by the Zimmermans, including Mrs. Zimmerman, while on a buying trip to Chicago in 1959.

After thinking the new business over carefully and making a quick decision the "trial balloon" was sent up in Nashville in 1960 in the form of a new Catalogue Distribution House, featuring nothing but the finest name brands available at wholesale prices. One price for everyone.

The theory was that they could "make it" better with literally millions of customers. This theory proved correct and with fantastic results. The growth of Service Merchandise has been phenomenal and at the end of this year will have eleven large catalog showroom warehouses.

As Raymond Zimmerman said:

"We made some trials and errors, but luckily not many errors. We give the public what it wants; the best merchandise at wholesale prices and with intelligent, friendly service, and lots of it, and we fully back everything we sell.

"The public gained confidence in us rapidly and we have grown only because we have honored that confidence.

"Then, too, everyone has access to our store. No cards or membership fees are necessary. There are no shams or false fronts here, just honest bargains. We've worked hard and it's paid off."

After meeting the Zimmermans, it's easy to see why their operation is successful. They love the business, they love people and they enjoy giving service.

Their attitude is infectious or else they are careful in screening their personnel because all members of the organization have the same pleasant way with people.

"Raymond is a young, vigorous and intelligent man. He loves his work and thrives on it. We know our business is performing a service to millions by bringing them brand name merchandise at below regular retail prices.

"We know it is good for our state and for each town in which we locate. It enriches the economy of the region and brings employment to many. It gives us a great deal of satisfaction to be making this small contribution to our state and our nation.

"We believe every man should contribute something to his society by productive work. Only in this way can we enrich the heritage of our children.

"So you see, with this philosophy we shall continue to expand as fast as our new computerized system is able to "teach us" to use itself."

Zimmerman is proud of his computerized system. It handles stock control among its many other functions and actually is a big contributing factor to the company's ability to operate on the very small mark up that enables them to offer wholesale prices to the public.

Gift House Offers Many Suggestions

There are items at Service Merchandise Co.'s Gift House ranging in price from under one dollar up to several thousand dollars. The catalogue lists the major departments as follows: Appliances, Clocks, Giftware, Housewares, Jewelry, Leather Goods, Musical Instruments, Photographic Equipment, Radios and Phonographs, Rings, Shavers, Silver, Sporting Goods, Tools, Watches and Toys.

A stroll through the showroom will bring to mind literally hundreds of useful, practical or just pure decorative items for anyone.

While shopping in Service Merchandise Co., be sure and pick up a free catalogue before you leave. It is a ready source of gift suggestions, and by sending in one of the order blanks, you can receive the items you check through the mail. It is a convenient and economical way to shop.

HARD WORK, KEEPING COOL ARE KEYS

Triple R Association Fights, Beats 'City Hall'

BY JACK WITTENMEIER

A knot of newsmen chatted with Governor Gilligan's press secretary as they awaited the state chief's arrival for a press conference.

The conversation eventually worked its way around to the previous evening's Columbus city council meeting where a developer had once again bowed to the pressure brought to bear on a rezoning issue by the powerful Triple R Civic Association -- itself a union of seven East Side associations.

"AREN'T THEY something," one newsman said admiringly. "They never lose."

The fact of the matter is that Triple R doesn't have a perfect batting average. But the civic organization hasn't missed by much.

Triple R's success story in generally preserving the type of zoning represented by its name evolves from a plethora of factors -- most of which are laced with organization, perserverence and good, old-fashioned rolling up the sleeves.

PRESIDENT Clarence "Bud" Vollmer, of 940 Plum Ridge in Olde Orchard, recalls the early days when the area Triple-R oversees consisted of 12 houses and an 188-acre field.

Growth has mushroomed that humble beginning to nine square miles bounded by East Broad Street, Brice Road, Livingston Avenue and Big Walnut Creek.

Triple R looks out for the interests of 1000 families today, scattered throughout Olde Orchard, Ravenwood, Laurel Canyon, Yorkshire East and three sections of Greenbrier--making it the third largest civic organization in the city.

BORN SOMEWHAT out of the uncertainty of the zoning impact of a new Western Electric plant on the northern fringe of the territory, Triple R has undergone (and expects to undergo) its greatest press of rezoning efforts with the completion of I-270.

But continual efforts to rezone parcels of vacant land inside Triple R's boundaries has served to strengthen, rather than weaken the organization, according to

Will Johnny Learn To Read?

What yardstick can one use to gauge whether a primary-age child is reading well?

One, facetiously offered by Miss Laura Kier, is that of whether a youngster can pick up a comic book in a drug store and read it cover to cover before the owner orders, "Put it down."

MISS KIER, a consultant for the Houghton Mifflin Company, has spent the last three days introducing to first, second and third grade the new series of reading books to which Columbus Public Schools has purchased for the primary levels.

The Spectator covered one of the sessions held for first grade teachers at the Ohio Historical Society Museum, and came away with a degree of confidence that the city is at last headed in the right direction to solve the riddle of "Why can't Johnny read?"

Soon after taking over the responsibilities of superintendency of Columbus Public Schools last summer, Dr. John Ellis indicated first grade reading should be given top priority.

HE WAS determined, he said, that even if it became necessary to maintain first grade classes of only 15 children, every child should be able to read reasonably well by the end of his first year in school.

The Houghton Mifflin series has two simple goals. The first is that of teaching a child to read independently as quickly as possible through giving him the tools with which to work upon his own.

The second is that of stimulating a real interest in reading. This, Miss Kier contends, can only be accomplished through the introduction of the child to high quality literature.

THE HOUGHTON Mifflin series capitalizes on the skills a child brings to school which he has rung up during the first five or six years of his life.

Not only does he use and understand anywhere from four to 40 thousand words, but he has a grasp of sentence structure. He knows when a sentence is a question and requires an answer, he recognizes an exclamation and, with his tendency to overuse "and", he is unconsciously forming compound sentences.

Furthermore, he is familiar with voice intonation, and phrasing, fully aware that his mother's sharp "Turn down that T-V" means business while a more gentle "Why don't you turn the volume down," doesn't require immediate action.

ALSO, a first-grader is alert to context and can often anticipate what the teacher will say before she has actually said it.

And, Miss Kier stressed, the child is accustomed to ask the "why, what and hows" of things.

The final skill he brings to the class, she stated, is the expectation to hear normal and familiar speech patterns.

FOR EXAMPLE, if a child is playing in the yard and sees his father come home from work he will not be surprised for his mother in a few minutes, to come to the door and call, "Dinner's ready. Come on in."

But he would be amazed if she came to the door and called, "Dinner. Dinner is ready. Come. Come in, in, in."

Working with these already developed skills, the new Houghton Mifflin Series, available for the first time last year, puts a great deal of emphasis on getting ready to read.

THE THEORY involves the concept of a child viewing reading as "written talk" and giving him the tools to decode this talk.

One of the first steps is to encourage him to finish sentences logically. For example, the teacher might say, "When I am sleepy, I get into———." Normally the child will fill in with the word "bed."

Such drill is to accustom the child to meet a new word and examine it through context.

IT HAS been shown that the child who recognizes the letters of the alphabet has a head start on those who can't, and such recognition is essential to reading readiness.

Before reading is introduced by a teacher following the Houghton Mifflin systems, each particular pupil must know 22 letters and their sounds, learn to look for beginning and ending sounds in a word and to know the 15 words that will account for 25 per cent of the vocabulary words he will meet in his first three word years of reading.

These words are is, an, you, the, he, it, in, and, a, we will, not, are, go and I.

ALTHOUGH it will take anywhere from eight to 12 weeks for an individual to master these skills, Miss Kier states experienced teachers are constantly amazed to see how fast the progress is--once actual reading is begun.

By the time the child is through the first reader, hopefully the end of the first grade, his reading vocabularly stands at about 200 words--and he has mastered 70 per cent of the words he needs for the next two years.

Actually the heart of the system is the decoding of words through joint use of phonics, context and past experience.

A CHILD might "get stuck" on the word "monkey", but if he were reading a story about two boys passing a pet shop and one says to the other, "If mother would let me, I would buy a monkey", he sees the beginning "m", knows it and the ending "y", recognizes their sounds and surmises what the word is.

The primers and readers of the series are in "magazine" format with a potpourri of material ranging from prose to poetry and from the realistic to the fanciful to the informative.

Furthermore, a balance is maintained among urban, suburban and rural setting, and recognition is given to the multi-ethnic culture in which the American Child lives.

BUT BEHIND the reading readiness, the emphasis on phonics and decoding and the literary quality of the Houghton Mifflin series is one basic premise.

It involves that the principle that a castle cannot be built upon sand.

Every step along the way, each student is tested.

IF THE child passes the test, showing that he has grasped 95 per cent of what has supposedly been taught, he advances to the next step.

If he does not show this degree of proficiency, he is further tested to determine where the trouble lies, and the subject matter is retaught immediately.

Until the testing proves beyond doubt that one unit has been mastered, nothing new is tackled.

AND THUS Johnny learns to read as he learned to run. First he creeps, then he crawls. At last he walks and eventually he runs.

KIDS' CLOTHING NEEDED

Will The 'T' Children Say 'Here' Next Month?

Mr. and Mrs. T. moved to Columbus after the effects of Hurricane Agnes wiped out their home and possessions in Harrisburg, Pa.

A pre-employment physical in Columbus revealed that Mr. T. had a heart disease so there is no hope for immediate employment.

MR. AND Mr. T. and their four children are starting from scratch with two strikes already called.

The third could well come soon when the children (15, 12, 10 and six) are supposed to begin school -- with no school clothing available.

Then there's Mr. B. who faces open heart surgery after three heart attacks. His tenth-grade son has outgrown all his old school clothes and what will his little girl wear when kindergarten begins in two weeks?

MAYBE MR. B. won't be as fortunate as Mr. H. His four children got off lucky -- except for the six-year-old boy who was too small for what trousers were available. He'll be wearing pants with the legs cut off to fit.

And, of course, there were no shoes available for any of the four children.

FOR THE third consecutive year, The Spectator Newspapers are asking readers to help send a child to school this fall by contributing out-grown clothing that is clean and in good repair.

Mrs. Julia Stewart of Volunteer Services says underwear, socks and all types of boys clothing (for all ages) are especially needed. "Boys just seem to wear their clothes out faster than girls," Julia says.

"Because they're so expensive, shoes are also badly needed," she adds. "Most people can't believe someone would wear another's shoes but correct size isn't all-important when you have no shoes at all."

AND, ALTHOUGH The Spectator Clothing Drive is geared primarily at school-aged children, baby clothing and grocery sacks (for recipients to carry home their clothing) are needed.

Collection spots where clothing receptacles are located are as follows:

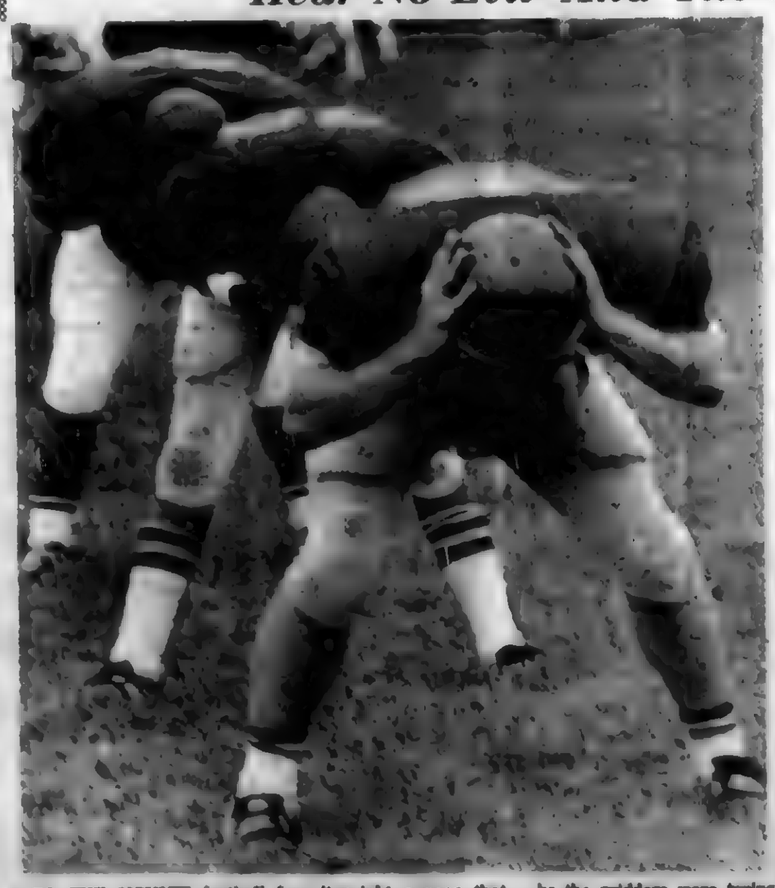
Early Deadline Set For Sept. 6 Edition



Due to the upcoming Labor Day weekend, The Spectator is announcing deadlines for its Sept. 6 editions this week.

Since all departments of The Spectator Newspapers will close at noon Saturday, Sept 2 and not reopen until Tuesday, Sept. 5, the following deadline for news submission will be observed!

ALL COPY FOR THE SEPT. 6 EDITION MUST BE RECEIVED BY NOON FRIDAY, SEPT. 1. NO EDITORIAL COPY OR PICTURES CAN BE ACCEPTED AFTER THAT DATE FOR PUBLICATION IN THE SEPT. 6 EDITION.

Copy deadlines for the Aug. 30 edition will be as usual -- Friday noon for the Organizational Notes column and Monday noon for all other copy.

'Hear No Evil' And The Season's First 'Walk-On'

TO THE NOVICE football fan, it might appear that Eastmoor High gridders weren't exactly enthalled at the prospect of their first practice in pads Saturday as a trio of Warriors worked on a reaction drill (picture at left). Could be the gridders were trying to block out the no-nonsense goading of trimmed-down E-M gridmaster Bob Stuart, barking commands in preparation for defense of a City League football title at right. Bob's demands were a bit too much for the season's first "walk-on" (kitten to the right of the E-M coach) who eventually took refuge with Warrior managers. Eastmoor gridders had no such luck. Vandalism, Robbery Top Police Report

Vandalism, stolen tires and a $210. robbery highlighted the Whitehall police blotter last week.

The vandalism centered around shot-shattered windows and punctured auto tires--each instance appearing to be related.

THE SHATTERED windows were all reported Tuesday beginning with a broken rear car window reported by by Michael J. Frasure, of 769 Beechwood.

Frasure, a cashier at the Super Duper Market at 52 S. Robinwood, also reported the front door of the store hit by what the police report stipulated as "possible pellet gun fire."

The Kresge store at 3750 E. Broad St. also lost three plate-glass windows the same day ($400. loss) due to gunfire.

THE POLICE reports also showed that a pellet pistol, a can of pellets and a motorcycle helmet were reported missing the same day from the home of Lisa Linscott, of 792 Exeter Rd.

Three tires disappeared within a 30-minute period from two local service stations Wednesday.

Victimized were the Union 76 station at 4600 E. Main St. and McDonald's Sohio at 4374 E. Broad. Total loss was set at $137.

THE PUNCTURED tires were reported Thursday on autos belonging to Carlene W. Stallsmith, of 1068-C Townhouse Ln. (three, $120.) and George Ungar, 1068-A Townhouse Ln. (one, $30).

The biggest single loss of the week ($210.) was reported by William Angeletti, of 131 Pinewood, who returned home to find money missing from his wallet and a container and his watch gone. The thief apparently entered through a bedroom window.

Alvena Morgan, of 157 Beechtree Rd., lost $36. when a youth grabbed her purse near Broad and Beechwood Tuesday.

ALSO VICTIMIZED Wednesday was Chris K. Eicher, of 1030 Pierce Ave.

Eicher was approached by two boys who demanded money at the rear of the Phillips 66 station at Elaine Road and Main St.

When Eicher refused, one boy held him while the second emptied his pant's pockets of $1.35 worth of change.

ROBINWOOD Pharmacy reported 33 blank checks missing from the store Saturday.

Other police blotter highlights included an auto stripping report ($160. loss), two cases of shoplifting, five petty larceny reports totaling $133.20 and two breaking and entering cases with a combined loss of $125.

Fire Ladies Host Tourney

The Whitehall Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a Headpin Tournament Saturday and Sunday at Main Lanes, 4071 E. Main St.

Bowling hours will run from noon until midnight each day. All ages are eligible to bowl. Tickets are available from auxiliary members or at the door.

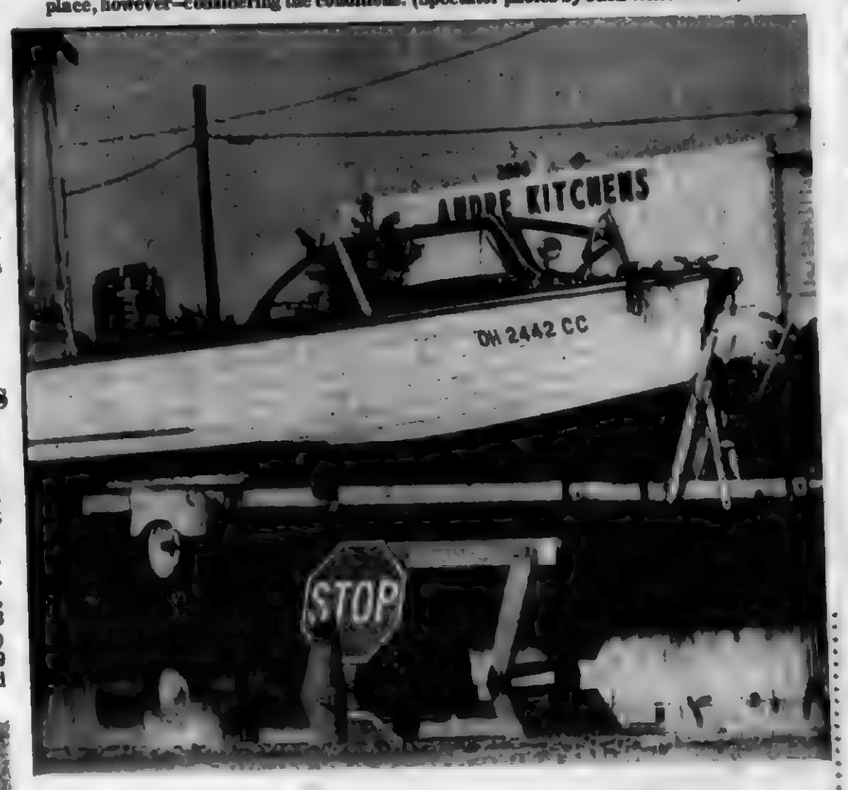
3 Students Get Degrees

Three area students are among 796 candidates for degrees at Miami University's informal summer commencement Friday at Oxford.

The trio includes Joel R. Voneida, of 274 Edgevale Rd. (Bachelor of Architecture), Larry M. Dailey, of 4673 Healy Dr. (B.S., Business) and William R. Durell, of 869 S. Weyant Ave. (B.S., Applied Science).



Debater

GARY SCHMIDT of 5444 Ivyhurst Dr. was a member of the successful debate team at Miami University. The team won almost two-thirds of the 182 rounds of debate in which they competed. Schmidt was a sophomore member on the 12-man team.

When Raindrops Quits Fallen'...

ALTHOUGH RAINDROPS kept fallin' on quite a few heads last weekend, there was some fun and irony in the aftermath. Above, two youngsters make good use of an excess of curb water along Yearling Road by seeing who can get wettest fastest. And, although the situation never got quite that bad, the folks at Delta Marine on Brice Road were well prepared with an Ark of their own. A partially submerged stop sign did seem a bit out of place, however--considering the conditions. (Spectator photos by Jack Wittenmeier).

Torah Academy Plans Oct.15 Ground-Breaking

A 48-acre tract of prime land on Cherry Bottom Road, (north of Route 62 in Gahanna) will be the setting for ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Torah Academy building Sunday, Oct. 15th at 10 a.m.

Leading dignitaries representing local and state governments as well as civic and religious leaders will participate in the ground-breaking event.

MELVIN Schottenstein is Chairman of the Torah Academy Building Fund Drive.

Plans for the new building, which incorporate the most contemporary concepts of school building design, were developed in conjunction with the Department of Educational Facilities of OSU.

E-M Junior High Registration Set

Eastmoor Junior High School's administrative offices will be open from 8 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for new pupil registration.

New residents of the area should complete registration before Friday if at all possible.

Dr. Marion Conrad, chairman of this department, and his staff conducted a year-long study to determine the long range needs of the school.

THE NEW building will incorporate a host of innovative features-a self-contained primary school wing, a Beth Hamidrosh for advanced Torah study, a fully equipped learning and language furnished science laboratory, art and music centers, a regulation size gymnasium and locker room and facilities for closed circuit TV and computer instruction.

Bexley Recreation, Parks Roundup

Today was the final day of the summer playground season. All playgrounds closed at noon for the year. Tonight will mark a picnic at Jeffrey Park for families from all three playgrounds, featuring fun and games for all comers.

This is a pot-luck affair, so bring your favorite dish to share, table service and beverage and come to the park for a farewell to summer and the fine staff that worked on the playgrounds–Susan Miller, Sandy Schwartz and Larry Michaels (Cassingham), Patti MacKinnon, Mike Dusenberry and Tom Findley (Montrose) and Barbara Dusenberry and Jack Schuster (Maryland).

AN EXHIBIT of projects completed during the summer Arts and Crafts program will be on display in the Jeffrey Mansion from 3 to 8 p.m. today. Michele Hamsher arranged the exhibit and had it judged. Winners can be noted by the ribbons on the entries.

CAMPOUT FRIDAY

Friday night we will have a Family Campout in Jeffrey Park. Response to the other summer campouts was excellent, and this family affair was suggested. Bring your tents, cots, sleeping bags and food for a cookout. The evening's program will get under way at 6:30 p.m. with many special features planned.

Saturday night is for Bexley teens and the Mansion will ring with the music of the "Little Pleasures" from 8 to 11 p.m. Admission to the dance is $1 per person and refreshments are free. John Brennan, new Supervisor of Recreation for Bexley is in charge of the affair and is looking forward to meeting and talking with Bexley teens and getting their ideas on future activities.

TENNIS, ANYONE?

FINAL EVENT of the summer is the annual Bexley Tennis Tournament which begins match play Monday. Matches for girls and boys divisions will start that day at 10 a.m. on the high school tennis courts.

Women's matches begin at noon Monday, also at the high school courts. Men's and mixed doubles will be played on the Jeffrey Park courts starting at 6 p.m. Monday.

All entries for the tournament must be in the office of the Parks and Recreation Department(165 Parkview Ave.) no later than 4 p.m. this Friday. Entry blanks are available at City Hall, Jeffrey Mansion and the Jeffrey Park Cabin.

MONTROSE WINS TWICE

CONGRATULATIONS to the gang at Montrose playground for two big victories last week! Wednesday they won the Bexley Swim Meet at the Community Pool, then received the news that afternoon they had won the playground newspaper drive held Aug. 7-11.

Total pounds turned in by Montrose was 20,040; Maryland was a close second (360 pounds less) at 19,680 and Cassingham finished with a total of 10,980 pounds.

Remember, now that the paper drive is over you can take your papers, magazines, glass and cans to the Bexley Recycling Center behind City Hall each Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Montrose's swim meet margin, incidentally, was 73-48-31 over Cassingham and Maryland respectively.

ATTN. BOWLERS

REGISTRATION for the Bexley Mixed Bowling League (sponsored by the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department) closes Sept. 1. If you are interested in bowling for fun, and want to bowl close to home, this is the league for you !

The league will bowl at the Jewish Center Lanes on Monday nights (8:30 p.m.) from Sept. 11 through Apr. 2. Cost is only $2.25 per bowler, per night, with four bowlers on each team and a 12-team limit. Call 258-5755 to register.

PAINTING

An outdoor painting class will be taught by Adele Chafetz in the Jeffrey Park on four Thursday afternoons in September. Painters may work in the media of their choice.

CLASSES will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. beginning Sept. 7, and will be held in Jeffrey Mansion in case of inclement weather. For further details, or to register, call the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department office week days (258-5755) till 5 p.m.

FALL BALLET

Registration is now being taken for fall ballet classes to be taught by Mrs. Kathy Boehm at the Jeffrey Mansion. This program for children from kindergarten age up is sponsored by the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department.

Classes for beginners will meet on Tuesdays (4 p.m.) for kindergarten, 5 p.m. for grades 1 to 3 and on Wednesdays - (4 p.m.) for advanced first and second graders and 5 p.m. for advanced third grade and older children.

CLASSES will meet for 15 weeks, from Sept. 12-13 through Dec. 19-20. Registration fee is $10 and each class is limited to 15 students. Call the department office (258-5755) if interested.

Salad, Anyone?

IF ANYONE in the Walnut Ridge area comes up short in the tomato department the next time they're tossin' a salad, they might look up Mrs. Carl Quinn, of 4642 Belfast Dr. Mrs. Quinn is pictured above with one of her beauties – this one measuring 20 inches in circumference, seven inches across and four inches thick. This particular strain (Mortgage-Lifter) was started from seed by a relative. Mrs. Quinn, a strong advocate of organic gardening, has no secret formula other than hard work – explaining she's "worked" her backyard soil faithfully for the past 11 years.

They Cornered The 'Blue' Market

New Lunch Policy Set At Eastland Vocational

The Eastland Joint Vocational School District Board of Education this week announced a free lunch policy for Eastland school children unable to pay the price of a lunch.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility:

(Eligibility determinations are made on a family basis, that is, all children in the same family attending schools under the jurisdiction of the same school food authority are to receive the same benefits, Free Lunches not some Free and some Reduced Price Lunches.)

(These two columns represent the state, family-size, income scale below which Free Lunches must be provided.)

Family Size: Parents, Children & Others	Income Scale for Free Meals
1	$ 2,450
2	3,289
3	4,128
4	4,727
5	5,326
6	6,130
7	6,762
8	7,395
9	7,970
10	8,545
11	9,120
12	9,695

Families falling within this scale(s) or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships may apply for free lunches for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the Director of Pupil Personnel's office in the Center. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income, number of persons in the family, number of children in school and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Under provisions of the policy the Director of Pupil Personnel will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision.

R. W. Hudson, Superintendent, whose address is 4465 South Hamilton Road, Groveport, Ohio (836-5725) has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a lunch.

A complete copy of the policy is on file at the Center in the office of the Superintendent where it may be reviewed by any interested person.

Have You Seen The Missing Cockateil?

Two north area children, Linda and Randy Ross, (ages 7 and 4 respectively) are very unhappy these days. They have lost their female cockatell.

The small, gray rare bird with an orange spot above each eye and a top notch on her head escaped from the Wyandotte East area early last week.

THE ROSS FAMILY was on vacation and a friend was taking care of the pair of rare birds. The female somehow escaped from the cage.

Not only are the children saddened by the loss of their pet, but the male is not getting along too well without his mate.

Mrs. Lee Ross, mother of the two children, said that Petland at Main and James had told her that a man came into the store last week and bought a cockatell cage for one he had found in the bushes.

THE ROSS FAMILY is afraid that the bird may not survive since she is just a baby and is supposed to be on a special diet.

They are willing to reimburse the man for any expense he incurred while taking care of their cockatell.

Anyone who has any information on the missing pet, please call 461-4184.

'Fun Fling' Set At T&C Center

A final "fun fling" for small fry before that fateful return to school has been scheduled Friday and Saturday at the Town and Country Shopping Center.

All Friday afternoon Rollo, a Ringling Brothers' circus clown, will journey up and down the center walks doing his thing - blowing balloons into fantastic animal shapes.

The Phil-Jac Kennels will stage a Guard Dog Obedience Demonstration Saturday (2:30 and 4:30 p.m.) near the Hickman's store.

Free rides on an old horsedrawn railroad station wagon and free popcorn will add to the fun.

BEGINS CRUISE

Surprise Package

The Ole' Shell Game

Two years ago the Franklin County Mental Health and Retardation Board (648 Board) went to the voters, seeking approval of a .75 mill levy.

One of the major selling points was that the $2 million to be generated annually by the levy would be matched by state funds--on a basis of $3. of state money for each $1. of local money.

It sounded like the bargain of the decade. And the voters bought it, by a comfortable margin.

We hate to be the bearer of ill-tidings, but it appears those voters have been "took."

House Bill 648 of 1967 allows for the balloting of local levies for mental health and empowers the legislature to provide 75 per cent of the cost of the programs.

However, when the time came around for the legislature to appropriate matching funds, the story was far different than that fairy tale told to Franklin County voters.

For example, it is projected the .75 mill levy will produce $2,235,000 in the current fiscal year.

Theoretically, the state's share would be $6,702,000.

But that is not how it works. Instead the legislature decided that it would put a lid on its largesse and dole out $1 per capita which, in the case of Franklin County, means $833,294.

That isn't quite the extent of state funding. It has (for the current year) agreed to sweeten the pot with additional money for building acquisition and drug programs. Thus the total appropiation will be $1,161,566. In addition, BUDA has been transferred to "648" and with it comes another $300,000.

But at the best, the state has shouldered less than 20 percent of the dollars that were anticipated to support efforts toward community Mental Health.

And that is not the end of the story.

Federal monies are available to local 648 boards for specific programs on the basis of combined local and state funds.

All such grants are made on an eight year basis with the federal share in poverty areas appropriated on a sliding scale, decreasing from 90 per cent federal the first year to 70 per cent the eighth year. In non-poverty areas the scale begins at 75 per cent and ends at 30 per cent.

Thanks largely to Washington, the total Franklin 648 budget in the year ending next June 30 will approach $8 million, but that figure could have been multiplied vastly--if the legislature had divvied up its fair share.

These figures show how irresponsive the legislature has been to the mental health needs of the people it represents.

But the figures by themselves do not show the inroads on the proposed program that the state's penury has dug.

Originally, the county was divided into seven districts with the concept of bringing services close to the people.

Only the East-Central and the South-West programs have been put into operation, and a third, the North Central (the University area) has been partially funded and will hopefully go into action within the year.

The other four districts are totally without service.

Grove City and New Rome (which are in the South-West District) are the only suburbs with any services brought to them.

The Hilltop, in the same district, is the only area outside the inner city with help offered its residents.

And, believe it or not, mental and emotional stress is not limited to the disadvantaged.

Franklin County voters have been "had."

And before the General Assembly passes any further "truth in advertising" legislation, its members best ponder the virture of following the dictates of what one preaches.

Salting The Wound

A remarkable affinity between hospitals and Blue Cross of Central Ohio has been revealed by the hearings on the Blue Cross application for a 20 per cent rate increase for individual subscribers.

The implication by Blue Cross's $43,000-a-year president, Howard Franz, that few people outside the hospital and insurance industry have the expertise to serve on a Blue Cross board of directors is one thing.

But his statement that, if the company were to be dissolved, the surplus would revert to the hospitals rather than its policy holders (whose premiums built the reserves) is quite another.

And when Franz labeled a five-fold increase in costs in 15 years at University Hospital and its doubling of costs in five years as "reasonable," grounds for public credibility become as shaky as California real estate during an earthquake.

As we pointed out recently, name calling among government, the hospitals, the insuring agents and the public isn't going to solve many problems.

But, on the other hand, for Blue Cross to assume "a public be damned" attitude is intolerable.

One of the major factors effecting proposed premium hikes is the policy of passing on the hospital's expense of caring for charity patients to premium-paying clients.

A little more concern toward this inequity and a little less paternalism toward the hospitals might earn Blue Cross some friends among those who not only butter but supply the bread upon which the insurer survives.

You, Too?

Most of us have difficulty relating with any man who is the President of the United States.

He is so remote, his problems so complex and his power so far-reaching that his image is anything but that of "the man down the street."

But President Nixon came a little closer to thousands of people recently when the words got out that he had to send his new car back to the factory.

Ford Motor Co. officials are refusing to call it a "recall", stating that their product's return is more comparable to sending a suit back to the tailor for alterations.

But, name it recall or refit, the new armor-plated Lincoln Continental is back in the shop.

And a lot of us with new cars with a trunk that doesn't close, an accelerator that sticks or air-conditioning that blows hot instead of cold are commiserating with Mr. Nixon.

Even a head of State at last has a problem we can understand.

Letters To The Editor

The Spectator Newspapers welcome letters from readers, expressing their views on subjects of interest to them -- whether initiated by news stories or editorial expression in this newspaper or not. Because of space limitations, we prefer letters which do not exceed 300 words. All letters submitted for publication must be signed with the writer's name and address, although -- upon request -- the name of the writer can be withheld. Letters should be marked: "To the Editor, Spectator Newspapers, 3421 S. Boulevard, Columbus, Ohio 43204" and must be received by Monday noon prior to publication date for publication in that week's edition.

'Why Now, Mr. Legislator?'

To the Editor:

The revelation that Mr. Mack Pemberton, a valuable and dedicated educator for 35 years, is resigning from his position with the Columbus school board in order to devote more time to his state legistative duties seems somewhat late in coming.

Mr. Pemberton has been a member of the Ohio House of Representatives now for six years.

In the two positions of public responsibility he has been holding, he has, of late, been receiving over $30,000 a year from the taxpayers.

His attendance record, even during the recent marathon sessions dealing with the tax and budget issues, has suffered greatly while Mr. Pemberton decided which lucrative position deserved his greatest attention.

Why is it that now Mr. Pemberton sees fit to retire from his life-long teaching career in order to finally provide full-time representation of the people of the 33rd District?

This is a question which I feel he, as a man who only now aspires to give effective voice to the needs and concerns of the people of the 33rd District, ought to answer with complete and utter candor.

'In Proper Perspective'

To the Editor:

The editorial, "November Bargain," (Aug. 2, Spectator) is much appreciated by Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company personnel. Seldom have we seen an issue so clearly put. These are trying times for electric utilities and ours is no exception. It is most encouraging to realize your newspaper is sympathetic to our policy of trying at all times to give our "customers a square and reasonable deal."

We thank you for an excellent editorial that helps put our rate request in proper perspective.

Dear Teenager . . .

Dear Teenager,

I have never seen you and the odds are that we will never meet. Yet I have a vested interest in you.

I'd like to truthfully say that I'm interested in you because you're a fellow human being and I'm some kind of humanitarian.

But, like everybody else, I've got some selfish motives.

You'll be going back to school in a week or two and, if current statistics are correct, it's likely that sometime during the upcoming school year you'll be offered a chance to experiment with some type of drug.

By now you probably feel like that's the only thing my "over-30" crowd thinks about. Everytime you turn on your TV or radio. pick up a newspaper or magazine or tune in on an adult conversation, all you get is drugs, drugs, drugs.

Yes, I'm getting sick of hearing about and writing about drugs too. And crime, and violence, and war.

Unfortunately, forgetting about all of these things doesn't make them go away.

Some of you are being lectured about drugs by fathers who need alcohol to function and mothers who find their relief in tranquilizer bottles.

What right have they got to lecture you?

None, from the purists point of view. But, you see, in a way they've already been there. They're hooked on their "thing."

Maybe they know, better than anybody else, what it's like to be addicted to something.

My personal addiction is cigarettes. For awhile I tried to rationalize that nobody could REALLY prove that smoking is harmful. I followed that up by telling myself that if I cut down, I wasn't really doing myself much harm. Even a fellow worker gasping for every breath due to emphysema didn't deter me.

No, I haven't quit smoking. But I have accepted the reality that, whether or not cigarettes can eventually kill me, they can't be doing me any good.

Neither can drugs.

I don't like to be weak. People who are addicted are weak. I remember telling myself that I wouldn't become addicted to smoking when I started. I was too strong-willed.

I wonder how many of you can truthfully tell yourselves that you POSITIVELY KNOW that you are too strong to become hooked on drugs.

Positively, absolutely the hardest thing for you to do today is to say "no thanks" when the rest of your friends are doing something and ask you to join in.

It's tough to be an individual -- to say: "I don't care what the rest of you are doing, I'm going to do what's best for me."

To be able to say "no thanks" in the face of social pressure is on example of maturity. Unfortunately, today's world demands that young people be mature before they really should be.

I apologize for that. That demand is the cruelest legacy my generation has passed onto yours.

If I was a great humanitarian I'd say I wanted something better for you. I'd say I want you to have a clear mind and to be able to stand on your own two feet and make a decision or face a problem without the false, temporary crutch of a drug.

But I said before I was selfish. People who get addicted to things like drugs and alcohol cost me money -- in rehabilitation, confinement, insurance etc.

And there's always the possibility that they could cost me, or a loved one, life or limb.

But don't say "no thanks" for me, your parents, your girl or boy friend or anybody else.

Say "no thanks" for you. Because, in the end, there's only one person you must answer to or for -- YOU..

Jane Robinson

Cutting The Strings

The responsibility shared by all parents to prepare a child for independence weighs a little heavier on the mother and father of a handicapped child.

My husband and I were deeply saddened almost 20 years ago when we learned our youngest daughter would never walk as other children.

But from the day the specialist confirmed the family physician's diagnosis of "paraplegic spastic", we determined Kim should be encouraged to live as nearly a normal life as possible.

The task was made easier by the fact that our wee daughter had more than a fair share of courage and guts.

Although she wasn't able to achieve even her present staggering gait without a walker until she was five, she resisted being carried.

I recall so many times literally sitting on my hands to restrain myself from helping her to climb into the bathtub. With her uncertain movements, it took her forever. And I am not a patient woman.

During the period she was learning to navigate without the walker and her hands and knees chronically skinned from her falls, I yearned to tell her: "The hell with it, Kim. Here's your walker."

Later, in her early teens, my heart ached for her everytime her sister (only a year older) threw the household into a tizzy as she readied herself for a school prom.

I yearned to compensate for all the activities which lameness blocked out of my beloved daughter's life.

But I couldn't give her my legs--and dinner out with mother and dad was a poor substitute for teenage romance.

The time came for college and Hiram near Cleveland was selected.

Last year she spent the winter quarter in Mexico with other Hiram students and professors. With their supportive presence, our concern over her safety, so far from home, wasn't high.

But when she announced this spring that she was going to spend the entire 1972-73 school year studying in Mexico, I blew my top.

It did not take long for me to learn her motivation in leaving the sheltered atmosphere of Hiram was not purely academic. Behind it was a young pre-med student she had met in Guadalajara.

I strongly suspected that, with her lack of sophistication, she was mistaking friendship for a deeper affection and was headed for harsh enlightment--several thousands of miles away from home.

But as I saw how deep were her convictions that her hope for an eventual life as a wife and mother lay in Guadalajara, I knew that I could not deny her that hope.

I had helped her to learn to walk--and to pick herself up when she fell.

And now I must allow her to learn to love--and possibly to lose.

But it isn't easy. Those sitting-on-my-hands- days should be back.

When I kissed goodbye that merry little face at the airport last week, I realized I might never see my trusting, naive child again.

My daughter who returns will not be much older, but she may be much, much wiser--and perhaps not so merry.

But--que serra serra.

And I will not have broken my bond of love with her--her God-given right for independence from her mother's apron strings.

Too Many Taxes

One of the loudest cries against building another agency to protect the environment comes from the taxpayer. He claims (and rightly so) that he is already taxed to the gunnels and any more bureaus to fund will sink his unsteady ship.

In almost all cases, after a period of readjustment, environmental protection will pay for itself and in some cases add to the money in your pocket. The ogre of duplication has arisen lately which might be the biggest tax-spender of all. Very few cities and almost no counties have taken steps to combat pollution. The federal government has been the biggest mover with a few "turned on" states close behind.

In almost all cases, after a period of readjustment, environmental protection will pay for itself and in some cases add to the money in your pocket. The ogre of duplication has arisen lately which might be the biggest tax-spender of all. Very few cities and almost no counties have taken steps to combat pollution. The federal government has been the biggest mover with a few "turned on" states close behind..

DURING the signing of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency bill in Columbus last month, Mayor Tom Moody made mention of this duplication. He told me it would be a waste of public funds for Columbus to set up an entire department of environment when both water and air pollution were regional problems. They had, he said, no respect for political boundaries.

What I have come to realise is that I am already paying heavily for pollution. My car rusts out after setting in downtown Columbus for three years and I get much less on a trade-in. I must paint my house too often, my plumbing gets clogged with the aftermath of a chemical feast used to combat a dirty reservoir.

I must take my suits to the cleaners much too often. I must scrub my boat out every time I come back from Lake Erie. The cost of those few things would pay my part of new taxes to cover an effective EPA.

WHAT WE must guard against is the building of an EPA that at the same time is hamstrung and unable to do its job of cleaning up. THAT would be added bureaucracy without recompense.

There is, I believe, one action local governments might take that would add appreciably to the drive for a cleaner tomorrow without adding to the tax base.

I believe each city, or perhaps a cooperative city-county area, should have an environmental commission of citizens interested in improvement, not status quo. They could act as ombudsmen, sending citizen complaints to the proper authorities. They could be the advisory arm of the administration, just as the traffic commission or consumer commission.

THESE unpaid people should be very carefully chosen to give social and geographical mix to the commission, making sure the polluters themselves are not sitting on their own jury.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Take this column to your next city or village council meeting and ask that a citizen's board be given a piece of the action.

DEAR CONSUMER

There's More To Bulbs Than Watts

By Virginia Knauer
(Special Assistant to the President and Director
White House Office of Consumer Affairs)

How much do you know about light bulbs? Have you ever been annoyed about a bulb you thought burned out too fast?

You're probably accustomed to buying light bulbs according to the wattage listed on the paper sleeve and on the bulb. From experience, you know that a 100-watt bulb is significantly brighter than a 60-watt bulb.

BUT ACTUALLY, wattage doesn't tell you directly the brightness of the bulb, it only tells you how much power the bulb consumes and, therefore, how much the bulb will add to your electric bill.

For an actual measure of the bulb's brightness, you have to look on the package to see how many lumens the bulb puts out.

And if you want to find how long the bulb is likely to last before it burns out, you can get that information --measured in hours--from the package, too.

LUMENS (brightness) are a unit of measure that most people still aren't familiar with. It was less than two years ago--Jan. 25, 1971, to be exact--that a Federal Trade Commission ruling went into effect requiring lumens, along with bulb life, to be listed on packages.

The FTC made its ruling because of complaints that light bulbs were burning out much too fast. The problem was that manufacturers could make a light bulb of a given wattage brighter by making the filament thinner; however, this reduced the average expected life of the bulb.

A manufacturer could advertise that a bulb gave off "brighter light" than a competitor's bulb of the same wattage, without having to mention that the brighter bulb would probably burn out sooner.

BY requiring the added information, FTC hopes to reduce consumer dissatisfaction about repeated bulb burn-outs.

Thus, for a given wattage bulb, you can choose the relatively bright shorter-life bulbs for reading and close-up work, or the slightly dimmer "long-life" bulbs for ceiling fixtures and other inaccessible places where you don't want to change bulbs too often.

For more information on bulbs, write to Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20580.

Answers About Your Insurance

(Presented by the Columbus Chapter of the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters)

WHO DETERMINES HOW AND WHEN INSURANCE COMPANIES RAISE PREMIUMS?

HOW CAN I CHECK ON MY COMPANY WITHOUT ASKING THEM DIRECTLY?

Each state has an insurance regulatory body. These state insurance departments have a director or commissioner in charge of insurance regulation of companies licensed to operate in that particular state.

Traditionally, companies have had to submit rates for approval by the insurance department before making any changes in them. These so called prior approval laws have given way recently in several states to laws which permit companies to use rates they feel are more responsive to sound business practices and changing competition. This permits regulation by competition.

State insurance departments are in control of rates, contract language, company practices, etc., and if you have questions regarding your insurer, you may write to the insurance regulator in your state for his assistance. Most facts about insurers are public information.

Fashion Unlimited

The Duke of Windsor wore it as a boy...now Ralph Lauren adapts it for women. Authentic Scottish gamekeeper's jacket with matching vest... softly pleated fine-wale red corduroy pants. JIM BALDWIN'S classic black and white tweed coat with shaped front and flared back...pull through black kid belt.

FRANCESCA does a jumper with a difference for Damon...long, lean, slashed at the hem...in black wool knit belted over black and white dotted polyester shirt with neck tie. JON HAGGIN'S design for Stella Fagin...black acrylic jersey for the long sleeved sweater bodice topping dramatic geometric print flowing pants.

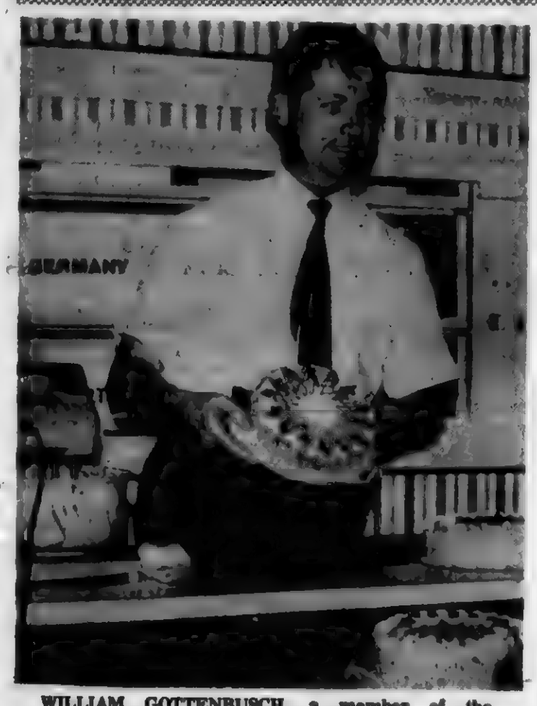
THE FASHION picture may have been a bit fuzzy during the past few years, but now it's coming into sharp focus!

For fall, it's Fashion Unlimited...from Sure Classics to Contemporary Costumes. It's a great time for fashion and for women to pick and choose the way they want to dress. There is no one way of dressing...no one way to look...no one way to put it all together. A woman can change her look to suit her mood...to express her individuality.

THE SURE Classics are those timeless, quality clothes that make a woman feel comfortable and feminine, while the Contemporary clothes are those that amuse...clothes of the moment often inspired by world events and changing life styles. Contemporary clothes may not be as easy to wear as the Classics, but then sometimes a young woman wants to make a more dynamic statement and is willing to sacrifice the comfort for the impact.

'IN' fashion

with Tess Stern



FOR DESIGNER Ralph Lauren, "Classic" has always been his byword in men's wear, and for fall he introduces the same concept for his first women's collection...the same fine tailoring, fabric, and detail with obvious distinctions. Gray flannel shaped suits, slouchy shawl-collared jackets in everything from camel hair to Harris tweed or velvet by day...satin-lapelled dinner suits in velvet with satin pants by night. Men's wear detailing gives skirts and dresses a new look.

JIM BALDWIN'S collection for Young Elegant is Classic with a witty signature touch...fresh, young and fashionable. The Anything Coat, that swings wide in a great swirl, has a companion dress...a new shaped pant suit has a matching shawl...the dress and jacket costume...aiming at "total performance", tops and skirts are always attached...hems skim the top of the kneecap...women prefer it that way.

JON HAGGINS, talented designer for several manufacturers, is totally Contemporary. He designs fashions from lingerie to evening clothes...all dramatically wearable and exciting...sought by young women with wild kinky ideas and no hang-up.

Rapenport-Burkhart Nuptials Performed

Miss Marianne Rapenport became the bride of Daniel Thomas Burkhart in a closed ceremony July 23 in Temple Israel.

Rabbi Edward Kiner performed the double ring service before the bride and groom's immediate families.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Marvin, is the daughter of Tillie Rapenport of Columbus and the late Robert Rapenport. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cohen of Bexley and Mr. Louis Rapenport of Columbus. Mr. Burkhart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Burkhart of Woodsfield, Ohio.

Maid of honor for her sister was Debbie Rapenport. Steve Burkhart served as best man for his brother. A reception and dance followed in the temple social hall attended by the couple's family, friends, and business associates.

Mrs. Burkhart, a 1967 graduate of Eastmoor High School and a 1971 graduate of OSU, is employed by the Gilbert Shoe Company and is a teacher in the Columbus Public Schools. Her husband, a 1967 graduate of Woodsfield High School and a 1971 graduate of OSU, is an employe of Ford Motor Credit Company, Worthington, Ohio.

After a trip through Ontario, Canada and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Burkhart are residing in Columbus.

THE TRULY magnificent dahlias grown by Gene Federer, 236 S. Westgate and Dr. J. William Hurt of West Jefferson are typical of those to be displayed when the Greater Columbus Dahlia Society holds its seventh annual show Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10 in the Eastland Mall. The huge lavender bloom at the top right is Penn's Gift, grown by Dr. Hurt Hurt, vice president of the Society. Hurt who also has originated the Brookside series of seedlings will be a senior judge at the Society's show and at the annual dahlia show at the Ohio State Fair. Federer, president of the Columbus Society, will serve as show chairman and with Dick Westfall will also act as chairman of the State Fair Show.

Gerald Philhower' Miss Moore Wed

Catherine Louise Moore and Gerald Louis Philhower became man and wife Saturday as they exchanged wedding vows at Christ the King Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland L. Moore, of 2947 Arrowhead Court, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Philhower of Miamisburg, Ohio.

MAID OF honor was Miss Marilyn Carter of Columbus while Kim Burkey of Cleveland (cousin of the bride) and Yolanda Haynes of Columbus served as bridal attendants.

Two other cousins of the bride – Regina Merriman of Reynoldsburg and Aaron Burke of Cleveland – served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Glenn Clark, a fraternity brother of the groom, was best man while the groom's brother, Larry Philhower, and Michael Goodman (another fraternity brother) seated the wedding guests.

THE BRIDE is a graduate of the Columbus School for Girls and has attended both Jacksonville (Fla.) University and Capital University. She will complete her college education at the University of Dayton.

The groom, a graduate of Capital University, is associated with Security Approved Products, of West Carrollton, Ohio.

After a reception at the Desert Inn, the couple departed for a wedding trip to West Palm Beach, Fla. They will be at home on their farm in Germantown, Ohio.

vice-president Jim Feibel, of 6825 Whitman Rd.

Pointing out that the average life of a civic association is five-to-ten years, Feibel philosophies: "We need a good continuing crisis to keep us on our toes."

DEVELOPERS have cooperated in keeping the "crises" coming as evidenced by a fruitless bid to increase the density on a 120-acre tract along McNaughten Road last month.

Efforts to block that rezoning attempt kept Triple R people on their toes an estimated 1100 man-hours-worth. And that's only counting the leadership level.

Feibel is particularly proud of two Triple R firsts—the facts that the area was the subject of the city's first Area Plans and the organization was the first to make deed restrictions (or private zoning) a matter of course.

"IF WE'VE been successful," Feibel says, "it's because we're realized that zoning is a political process."

"We've remained unemotional and been objective, and have sometimes capitalized on our opposition's blunders. It's usually the civic associations who lose their cool."

"I think one of the big advances civic associations have made in the past few years is proving to government that there are two sides, not just one side and a couple of nuts," Feibel said.

FEIBEL, an attorney who's familiar with the other side via representing developers, believes councilmen have a "subconscious bias" against civic organizations.

"I think they believe they've got to keep it (progress) moving. The rule of thumb has been 'if in doubt, develop.' I think they're finally starting to get around to the concept of 'if in doubt, let's take another look.'"

Feibel believes civic associations suffer from the erroneous concept of always being negative. "We fought to bring in a shopping center (Canyon Center at McNaughten and Broad), twice supported the city income tax increase (passed in area by 72 percent plurality) and have supported more rezoning than we've opposed. But you never hear about those instances because they aren't news," he says.

THE TRIPLE R veep also believes that civic associations are forced into a role of appearing to be unreasonable.

"Sometimes things look good on the surface but we've got to look at the total picture... consider what kind of a trend this particular rezoning might create, what kind of doors it might open," Feibel adds.

As far as Area Plans go, the attorney doesn't buy the concept that the plan must be a bible, followed to the letter.

"I DO believe the plan should be given the benefit of the doubt and represent a point from which civic associations should begin compromise," he explains.

When asked what percentage of success he attributes to resident attendance at zoning and council meetings on nights of decision, Jim replied: "It's an all-important effect. Without it (attendance) you can't win. But conversely, with it you don't necessarily win."

Bud Vollmer looks at Triple R's successful track record vs developers as a double-edged sword.

"SURE, OUR success has caused some developers to shy away from the area but sometimes your reputation can work against you, like causing some councilmen to starting thinking maybe Triple R has won too many."

Feibel admits that developers have a decided plus in wearing the opposition down by constantly resubmitting different plans for the same tracts.

"I know a developer's attorney who says 'I've never lost, I've only been delayed,'" Jim says. "Actually, it's a matter of how well can we lose. We'd rather negotiate and compromise. But if that fails, we've got to fight."

AND THE fight often looks overwhelming. "We always start from behind," Feibel says, pointing to Triple R's $300 per year treasury vs multi-million dollar developers.

Both Vollmer and Feibel scoff at the point of view that geographically-removed civic associations have no business joining together in an attempt to bring pressure.

"Each association is for good city planning and development. It's members are taxpayers and have a right to be interested in what's happening outside their backyard," Vollmer says.

"WE'VE ALL got the same kinds of problems, just temporarily removed on an individual basis," Feibel adds. "If you don't try to prevent a bad principle from getting started no matter where it starts, how can you expect to block it when it gets to you?"

"We've never been asked nor would we ask people to turn out at council to provide bodies for another civic association," he adds.

REFERING to one of the few instances when Triple R lost (McNaughton Commons apartments), Feibel smiled: "We just dropped the ball.

"We're not always right. All we want is a fair shake. It's funny. Developers have two basic interests — protections of their investment and the good of the city. Those are the same motivations of a good civic association."

Feibel admits that the Triple R area has been blessed with some fine resident expertise—attorneys, land developers, educators, realtors and engineers to name a few, all willing to contribute time to the cause.

"WE'VE EVEN got our own Air Force," Jim quips, refering to several resident pilots who provide aerial photographs when needed.

A good communications system is another big Triple R plus, Vollmer stating he only needs to make phone calls and "90 percent of the people are alerted."

Feibel lists six points of advice to other civic associations who would like to be as effective as Triple R:

(1(FIND people who care enough to devote a lot of time and who are aware not only of their backyard but the city as a whole.

(2) Try to be as unemotional and logical as possible in your efforts.

(3) Look at the developer's side, as well as your own.

(4) CONSIDER the tactical strengths and weaknesses of your position.

(5) Be careful about keeping your committments to the developer if you expect the same kind of response from him.

(6) Get your position know (via press, radio, TV etc.).

BUD VOLLMER summed it up: "Eight years ago people would come to me and ask, 'how can you fight City Hall?' I think we've helped to show them how."

Mentally Retarded Pre -Schools Are Set

The Franklin County Program for the Mentally Retarded has ten preschools. Preschools are located in churches in different areas of the city and county. The classes meet from 9 to 11:30 a.m., Monday through Friday during the school year and for six weeks during the summer.

Any retarded or other developmentally delayed child from 3-6 years of age is eligible. The only requirement is that he be able to walk.

There are two well trained professional teachers with each group of ten children. There are also experienced volunteers who aid the teachers. The staff is concerned with teaching in the following areas: gross motor, fine motor, self care, socialization and language and speech development.

This is a tax supported program. There is no tuition.

For further information, call the Franklin County Program for the Mentally Retarded - 268-8673.

Chamber Sponsors Speakers

Organizations planning programs about fire safety may secure informed speakers from a new bureau that is operating through the Safety Council of The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce.

It has available for public appearances approximately 75 speakers who are qualified to discuss various phases of fire safety.

The goal of the program is a reduction of the fire deaths, injuries and property damage.

Participating insurance organizations are the Central Ohio Insurance Association, Central Ohio Underwriters Association, Columbus Health and Life Claims, Insurance Board of Columbus, Insurance Women of Columbus, Mutual Fire Underwriters Association, Ohio Association of Mutual Agents, Ohio Insurance Institute and the Allen C. Guy Puddle Blue Goose. All interested area fire departments will also be involved in the program.

A request for a speaker may be made by a phone call to the Safety Council, The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce at 221-1321, Extension 56 or 58.

Salt Cops 2nd Round Old Timers' Pennant

Brad Salt Realtors held off a last ditch rally by Christ Lutheran Church Sunday evening to post a 4-3 playoff win and cop the second-round Bexley Old Timers' softball crown.

Salt thus advanced to Tuesday night's City Championship showdown against first-round champ Central Ohio Welding.

THE SUNDAY playoffs became necessary when Salt, Christ Lutheran and the Welders all wound up second round play with identical 4-1 records. Salt then drew the bye, and watched from the sidelines as Christ Lutheran nailed the Welders 12-6 to earn a spot in the title tilt.

Salt held a 4-1 lead going into the bottom of the final inning, but the Lutherans rallied for two runs and had a pair of runners aboard when a pop fly ended their spunky comeback bid.

In their final regular-season contests last Tuesday, Salt topped Dollar Federal 12-5, C.O.W. clobbered Susil Contruction 29-13 and Christ Lutheran blasted the Pussycats 18-1.

IN UNDER THIRTY League action, Klamfoth Honda dropped a 9-8 decision to Love Studio while the Cohagan Maddogs beat Cols. Copy Products 18-9. That left both clubs at 4-1 for second round games, and set up a playoff Tuesday.

Klamfoth won the first round title in a playoff Tuesday.

Klamfoth won the first round title in a playoff over Cohagan, and a repeat of that victory Tuesday would make a final City Championship game unnecessary (since the Hondamen would be champs of both rounds).

Steve Miller's four hits led the under-30 Brad Salt team to a 12-6 win over the Conglomerates in last Tuesday's other regular season finale.

Here's a rundown of the final standings in both leagues (playoff results thru Sunday included in won-lost columns):

A Touch And Go Situation

AN EAGER Bernie Miller, swimming for Montrose in last week's Bexley Parks Championship Meet, launches himself into action as teammate Greg James touches the wall beneath his feet. Action took place in the boys eight-and-under 100 yeard medley relay—won by the Montrose foursome of Miller, James, Steve Nickerson and Steve Miller. Montrose went on to capture the team title.

Madison Minor Leaguers Earn SILL Division Title

Madison Green, representing the Madison District Baseball Association, roared back from tough early loss to capture the 8-9-10 year old Division crown in last week's Southern Independent Little League (SILL) tournament.

After topping Walnut Heights 5-4 in their tourney opener, the Madison club suffered a heartbreaking 1-0 loss to SILL Blue in 11 innings (regulation is six). Madison hurler Jim Rall went the distance in defeat.

FROM THERE ON it was all smiles, however, as the Green Machine posted losers' bracket wins over Olentangy (6-1), Whitehall (6-4), Madison Red (8-6) and SILL Red (12-5). That put 'em into a do-or-die rematch with SILL Blue—which they won 6-4 to force a third and decisive battle between the two clubs in the double-elimination finals.

In the title tilt it was Rall's crafty moundwork and a grandslam homer by Joey Lovejoy that told the tale in a 4-1 Madison victory.

Overall, Rall collected six of his club's seven pitching victories (Lovejoy got the other).

THE MADISON District Pony League entry capped a sparkling 45-5 campaign with a second place finish in the Pony division of the SILL tournament. They had already earned championships in the Tri-County and Mid State Leagues and the runnerup spot in the Tri-County tourney.

Bucks Switch Game Locale

The Columbus Bucks have announced a schedule change for their Sept. 3 game with the Pennsylvania All-Stars. Originally scheduled for Columbus, the contest will be played in Portsmouth, Ohio, at Spartan Stadium, as part of the annual "River Days" festivities.

Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.

The Audi 100LS The Porsche 911 The Porsche 914
The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi.
It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty-one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)
The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911.
A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.
And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.
We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.
We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.
And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look:
The way they work.

Irish Go Nightowl

Attention all Notre Dame alumni (official or subway-variety), gridiron aficianados and late-movie freaks out there: WTVN-TV (Channel Six) will carry delayed-tape broadcasts of all 10 Fightin' Irish football games this fall at 11:30 p.m. on Saturday nights—same day as the games.

That's a switch from the 10:30 Sunday morning time slot they have occupied for the past several years. And just when we were finally getting used to 9:00 Mass, too . . . .

Don Hunsinger Joins Crusader Grid Staff

Capital U.'s football Crusaders have added Don Hunsinger to their coaching staff as tutor for the linebacking corps.

The 30 year old Hunsinger is a 1964 graduate of Muskingum College and also holds a Masters degree from Ohio University in Physical Education.

HE COACHED Elyria High to a Buckeye Conference title and No. 3 poll ranking in 1965, then came to London after grad school where the Red Raiders promptly posted an unbeaten season which earned them the Mid-Eight crown.

After a stint at Grandview High, he took on part time coaching chores at Cap while teaching at Ridgeview Jr. High.

For the past two seasons, Hunsinger has been an assistant at Oberlin College, serving as defensive coordinator, tennis coach and intramural director.

HE'LL HAVE a big job in store this fall, considering that Cap will be missing last season's six top linebackers.

The newest member of the Crusader athletic family resides in the East Columbus area with wife Stephanie and four-month-old son Mark.

Pre-School Activities Planned At ODC

First year students and transfers are expected to arrive on Ohio Dominican College campus, 1216 Sunbury Rd., Wednesday, Aug. 29 to begin a four-day Orientation period. Fall semester classes for all students will open Monday, Aug. 26.

After "settling in," Wednesday, campus tours are scheduled and a meeting of parents of resident students with Dean of Students Donald Mash is scheduled at 3 p.m.

WHILE RESIDENT students will "check in" during the afternoon, commuting students are due at the college at 7 p.m., with meetings for commuters and residents set at 7:30 p.m.

A Freshman Class "Spirit of '76" Party in Fitzpatrick Hall is scheduled at 9 in Fitzpatrick Hall.

Thursday morning's program will consist of a general information session, as well as the beginning of a five hour course registration and Foreign Language Placement testing period.

AT 3:30 P.M., STUDENTS will be briefed on availability of advice and counseling. Foreign study opportunities and Military Science Programs will be outlined at that session.

Thursday evening, following a 7:30 p.m., meeting with major student campus officers, a program "Introduction to Involvement" will be featured. A Sing-a-long with the Ohio Dominican Concert Choir will top off Thursday night's events.

Counseling, testing and financial aid programs will be explained at Friday morning's general session and Freshman Testing will follow. Library Orientation is scheduled Friday afternoon, with a 5:30 p.m., picnic followed by a 7 p.m. movie in ODC's new library theatre.

BESIDES A GENERAL information session Saturday morning, students will fill in the American Council on Education Questionnaire.

To accommodate those who wish to shop or attend the Ohio State Fair, busses will leave at 1 and 6:30 p.m. for both Eastland Shopping Mall and the Fair Grounds.

A 10 p.m., dance in Hamilton Hall will complete Saturday's scheduled.

Teen Counselors Needed By VAC

The Volunteer Action Center is in need of volunteers who can counsel teenagers. There are no requirements except to have an open mind and a young mind. The time can be arranged around the volunteer's own schedule. Orientation sessions will be provided to prepare volunteers for their role.

For more information please call VAC (228-7306).

A Tribute Well-Earned

SPECIAL TRIBUTE was paid to two Spectator area residents at a reception following a meeting of the Advisory Board of the Catholic Social Services. The tribute was made by Dr. Helen McDaniel, 419 Derrer Rd., who serves as agency director. She lauded Ray Bichimer, 2646 Mitzi Dr., attorney-at-law, for the legal answers he had given the agency and Dr. John King, 7170 E. Main St., Reynoldsburg, for his time spent in advising the agency on the medical problems of children. Dr.McDaniel is shown with C. Richard Harold, retiring chairman of the board, left, and Bichimer, right, who has taken over the task of leadership as newly-elected chairman of the Advisory Board.

How to prepare yourself for Blonders.

When you're ready to decorate, we're ready to help.

But, first, we need your help. Here are a few things we like to know when you come to us for paints and wallcoverings:

The type of surface you'll be painting or covering. Wood? Wallboard? Plaster? Masonry?

Its dimensions.

Its present condition. Is it damaged, badly cracked, already wallpapered, etc?

The number of windows and doors, and their dimensions.

Your furnishings and color scheme, if it's an interior job.

Once we have this information, we can get right to your selections. And we'll provide you with all the advice and materials you need to make your decorating easier.

Blonders.

Signs Of The Times 'are Available At Vac-U-Sign

Paul E. Lambert, Owner and President; Michael E. Lambert, Public Relations, Jeffrey A. Worch, Supply Manager, Marjorie A. Lambert, Secretary.

I have been in the business of manufacturing vacuum forming machines for a number of years. Over this period of years, I have observed a large market developing which has been overlooked. The market I am speaking of is the small sign business. We have put together a program, whereas we can put any individual into a part or full time business, and at the present time have done so, with a large number of machines in thirty two states.

There are a large number of people in the business of large electric signs, and sign painting who are not interested in making small signs for the businessman, as their labor factor is too high to make any money on them.

Through our fast processing of vacuum forming, our manufacturers can produce strong vinyl signs as cheap as any paper or cardboard sign with the advantage of washing it off if it gets dirty, and not having to throw it away. For this reason many large companies are switching to plastic signs.

There are very few sign shops today where a doctor, lawyer, or professional people can go to get beautiful small signs. The market for small signs is enormous, but the key to that market is fast service, and that is why we offer 24 hour service.

For those of you who may be going to the Ohio State Fair, we will have a big display in the Buckeye Building, where you can watch signs being formed and sprayed, plus two hour service for your needs.

We offer all types of signs on a wholesale and retail basis and carry a large inventory of stock signs sold through other dealers and sign shops.

We also manufacture all type of comic novelty plaques and buttons for rack distribution in all type of stores.

We manufacture Plastic Interior, Exterior and Magnetic signs that are guaranteed not to blow off at speeds over 100 M.P. Hour. All signs are 3-Dimensional for easy reading.

We also carry a complete stock of plastic letters from ½" to 30" high that can be mounted on all colors acrylic background background panels with all types of decorative frames.

Mr. Lambert invites everyone to Columbus's Newest and Most Modern Plastic Letters and Sign Shop to talk over your signs of the future, here today. A free Plaque will be given to everyone, ready for you to finger paint.

Electric Flashing signs for counter or window display, also available in two sizes.

ACT II

By BETTY DRAGONETTE

Hey, fellows, guess what? Yours truly is directing again. Now all of you who have said you would love to do a show with me have your chance. The last show I directed (that was not a children's show) was at Players Club where tryouts are limited to members only.

This one is with the Clerestory Repertory Theatre, housed in the Unitarian Church at 93 W. Weisheimer Rd., and tryouts are open to the public. I am proud to be doing a show with them in the first place, but after the lovely article which appeared in the Sunday Magazine of a local paper last week, I am doubly pleased.

A lot of you who know me personally have heard me mention several times in the last few years that I would like to direct "Boys in the Band." That dream is now a reality.

Sorry to say the cast consists of eight men only, but my technical director, George Bopp, has visions of an all female crew, so both sexes are urged to attend tryouts Sunday Aug. 27, 2:30 p.m. and Monday Aug. 28, 7:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Church. Play dates will be announced as soon as they are cleared with the church board.

This is your last chance to see Burton Russell's new play "Low on High" at Stadium II Theatre. I will not get a chance to see it until Saturday night, so will be unable to review it in this column, but from all the comments I have heard, it is a very worthwhile play. With Roy Bowen directing, how could it miss? Performances are Wednesday through Saturday, 8:30 p.m., at Drake Center's Experimental Theatre on the Ohio State Campus.

Starting August 24 is THE local big event, the Ohio State Fair. As in the past, the fair will continue to have events for all ages and all tastes.

HOLIDAY INN EAST

Now that we are getting to the close of summer, the night life is a little slow Around Town. But, we all still have to eat. And, do I have a deal for you! In my opinion, The Holiday Inn East is offering the most delicious buffet and the least expensive one in town. I had dinner there a couple of weeks ago, and boy, did I enjoy all of it.

This is a buffet, but not an ordinary buffet. It is just plain delicious not like normal restaurant cooking, but more like mother's. Of course, the first item was a fresh, crisp tossed salad, with choice of dressing. The dressing was tasty, to say the least. Then I went down the line, selected a little of their corn relish. This was so darn good, I went back for more. The same is true for their potato salad. Also in the salad line are cucumber salad, pickled beets, bean salad, jello salad and beautiful looking fruit salad in a carved watermelon.

Now it's time to settle down to some good home cooking, including roast beef that was so tender, it melted in my mouth. After a couple of helpings of this, I moved on to the home-fried chicken. This was better than any colonels or majors or what-have you. The deep fried perch caused me to make another trip back for more. The delicious mashed potatoes and the various selections of vegetables made the meal complete.

One of the real high points of the entire meal was the French Onion soup. This was out of this world.

Everything was first class. You won't find any better anywhere, and pardon the pun, that's a mouthful.

This is the menu for the dinner buffet. Of course, it changes some each day. But all of this for only $3.25 is a steal.

The Holiday Inn East also has a breakfast and luncheon buffet. The breakfast buffet is $1.75 and includes scrambled eggs, bacon, sausage, French toast, pancakes, hash brown potatoes, toast, doughnuts, sweet rolls, juice, prunes and figs.

The typical luncheon buffet has cabbage rolls, Salisbury steak, stuffed pepper, fish, fried chicken, chicken and dumplings, choice of vegetables, soups and French fries all for $1.95.

Take my advice, just plan on eating all of your meals at the Holiday Inn East. Prices are as low as the quality is high. I'll see you there often-just look for the fattest columnist in town.

ANN B. DAVIS

Ann B. Davis, the star of the popular comedy television series, "The Brady Bunch," is a gal who must run on atomic energy. Ann, is one of the most bubbling and energetic personalities I have interviewed in a long time.

In town this past week to promote the new series, seen Fridays at 8 p.m. on WTVN-TV (6) Ann was running all over town, even in the heavy downpours we had. Yet, she looked as if she had just stepped from the dressing room, rather than the wet, humid city.

Ann's schedule was so packed, we conducted our interview between and during taping of promotion spots she made for Channel Six. Not only that, but Ann walked in front of the camera, and did them without any rehearsal.

Ann is as much of a comedian off camera as she is on the tube. I think this gal could be just as funny on "The Brady Bunch," without a script. Just turn her loose.

During the tapings, Ann was able to tell me a little bit about herself. In the beginning of her long career, Ann toured with various stock companies for seven years before striking out for that promised Land, known as Hollywood. With only $100 in her pocket, Ann sold Christmas cards at one of the better department stores before she was able to break into the scene.

She has appeared in several movies, including, "A Man Called Peter," "Peppe," and the Doris Day - Rock Hudson film, "Lover Come Back." In 1960, George Abbott picked Ann as Carol Burnett's replacement in his Broadway show, "Once Upon A Mattress."

Ann's big break in TV came when she was cast as Schultzy, the salty secretary on the "Bob Cummings Show," receiving four Emmy nominations and two Emmys, [illegible].

This is the fourth season for "The Brady Bunch," a fact which surprised everybody in the business. They have bumped 19 shows off the air.

Ann, who stills tours in summer stock, loves the stage the best, because of the live audiences. Yet, she said, she really loves working on a television series because of the tremendous pace. It takes three 12-hour days to make one 30-minute show. Right now, there are nine shows shot, and beginning this past Monday morning, they will begin shooting several more.

Ann's hobby is driving her Porsche 914. She just got it out of the body shop. But, like all women, Ann said it wasn't her fault. Another hobby is needlepoint, which Ann said helps pass the time since she lives alone and doesn't travel in the Hollywood glamour circle.

This is Ann, just a plain, ordinary person. She neither looks, acts or dresses like a star. She is just plain Jane, a warm-hearted, laugh-provoking person, that you would love to have over for dinner.

Since that is almost impossible, invite her into your home any Friday, just turn to Channel 6 at 8 p.m..

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

Don't let the hot, humid August weather keep you from hitting some of the night spots in Columbus and area. While they are not any new acts this week, there are still plenty of good entertainment. Geoff Tyus and his magic fingers are packing them in at the Marriott Inn. Geoff is a true artist at the piano. If you enjoy excellent piano trio, then this is the place for you....For a little different type of entertainment, head toward the Carleston Club. This place swings. There are always lots of sexy gals dancing up a storm on the unique stages of the Charleston Club. Besides the sharp gals, owner Hal Case will set down at the electric organ and give out with plenty of fine organ music. As many of you know, Hal used to be a professional organist before he became a night club owner. Take my word for it, this fellow can play. And, does he please the people with his powerhouse organ and his dynamic vocal stylings.... For one of the nicest places, with the most original entertainment, it has to be the Dobb's House Restaurant at the Airport. Their food is tremendous. Their steaks and all the rest of their food defies all description. Of course the entertainment I was referring to, is the spectacular view of the airfield . You can dine and watch the planes land and take off. Just one thing about the Dobb's House, while they serve the finest of steaks, they also cater to children Bring them in for a sandwich or just a soft drink anytime. They will enjoy the activity of Port Columbus. There is also a special lunch and dinner menu for them. .... The enjoyable duo of Keith and Charles have been held over again at Lincoln Lodge. They play nothing but smooth music that's soft and easy on the ears. Keith's vocals will keep you spellbound. Then throw in the comedy, and you are off to the races. Don't miss the duo or you'll be sorry.... At the Holiday Inn East, the ever popular and personable Sonia Modes continues to entertain the people at the piano bar at the popular East Side motel. The lounge is nice and dark, offering an atmosphere that is great for conversation.... If you are looking for a unique spot on the east end, then take a short drive out East Broad Street and visit the Mid-Way Grill. Their brand new Tack Room is one of the loveliest spots around. It has very original decor, intimacy is the keyword. You will love this room, for a quiet drink. It is only ten minutes from Hamilton and Broad. Take my advice-go and you won't be sorry....Then if you are going south, The Club House Restaurant should be on your schedule, either for cocktails or dinner. What a place to take that special someone for an out of the way drink or a delicious meal. It is just five miles south of Scioto Downs-In minutes, about twenty of them, from Broad and High....Jim Hittner and the Prophecy returns to the Ramada Inn North in a couple of weeks. More on them later, but I'll tell you this right now that should be a bang up opening night, when all of the fans come to see Jim....Marco Polo's Lounge does nothing at all, but swing noon and night. This place has wall to wall girls and top entertainment is provided by Trilogy, a group that's as strong as the famous rock. For a great time, you single guys and gals, should head for Marco Polo's lounge....Last, but not least, this is the big week at the Bistro. This Saturday night is the famous Miss Back Porch Beauty Pageant. Loads of gorgeous girls will be there, and it is open free to the public. Popular Jimmy Doycheff is the master of ceremonies with entertainment by Atlanta's swinging Southbound.

That's it for this week. Go out and enjoy yourself. There is plenty of things to do and places to go Around Town.

Miss Columbus Entries Due

The winner of the 1972 Miss Columbus title will receive invitations to represent the city in various community related events throughout the year of her reign, says Columbus Day USA President Ray Creamer.

Creamer said an expanded program of events for the Miss Columbus winner is being arranged. In addition, Miss Columbus will compete for the Miss Columbus USA Queen title to be presented in conjunction with the Columbus Day Pageant Oct. 6-9.

PRELIMINARY judging will be held Saturday, Sept. 9 with finals to be held Sept. 13--both at the Eastland Shopping Center Mall.

Women between the ages of 18-26 (with the exception of professional models or finalists in other queen contests) are eligible to compete for the Miss Columbus title.

Contestants must be single, a resident of Columbus or surrounding areas and will be judged on the basis of ambition, ability, participation in community activities, poise, personality, character, and general appearance.

ENTRY BLANKS and contest information are available through Joyce Richards at the Columbus Chamber of Commerce (221-1321) and at the Eastland Mall offices. Entry deadline is Sept. 7.

Local Moose Women Host Conference

In conjunction with the State Moose Association Convention to be held Aug. 24-27 at the Neil House, the Women of the Moose will have their annual conference. Columbus Chapter No. 206, of the Home Lodge No. 11, 1500 Demorest Rd., will be the hostess.

Members of the local hostess Chapter No. 206 that are helping to make this conference possible are Cora Bryant, Faun Johnson, Joann Lincicome, Helen Radcliff, Pauline Sheets, Ann Carder, Marie Meyer, Edna Smith, Mary Talbott, Jane Shaw, Trudy Cannon, Jean Deorto, Luella Potter, Daryl Robertson, Shirley Stevens, Catherine Cook, Martha Echelbarger, Betty Theado, Blanche Wahrer and Ginny Marsili, all of Columbus.

Club and organizational news should be sent to the Spectator by Thursday noon.

CUBBYHOLE COOKING

By MYRNA MCCAULEY

Salad Days.

When the heat's on, or you had your big meal at noon, or you just plain feel like eating light, toss together one of the supper salads below. And try your hand at the accompanying homemade dressings.

Most of the recipes are planned for one, generously -- but they readily adapt to bigger things when the occasion demands it. And all you have to do is add a crunchy bread, pour a beverage and you've got a meal going.

POT LUCK SALAD - This one is for the night you defrost the refrigerator.

Anything goes -- whatever is in the refrigerator you want to get rid of. Salad greens, Tomato, carrots and celery -- sliced. Olives whole, why not? Luncheon meats in julienne strips -- any leftover chicken, beef, ham or steak, even cooked hamburger crumbled in tiny pieces. A few chow mein noodles maybe, or open a can of shoestring potatoes and throw in a few. Toss with abandon and coat with your favorite salad dressing from a bottle. Or try the following.

THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING (for one)

¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tsp. chili sauce or catsup
1 tsp. instant minced onion
½ hard-cooked egg (use the rest for sandwich spread)
2 stuffed olives, chopped, or 1 tsp. chopped pickle
1 tsp. minced chives, or 1 tsp. dried bell pepper (optional)

Mix all ingredients together.

Or substitute bottled sandwich spread, which consists of mayonnaise plus pickle, and omit pickle or olives.

FRUIT SALAD PLATE - Good for dieting. Needs no dessert, just the beverage of your choice.

Choose any combination of fresh or canned fruits, arrange on lettuce leaf, top with cottage cheese. Serve rye crisp on the side. Got a chive plant in the window? Snip off a little and mix into the cottage cheese. Then dress with a spoonful of sherbet or try this dieter's special. Or the Fruit Dressing below.

DIETER'S TOMATO DRESSING

2 tsp. instant minced onion
1½ tsp. salt
¾ cup tomato juice (6 oz. can)
3 tbsp. lemon juice or vinegar
¾ tsp. dry mustard
Garlic clove (optional)
Shake to mix in tightly-capped bottle.

FRUIT DRESSING FOR ONE

2 tbsp. mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 to 2 tsp. honey, confectioners' sugar, orange juice or maraschino cherry juice
4 or 5 miniature marshmallows
1 tsp. chopped nuts

Sweeten mayonnaise with honey to taste. Use with your choice of fruit. Garnish with marshmallows and nuts.

EGG SALAD IN TOMATO SOUP - If you don't like hot dog relish, substitute lemon juice.

2 tbsp. finely chopped celery
1 tbsp. minced green onion
1 tbsp. hot dog relish
1 tbsp. Almost Homemade Mayonnaise (below)
1 tomato
Lettuce

Toss egg, celery, onion and relish. Add mayonnaise and mix. Core tomato and cut -- almost all the way through -- into six equal sections; spread sections apart. Sprinkle opened tomato cup with salt. Place on lettuce leaf and fill with egg salad.

CHICKEN & FRUIT SALAD-Great way to use up any doggy-bag chicken!

6-oz. can chicken or ½ cup cubed cold chicken
¼ cup diced celery
¼ cup sweet green grapes, cut in two
1 tsp. lemon juice
Salt and pepper
2 tsp. Almost Homemade Mayonnaise
2 tsp. salted nuts (almonds are especially good)
Lettuce cup

Toss chicken, celery, grapes and lemon juice. Season lightly with salt and pepper; mix in mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce cup sprinkled with nuts.

ALMOST HOMEMADE MAYONNAISE
(Make it quantity to keep on hand.)

1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ cup sugar
1 tbsp. vinegar

Mix well and let stand in refrigerator.

AUG. 30 - SEPT. 2

Millersport Set For Festival

Preparations are underway for the 26th annual Millersport Lions Sweet Corn Festival to be held Wednesday through Saturday, Aug. 30-Sept. 2.

Lions officials say the festival will be at least one third larger than in past years.

There will be more than 30 rides for carnival lovers and a highlight of the first evening will be a Rock Band contest.

The parade will be held Thursday, Aug. 31 starting at 6 p.m. from the school grounds. Following the parade will be band concerts and an amateur variety show.

The Friday night festivities will be highlighted by the selection of Miss Sweet Corn Festival. It will start at 9:15 p.m. The queen pageant will be preceded by a dance review and a vocal group.

Saturday's events will include the baton twirling competition and the selection of the Sweet Corn majorette. Saturday afternoon will include a special program for the youngsters.

There will be a Saturday night program of entertainment.

Fresh, succulent sweet corn, cleaned and boiled, then drenched in butter, will be the main food attraction with barbecued chicken and ham the meat specials.

Lions officials noted that some road improvements north of Millersport on State Rt. 58 might inconvenience a few persons but road signs would be plentiful to direct motorists to the festival.

State Fair Traffic Rules Are Outlined

"The coming Ohio State Fair will create a large volume of traffic again in the area of the exposition grounds," Acting Chief of Police, Colonel Ralph E. Drown, stated this week.

Colonel Drown reminded motorists that effective at 6 a.m., Thursday, August 24, and extending through Monday, September 4, no through traffic will be permitted on Seventeenth Avenue as it will be closed between Korbel and Clara Avenues twenty-four hours a day.

Colonel Drown further stated that no through traffic will be permitted, during this period, on Velma Avenue between I-71 overhead and Seventeenth Avenue. Traffic going to the State Fair is excepted and may use Velma Avenue to get to the State Fair parking lot gates.

Speaking of Beauty

FORGIVE US FOR UNLIBERATING THE LIBERATED WOMAN

By Mary Ann Lafferty

We're not against women's lib. We're getting a reputation for that because quite without trying to, we're constantly unliberating our patrons. We make them beautiful and feminine, and the next thing we know, some male chauvinist makes sex objects of them and starts wanting to take care of them the rest of their lives. We really don't deliberately plan it!

Paul and Vic Hairdressers, Inc

2412 E. MAIN ST.

231-6828 . . . 231-4100

For information on any beauty problems come in, write or telephone anytime.

HEARD UNDER THE DRYER

Husband to wife relaxing on the terrace: "The trouble with country living is that no matter where you sit, you're always looking at something you should be doing."

Senior Citizens- Here's Action

MCDOWELL CENTER

Euchre's the name and fun's the game for the Afternoon Euchre Party at 1 p.m. Thursday, August 24.

Nothing tastes better on a nice summer day than a sausage and corn cook-out as prepared by McDowell's Master Chefs at 5 p.m. Friday, August 25.

The members of the rug hooking workshop class that meets every Monday from 9:30-4 will be glad to tell you of the satisfaction you get from making your own hooked rug. Why not stop by and see them in action?

August 29 is Senior Citizen's Day at the Fair. McDowell members will participate in the Cookie Bake-Off, the entertainment in the Senior Citizens Tent, and the Golden-Aires will add to the fun with their swinging music. Half price tickets are still on sale at the Center.

Want to go around the world in one day? We've got a trip going on September 7. Call the Center, 221-7210 for more details.

1100 E. BROAD

Our Broad Street Players drama group will be performing at the Ohio State Fair Columbus Day, Tuesday, August 29. The 1100 Recreation Center will be open on a drop-in basis only on that day – no classes. Half price fair tickets for senior citizens will continue to be available at 1100 throughout the Fair.

Pokeno will be played at 1100 E. Broad Wednesday, August 30, at 1:30. Cost is 25 cents and many prizes are offered.

The new game at 1100 is Scrabble. Groups are meeting Wednesdays at 1:30 and Thursdays at 2 p.m. New members are welcome.

Trip reservations are still being taken for the Millersport Sweet Corn Festival August 31. Special attractions include a parade and band concert, amusement rides and many food treats including delicious roasting ears fresh from the field.

For further information about program, visit the Columbus Recreation Department's senior citizen center at 1100 E. Broad Street or call 252-2832.

SECOND AND SUMMIT

Our next trip out of the center is to Cincinnati September 13 and September 20. We will leave at 7 a.m. and return at 8 p.m. In the morning we will tour WLW-TV. You will get to watch the Paul Dixon Show from the control room and will see the 50-50 Club rehearsal. Lunch will be on your own at the Terrace Cafeteria in Downtown Cincinnati. In the afternoon we will visit the Taft Museum, which has art exhibits, and the Krohn Conservatory in Eden Park. Dinner will be on your own and the cost of the trip is $7. Because of limited space, each trip is limited to 25 people.

Second and Summit is starting its own bowling league. We will be bowling Mondays from 10 to 12 at Olentangy Lanes on N. High Street. The games will be 50 cents each and the lanes will furnish the shoes and do-nuts. Olentangy Lanes has a big parking lot and is right on the bus line. Our bowling starts Monday, September 11. Hope to see lots of you there. Please sign up at the desk or call in so that we know how many to expect.

TRIP TO ISLAND

Five days have been set aside at Kings Island for a special admission discount for senior citizens.

Any person 60 years of age or older will be admitted to Kings Island for $3 per person during the special days. All they have to do is show their driver's license, Medicare card or Golden Age card to prove that they are 60 or older."

The special senior citizen days are set for August 25, and September 3, 10, 17 and 24.

The special price will entitle the senior citizens to the same privileges as any other park guest. It is a pay-one-price and the guests may participate in all of the rides, attractions and activities without additional charge. The only thing they will have to pay for will be food or merchandise which they choose to purchase.

. . . And The Doors Swing Open

Everybody Screams For Ice Cream

DOGS MAY BE man's best friend, but friendship and sharing only go so far on a hot summer day and a strawberry ice cream cone is at stake. Matthew Pinnix, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Pinnix, 6282 Ambleside Dr., appears to think that Puff is getting more than his share of the ice cream. But, Matthew's protests went unnoticed as Puff got his "licks" in anyhow. (Spectator photo by Jo Goode.)

Board Prepares For Opening Of School

Madison Local School Board members took care of last minute details Monday night as they prepare for the opening of school next week.

In a special meeting the board accepted the employment of three more elementary teachers, approved the waiver of the T.B. test for eight schools, and agreed on more site improvement work.

THE T.B. SKIN test is no longer required every year by the state if a school ha a positive reactor less than .5 per cent at the elementary level and less than one per cent at the high school level.

Those schools which would not have to be tested for three years would include Asbury, Brice, Dunlow, Edwards, Groveport Elementary, Madison, Groveport-Madison Junior and Senior High Schools.

Glendening and Sedalia would be required to continue the test a they have not been in existence for three years.

THE SCHOOLS receiving the waivers would have to re-give the tests in three years and may then renew the waiver if the reactor rates are still down.

The T.B. Society will no longer be giving the tests and therefore the school will be responsible for it.

School superintendent Philip Williams said possibly the school nurse could give the test or a doctor could come into the schools to administer the tests. Cost is about 19 cents per student.

THE BOARD approved the hiring of Susan Bunce, graduate of Miami University who has had five years experience. Also accepted were Mrs. Sharon Sims, a graduate of Ohio State University with two years teaching experience and Mrs. Bonnie Stover, a recent OSU graduate.

Board members also approved additional blacktop work at the junior high school. This work will complete the blacktop on about 75 per cent of the parking and bus loading area.

Williams also asked the board to consider the possibility of providing the junior high with funds for the interscholastic athletic program.

THE PROGRAM was given funds by the booster club last year and raises other money with gate sales and special projects.

Williams said with the double sessions next year at the junior high, more players will have to be equipped said overall costs of the program could be increased.

He proposed that the board put about $1,500 into the activity fund for this program.

HE ALSO said there may be some unusual costs this year due to the double sessions, such as the need for more practice equipment and uniforms for football and baseball.

He said the board might consider giving the school $2200 for this use.

Board members were favorable and asked that the resolutions be written up so they may be adopted at the September meeting.

SCHOOL DEADLINE NEAR

Clothing Response Great But Need Even Greater

An elderly lady paid us a visit last week.

She presented us with an envelope containing a $15. gift certificate for the tenth-grade son of Mr. 'B' whose story was capsulized last week in a Spectator story promoting the newspaper's third annual Clothing Collection Drive.

MR. B, facing open heart surgery, had no funds to purchase school clothing for his young son who had outgrown his old clothes.

The lady remembered how her own high school son had come home one day in a sullen mood, finally breaking down and confessing tearfully that his classmates had made fun of his shabby school clothes.

Another lady called, explaining that a relative had four children the same ages of the "T" family (victims of Hurricane Agnes in Pennsylvania). She asked if she could be put into touch with Mrs. T. to determine what clothing items each child needed most.

AND SO IT went as Volunteer Services workers of the Franklin County Welfare Department reported bulging clothing receptacles at collection points scattered around the community.

We'd like to report that, thanks to the generous response of Spectator readers, the back-to-school clothing needs have been met.

But we can't. The need is very great so we are asking those Spectator readers who might have put off the short trip to a nearby receptacle location to remember the children who need clean, in-good-repair clothing in order to return to school next week.

PLEASE don't delay. Remember these kids are not asking for a handout, only a hand-me-down.

Take a good look in the closets, chests and dressers for those clothing items your children have outgrown.

Here are the locations of local merchants who have a clothing drive receptacle in their place of business:

Deadlines Advanced

Due to the Labor Day holiday Monday, The Spectator Newspapers must advance deadlines for the Sept. 6 editions.

All news copy must be received by NOON FRIDAY for publication in the Sept. 6 edition. Deadline for all display advertising will also be Friday noon.

The classified advertising deadline will be as usual – Tuesday noon.

All Spectator offices (except editorial and production) will close at 5 p.m. Friday and not reopen until Tuesday morning, Sept. 5. Editorial offices will close at noon Saturday.

Resignations Hits Schools

An outbreak of resignations this month has left Columbus Public Schools with 86 vacancies to be filled.

Dr. John Ellis, at his first board meeting since his recent thyroidectomy, told the board that he attributes the 100 unexpected resignations to teachers' caution in leaving one employer before finding another berth in a tight job market.

NEW TEACHERS already hired now total 510. Most of the vacancies, according to Ellis, are in the areas traditionally hard to fill—math, vocational areas, special education and sciences.

He did report that the substitute list now stands at 326 which should eliminate any crisis situation. Under ordinary circumstances, the school uses only an average of 100 substitutes a day.

Other personnel matters of note was Ellis' announcement that within the next 10 days two crucial positions will be filled. One is that of executive director for elementary instruction, a position left vacant by the retirement of Hortense Dyar. The second is that of the new post of special assistant to the superintendent for staff development.

ABOUT 40 applications were received for each job and each list had been whittled down to about five by the first of the week.

The board also learned that the allocations of funds to non-public school made possible by the Ohio legislature has been slashed.

Columbus which is paid two per cent of the total for administration of the fund for 32 private schools in the area has been informed the per pupil allotment for the 1972-73 school year is $8.95. Last year the basis of distribution was $14 per pupil.

OF MORE direct concern to the board was the allocation by the State Department of Education to Columbus of $3,601,425 for the 12-month period beginning Sept. 1. through the Disadvantaged Pupil Program.

This amount is $45 less per pupil than the $200 figure widely publicized with the promotion of the State Income Tax—and $20 less than the $175 received by Columbus Public Schools in the year ending Aug. 31.

As in similar federal programs, this money is allocated to schools on a basis of high priority. For example, East High which is a priority I school will gain seven educational aides, one home school agent and a Language Development component through the financing. West, which is a priority III school will be funded for six aides, and one home school agent.

AT THE federal level, temporary appropiations under Title I programs gives Columbus $2,884,128.70 for the fiscal year.

Schools receiving these funds most be able to show that these funds are being used to provide teachers, service, or supplies over and above those covered by local funds throughout the district.

Now exclusively an elementary program, top priority schools are Ohio, Windsor and Livingston. Typical of the extra services the federal dollars will buy is the program set up at Windsor. Two pre-kindergarten teachers will be added to the staff, as well as four kindergarten-primary teachers, one full day kindergarten, a building coordinator and three intermediate teachers.

At the press briefing preceding the board meeting tomorrow's staff development project at South High School came under scrutiny.

At the insistence of the staff, when Disadvantaged Pupil Funds could not be stretched to cover the proposed one-day work shop at South, the project was given an administrative okay with the costs to be born locally.

THE QUESTION raised by the news media was why, if the staff wanted the program so badly, was it necessary to pay each member $5 an hour (with a ceiling of $25) to attend.

With the cost of the teachers attending tallying close to $2500 and the expense of consultants anticipated to be a major consideration, the work shop is not petty cash.

Dr. Ellis stated only that he felt staff development should enjoy extremely high priority--and that professionals could not be expected to work for nothing.

Make A Good 'Investment'

Joan Hinton wishes she had many more poodles for sale.

She put a little two-line ad in the Spectator telling her neighbors that she had poodle puppies for sale.

She reported to the classified girls that she had excellent results. She sold them all and had many, many calls after they were all sold and was still getting calls the following Monday.

A two-line ad in the Spectator only costs $2. Mrs. Hinton, no doubt, feels that a mere $2. was an excellent investment for the return she received from the sale of her poodle pups.

To place your classified ad, call 274-1186. Ads may be placed as late as noon Tuesday for the next day's paper.

Editor Wittenmeier Joins Nationwide

Jack Wittenmeier, Spectator Managing Editor for the past two and one-half years, will join the Nationwide Insurance Company Sept. 1 as Editorial Services Manager.

JACK WITTENMEIER

The position at Nationwide will involve a wide variety of writing, editing and public relations duties.

Wittenmeier, a 1959 Journalism graduate of Ohio State University, began his employment with The Spectator in Aug. 1962 as the newspaper's first, full-time Sports Editor.

He was promoted to Managing Editor of the seven Spectator editions in March 1970 when his predecessor, Bob Tenenbaum, resigned to join Gov. John Gilligan's campaign team.

Rains Cause 'Little Niagara'

HEAVY RAINS RECENTLY CREATED a safety hazard in this ditch off Refugee Road last week. The ditch is at the south border of Walnut Heights subdivision. This area youngster, Paul Chick, demonstrates the depth of the swift flowing water. Chick is five feet tall and said the water had been higher earlier in the morning. One resident said the problem has been increased due to construction work going on to the east. The ditch is normally dry except during times of heavy rains. The developer has said cost for putting in tile to elevate the problem is too expensive.

Playground News

MONTROSE

Summer ended with a BANG at Montrose last night as we had a big water balloon fight to finish off the season!

Congratulations team for your victory in the Bexley Swim Meet last Wednesday and a special thanks to Mr. Click and his staff at the Bexley Pool for their kind cooperation.

Monday night we had a party for the Montrose Monsters to celebrate winning the newspaper drive. Money from the paper drive will be used for some equipment for use on the playground next summer, after party expenses are taken care of. The Montrose staff - Patti, Mike and Tom - want to thank you all for a most enjoyable summer. We hope all the Montrose gang had a good time and will continue to enjoy their "new" playground, just constructed this summer. See you next year.

CASSINGHAM

Playground activities are coming to an end - but we have had a very full week at Cassingham, taking second place in the annual Bexley Swim Meet (thanks Kids for your fine showing and sportsmanship), having an outing to Putt-Putt using part of the money from the newspaper drive for a final playground party (the rest to be donated to a charity chosen by the Kassingham Kids) and even holding a skating party yesterday.

Last week the Kassingham Kuties were defeated by only two runs in their big softball game with the older, more experienced Bexley Belles. Lisa Williams also led the Kids in a softball game against the parents (and leaders Sue and Sandy) which was also lost to the oldsters. Wait till next year!

Kassingham Kids recently visited a farm near Plain City which featured a hay ride, learning to milk a cow and a picnic lunch.

Cassingham playground leaders, Sandy and Sue, would like to thank all the Kassingham Kids and parents for their help and the fun they shared throughout the summer.

'Mammo' Lives Out Golden Years With Grace

Mammo Considers . . .

Mammo Chuckles . . .

Mammo Pantomimes . . .

Mrs. Lucia Menduni is a person who "stays put."

Once in her life, she made a big move—when she left her home village in Northern Italy and, accompanied by her two small children and her husband, came to Columbus.

But that was 67 years ago, and she hasn't felt the urge to roam since.

Tuesday she will mark her 106th birthday which she will celebrate a few days early, entertaining 60 members of her immediate family with a party at her home, 1014 Cosle Ave. where she has lived for 36 years.

It's been many decades since "Mammo" as she is affectionately known by scores of her descendants and friends, farmed on McKinley Avenue and took her produce to the Central Market with the help of her old horse Billy.

And the years have taken their toll.

Yet, Mrs. Menduni has survived the past century remarkably well.

Until breaking her hip in 1970 sh not only did her own housework but gardened and her health-which she attributes to hard work and a host of home remedies ranging from Vick's Salve to dandelion tea-is a source of amazement to her physician and friend, Dr. Vincent Santangelo. (Dr. Santangelo and his family will be the only "outsiders" at Saturday's party.)

Although basically mentally alert, Mrs. Menduni has not quite kept up with the world around her.

Still clinging to her native tongue, she is somewhat isolated from the changing times and uncertain what has happened to the landmarks such as the round house at McKinley and Grandview and the downtown stores she once knew.

And the knowledge that Jack Sensenbrenner whom she knew personally is no longer in City Hall has dimmed her interest in city affairs.

But with a family such as that she can boast, Mrs. Menduni needs no other world.

Her daughter Mrs. Mary Petitti lives nearby and spends every night with her mother. Her sons John and Fred Bendetti are Columbus residents and three of her six grandchildren live in apartments only a step down the street. They are Mrs. Nettie See, Mrs. Eileen Grubb, and Mrs. Lucille Thomacelli.

The other three, Cecil Petitti, Peggy Titko, and Rose Marie Carlos are only as far away as Arlington, Georgian Heights and the South end respectively—and in a closely knit family—that's only a few minutes.

In this clan where "Mammo" is treated as a cherished matriarch of the family rather than as a burden, Mrs. Menduni leads a social life that would be the envy of most senior citizen.

The family is given to parties, picnics, back yard cookouts and restaurant dinners—and where they go, Mammo and her walker invariably show up.

And believe it or not, in anticipation of Saturday's clambake, Mrs. Menduni who has never worn glasses, just remodeled a dress of which she didn't like the neckline.

Her only concession to old age in her passion for sewing is that the girls keep needles threaded for her in with different colors of thread.

Not a particular fan of television, Mrs. Menduni is enthusastic about one modern convenience—that of air conditioning.

On the other hand, she has a dim view of mini-skirts and is convinced various members of her family are all going to kill themselves with cigarettes.

Realizing Mammo's rather tenacious hold to her financial independence, her daughter and granddaughters have allowed her to lead a somewhat sheltered life in these days of inflation.

For example, when Mrs. Menduni gives one of them a nickel to buy a spool of thread or a box of salt, they allow her to continue blissfully unaware that there is a lot more than a cigar that a nickel no longer purchases.

No one is too sure just what "sins" Mammo confesses these days, but a highlight of each month is the visit of the priest from St. John the Baptist who comes to hear her confession and give her communion.

Volunteers Honored

Cantor Blonder To Lead Service

Morris Weinstock, chairman of the Rabbinical Committee at the Beth Jacob Synagogue, 1223 College Ave., announced that Cantor Herman Blonder will be leading the High Holy Day services this year with a choir consisting of members of the Beth Jacob Congregation.

This Saturday night at the midnight Slichos Services, the choir will offer two important songs. They will participate in a wider program during Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur.

Members of the choir consist of Cantor Herman Blonder, Nathan Lessem, Syd Mendelman, Keve Zians, Alex Stregevsky, David Grinblatt, David Seidemann, Sam Goldman, Harley Haas and Eddie Hara.

A special feature in the Slichos Services will be a "Creative" service presented by the Beth Jacob Youth Group under the leadership of Lori Greenberg, Regional President of N.C.S.Y. and past president of the youth group.

The Creative Service will precede Rabbi Stavsky' sermon at 11:30 p.m. The rabbi has chosen for his topic "The Definition of Crisis".

In keeping with the tradition of the Beth Jacob Synagogue members of the sisterhood will host a social hour and coffee klotch at 11:00 p.m. prior to the Slichos services.

An Off-Tune Quack

Old soldiers are said to just "fade away."

It would be fortunate if "lame ducks" would float away.

But, unfortunately, many of the breed feel called upon to stir up the pond with a resounding "quack" that will live long after their expiring tenure in office.

Sen. Robert Shaw, Republican state senator from Columbus who is losing his seat via redistricting is one such retiring legislator. Shaw made one hack of a quack when he gave birth to his twin transportation bills just before adjournment.

It's a political fact of life that with election coming up, Ohioans will be spared the agony of watching the administration 'n promises of "no new taxes" go up in smoke--and the rape of the Ohio Turnpike Commission until after Nov. 7.

But if Shaw (and the various highway and construction lobbies behind him) have their wicked way, Ohio taxpayers and motorists will again come out on the little end of the horn of plenty.

His bills involve a two-cent increase in gasoline taxes and establishment of a Ohio Transportation Commission.

The hike in gasoline tax is predicted to raise a little more than $100 million annually.

Although proposed formulas differ for the expenditure of revenue, they all have one thing in common.

The lion's share would go to highway construction.

With Ohio Interstate construction 90 per cent complete (only five other states are this near to their goals) the construction industry has seen the handwriting on the wall.

Thus the powerful lobbyists are backing the bills to insure that the well doesn't run dry. It is well known that, at the Washington level, the emphasis has shifted to mass transportation, and that the bulk of future highway construction will have to be generated locally.

Shaw's first proposal is in conflict with public interest in two areas.

First, the need for a perennial high-level road construction program has not been demonstrated. Ecology studies indicate Ohio needs more super highways as much as it needs more smog.

Secondly, the two cents in additional gas taxes would leave Ohio with a nine cent tax on each gallon. Only two other states in the nation enjoy the distinction of charging motorists 30 percent taxes on their fuel. (This figure includes the four cent federal tax.)

The second of Shaw's proposals might have a degree of merit -if it did not involve a breach of trust with the public.

The bill would dictate that an all-powerful Ohio Transportation Commission would gobble up the Ohio Turnpike Commission, the Ohio Underground Parking Commission and the Ohio Bridge Commission--assets and revenue.

By pooling their assets, the OTC could then refinance the Turnpike, and issue about $800 million in new bonds. (This magic figure is reached by the rule of thumb of multiplying annual revenue-about $40,000,000-by 20.)

Then, Shaw states, this money could be divvied up among local transit authorities.

Of course, about $160 million would first go to retire the existing bonds.

And there's one of the "rube." The old bonds, issued in an age of "cheap money", bear only 3.2 per cent interest. Comparable refinancing carried out recently by the New Jersey Turnpike Commission is costing 5.75 per cent.

Furthermore, existing law states that the Turnpike shall be toll free whenever the bonds are retired. Only 60 days ago James W. Shcoknessy, chairman of the Commission, had stated that the bonds could be retired by 1980 or 12 years ahead of schedule.

Granted, laws are made to be rewritten, but what a way to reward a Commission that has done an outstanding job of management.

We are not arguing the point that funds are needed for mass transit--but certainly alternatives can be studied--alternatives that will not be based on catering to various lobbies and leave Ohio's fiscal ethics at a historically low ebb.

Everyone with a stake in this attempted stick-up--from motorists to ecologists--should join forces in the attempt to stall the proposed bill until the current General Assembly folds its tent Dec. 31.

Until that time, Ohio will not have a legislature that is responsive to the interests of the people.

In fact, it might make interesting research to attempt to learn where some of the lame ducks will be nesting.

Memories

The creative typewriters slumber idly, their staccato rapping ended for another day. The office is vacant as you try to stuff ten years of memories into a battered, cardboard box.

You pack a few mementos – the dog-eared pocket dictionary, a pre-nuptial 5 x 7 of your daughter's mother and a framed, billfold-sized portrait of the daughter herself – the cherubic features already stolen by six summers.

But most of the memories don't fit in the box. They're stored somewhere else. They flash-back slowly in no particular chronological order.

Mostly you remember people – people you've worked for and with, people whose lives you've briefly mirrored throught the springy keys of a typewriter.

You remember the over-home-baked-pie interview with the grandmother who's leading a one-woman crusade to put Christ back in Christmas, the wanderings through a 20th century Garden of Eden painfully tiled by a Hilltop senior citizen.

You see the lifeless, bloodied face of a bank robber gunned down in a yard ironically located behind a funeral home.

You pack a couple of battered clipboards and wonder how you ever escaped being tossed in a championship celebration shower or only felt the sting of football cleats twice.

The telephone's silent now but what stories it has whispered and screamed into your ear.

You remember trying to settle a bet on the proper golf grip with fingers interlocking around a yardstick – and then thanking God for the odds of either party ever showing up in your foursome.

You can still feel the transmitted venom striking long-distance from Texas as the angry young woman called to report "We are going to take over the Pentagon."

As you toss the half-full box of crackers into the wastecan, you try to estimate the missed suppers, those that got cold while you discussed fluoridation over the home telephone with a city councilman and the cups of hot soup from the "Angels of Mercy" in circulation that stood between a growling stomach and a Tuesday deadline.

Jim Murray's framed column on Bobby Kennedy evokes memories of a double shock wave and silent stares across a deadened newsroom midst moist typewriters.

A slight rumble of thunder creeping through the plate-glass window flickers back Journalism by candlelight the time a power failure beat deadline by 30 minutes.

You pack two personal letters from Jack Sensenbrenner and remember your internal struggle over what was to be his final endorsement.

And you wonder how many other Managing Editors hold the distinction of being charged as a white racist and a "nigger-lover" all in the same month.

Maybe you yawn once or twice in rememberance of two daily newspapers strikes when all "leaves" were cancelled and dawn broke through effort-opened eyes.

You remember scribbling out a column from a hospital bed, often glancing up at the August-produced Christmas tree graced with get-well nuggets from fellow staffers.

It's gently raining now outside and you wonder if your car windows are rolled up. You remember the young fellow of several days' employ who said he was going out to roll up his car windows – and never returned.

The humor of that instance seems lost for the moment as you fold the cardboard box shut.

You turn out the lights and fumble momentarily for your door key.

The telephone rings. You pause, stare at the sound for a second and begin to reach for the receiver.

The phone's still ringing as you turn the key in the lock and grasp a box of memories under your arm.

Jane Robinson

Marriage 'N Dresden

A gossip columnist has explained the report that Barbara Hutton was seen being carried to her car with the statement Miss Hutton is so rich that she doesn't have to walk.

Reading this tidbit, I thought that viewpoint represented the height of asinivity until later that day I, by happenstance, witnessed the hour-to-hour incivility of a young man to his bride of a year.

It was later explained away with the statement, "We are so much in love we don't have to be polite."

Well, I personally could care less whether the Woolworth heiress travels under her own power, by magic carpet or by broomstick.

But there is enough of the Nosy Nell in me to be concerned when newly-weds are so profligate with the springtime of their marriage.

Ardor is not the concrete with which a lasting affection between a man and his wife is built, but only the form which give love and respect the time to set.

And the couple who relies upon bed-time bliss to compensate for the lack of day-time amenities is headed for trouble.

Almost 30 years ago a very old woman warned me about allowing bitter words in my home.

She compared a marriage to a fragile Dresden plate.

"Each quarrel, each unkind word puts a chip into that plate--and soon its beauty is gone," she said.

Possibly her thinking was a bit old-fashioned--I certainly thought so then.

And even today I prefer to think most marriages have more strength and can withstand more battering than a Dresden plate.

But to that young man - and others I've seen recently who are equally boorish-I have a little advice.

There is no better place to practice good manners than at home.

Certainly the wife you promised to love and cherish should be treated with the civility you are wont to offer a stranger.

People who are too rich to walk occupy the psychiatric couches of the world. And people too much in love to be civilized fill America's divorce courts.

Songs And Lives

Some songs end abruptly. Some have melodies that linger on eternally.

Lives, too, are like songs. Some end abruptly without fanfare. In three or so days the life becomes a name on a tombstone - remembered only by family and close friends. There are few memories to remember for long.

Those lives that have melodies that linger are never forgotten. Monuments are built to some in remembrance of their deeds.

Such it was recently with the dedication of the Drake Union at Ohio State University.

Edward S. 'Beanie' Drake was just a name to me when I attended, with my wife, the dedication of the Drake Union on the University's West Campus last week.

'Beanie' Drake was apparently a man among men. He died (in body only) in 1967. His spirit still walks the new halls and rooms of the Drake Union. You can feel him - almost see him.

Yet, I never knew him until those who eulogized him gave me his words of wisdom to live by. They are old-fashioned words - such as honesty, integrity, compassion, desire, love and many others that 'Beanie' lived up to for the more than 30 years he held forth at the Ohio Union.

The combination student union and department of theatre setting is rich in the traditions that 'Beanie' established.

Know something funny, though. It is apparent that as beautiful as the Drake Union is in its entirely it doesn't seem to measure up to the man for whom it was named.

No offense to the builders and architects. It's just that you can only put so much human soul into wood and cement.

The real monument to 'Beanie' Drake will be the dedication of those who follow in his footsteps, or those who succeed because other men who have been greatly influenced by 'Beanie' will pass on the greatness of his legends to help others over the seemingly impossible hurdles that life has a way of placing before everyone.

'Beanie' Drake - what a man he must have been.

Whose Garden Is This?

Mutations, Anyone?

The Federal Environmental Protection Agency has fallen way short of its original intent - to "protect the citizens" from environmental degradation. A year ago Director Ruckelshaus coined the phrase "imminent hazard" in reference to the dangers of pesticides.

Apparently, "imminent hazard" means "it won't kill us until tomorrow" as used in delaying firm action against deadly chemicals in the atmosphere. Due, apparently, to the super-strong farm lobby, the approaching presidential election and the lack of a clear mandate from the people, farm chemical production is at an all-time high.

IN SHORT, the sacred cow is about to stomp us to death.

In September 1971 in Sweden the world's best brains gathered, bringing with them the results of many years of study on hydrocarbons (the worst of the poisons that travel through the food chains of the world). Their comparisons and findings send a chill through those who tend to worry about tomorrow.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology published the findings of the scientists in Stockholm and made it all available to the public. Boiling it down to a few phrases, here were the results: no known deaths have been attributed to farm pesticides (that means the EPA doesn't have to worry about it) but, all early signs lead to a realization that future generations of man will be faced with possible mutations in the form of birth defects and congenital illnesses.

ONCE THE world's food chains are loaded with hydrocarbons, it will take generations to clean the system - if ever.

Rachel Carson told us all about it back it 1961 in her book "Silent Spring". Ten years later Jacques Costeau - the French oceanographer - stated 40 per cent of the fish life of the world (previously considered a natural storehouse of nutrition) has been killed off by farm poisons draining through rivers into the seas.

If the use of such strong poisons had a logical explanation, it would be defensible. Ohio had its greatest corn yield ever in 1971, more land went into soil bank, and we citizens had to buy more grain than ever just to keep the false market in shape.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Pesticides are used on most raw vegetables and fruit. They have an oil base in order to keep the rain from washing them off while produce is still growing. Be sure and scrub well every unprocessed item you buy. You could be giving your great grandchildren a real problem.

DEAR CONSUMER :

'Brush Up' Skills Before You Start

BY VIRGINIA KNAUER

Special Assistant to the President and Director
White House Office of Consumer Affairs

If you're as fond of the American do-it-yourself tradition as I am, you probably like to tackle some household jobs, such as painting, on your own. It can be fun--sometimes challenging--and it can save you money.

But if you do your own painting, you should be aware of the most common causes of paint failure:

PAINTING on a moist, greasy, oily or unclean surface;

Painting during excessively hot, cold or humid weather without benefit of air conditioning;

Painting without proper mixing, with low quality paint or with insufficient time between coats;

Painting without proper primer or undercoat to make the pain adhesive to the surface being painted.

THESE OVERSIGHTS can lead' to peeling, blistering, "chalking," "alligatoring" and "checking." To help you avoid such problems, the Government has issued three consumer publications on painting.

Paint and Painting, 24 pages, is available for 60 cents from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C. 20407 (stock number 2200-0068). Interior Painting--In Homes and Around the Farm, and Exterior Painting, both 12 pages, are available for 10 cents each from the same source (stock numbers 0100-1171 and 0100-0815, respectively).

Here are some good tips from these booklets that can make your paint job easier and minimize the mess when you're done:

RUB PROTECTIVE cream onto your hands before you start, in order to facilitate paint removal later. Or wear old gloves.

Remove any "skin" from the surface of the paint before you start to mix. Otherwise bits of the skin will crop up repeatedly to ruin the consistency of your paint job.

Dip your brush into the paint no more than one-third the length of the bristles in order to minimize spattering and dripping.

When painting around a window, experiment with wet newspaper as a masking material to keep paint off the glass. The moisture will help the newspaper adhere to the glass and also prevent the paint from soaking into the paper.

Letters To The Editor

'Abhorrent Klan Tactics'

To the Editor:

You could have knocked me over with a feather when, a day or so after the fact, it was revealed that the men at the dam (Hoover) were white. The way the case was handled, I assumed that they were not.

I can only agree with those who maintain that an additional charge of "contributing" be filed, except I think it should be filed against the parents or parent.

I have had six 17-year-olds and I sure knew where the five oldest were every night. My youngest hasn't reached the new magic number yet, so I have quite a few months to worry, fret and monitor her behavior. If I fail, I shall blame myself--not Society.

I am surprised also at M. Patterson's chagrin (Aug. 16, Letters To Editor) over the investigation of the matter. The precedent was set at Chappaquidick. Mary Jo wasn't black, but she sure is dead. She also was a Human Being and did nothing worthy of death.

The big mystery to me is the fact that the American public cannot recognize what's wrong. Unless each citizen is subjected to murder, rape, robbery, embezzlement, kidnapping, skyjacking, or is buried alive, he cannot comprehend how evil each crime really is.

Recently one citizen admitted that he thought a local judge's handling of a number of youths who had vandalized a cemetery was too harsh--until the graves of HIS loved ones were vandalized. Then he realized just how revoltingly sick this "prank" is and wanted his pound of flesh.

Well, I learn vicariously. I don't need to be victimized to know that crimes of all sorts must be discouraged. The "sadists" have already been licensed.

God grant me the grace to be as vigilant as these perilous times dictate and the fortitude to continue to face my responsibilities in the face of such overwhelming odds.

So far as my own personal investigation goes, not one High Street merchant had a son who was involved in the Hoover Dam affair. I don't own a business establishment, but I do know how these businessmen must have felt at the senseless destruction on High Street.

These are abhorrent Klan tactics, regardless of the colorof the ones involved.

'Clean Up The Experts'

To the Editor:

In regard to your page one story (Drug Abuse Result of Irrational Nature, Aug. 16 edition), I speak as an expert via education experiences.

The education and welfare system is at fault, upheld by a fangless, bought-off law enforcement system, ignorance of facts and ignorance of purpose in this life.

Ben Franklin and all his associates spelled it out as plain as the ABCs--formation of our peoples' commitment for God and Country.

Now let's practice this. That includes every intelligent person who knows that God is. Mohammad, Buddism, Christian and Jew--no exceptions. All have the God.

No excuses for a personalized God. Our Constitution says God period.

Let's go back to the education basics of good health and hygiene and love of God and Country.

Our educational system is so screwed up. It has many methods to teach reading and every new method adds confusion and deterioration resulting from cumbersome redundancy.

Clean up the experts and our Justice people and everything will get better.

Answers About Your Insurance

(Presented by the Columbus Chapter of the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters)

I WAS RECENTLY INVOLVED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT WHICH WAS NOT MY FAULT. THE OTHER PERSON WAS GIVEN A TICKET FOR A TRAFFIC VIOLATION IN CONNECTION WITH THE LOSS, AND MY COMPANY SAYS I AM ENTITLED TO COLLECT FROM THE OTHER PARTY.

HOWEVER, HE HAS NO INSURANCE AND CANNOT PAY MY DAMAGES, WHICH AMOUNT TO ABOUT $900. MY COMPANY ADVISES ME TO COLLECT FROM THEM UNDER MY COLLISION COVERAGE BY PAYING A $100 DEDUCTIBLE.

WILL I EVER GET MY $100 BACK, AND WILL THE LOSS BE COUNTED AGAINST ME IF I COLLECT FROM MY OWN INSURER?

Your company will attempt to recover the $900 by using your right to sue a wrong doer, in this case, the other party in the accident, through a process called subrogation. Be assured of their desire to collect this. The costs involved in making the recovery are prorated on the basis of the amount paid by the company in relationship to the amount recovered.

If your company makes full recovery, no loss will be charged against you; however, it may well be that your premium may reflect an "unrecoverable loss" rate modification if no recovery is affected. This varies with company rating plans, and you should contact your insurance representative for specific answers.

Art Gallery Opens Sept. 10

The Schumacher Gallery at Capital University will open its 1972-1973 season on Sunday, Sept. 10 with a public reception from 1-4 p.m.

According to gallery director Richard G. Bauer, a selection of portraits from the gallery's permanent collection will be featured in the opening show, as well as an exhibit of watercolors also selected from the Schumacher's permanent holdings.

Portraits on display will range from traditional oils to etchings and lithographs. Among the better-known artists represented in the "Faces in Time" show are Rembrandt, Matisse, Karel Appel, Lamberd Lombard and Clarence Carter. Outstanding in the exhibit is a 19th century portrait of Jenny Lind by Jacob Lazarus, a noted portrait painter from upper New York State.

Included in the "Watercolors '72" display will be works by nationally-known artists including Reginald Marsh, Dona Kingman, Woodi Ishmael, John Pike and Mario Cooper, as well as local watercolorists Leland McClelland, Ed Tracy and Richard Phipps.

The two-part Schumacher exhibit will contine through Oct. 28. The Schumacher Gallery is located in Capital's Huber-Spielman Hall, east of College Avene on Mound Street.

Regular gallery hours are Mondays through Fridays from 1-5 p.m., and on Sundays from 2-4 p.m.

Rabbi Baker Will Lead Services

Dr. Daniel Wuench, chairman of the Ritual Committee of Ahavas Sholom, and Melvin Freedberg, president of the Congregation, take pride in announcing that the famed Cantor, Rabbi Jacob L. Baker, will lead the forthcoming Slichos and High Holiday services.

Cantor Baker, who is well known in Columbus, offers an inspiring rendition of the Yomin Noraim Liturgy, which reaches profound depths of religious ecstasy.

The community is encouraged to make reservations for High Holiday seats early, while they are still available. Please contact Dr. Wuench at 253-8341 or Ira Grinberg, 235-7917 for further information.

Mother's' Club Schedules Tea Sept. 11

The Ohio State University Mothers' Club, Group R., will have a dessert tea September 11 at 12:30 in the Jeffrey Mansion.

A program of games is being planned by Mrs. Ray Beard, program chairman.

Hostesses for the tea will be, Mrs. Robert J. Flint, Mrs. Alfred Hippler and Mrs. Robert Duckworth.

Club and organizational news should be sent to the Spectator by Thursday noon.

Faculty Member Named To Head College Council

For the first time in the 61-year history of Ohio Dominican College, Columbus, a faculty member will wield the gavel of its College Council.

Chosen by newly elected members of the student-faculty council, which promotes and recommends action related to the educational, spiritual, cultural and social aspects of the college community, Arthur T. Koch of the Ohio Dominican chemistry department, will preside over the Council's weekly sessions with the opening of classes.

The College Council also legislates issues delegated to it from the Administration, teaching faculty or college committees. In addition it controls the disbursal of Student Activity Funds and administers student election procedures.

The Council, whose organizational structure was redesigned last school year to "better reflect its all-college intent, consists of three administrators (the academic dean, dean and assistant dean of students; four elected representatives of the teaching faculty and 12 elected student leaders) four class vice-presidents, five vice presidents of major student organizations - the Religious Affairs Council, Social Affairs Council, Association of Off-campus students, and the Associations of Men and Women Resident Students; the president and vice president of the student body, and a representative of Shades of Black, a black student organization on campus.

The 30-year-old Koch indicated today that he wants to make the College Council really represent the entire campus community.

"A total education cannot be achieved in the classroom alone. Ohio Dominican is dedicated to encouraging the entire college community - students, administration and faculty, alike - to become involved outside the classrooms, through participating in various campus organizations and committees as well as in extra curricular activities.

"All of these groups have played an important part in governing Ohio Dominican for years. But now is the time to broaden the firm, cooperative basis we already have."

Koch, who is coordinator the the ODC-University of Detroit Pre-Engineering Program to open at Ohio Dominican this fall, is also faculty representative to the Ohio Dominican athletic program, to NAIA and to the Mid-Ohio Conference, of which Ohio Dominican is a member.

Koch continued: "I hope that the Council will live up to its purpose. The Council is designed to improve communication and dialogue within the college community by bringing together representatives of all groups on a regular basis. In an open forum solutions of concerns can be worked out before they become complex," he concluded.

A native of Buffalo, N. Y., Koch joined the Ohio Dominican faculty in 1966, taking a leave of absence last school year to work toward his Ph.D. at Ohio State, from which he received his M.S. in Chemistry in 1969.

HAPPINESS IS...

Outing Has Lots Of High Points

Happiness is being an Eastern Spectator carrier. At least that's what 118 young boys and girls think about serving more than 20,000 homes in the area with a copy of the weekly paper.

"We're real proud of our carriers, and just as proud of the parents who often help them deliver in bad weather," doubled Eastern supervisors Mary Bohn, Joanne Brown, Lois Luff and Kay Hughes .

SPECTATOR Circulation Supervisor Kent Rennell echoed the same thoughts concerning the supervisors. "They've done a tremendous job in guiding the future of some of their carriers," said Rennell. "Many parents have called and praised both the carrier and the supervisor," he added.

No comment came from the mouths full of food carriers at the Eastern Spectator outing participated in by 33 of the carriers last week. Family vacations, scouting camp and other activities kept some away.

The outing was held at Blacklick Woods with fun, games, nature hikes, animal walks and plenty of tasty food making the day complete.

Speaking of Beauty

By Betty Pickruhn

HOME FROM YOUR SUMMER!

If you are wondering where to start to pull yourself together and get into focus we'd like to suggest a few things:

First of all let's start with a series of hair-conditioning treatments. Even if you have been very good and your hair hasn't been allowed to get faded or dry, a few good hair and scalp treatments is in order. You don't know what damage may be lurking ready to show itself. A conditioning routine is essential preventive medicine ...Don't take chances with pretty hair.

Here Are Directions For Sunday Game, Fair Traffic

With Bob Hope as the main attraction for State Fair visitors and the Browns-Bengals football game at Ohio Stadium, Highway spokesmen have issued the following suggested traffic patterns:

–If you're heading for the fairgrounds, stick to I-71 and follow the signs to the designated parking areas. Leave early, and expect to spend some extra time waiting to enter the lots.

–IF YOU'RE GOING to the game, follow these routes: from the Eastside, Reynoldsburg etc.,–take I-70 through downtown, then swing North at the Mound St. interchange and follow the Olentangy expressway to the King Ave., Kinnear Rd. or Lane Ave. exits.

Department spokesmen had these two suggestions for those OSU football veterans who will try to use I-71 as a "shortcut" to the stadium (via Hudson St. or Weber Rd.): 1) pack a big lunch; and 2) enjoy the second half, if you get there at all.

Special Grid Tab Debuts Next Week

Attention gridiron fanatics, especially followers of the local high school scene: along with next Wednesday's edition of your Spectator Newspaper you'll receive a deluxe 24-page "tab" section complete with in-depth previews and pictures of every prep school eleven in our seven circulation areas.

We'll also include pre-season dope on OSU's highly-regarded '72 edition, a master schedule of NFL games to be covered by the local TV stations, complete schedules for the Big Ten and major local high school leagues–and plenty more.

So stay tuned, sports fans, and help us kick off this year's grid campaign in style.

Klamfoth, Central O. Welders Pop '72 Bexley Softball Titles

C.O.W., first round Old Timers' king, edged Brad Salt Realtors 15-13 in the showdown tussle–but it wasn't exactly a cakewalk.

AFTER BUILDING an apparently safe 15-8 margin, the Welders saw Salt come up with five runs in the bottom of the seventh before their gallant rally ran out of gas.

Bill Mackin was the hitting star for C.O.W. with a pair of roundtrippers and two other safeties, while teammate Dave Little went five-for-five with ahomer of his own.

Sam Barret and Bill Sutton led Salt batsmen.

THINGS WEREN'T quite as tense in the Under Thirty contest–in fact they weren't tense at all as Klamfoth romped to a 13-0 triumph over Cohagan.

Actually the contest was a playoff for the second round title, but Klamfoth made an overall championship game unnecessary by repeating their first-round playoff victory over the same Cohagan club.

Sonny Dargusch, Mike Foote, Jim Moriarity and Ed Klopfer all had three hits for the winners, who tallied four times in the opening frame and at least once in every other inning.

JIM HOYER for Cohagan, picking up half of the meagre eight hits they could muster off whily Honda pitcher Mark Orr.

'72 Regulations Announced For Ohio Waterfowl Hunters

The Ohio Wildlife Council, at its meeting held Aug. 17, approved the following 1972 waterfowl hunting regulations as submitted by Dan C. Armbruster, Cheif, Division of Wildlife:

SHOOTING HOURS will begin one-half hour before sunrise and conclude at sunset. The 50 day season will be split into two segments for ducks, coots, and mergansers: Oct. 19 through Dec. 2, and Dec. 26 through Dec. 30, 1972.

BAG LIMITS for ducks; daily limit is six. Possession limit after the first day is 12. The daily bag limit may not include more than two mallards and two woodducks. Hunters may have in their possession not more than four mallards and four woodducks.

THE CHIEF'S recommendation that the taking and possession of Brant, Redhead and Canvasback Ducks be prohibited was not approved by the Wildlife Council. The objecting council members indicated disapproval of this recommendation because they felt the closure of the season on redhead and canvasback ducks was not biologically sound.

It was noted that Ohio waterfowl biologists and other voting members of the Mississippi Flyway Council had recommended to the United States Fish and Wildlife Service a daily bag limit of one canvasback or redhead.

THE DAILY bag limit on coot is 15 with possession limit of 30. The daily bag limit on mergansers is five, with possession limit of 10 of which not more than one daily and two in possession may be hooded mergansers.

In addition to the daily limit of six and possession limit of 12; an extra bonus of two scaup ducks (bluebills) may be taken daily throughout the state from Nov. 1 through Dec. 2, and from Dec. 26 through Dec. 30, 1972, with a possession limit of four.

THE GOOSE SEASON will be Oct. 19 through Dec. 22, and from Dec. 26 through Dec. 30, 1972, with the shooting hours the same as those for ducks.

The daily bag and possession limit on geese is five, but may not include more than one Canada, or two white fronted geese, or one of each. The possession limit shall not include more than two Canada and white fronted geese.

The following are additional regulations also in effect concerning the taking and possession of migratory game birds:

IT SHALL BE UNLAWFUL for any person to hunt any of the above mentioned birds: (a) by the aid of baiting or on or over a baited area (b) with a shotgun capable of holding more than three shells (c) with a rifle, pistol, crossbow and arrow, trap, snare, net, drugs, poison, fishook or explosives (d) from a sink box or any type vehicle including airplanes (e) from a moving watercraft having a motor attached or moving sailboats (f) by the use of recorded or electrically amplified bird calls or sounds (g) or by the use of live birds or live decoys.

NO PERSON 16 years of age or older shall take ducks or geese without first obtaining a duck stamp. The stamp must be validated by signature across the face of the stamp in ink.

Central Ohio Fishing Report

INDIAN LAKE - Channel catfish continue to be taken during the late evening using soft craws, nightcrawlers and cut shad as bait. Largemouth bass are being taken on soft craws and artificials from the rocky shoreline. Outlook - Fair.

HARGUS LAKE - Anglers are taking crappies on minnows and catfish on nightcrawlers. An occasional muskie is being taken on deep running plugs with a 16 pounder reported last week. Outlook - good.

BUCKEYE LAKE - Good catches of channel catfish are being made in the late evening and night using nightcrawlers, cut shad and commercial catfish baits. Outlook - Fair.

KISER LAKE - Anglers are taking bluegills on wax worms from around the brush pile fish attractors in both deep and shallow water. Laremouth bass are hitting surface plugs and catfish and walleye are being taken on nightcrawlers throughout the lake. Outlook - Good.

MUSCLE TONE

Most patients with emphysema should not give up all activities because of the disease. The TB Society says that muscles and other parts of the breathing machinery must be kept at their peak of performance. Excess activity, however, must be avoided, since it uses up the supply of oxygen too rapidly.

Cubby hole Cooking

One of the obvious advantages of mobile home living is that patch of green outside your door–just big enough to offer you your own place in the sun. So how about polishing up the outdoor grill, inviting a few friends and making the most of your miniature lawn facilities this Labor Day weekend?

You'll set up the liquid refreshments next to the outdoor water tap, of course. And here's your chance to serve potato chips or peanuts in the shell without worring about the rug.

IF YOU DON'T have enough lawn furniture, card tables and camp chairs are ideal for table arrangements. And if you happen to own a station wagon, you can pull it up close to your lot and use the tailgate for a buffet.

For table decorations, pick a few flowers from your 2x4 garden plot–or the supermarket. For recreational activities, let the card tables do double duty for a game of outdoor poker. Or borrow some bikes and take your guests on a tour of the motor court.

Now, about the food. Have you tried Barbecued Chicken lately? It's as economical a food as you'll find these days and especially good done on the open fire. The same goes for Roasted Corn On the Cob.

TEAM THEM up with salad greens and watermelon and you'll have a typical American cookout. The chicken recipe that folows is planned for eight eager eaters, but you can easily cut it in half for a friendly foursome.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

4 split broiler chickens
Salad oil
1 cup minced onion
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. vinegar
2 tbsp. brown sugar
4 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup catsup
3 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 ½ tsp. mustard
1 cup water
2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper

BRUSH SPLIT broilers with salad oil. Place skin-side-up on grill, about six inches from hot coals. Cook 15 minutes and turn; cook uanother 15 minutes. Mix the rest of the ingredients in saucepan and heat to a boil; keep the sauce hot for basting. Brush chichen with sauce and cook 30 to 40 minutes longer, turning and basting with sauce every five minutes. Eight servings.

ROASTED CORN ON THE COB

Buy young tender corn fresh from the Farmer's Market, if you can. Throw away the husks and silk. Wrap individually in heavy-duty foil, with a chunk of butter and an ice cube in each packet. Seal and roast right on the coals for 10 to 15 minutes, turning at least once with a pair of tongs.

WATERMELON FRUIT BOWLS

Wash outer surface of watermelon. Cut watermelon in half width-wise and cut a thin slice off outer ends so watermelon halves will stand upright. Cuty melon halls from both halves and scoop out to form bowls.

FILL WITH watermelon and canteloupe balls, fresh strawberries and blueberries, pineapple chunks, pitted sweet cherries, seedless grapes, or any other fruit in season.

Refrigerate or serve as is when it's time for dessert. Or sprinkle with champagne or any clear liqueur, like Kirsch or Triple Sec, and let the fruit marinate it in the refrigerator a few hours before serving.

A fitting finish for any outdoor barbecue, wouldn't you say!

Local Boxers Sweep Team Championships

27,000 persons attended the Fifth Annual Ohio State Fair National Amateur Boxing Tournament, which concluded Saturday. Over 12,000 were on hand at the finals to see Columbus boxers sweep the team honors.

Columbus won the J.I.S., Novice, Open and Overall team championships, along with 14 individual crowns. The Ohio Youth Commission Invitational Boxing Club led the way with seven champions, followed by Blackburn Recreation Center (five) and Thompson Recreation Center (two).

THE FOLLOWING boxers were recipients of special awards: Tony Johnson, Columbus, outstanding Junior Division Boxer; Gregory Dyer, Columbus, outstanding Intermediate Division Boxer; Bruce Galley, St. Paul, Minnesota, Outstanding Senior Division Boxer; John Morales, Edinburg, Indiana, Outstanding Novice Division Boxer; Sam NeSmith, Edinburg, Indiana, Outstanding Open Division Boxer; Chip Dooley, Dayton, Ohio, J.I.S. Division Sportsmanship Award; Mike Vaughn, E. Saint Louis, Illinois, Novice Division Sportsmanship Award: Forrest Winchester; Columbus, Ohio, Open Division Sportsmanship Award.

Over 300 boxers from 15 states, representing 45 cities throughout the nation participated in the three day boxing tournament.

Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.

The Audi 100LS The Porsche 911 The Porsche 914
The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi.
It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)
The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911.
A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.
And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.
We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.
We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.
And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look.
The way they work.

Girl Scouts Are Helping At Fair

Girl Scouts are entertaining lost children who are brought to the State Highway Patrol Headquarters by fairgoers at ExpOhio '72.

Jane Baker, 1806 Harwitch, is in charge of coordinating the project and getting the various troups to participate in the activity.

The girls from troups in the Columbus area and Lancaster will be responsible for entertaining the children brought into the lost child [illegible].

In the past, the care of the young children tied up both cadets and patrolmen. These men are now free for other security work. The Highway Patrol charged with security of ExpOhio '72 requests lost parents and lost children to contact the nearest patrolman on the fairgrounds.

AROUND TOWN

For the next couple of weeks at the Sheraton Inn North the old saying, "two is company and three is a crowd," just doesn't hold true. Because, in this particular case, three is company. I am referring to the Carri Dan Company, a trio that provides plenty of company for everyone.

The , "Company," in this case, are three talented people, who only go by their first names. First is Wendy, a female guitarist, that is one of the finest electric guitar players you ever hope to hear, be it male or female.

This little gal is really something else. She is a very strong stylist. Wendy practically makes the old guitar talk. She has a speedy left hand, by which she frets like crazy. The beautiful sounds created by Wendy on the electric guitar just makes you want to hear more and more. This is true, no matter what she is playing. Wendy can dish out all of the contemporary things, then dip way back and send chills up and down your back on such tunes as, "Misty." This girls is a pro, in every sense of the word.

Now, Wendy has a couple of more things going for her. Besides being an excellent guitarist, this little bundle of energy can sing like a bird, on a bright sunny morning. Her voice is quite interesting and pleasing. What a toneal quality. Also, Wendy knows how to get the most out of what she has. She puts plenty of zip and zing into her numbers. It all adds up to a fun type entertainer that is delightful to hear and see. And, this is one of her secrets. Wendy is a live wire on stage. She is as much joy to watch as to listen to her instrumental and vocal renditions.

Then there is cousin, Connie, who plays a strong bass. This one doesn't mess around either. She gets down to business and employs lots of good figures on the electric bass. Musically, Connie adds depth and excitement to the group.

As a singer, Connie comes on with a big, full voice, that is rather rich and shows off some nice sounds. You will also enjoy listening to her vocal works.

Next comes John, Wendy's brother. He, too, adds a lot of drive to the trio, with his driving work at the drums. John has a fast action with the sticks and brushes. Coming up with some creative riffs, makes John a fascinating performer. Another aspect that helps him to hold your attention is his singing. Control and a solid sound, is the best way to describe his vocal work.

Believe me, while Wendy is the sparkplug of the group with her musicanship and bubbling personality, any of the members be the "Star." All of them are capable of fronting an outfit.

Put them all together, and, watch out. Here comes nothing, but entertainment. They will knock your right off your seat. I can vouch for that. I seldom stay for more than two sets, when I review a lounge act. With the Carri Dan Company, I stayed most of the night. That , my friends, shows me they are something else.

Their two and three part harmony is a blend that will linger with you long after you leave the Sheraton North. Harmony is at its best, with these three.

All of them are also good showman. They keep the act moving with a lively pace. They can, and do play just about anything you request, from all the hip stuff of today, to the old standards. You name it, and they will do it, in a manner that will provoke you to hear more and more.

To sum it all up, The Carri Dan Company is an extremely enjoyable trio. Guaranteed to entertain. I think, the proof, is the loud applause they received after every number. That says more than a thousand words.

BISTRO

For those of you who missed last Saturday night's big bash at the Bistro, you really let something get by you. I'm refering to the "Miss Back Porch Beauty Pageant."

There were so many there, I thought George Lias was going to have to use sky hooks to get everybody in. There were eight beauties in the contest, and yours truly was one of the Judges. Boy, what a job picking the winner! Also serving on the judges panel were Eddie Fisher and the well-known Andre Correale.

After interviewing all the girls, watching them on stage and taking their beauty, poise and personality into consideration, Lora Schnorf was chosen as "Miss Back Porch of 1972."

Lora is a real honey too. She is blond with blue eyes and a 36 - 25 - 35 figure on a 5' 6" frame. Lora loves to swim and her main desire is to be a professional model. She has done some modeling for different newspaper and magazine advertisements.

When not modeling or swimming, Lora (who, by the way, is 23 years old) works in real estate. She rents many of the well known apartment complexs. So, take it from me fellows, if you are looking for a nice apartment, you won't find a better looking or more personable rental agent in town.

Taking second place honors was a tall, dark hair beauty, Barbara Valentino. Stretching the tape measure to a 37 - 26 - 37 , Barbara loves animals and hopes that someday she will have a job with a vet.

Also in the winners circle were Darlene Obermyer, Pat Bufferton and Linda Bailey. I love this kind of work.

Master of Ceremonies for the pageant was the famous Jimmy Doucheff.

Adding a heap of fun to all the festivities was Atlanta's popular group, Southbound. This group will be at the Bistro for a while yet. Take my advice, don't miss them. They have it all together. Providing plenty of strong music seems to be their trademark. Southbound is comprised of musicians, not just a bunch of people who think they can play. In my opinion, the outfit is great for listening as well as dancing. They are entertaining to say the least.

While the beauty pageant won't be at the Bistro this week, Southbound will. However, based on previous experience, you still will find lots of beauties every night at the always swinging Bistro.

TOP MOVIE FARE

Holiday Drive In Theatre and the North High Drive In Theatre have really booked a big holiday weekend for all of us.

Besides three blockbuster movies, a hugh (and I mean hugh) fireworks display is scheduled for this Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

The hilarious Walt Disney production, "Now You See Him, Now You Don't," with William Windom, Jim Backus, Kurt Russell and many other top stars is the featured pix of the holiday showing.

The story line is different and full of laughs.

Two more powerhouses are booked at both the Holiday and North High for this big weekend. After, "Now You See Him, Now You Don't,"

Clint Eastwood and Carroll O'Connor appear in "Kelly's Heroes." And, as an added attraction, John Wayne leads a strong cast in the live-wire western "Rio Lobo."

So, play it safe this weekend. Stay off the highways, stay in town and plan on going to either the Holiday or North High Drive In Theatres. You have a big, exciting evening ahead of you.

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

Trilogy has been held over again at the beautiful Marco Polo's lounge. We have told you about this group before. I think they are one of the best in the city. Get out and hear them soon... Dropped into the Vegas Club the other night. Delores, a sharp gal from San Francisco is worth the trip... Whatever you do, make sure you drive to the Midway Grill, and take a look at their unique Tack Room. It is not only a dark, quiet, intimate place, but you will enjoy the very unusual decor. It is only 10 minutes from Broad and Hamilton, straight out East Broad St.... If you haven't caught the Keith - Charles Duo at the Lincoln Lodge, do so.

They are one of the finest lounge duos in the business. They have been packing them in at the Lodge. Keith Charles provide good music, good vocals and funny comedy... Speaking of comedy, the real pros of comedy— Glenn and Bill—continue to jam them in at poolside of the Olentangy Inn. Glenn is really a fantastic triple-threat entertainer. In my opinion, he can hold his own with most of the top funny men in the business. Glenn is also an outstanding singer. Not a vocalist, but a real "go-get-em" type. This fellow just knocks you over with some of his renditions.... For a real fun evening, don't forget the Charleston Club. This place is loaded with my favorite kind of people—girls. There are several girls dancing every night. Then when we really get lucky, owner Hal Case gives forth with some great sounds at the electric organ. Hal is one of the best, if not the best master of the black and whites Around Town. This guy is a pro. Wait until you hear him sing, he really belts out the oldies as well as the new things.

ACT II
By
BETTY DRAGONETTE

The first presentation of Prairie Players, Inc. will be "Natalie Needs a Nightie." Tryouts will be at the theater, 6463 W. Broad St., Sept. 6 and 7.

Oscar Smith is directing, and if you know Oscar you can imagine what fun the show will be! For more information call Oscar at 276-1404.

That funny man, Eddie Kaye is directing "Enter Laughing" at the Gallery Players of the Jewish Center, 1125 College Ave. It goes without saying that this is a comedy.

If you enjoyed "You Know I Can't Hear You When The Water's Running last year, then this year make a giant effort to come to tryouts to see what it is like to be directed by a born comedian. Time is 8 p.m., Sept. 5 and 6. Cast requirements are 10 men and five women. This could be quite an experience for you potential hams.

TRYOUTS SET

Tryouts for Gallery Players first production of the year, "Enter Laughing" will be held September 5-6, at 8 p.m. at The Jewish Center, 1125 College Ave.

McCREREY PHOTOGRAPHY STUDIO

Pennsy's Loss Is Ohio's Gain

Pennsylvania's loss is Ohio's gain with the arrrival of the McCrerey Studio of Photography at 7107 E. Main St. in Reynoldsburg.

Owner Malcolm A. McCrerey comes to the Columbus area with 18 years of photography experience, including the past 10 as owner and operator of a studio near Pittsburgh, Pa.

The award-winning photography on display at McCrerey's studio (see picture at right is unique in style and, in fact, resembles the "old Masters" technique.

McCrerey first discusses a child's interests, hobbies and personal charactoristics which make up his personality in the eyes of the subject's parents.

"We want to create a photograph of a child as the parent sees him. How often do you see a five-year-old dressed in a full suit and bow tie? But how many pictures do you have like that from a photo studio?

"I visualize my nine-year-old in his tennis shoes, usually untied, and an old favorite pair of jeans with paint on his hands from building a model car.

"What I'm trying to get across is the fact that we believe a child should be photographed displaying the casual attire and 'naturalness' that children are blessed with."

"Don't get me wrong. We'll photograph a child polished if you like but don't be afraid to bring his favorite toy, stool, outfit or even Fido, the dog. We welcome them," he concluded.

Wedding and bridal photography, a speciality at McCrerey's Pennsylvania studio, is another strength.

"We had brides come to us from as far as 100 miles away because we had something different to offer – with our style, variety of sizes and what we call or "Combination Album,' ", he says.

The "Combination Album" combines different size prints, traditional pictures as well as romantic candlelight "mood expressions" – allowing each bride to create her own album.

Family group photography--both outdoors and in the studio–is another McCrerey plus. "Our customers have reacted with enthusiasm to shwing the family in the comfortable setting of their own home or patio, thus displaying the family in the personality of their own surroundings," McCrerey reports.

The McCrerey yearbook touch goes far beyond the traditional head-and-shoulder indentification type poses.

In fact, his yearbook photography won a school the "Finest Photography Award" in the eastern Pennsylvania District.

For those who desire something out of the ordinary, the McCrerey Studio carries an unusual selection of mounting and custom-designed wood plaques from the most primitive to the most elegant in design.

"We wish to produce the finest photographs possible–whether they involve full wedding coerage, passport identification, engagements, publicity or whatever the need may be," McCrerey concludes.

"If a portrait is not good, it's worthless. If it shows character and personality, it's priceless. Pleasing customers is not only our pleasure, but our future."

WITH AWARD-WINNING examples of his creative photography adding to the confortable setting, Malcolm A. McCrerey–owner of the McCrerey Studio at 7107 E. Main St. in Reynoldsburg–discusses samples with Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Grossman and family, of 4591 Errington Rd.

Local Girl Scouts Make Trip To Europe

FOR THEIR GOOD DEEDS, these girl Scouts from troop 587 were justly rewarded. The 13 girls and three leaders used the money raised by special projects to make a trip this summer to London, Paris and Switzerland. Here the girls pause across the river from the British parliament to have their picture taken.

It took a lot of hard work but the reward was well worth the efforts according to 13 members of the east side Girl Scout troop 587.

Along with three troop leaders the girls took the profits from three years of bake sales and special projects and traveled to London, Paris and Switzerland.

THOSE GIRLS making the trip were Cheeri George, Phillis Nowell, July Powell, Debbie Morce, Cathy Sminth, Manetha Broekhoven, Rhonda Moore, Vicki McCarren, Ruth Juelich, Marie Eckert, Kathy Hahn, Mona Johnson, and Michelle Wiles.

Leaders making the trip were Mrs. G. M. George, Mrs. Perrin Moore, and Mrs. Orville Massie.

One of the girls, VICKI MCCARREN gave this account of the trip.

THE REWARDS of three years of fund-raising came to the girls of Troop No. 587, beginning on June 26. The trip to London, Paris, and Switzerland became a reality, resulting from the sale of Girl Scout and Christmas cookies, tree, and just about everything.

Sometimes in an elegant restaurant, the money source of the trip cwould become evident as a girl would Sometimes in an elegant restaurant, the money source of the trip would become evident as a girl would moan, "there went the profits from another bake sale." At other times, there was always the desire to share the beauties of Europe with a helpful friend, parent, or favorite customer back in America.

THE FIRST stop on the itinerary was London, where the girls stayed at the Olave House. The hostel, founded by the English Girl Guides, was very near to sightseeing spots of the city. Everyone learned to take the "tube" (subway), the double-decker buses, and eat scampi and chips.

A bus tour of the city showed Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, and "Beefeaters" at the Tower, while the girls had three more days to discover England on their own, in twos or threes.

The highlight of the stay was a tea sponsored by a troop of Guides. They were all excited to learn about the States, and everyone had a great time singin, playing games, and learning about one another. After a final breakfast with the English working girls at the hostel, everyone headed for Paris via airplane.

THE GREATEST difference in France of course, was the language. The thirteen girls stayed at La Nef, run by the French Guides, which is only one block from the Louvre. Since only a few girls spoke French, sign language was constantly being used to order in a cafe, buy cheese or bread, and to find directions.

Bus tours took the group to Napoleon's tomb, the Eiffel Tower, the artist's section, and Versailles, but it was up to the girls to return to whatever interested them the most.

Everyone certainly retained pleasant memories of the Guider-in-Charge, Agnes, who was never too busy at La Nef to answer questions and talk about France.

THE TRIP to Switzerland was made by train, a beautiful five hour ride. The arrival in Adelboden by bus was met by wonderment: "why did we save the best for last?"

The village near Our Chalet did not offer many monuments and sites to see, but was really more relaxing and scenic. Accomodations were at a farmhouse-hotel run by a charming family, since the Chalet was not available. The hotel was perfect in every way: food, featherbeds, and friendly guests.

THE HOUR-LONG hike to Our Chalet was made one morning and two counselors conducted a tour of the building, set in the rugged mountains. Their program consists of ten-day sessions, and they encourage fourteen to eighteen year-old girls to come by themselves or in pairs, to take full advantage of the hiking and learning program.

On other days, the girls of no. 587 went swimming, hiking to see the village woodcarver, or just enjoyed the scenery.

After four days, Adelboden was regretfully left for Lucerne Since it was a Sunday, there was not much happening, but it was fun to walk around and see the old city and riverside.

The final day was the saddest: everyone was ashamed to be glad to go home and talk with their families, and also afraid that they'd never visit Europe again.

Of course there's always cookies and potato chips to sell, but the girls are now ready to live on memories and encourage others to go.

All "Faired" Out

THE OHIO STATE FAIR was in full swing last week with lots to see and do for all ages, but this one youngster doesn't seem too worried about what he might be missing. Fortunately his parents brought along this wagon–great for riding around to the various attractions and even better when you've had just about all the excitment you can fit into one day. Labor Leader Talks Politics To Rotarians

Labor members concern over the way politics have been shaping up over the last three to four years, was the main theme of a speech by Ohio AFL-CIO president, Frank King.

King spoke last week at the noon luncheon of the Bexley-Whitehall Rotary Club.

KING SAID he was appearing as a labor leader and as a politican, since at his level in the labor organization most of the work was concerned with benefiting the worker through legislation.

"I appreciate the opportunity to speak to people outside labor and politics. I'm not going to speak about candidates or make a partisan speech, but I do think you want to talk about politics."

He said as a labor leader he was concerned over what is happening to politics in general.

"PRESENT trends pose a threat to the two party system and to rule by majority."

He said in many cases it was the minorities which were actually ruling and said this has to be turned around in the future.

"We are concerned over proportional representation because this can lead to divisiveness and hard feelings. It means that no one really wins and no one really loses."

KING EXPLAINED saying that in a voting unit, such as a state or a congressional district, a candidate might receive so many votes and so he's given that percentage while other candidates receive their percentages of the votes.

"The people won't accept this type of system."

"If this were carried to the extreme it could mean in a close election, such as in 1968, President (Richard) Nixon should have served just over two years while (Hubert) Humphrey served just less than two years based on the proportion of the vote they received."

KING SAID there was also concern over the quota system such as that imposed on the selection of delegates to the national convention.

"If you say you oppose this you are accused of being a racist. Labor's credentials are 100 per cent in order, as are mine, in that we have supported and pushed for social legislation.

"We believe in all social legislation, the civil right's laws and oppose discrimination in any form based solely on race, color or creed."

"BUT IF YOU are going to try and make everyone happy you'll have to sacrifice somewhere."

King referred to the problems industry faced as a result of the imposed quota system.

"They don't get the quality labor and thus prices go up."

AS TO NATIONAL politics, King explained that for the national convention, Ohio was required to have 14 per cent of the delegates black and 18 per cent under 30 years of age.

"You can't have it both ways; you can't have free open elections and the quota system as such."

He said the system resulted this year in over 80 per cent of the delegates being new.

"THIS ISN'T bad and some of them earned the right to attend, but many were selected just because they fit the prescribed guidelines.

"We had to go out and recruit people who fit rather than using people who have been active and had really earned the right to go.

King was asked if the system had not been imposed, if another candidate might have been selected.

"I CAN'T say this would have changed the results but I guess it could have."

King was then asked his view on unemployment and what could be done to solve the problem.

"The number of people who want to work and can't is still too high. I don't believe in giving money away. This is a false economy.

"WHAT WE NEED is better unemployment compensation. In some cases people who want to work and can't receive less aid than those on welfare and this is wrong."

King said the purchasing power of the people has not kept up with the prices. "We have no really effective price controls but we do have wage controls. Everyone should get enough money to buy what they produce.

King was asked if the unions weren't hurting the hard core unemployed by not training them.

"THE UNIONS, in conjunction with management and the federal government have a good record for training these people. There is more training going on now than ever before."

Prior to the conclusion of the discussion, King was asked how he stood as far as supporting George McGovern.

"Speaking as president of the AFL-CIO our position is that of neutrality."

District Announces Free Lunch Program

The Madison Local Board of Education, today announced a free lunch policy for Madison Local School District children unable to pay the full price of a meal.

Local school officials have adopted the attached family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility.

Families falling within this scale or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships may apply for free lunches for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents.

Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income, number of persons in the family, number of children in school and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Under the provisions of the policy the Building Principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision.

The Coordinator of Business Affairs and Employee Relations, whose address is 5055 S. Hamilton Road, Groveport, Ohio 43125, has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of, or discrimination against, any student unable to pay the full cost of a meal.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Coordinator of Business Affairs and Employee Relations where it may be reviewed by any interested person.

Ray Adams Named Executive Editor

Spectator Newspaper General Manager Donald Dorsten has announced the appointment of Ray Adams, 51, 67 Summit St., Westerville, to the position of executive editor of the seven Franklin County area Spectator Newspapers effective Sept. 1.

RAY ADAMS

Adams joined the Spectator Newspapers staff Jan. 20, 1971 and is presently editor of the Reynoldsburg Spectator. He will continue that assignment along with his new responsibilities.

He will be responsible for the editorial department coordination of the Reynoldsburg, Worthington, Whitehall, Bexley, Eastern, Hilltop-West and West Village Spectators.

Adams is a member of the Reynoldsburg Lions Club, an Honorary Colonel in the Otterbein College Air Force ROTC Detachment 658 and last year represented Franklin County's community newspapers on the United Appeal media committee.

He is married to the former Rosemary Dean. They have six children, three of whom attend Westerville schools, three married daughters and four grandchildren.

Grid Previews Inside Today

Before the "first burrah" has sounded on Franklin County area gridirons The Spectator Newspapers "Pigskin Preview" will be in the hands of all Spectator circulation area football followers.

Today is the day you'll find the special 24-page tab included with this week's edition of YOUR Spectator.

Join us in the kickoff to another great, gridiron year.

Hartley Ranks High

The Bishop Hartley varsity cheerleading squad was named to the top five outstanding squads participating in a recent camp at Hueston Woods.

The team won five superior ribbons and a spirit stick. The spirit sticks were awarded to six of the 50 squad taking part in the five day camp.

Members of the varsity squad include captain, Steph Hatem, Martie Ryan, Cindy Skunza, Cindy Jones and Jo Ann Travato.

Reserve squad members include captain, Connie Caito, Sherri Moore, Sherri Miller, Christy Callahan, Carol Rodenbeck, and Beth Overfield.

The team was also nominated for the Coca-Cola award, which is the National Cheerleading Association's highest award.

Investment Course Scheduled At ODC

Stocks, bonds, mutual funds and general wise investments will be topics covered in an 8-session, non-credit course to be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Ohio Dominican College, Columbus, beginning at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 2. Registration opens Sept. 1.

"THERE'S A KNACK to investing wisely, " Richard R. Teaff, director of the Continuing Education Division at ODC, said today.

"The course - 'The Stock Market ' - will be taught by Michael Wagner and is designed to give participants the investment knowledge necessary to put their dollars to work in stocks and bonds after learning methods of evaluating and planning," Teaff explained. Wagner is a broker with Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis.

Included will be emphais on establishing an objective, selecting an industry and analyzing its stock, and judging the current market outlook

IN ADDITION, Ohio Dominican will offer two other non-credit courses: "Self-Immage Psychology: The Psyche of Self-Expression," to open Oct. 3 and continue each Tuesday through Oct. 31, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.; and "Rights and Responsibilities: A Summary of Practical Law," which will hold its first session Wednesday, Oct. 4 from 7 to 8 p.m.

The law course to be taught by a qualified practicing attorney, will cover such topics as contracts, marriage, divorce, negligence, sales, wills, and criminal law

THE SELF-EXPRESSIO. series, offered as a part of the new field in the techniques of projecting a more effective and desirable self image, is intended to help participants understand the meaning of drives and motivations, and to learn to better understand their emotions and personalities.

Class members will also learn the implications of psychology for their personal development and for understanding others. The instructor will be Clemens L. Bartollas, Ph. D. Candidate.

For further information on non-credit courses, registration, and tuition, please write to the Continuing Education Division of Ohio Dominican, 1216 Sunbury Rd., Columbus, or phone the division at 253-2741.

Captain Lutz of 3520 Roswell Dr., is vice-president of Bates and Company, General Insurance Agency.

Religious Week Theme 'Crisis In Marriage'

"Crisis in Marriage?" is the theme of the 14th annual Religious Emphasis Week (REW) program at the Beth Jacob Synagogue.

This event, which is held each year, gives members of the congregation and the Jewish community an opportunity to hear and meet outstanding scholars who discuss the most relevant topics facing contemporary Judaism.

"Crisis in Marriage?" is indeed a most serious issue today. Hardly a home has not been affected with the issues of the "institution of marriage." "The changing of values and attitudes of parents and children have led to the serious threats of the survival of the Jewish home as we once knew it".

The opening session will be on September 11th, Monday, at 8 p.m. Dr. Bernard Lander will speak on the role of "The Husband".

Dr. Lander, an eminent rabbi, sociologist, educator and author was director of Yeshiva University's Bernard Revel Graduate School, which offers graduate work in Jewish learning leading to the degrees of master of arts, master of Hebrew literature, and doctor of philosophy.

He is now president of Touro College. Born in 1915, Dr. Lander began his career as a practicing rabbi. He later turned to sociology and became a leading authority in the field of Juvenile delinquency. He was spiritual leader of Beth Jacob Congregation in Baltimore, Maryland, from 1939 to 1944, when he was named consultant to the Maryland State Commisssion on Juvenile Delinquency and directed an evaluation of institutions treating delinquents.

On Tuesday night, Sept. 12, Rabbi Jeff Siegel of Ohio State University's Hillel will be the featured speaker at a special session for the teen-agers of Columbus.

A special Sisterhood luncheon will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 13. An outstanding, dynamic speaker will be scheduled to speak before the ladies group.

The closing session of the R.E.W. will take place on Thursday evening, Sept. 14 at 8 p.m. and the guest speaker will be one of the most prominent authors, lecturers and spokesman in behalf of Torah Judaism. He is Rabbi Dr. Harry I. Wohlberg, Professor of Bible and Homiletic Literature.

Dr. Wohlberg is spiritual leader of Congregation Shomrei Emunah in Brooklyn, New York. Active in numerous philanthropic, cultural, and religious endeavors, he is a past president of the Alumni of the Seminary, vice president of the Religious Zionists of America, member of the executive committee of the Rabbinical Council of America, trustee of the Bar-Ilan University, Israel, and the Joint Distribution Committee.

No solicitation of funds will be made but anyone wishing to contribute to the Gertrude Furman Levin Memorial Fund, which helps support Religious Emphasis Week, may send his check to the Beth Jacob Synagogue office, 1223 College Avenue.

The R.E.W. Planning Committee consists of Irvin Flox, chairman, Rabbi David Stavsky, Mrs. Milton Arnoff, Mr. & Mrs. Martin Schecter, Mr. Keve Zians and Mr. Bernard Hirsch, and Mrs. Charles Young.

Says Garage Sales O.K.

To the Editor:

May I please speak out against the proposed garage sale permit law. To say that a person has to have a permit to sell something of their own in or on their own property is a form of dictatorship.

I don't feel that garage sales hurt anyone. It helps a family with a little housecleaning and a buyer has a good feeling of saving more than half the cost on an article they want.

I'd like the public to know that I asked for donations from some garage sales for a family burned out and the items were given willingly - most items are given to non-profit organizations anyway.

I do feel that persons should be required to remove their signs from streets. In short - it's nobody's business but their own.

Grid Comment Answered

Dear Mr. Whalen:

As commissioner of the Central Catholic League, I would like to comment on remarks recently made in your column about the inability of St. Charles Preparatory High School to get into the league.

The only one of the five local Catholic high schools to experience a really "sagging enrollment" is Hartley. And Hartley's enrollment has sagged in direct proportion to St. Charles' increased enrollment. In this respect, you answered your own question when you said, "—St. Charles will doubtless attract more than one promising young athlete away from his 'neighborhood' Diocesan high school."

What I find rather strange is this: after seemingly answering your own question, you persist in asking it. Can you imagine the City League admitting a school (public) which somehow was allowed to enroll students from all over town without any restriction? I can't! Yet, this is the very same relationship St. Charles has with the other five Catholic schools.

Your final remark suggesting that "cashboxes" should be a real determinant in high school athletics is neither worthy of you as a sportswriter nor of my comment.

Public Schools Look For Enrollment Drop

For the first time in decades, Ohio public schools are expected to experience a slight decline in enrollment this fall, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex announced today.

Essex said that the State Department of Education's Division of Computer Services projects that 2,429,903 young Ohioans took their seats at school during the past week or will be reporting for classes this week. This represents a drop of 2,737 students from last year's all-time high enrollment of 2,432,640.

ESSEX stated that the declining birth totals are causing a gradual reduction in the number of students in grades one through eight. High school enrollment, however, continues to increase, due to the higher birth rates of the late 1950's and the increasing proportion of students who are completing their high school studies, now nearly 80 percent.

The 1971-72 total of 1,454,299 pupils in the state's public elementary and junior high schools is expected to drop to 1,429,840 in 1972-73, while high school enrollment is projected to increase from 720,094 to 738,534.

"INFORMATION from nonpublic school officials indicates that enrollment in nonpublic schools may be expected to decline from 296,500 to 278,800, a drop of approximately 17,700 students," Essex said.

The state superintendent added that the drop in public school enrollment would have been much larger without the transfer of youngsters from nonpublic schools.

Whose Garden Is This?

BY RICHARD L. PAUGH (THROUGH YOUR LOCAL TEA ASSN.)

WELCOME ED, JOIN THE FUN

Editors come in all sizes and counties. If you readers will relax and go along with the fun, this week's column will be dedicated to those fine folks who bring you your favorite canary-cage liners.

EDITORS, like judges, have a heavy responsibility on their shoulders. Each morning, as they face the blank sheet of paper in their typewriter and open their mail, they must decide what is newsworthy for their readership and what is semantic flotsam. Knowing full well they help shape the thoughts and opinions of America, Editors for the most part, accept the challenge.

Because of their keystone position in modern times, it has been especially heartening to have forty-two Ohio Editors request WHOSE GARDEN IS THIS? for their media. Totaling nearly half a million copies each week with each copy read by an average of two people, the "Garden Column" must have friends out there.

THE ENVIRONMENT as a subject for the press media has never been so important as it is in this decade of the Seventies. Lines of communication between the environmentalist and the citizen must be kept open in order for cleaner living to take place. Frankly, you Editors who have shared the concern of a large portion of the public about the state of the planet, are to be commended. The author of these columns understands well the scarcity of space in your newspaper. Space is money and that's what buys the ink.

Without the cooperation of many people across Ohio in helping gather information, confirm problems, speak up at meetings and generally let their beliefs be known, Ohio would be much dirtier than it is.

An environmentalist is NOT, as some people would have you think, a wild-eyed revolutionary who would see an end to our wonderful capitalistic system. Rather, he is the guy next door who mows the weeds in a side lot that doesn't belong to him, she is the housewife who lugs her mashed cans, bundled papers and non-returnable glass to depots, he is the kid in the science class who is way ahead of his parents in planning ways to clean the air and water. Bike riders, mass transit goers and walkers.

. . . And Holding

If I hear one more person say–"When you're over 30 you'll be glad you look young for your age,"–I promise to scream.

This may be true but it's been a constant source of irritation so far–especially now that I'm an employed, voting, tax paying adult.

I mean how would you feel if you were over 21 but still had trouble getting into "R" rated movies unless accompanied by someone who passed for a parent or guardian or my younger sister, who fortunately isn't plagued by the same misfortune. And if one more cashier hands me a student discount card I'm going to stand up on my tip toes and punch 'em in the nose.

Which brings me to another part of the problem–that of height or rather lack of it. One city official in the area I cover told me I had ruined his image of the long tall Texan. I explained that I was six feet tall before I left Texas but in all the Ohio rain I'm shrinking.

Being short and looking young are definitely a poor combination. For example last spring I went by one of the high schools in the east to pick up some information on a school play. I hadn't been in the building two minutes before I was stopped by a teacher who wanted to know what I was doing out of class. It was a toss up as to who was more embarrassed.

There have been many such incidents over the last several years but the most devastating happened during my freshman year in college.

It was my first year away from home and I was feeling very independent and worldly. My folks came up for a weekend and I was showing them around campus when they ran into friends. My mother explained that they were up for a football game and to visit their daughter who was a freshman.

When she finished the woman turned to me and asked, "Well how do you like being the only one at home now?"

I had to be carried home.

Now Hear This!

"Caution, bicycle riding may be hazardous to your health."

This warning doesn't appear on every bicycle and it doesn't come from the bicycle and it doesn't come from the Surgeon General's office, but maybe it should.

This warning may seem inconsistent with the fact that riding bicycles is good exercise and can be lots of fun for the entire family.

But, my friends, it is sad but true.

According to recent statistics, it is estimated that approximately 880 bicycle riders will be killed this year in accidents involving automobiles.

Cycling has become the "in" thing to do and if you aren't careful, it may put you "out" of circulation for quite sometime or permanently.

A large part of the blame for the rapidly rising fatality statistics falls on the shoulders of automobile drivers. They seem to have the attitude that the streets are wholly theirs and that bicyclists will ultimately get the "worst end of the deal" in any bike-auto collision.

Bike riders have equal rights with cars by law, but they too must realize that they are bound by the same traffic laws.

On numerous occasions, I have seen cyclists speeding through a red light or completely ignoring a stop sign or a yield sign.

One would think with all the perils a cyclist encounters, he would be more than willing to obey traffic laws to help save his own life.

There are enough dangers involved in cycling that the rider has difficulty in avoiding. For example, the auto driver doesn't have to worry about a dog running out and ripping a hole in his leg or throwing him off balance. Nor does he have to worry about being thrown head over heels by a careless motorist opening his door into the path of an oncoming rider.

Nor does the average motorist have the worry of his wheels slipping between sewer gratings along the highway.

The equitable solution seems to be the construction of bike lanes. People who are willing to help save the environment and better their own physical well being should be praised and protected.

Several states are attempting to aid cyclists by the construction of such lanes, but until such time as all cities or states appropriate monies for such facilities, cyclists must be more alert and more careful when riding, because they are the ones who will suffer the worst consequences.

ASSOCIATION HAS GOALS

Dedication To Peace, Freedom Is AF Role

"We of the Air Force Association dedicate ourselves to peace with honor–but freedom at all costs...to enlightened understanding of the Aerospace Age that links home and country to the world at large.

The Columbus area chapter of the Air Force Association will observe the Silver Anniversary of the United States Air Force with a dinner at the Lockbourne AFB officers club Saturday, Sept. 9.

Air Force Brigadier General Paul W. Tibbets, Jr. (Ret.) now the president of Executive Jet Aviation at Port Columbus, will be the guest speaker.

He flew the first atomic bomb mission against enemy forces, dropping the bomb on Hiroshima.

Columbus Chapter 265 of the AF Association has long been active in the military community.

ALTHOUGH more than 95 per cent of Air Force general officers are members and, over-all, many are officers or former officers of the Air Force, thousands of present and former enlisted men also are members of the Association. Many occupy key elected positions in local and state units - and several former enlisted men serve on AFA's Board of Directors. AFA's current National President, George D. Hardy, served as a staff sergeant in World War II.

ANNUALLY, in convention, the Association's delegates adopt an official Statement of Policy. The 1971-72 Statement says, in part, "The new national Administration faces twin challenges which together represent a national task more complex than any within living memory.

"These are the constitutionally imposed obligations of providing for common defense while at the same time ensuring domestic tranquility.

"There are voices abroad the land, growing in numbers and in volume, that say these goals are incompatible, that the one can be achieved only at the expense of the other, that the United States is neither powerful enough nor wise enough to do both. The Air Force Association rejects out of hand any such philosophy of despair. We believe the U.S. can do both. We believe it must do both.

"We view the threat to our nation's security as greater than ever...At the same time, AFA recognizes that the quest for freedom and justice for all Americans at home makes equally compelling demands on our national resources and national will...The greatest single factor in the current debate over national purpose and national resources obviously is the war in Vietnam.

"The unpredicted costs and ill-defined objectives of that conflict helped to create the economic and social pressures now eroding public support for essential defense measures and programs...The impasse in Vietnam is not military. Rather, it marks the failure of a political doctrine to evoke the kind of response from our adversary that it was expected to evoke.

"Out of the bitter Vietnam experience must come a broader understanding of the range and nature of military power required for the 1970's as well as the need to correlate political policies to the military facts of life...We must order our priorities so as to separate peripheral threats from those that are vital to our own national survival and that of our Allies. We cannot, as in the case of Vietnam, rob our strategic forces of money and technology to pay for indecisive and expensive adventures in conventional warfare.

"Above all, the American people must be told the truth about the price and purpose of our military and political commitments."

OFF THEY want to go into the wild you know what but these three air Force veterans have plans on their mind for the Columbus Chapter 265, Air Force Association dinner commemorating the silver anniversary of the United States Air Force as a separate wing of the Armed Forces. From left are Maj. Donald E. Wilson, president of the Columbus Chapter AFA; Brig. Gen. (Ret.) Paul Tibbets, the guest speaker and Francis Harris, Westerville, assisting in coordinating the program.

DON'T KILL A KID!

Eugene P. O'Grady, Ohio Highway Safety Director, today announced that Governor John J. Gilligan has proclaimed September, as "Don't Kill A Kid Month" in Ohio. Director O'Grady stated that during 1971 alone, 548 school-age youngsters were killed in traffic-related accidents, and that through June, 1972, there have been 264 fatalities in this age group. He sadly noted that last year's figures include 94 youngsters between the ages of five and nine.

A MASSIVE volunteer campaign has been launched to reduce school area accidents through the cooperation of the Department of Highway Safety, the Ohio Department of Education, the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee, the State Highway Patrol, the Ohio Broadcasters Public Service Foundation and the Ohio Association of Insurance Agents.

O'Grady said that, nationally, approximately 4,000 children five through 14 years old died in 1971 traffic accidents. These tragedies accounted for nearly 25 per cent of the entire death toll in this age group.

The most accident-prone schoolagers are kindergarten students, whose rate is twice that of all pupils. Children in grades four through 6 had fewest accidents, substantially outshining their high school counterparts as well as youngsters.

With school bells ringing again, O'Grady cautioned motorists to be particularly careful near schools and playgrounds.

HE NOTED that inclement weather not only created additional driving hazards for the motorists, but may encourage youths to skip normal safety precautions.

"A child is more likely to dart between cars in the rain to escape discomfort, and his footing is reduced as well. When a motorists observes an active group of youngsters, he should be anticipating that one child might suddenly enter the street. A stray ball or pet often is followed by small children," O'Grady concluded.

Answers About Your Insurance

(Presented by the Columbus Chapter of the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters)

I LIVE IN A STATE THAT DOES NOT HAVE A NO-FAULT AUTO LAW; HOWEVER, I PLAN TO TRAVEL IN A STATE THAT RECENTLY ADOPTED NO-FAULT LEGISLATION.

SHOULD I PURCHASE SEPARATE AUTO INSURANCE COVERAGE TO PROTECT ME WHILE DRIVING IN A STATE WITH A NO-FAULT LAW, OR WILL MY CURRENT AUTO LIABILITY POLICY CONFORM TO NO-FAULT REQUIREMENTS?

Driving in a state with no-fault legislation has created numerous problems for non-resident motorists. While a non-resident does not have the no-fault benefits automatically provided by his company, once he crosses a state line, neither is his policy invalidated by that action. Thus, he is afforded with what, in most cases, would be adequate temporary protection.

At least one state, Florida, requires you to have coverage conforming to their no-fault law, if you are a resident of the state for more than 90 days.

Since each state plan has its own requirements, we suggest that you consult with your insurance representative.

Coat Spectaculars

VICTOR JORIS wrapped teat coat in navy wool melton lavish with silver fox. FOR DAY OR EVENING...this magnificent beige melton coat trimmed in natural lynx.

CUDDLECOAT'S Femme Fatale look for important evenings....white wool melton with dolman sleeves and luxurious white fox collar and cuffs.

'IN' fashion

with Tess Stern

IF YOU'VE been keeping a sharp eye on the fashion guidelines, you'll realize that this is the year of the fur trimmed coat...fur trims are the big look for fall and winter...the more luxurious, the better.

VICTOR JORIS has always been famous for his romantic rich coats lavished with fur, and his Cuddlecoat fall collection, shown to the fashion press in New York, was more spectacular than ever...little wonder his showings are always packed with celebrities and show people like Carol Channing and Lena Horne.

Victor's loves this season are luxurious fabrics with super-rich fur shawl collars, wide notched lapels of pale kit-fox and lynx, and new portrait fur collars reminiscent of the Dutch collar seen in paintings by Rembrandt or Franz Hals. The big conversation piece of his collection is the ankle length beige wool coat with great sweeps of lynx forming the collar and panel front. "I guess we've cornered the market in lynx, but it never seems to be enough," he told me.

THIS TALENTED designer has no hang-up about lengths, and he believes women have none either..."we did them long or short, whichever way they looked right." "Right" ranges from fingertip to ankle...with all the new moods in fashion, whether a new sleeve, a new length, new shaping, and new femininity.

AS A finale, Victor Joris always makes a big splash of gorgeous white or beige coats dripping with fur. "They sell by the hundreds," remarked Justin Lipman, owner and manufacturer of Cuddlecoat.

You know, after seeing his fantastic collection...I really believe they do!

COMPLETES TRAINING

Dennis L. Hufstader, son of retired USAF Major and Mrs. Leland Hufstader, 1033 McNaughten Rd., recently completed his U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, and received his commission as a second lieutenant.

LIEUTENANT Hufstader was a member of the AFROTC detachment at Capital University where he earned his B.A. degree in political science.

During encampments, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine careers in which they may wish to serve as officers. officers.

They also receive survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, small arms training and visit other Air Force bases.

LIEUTENANT Hufstader, a 1968 graduate of Walnut Ridge, has been granted a educational delay in reporting to active duty so he can complete law degree requirements.

Area Weight Watchers Win In Recipe Contest

Two area residents were among the winners at the Columbus area Weight Watchers recipe contest held Saturday, Aug. 26 at the Weight Watchers center in the Town and Country Shopping Center.

Miss Nancy Holliday of 3622 E. Livingston Ave. placed second in the dessert category and Mrs. Joyce Birden of 3049 South Drive, placed second in the fish recipe category.

Both winners received Margaret Sealock sculptures of the Weight Watchers logo as prizes.

Miss Holliday is a secretary who has lost 37 pounds since joining Weight Watchers in May.

Mrs. Birden is employed as an inhalation therapist. She has lost 26 pounds since joining Weight Watchers in April. She and her husband, George have one child.

Their recipes follow:

MELON SHERBET
by Miss Nancy Holliday

½ ripe cantaloupe (makes about 1 and one-third c. puree)
Artificial sweetener to equal one-third c. sugar
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ c. cold water

Peel, slice and put melon in blender to make puree. Mix with sweetener, salt and lemon juice. Soften gelatin in cold water 5 min. then dissolve by heating over boiling water. Add melon mixture slowly to gelatin, mix thoroughly. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze till firm. When firm, stir rapidly to make smoother. Return to freezer and let harden. Serve same day. NOTE: Puree can be frozen and stored approximately 4 months.

BAR-B-QUE SAUCE FOR FISH AND BEEF
by Mrs. Joyce Birden

1 large can of tomato juice
½ teaspoon of salt & pepper
3 tablespoons of Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons of lemon juice
1 teaspoon of mustard
2 teaspoons of artificial sweetener
Dashes of: paprike, garlic salt, chili powder, and red pepper, vinegar, hot sauce, & onion, 2 stalks of celery.

Method: Cook tomato juice and add all the above except onions and celery in a small sauce-pan. Add about ¼ c. vinegar. Finally chop onions and celery together. Lightly brown and add.

License Revenues Distributed

The second advance distribution of state motor vehicle license tax revenues for the 1972 license year reached $32,314,347, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said this week.

The $32 million payment was one of three distributions to Ohio's counties, municipalities and townships scheduled for the license year running from April 15, 1972 to April 14, 1973, the auditor said. The first distribution was made last May. Franklin County's share was $1,998,723.40.

Counties will retain a portion of that amount and redistribute the remaining monies to cities and villages on the basis of the number of miles of roadways maintained by each municipality.

Queen Rates A Fashionable Court

THE FIRST official community participation by the 1972 Reynoldsburg Tomato Queen, Miss Sandra Lee Downs, 17, daughter of Mrs. Connie Downs, 1645 Stouder Dr., was a ribbon cutting ceremony at the new "Rags To Riches" fashion clothing store in the Blacklick Shopping Plaza on Livingston Ave. Sandy helped co-owners Bruce Davis, left, and Vic Holz, right, snip the Reynoldsburg Spectator sponsored ceremonial ribbon. The other two pretty girls in the photo are at left Rags to Riches secretary Debbie Perman and Cassie Gadnal, assistant store manager. The store celebrated its grand opening last Friday with a light buffet and champagne party. Numerous members of the Reynoldsburg Business Association were on hand to wish them well. "Fearless," our resident link with the spirit world, refused to leap into his role as a pigskin prognosticator without a week's worth of data; so we're stuck with early holiday deadlines and a list of Friday's high school football openers.

Nothing to do but match our own merely-mortal powers of observation against a lot of unknown quantities--without sticking our necks out.

HERE ARE thumbnail looks at the weekend prep prospects in our seven circulation areas.

WHETSTONE AT WEST--Physical readiness of halfback Harold Lee is big Bronc question mark against "bigger than '71". Brave edition. Chance for burly but young West lines to sample some varsity head-knocking in "the pits".

WORTHINGTON AT BROOKHAVEN--Card fans may get a jolt when they see immense Bearcat front wall. Smokey unveils his new "wide open" offensive strategy and CL followers may get a taste of John Madry's "wheels."

EASTMOOR AT ZANESVILLE -- Warriors very hungry for revenge, it was Blue Devils who put only smear on last year's 9-1 slate. Wouldn't be surprised to see QB Mark Kraker do a little fancy steppin!

GAHANNA AT HARTLEY--Rugged Hawk backs and key two-way linemen versus big, power-minded Lions. Look for a bruising battle between the tackles and some Green

GRANDVIEW AT REYNOLDSBURG--Bobcats were only club Raiders could top with last year's senior group. Everything's all new now, but Purple People wouldn't mind stealing that one page from the past.

FRANKLIN HGTS. AT WESTLAND -- Southwest grudge battle a tough way for two promising clubs to get started. Cougars have edge in experience, depth; Falcon Wishbone attack a question mark.

BEXLEY AT CANAL WINCH.--Lions have everything they need for red-letter year; Indians tough at home.

GROVEPORT AT TEAYS VALLEY--First outing for completely rebuilt Cruisers. Early mistakes (or lack of same) will tell the tale.

READY AT CINCY ELDER--Haven't heard much from Cincy, but "AAA" Panthers should have a manpower edge and a home crowd on their side.

WATTERSON AT LANCASTER--Ron Shay's Eagles haven't beaten the Gales in last two tries, '72 Watterson edition looks like the group to reverse that trend.

ST. CHARLES AT WEST JEFF.--Cards, Roughriders about evenly matched from what we hear. Eastsiders could use the momentum from a strong early performance.

UPPER ARLINGTON AT CINCY ST. X--Tough not to pick the Bears just on past performance. Xavier is a big, all-male outfit--hard to say.

Hunting Outlook Bright In Southeastern Ohio

The rustic, colorful hill country of Southeastern Ohio has provided Columbus-area hunters with a long standing "weekend retreat" in which to practice their favorite pastime.

Recent studies conducted by the State Game Protectors have indicated good hunting conditions for this fall, with the past year's carrying brood stock and an excellent growing year providing an abundance of most game species.

Here's a county-by-county rundown of the '72 outlook:

..HOCKING COUNTY - Rabbits good in all parts of the county except the northern part which is fair. Squirrel fair in all parts of the county; fair mast throughout, and as a result squirrels will be concentrated. Quail outlook good; best hunting in agricultural areas. Grouse population looks good throughout the county. Best hunting State and National Forests. Deer slightly higher than last year in all parts of the county.

..JACKSON COUNTY - Squirrel seems to be up from last year. Rabbit outlook is good; about the same as last year. Quail outlook is good in farmed areas. Deer are up substantially from last year; best areas are eastern sections of county. Grouse up slightly from last year.

..LAWRENCE COUNTY - Squirrel should be good though mast crop is a little spotty. Rabbits as good as last year; best hunting northeast part of county and along the Ohio River. Quail outlook good in agricultural areas and along stream bottoms. Grouse looks good; best hunting in northern part of county. Deer population not heavy, but on the increase, particularly in Telegraph Ridge area.

..MEIGS COUNTY - Squirrel good; mast crop better than last year; hunting should be good across entire county. Rabbit good over entire county; best in southeast sections of county. Grouse population good; hunting should be as good as last year. Deer good; should be better than last year. Quail population up from last year; best in farm areas in southeast sections of county.

..MONROE COUNTY - Rabbit population good; up slightly from last year. Squirrel good also, generally good mast; up somewhat from previous years. Quail population up, best in farmed areas. Grouse about the same as last year. Deer population is very good; up from last year. Raccoon population seems to be higher than in previous years; outlook good.

..MORGAN COUNTY- Squirrel population up on both fox and gray squirrel; outlook good. Grouse population appears down slightly though outlook still good. Rabbit looks good at this time. Quail up from last year; outlook very good; particularly good at Wolf Creek and Ohio Power Areas. Deer better than last year. Hunting should be good for the entire county.

..MUSKINGUM COUNTY - Squirrel population up from last year; good food crop. Best area southeastern part of county. Rabbit outlook good; about the same as last year county wide. Quail looks good over entire county; population up from last year. Deer outlook is good over entire county; entire county showing an increase over last year; best area is Meigs Township. Grouse good. Raccoon looks very good county wide.

..NOBLE COUNTY - Rabbit looks good county wide; highest population in northern part of county. Squirrel also looks good county wide with good mast. Grouse fair in western, northern, and southeastern parts of the county. Deer good county wide. Quail population low; best hunting in northern end.

..PERRY COUNTY - Squirrel population up from last year; mast crop indicates hickory good, beech fair, and all others poor. Grouse up from last year; best in southern part of county. Rabbit good; best hunting in farmed areas; up from last year over entire county. Quail up from last year; best hunting in farmed areas. Deer up from last year in all parts of the county; outlook this fall is good. Pheasant population about the same as last year in northwest part of county.

..PIKE COUNTY - Squirrel should be better than last year; mast is spotty and scarce over most of the county. Rabbits up from last year; best hunting in bottomland where cover remains; outlook best in many years. Quail outlook up from last year; best hunting in farmed areas. Grouse same as last year, but bvelow five year average. Deer population level, from all indications, is up; excellent prospects county wide.

..ROSS COUNTY - Squirrel population seems up some, but poor mast crop this year. Rabbits down slightly from last year, but outlook is still fair. Quail, in its favorite farmland habitat, population is exccellent; Pleasant Valley and Ross Wildlife Areas good in spite of exceptionally heavy hunting pressure. Pheasant population fair in north and northwestern sections of the county. Grouse population good in east and southeast. Deer up from last year; good population, especially in eastern end of county.

..SCIOTO COUNTY - Rabbit and quail hunting should be the best we've had in some time; both are plentiful throughout the county. Squirrel survey indicates fox squirrel good in woodlots in northeast and northwest parts of the county; the rest should supply good hunting for the more tricky grays. Grouse fair with best hunting in Shawnee Forest and extreme southeast corner. Deer population is up significantly; best areas are Shawnee Forest and Little Pine Creek Areas.

..VINTON COUNTY - Squirrel up from last year; also good mast crop. Rabbit outlook good; best hunting in the southern and southeastern section of the county. Grouse outlook good; up from last year; Zaleski State Forest and Mead Wildlife Areas being the better areas. Deer population up from last year; should be excellent hunting. Quail population up from last year; outlook good. Beaver population increasing; trapping season success will be determined by weather.

..WASHINGTON COUNTY - Rabbit as good or better than last year, particularly in northern and western parts of county. Squirrel population similar to last year; also scattered mast crop. Quail population up in western end of county. Grouse good county wide; best hunting in eastern half of county. Deer very good county wide.

..ATHENS COUNTY - Deer populations have increased in the better range areas of the county: Waterloo, Lee, Lodi, Carthage, Rome, Troy, Canaan, and Dover Townships. Should be good deer hunting for entire county. Squirrel look good as last year though there seems to be spotty mast production. Rabbit looks very favorable for the 1972 season. Grouse population index counts and brood sightings indicate a good population level for this season. Quail population up from last year; outlook good.

Come see a car with an engine in the front, the back, and the middle.
The Audi 100LS | The Porsche 911 | The Porsche 914
The car with the engine in the front is called the Audi.
It stops differently, turns differently, moves differently, even uses gas differently than just about every other car in the world. (Sixty-one years of German engineering experience has taught us a few things.)
The car with the engine in the rear is the Porsche 911.
A true classic in sports cars. And a classic in engineering. In fact, over the past twenty-one years Porsches have proven to be so well engineered, so precise, that they've won more than one thousand major races.
And the car without an engine in the front or the back is the Porsche 914.
We put the engine in the middle so the 914 would hold the road better, corner surer, and brake smoother than almost any other car.
We'll be glad to show what our cars look like in real life. We're very proud of them.
And we'll show you something we're even more proud of than the way they look:
The way they work.

Oak And Iron Shop Serves Needs

The Oak and Iron Shop will soon have been in business at 7496 E. Main, Reynoldsburg for one year. The experience of the employees reach back many years in furniture refinishing and hand wrought iron work.

The combination of the two have brought us some of the most interesting people you would ever want to meet. It is amazing that there are so many people that are just filled with unusual ideas and having been looking for years for a place like the OAK and IRON SHOP to bring these ideas to life. We have worked with people on many different projects but there are a few that may give you an idea.

- Rebuilding an old dining room buffet to make a beautiful and useful toy chest. It included cutting down, stripping and refinishing installing castors, ar topping it off with a black mat formica top.

- Rebuilding old ornate dressers to be used for stereo equipment with storage for tapes and records.

-Making tables and cabinets from discarded treddle sewing machine.

-Making stools and benches from old machinary and wagon seats.

- Rebuilding the antique cabinet into a childs desk and toy storage or wine cabinet and bar for the family room.

- Transforming old tools, utensils, scales and horses harness into something useful as well as decorative.

- People returning from vacations to historic places wanting reproductions in wrought iron of things they have seen. Like fireplace tools in Williamsburg, shelf brackets and candle sconces in St. Augustine or an ornate iron cross in Santa Barbara.

- Making a security grill for a window, but designing it to be one of a kind.

- Making table bases from wrought iron for dozens of different and unusual table tops. Using items like an old stone grinding wheel, old wooden planks from a hundred year old barn, a marble slab from a wooden table that had long since been beyond repair, large pieces of blond onyx brought back from Mexico, hand carved slate from an old fireplace, a three inch crosscut section of a tree stump.

What kind of a top can you think of to make an unusual table or bench to be one of a kind?

These are some of the things we've done from customers ideas, but we have a collection of books just full of designs and ideas if you need one.

In our showroom in the front of our shop we have items already made up or ready to make something from in cast iron, wrought iron and wood.

In the furniture stripping and refinishing side of the business we have been working on everything from a four inch by six inch antique salt box to a grand piano. On the salt box we found some interesting writing on the wood under several coats of paint. What is under the old paint and varnish on that piece that you have?

You are welcome to stop in any time 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays or 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday to watch us work, talk over that little project you have wanted to do for sometime or just browse through the showroom.

We will have a display at the Reynoldsburg Tomato Festival this year in the commercial tent, so while you are enjoying yourself at the festival stop and see us.

Creative Artists Featured In Film

Daniel Wilson will appear at the Battelle Auditorium September 20 to present a one-hour color film "With These Hands--The Rebirth of the American Craftsman".

The film, narrated by David Wayne, depicts the trend toward personal accomplishment through demonstration of the work of eight talented artists-craftsmen, who give their own explanations of the creative process.

Among the artists depicted are a retired postmaster who fashions beautiful and nearly indestructible bowls of odd, irregular birch and spruce burls; a Princeton University professor who is one of the nation's foremost potters; an outstanding artist in glass; and a whimsical creator of comic creatures in plastics and clay.

Wilson's documentary will launch the 1972-73 Battelle Guest Series. Curtain time will be 8 p.m., a change from the 8:30 p.m. scheduled time of previous Guest Series performances.

Requests for tickets may be made by calling 299-3151, Extension 2947.

AROUND TOWN

In all my years, I have never seen a dancer the likes of which is currently at the Charleston Club. Her name is Laura Winters, and she hails from (get this) Ketchikon Reville Gaede, Alaska. This is an island in the Pacific.

Now, back to Laura's dancing. She dances with more technique and class than most any other ones in the biz. Laura also dances on her head. Yep, that's what I said, she dances on her head. Standing on her head, Laura wiggles and shakes more than many dancers do while standing on their feet.

The 5'2", 37-22-36 blonde is really a pleasure to watch perform. Being a former ballet dancer and teacher has given Laura plenty of training and poise. Her movements are quite a bit different than the average go-go dancer.

Take it from me, hurry down to the Charleston Club. Besides Laura there are a host of sexy looking dancers. Plus, you have the talented, Hal Case, at the electric organ. Hal owns the Charleston Club. Put them all together, and they spell fun, fun, and more fun. See you at the Charleston Club.

Here is something new and very unique in Columbus, for you girls. I'm going to tell you about something that's fun and also constructive. Here is an opportunity you gals have never had before. Learn the most graceful and interpretive art of all times, belly dancing. That's right, there is a new belly dancing school opening in town.

I want you to go, not to learn to be a professional belly dancer. But, by studying belly dancing, you will learn better muscle control, you will gain more coordination, as well as firming up your muscles and body. All of this is bound to give you a more beautiful feminine body.

Believe me, this is a fun way to loose weight. Besides all of this, belly dancing is mentally beneficial as well as fun and useful. You will keep young and fit.

Classes will be taught on both the north and east side of town. Here's the big news. Your teacher is the famous Habeeba, who is highly qualified in the art of belly dancing. She has been a professional belly dancer for the past ten years. Habeeba has appeared in supper clubs throughout the world, including the Dunnes and Tropicana in Las Vegas, plus clubs in California, New Orleans and many other cities. This beauty from the middle east has appeared with Johnny Carson, Woody Herman, Phyllis Diller, George Carlyn and Bobby Hacket. This is just a partial list of her credits.

Habeeba has three basic classes, a beginners class, intermediate and advance. The best part is that classes are only $20 a month meeting once a week.

Belly dancing is fun. What a way to attract the attention of that favorite man of yours. And, as I said before, what a way to loose weight.

To really learn all about this course, give Habeeba a call at 888-2861.

The other day I had a very interesting session with a good looking, charming girl, Elizabeth Allen. This gal used to be the original "Away We Go Girl," on the old Jackie Gleason Show. If you are past twenty-five years old, you will remember her. Elizabeth appeared in the Reggie Van Gleason sketches, too.

Beginning as a model, Elizabeth started right off at the top, with a full color appearance in Vogue. She stayed at the top, working in New York and Paris. She was discovered, believe it or not, at age 16, while working as a bus girl and waitress, by a magazine photographer.

Elizabeth was in town, promoting her latest adventure, appearing as Martha Simms, in the new "Paul Lynde Show," on WTVN-TV. This is a situation comedy, starring, of course, Paul Lynde. I have to agree with Elizabeth, in believing that this show will be a smashing success. First, it is taped before a live audience of three hundred people. The situations are such that most everybody can relate to them. This is a big help in making a successful show; for an audience to identify with the characters.

According to Elizabeth they use four cameras in the taping of the program. It takes anywhere from 60 to 90 minutes to shoot one thirty minute segment. The only times cameras are stopped, is for technical reasons; never because of blowing lines, or any kind of mistakes by the actors. With all of these factors I have to believe the all new "Paul Lynde Show," is going to be a laugh riot program, every minute it is on the air.

When you meet Elizabeth, you know she is going to be a big help. This gal has such a warm personality and a heap of professional experience.

When she started on the Gleason Show, Elizabeth was a rank amateur. After she became involved in the business, Elizabeth got down to the serious business of studying with many of the greats in the business.

Since her beginning with Gleason, in 1955, Elizabeth has appeared in many Broadway shows, including "Romanoff and Juliet," in which she played Juliet. She received a New York Drama Critic Award and Tony Nomination for, "Do I Hear a Waltz?," in which she displayed her talents as singer, dancer as well as an actress; touring in "Cactus Flower," "Kiss Me Kate," and "Who's Afraid Of Of Virginia Woolf?"

Her television credits are a mile long, with such things as, "Combat," "Dr. Kildare," "Mannix," "Naked City," as well as performing on such shows as Ed Sullivan, Johnny Carson and most of the other talk shows.

The lovely 5'9" beauty loves to work in the kitchen. Gourmet cooking is her delight. She is active in movements of social concern. She is a very personal friend of Jane Fonda. While discussing Jane, and her recent trip to North Vietnam, Elizabeth said she strongly supports Jane and what she stands for.

Elizabeth Allen is an extremely interesting girl, both professionally and personally. I enjoyed talking with her and I know I will probably laugh myself silly when she is playing opposite Paul Lynde. You can enjoy it also, weekly on channel 6.

ACT II

By BETTY DRAGONETTE

Fifty years ago, a gracious enthusiastic young lady named Agnes Jeffrey Shedd saw the need for a community theater in Columbus - so she started one. Her influence, energy and generosity are felt to this day even though she is dead. Many community theaters spring up and die in a few years for lack of funds or personality conflict. Players Club has survived! And has continued to grow in excellence, producing award winning plays year after year both on a local and state level in the Ohio Community Theatre Excerpt Competition. This is no accident.

They have all of the ingredients for success. What is it that famous local commercial says "the only thing missing is you", how true! They have the finest theater plant I have seen on a community level - and I have explored many cities both large and small. There are a variety of activities in addition to the main purpose - the production of plays.

FIRST thing is "Opening Night". Now this is not the opening of a play - but rather a social, fun, entertaining, sort of meet the gang affair. Then, on Sunday, September 10th there will be a Golden Jubilee Reception. Members, both past and present (new ones included) will join in an afternoon of nostalgia. "The Crowmest", a one-act play performed on the first Opening Night in 1923, will be presented. Follow this up with the Champagne Opening Night on September 22nd - the first performance of "OH KAY" - and in less than a month you have enough entertainment to warrant the price of a membership. And that's just the beginning.

The second production is "The Glass Menagerie", followed by "The House of Blue Leaves". Then comes the gala "Twelfth Night" party a costume ball will help keep the festive season going a while longer. "Who's Afraid Of Virginia Woolf" will be the February presentation, with "The Matchmaker" close on Virginia's heels. "The Great God Brown" is the only arena production set for this season, since it is so packed already.

NOW I have saved a few goodies like the Birthday Party Champagne Supper, The Sunday Night Series - running all through the season, the Closing Night Party which rivals the opening night and of course, you know I'll end with a real wow, That is "The Time Of Your Life" to be guest directed by Dr. Roy Bowen, who, incidently, was Player's Club's managing director for ten years.

Everyone who reads this column knows how great I think he is, but what you don't know is that the play he is directing also ranks tops in my book. Gerald L. Ness is the current managing director and Betty Spiro (a fine actress) is the secretary. Call either of them at 224-6971 for membership information.

Realtors Convene Sept. 10

Approximately 2000 Realtors and Associates will attend the 63rd annual convention of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards (OAREB), in Columbus, September 10-13 at the Neil House and Sheraton.

A highlight will occur Wednesday afternoon, September 13, when "both sides of the political spectrum" will be aired in a special Political Affairs Program featuring two United States Senators. Speaking for the Republicans will be Ohio's William B. Saxbe and for the Democrats, Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina.

The names of the Ohio Realtor of the Year and the Ohio Associate of the Year, will be announced at the General Awards' Luncheon Tuesday, September 12. Million Dollar Club designees will be honored at the noon luncheon Monday, September 11.

State Convention Chairman is Realtor Twink Starr, Columbus. Hosting the state conclave is the Columbus Board of Realtors and their President James Owen.

COSI Plans Tour

A three-day bus tour to historic Gettysburg National Military Park and other historic sites in Pennsylvania will be conducted by the Center of Science and Industry (COSI) and the Franklin County Historical Society, Friday, September 22 thru Sunday, September 24.

There will be two dinners and a box lunch included in the tour price. On Saturday, members of the party will have a genuine Pennsylvania dinner at the Dutch Cupboard Restaurant.

Price of the tour is $110 to COSI members and $120 to non-members; these are for twin bedroom accommodations. A slightly higher rate is charged for single rooms. Also included in the tour price is bus fare, box lunch enroute, and Friday and Saturday night dinners, and all admissions. A $50 deposit is charged for reservations which must be made by September 18. Persons interested should call the Center at 228-6361.

Executives Named By Hilton

YURIK FRONCZAK

Columbus Hilton Inn officials 3110 Olentangy River Rd., have announced the appointments of Norbert E. Fronczak as general manager and John J. Yurik, Jr. as director of sales.

Fronczak will be responsible for the overall management of the $4.5 million, 260-room lodging facility, due to open in October.

Yurik, a former co-owner and manager of a local motel, will assist in the administration and be responsible for the meeting and banquet facilities that can accommodate up to 200 persons.

The Hilton Inn will feature a restaurant and lodge to provide dining, entertainment and dancing, in addition to a coffee shop, enclosed heated swimming pool and sauna bath.

Crum Named Sight-Saving Chairman

Sight-Saving Chairman for 1972, Jimmy Crum, well known TV-4 television sports director, will spearhead the public education campaign of the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

September of each year is designated as Sight-Saving Month, marking the Society's intensive annual campaign to alert the public to the facts about preserving their vision.

Last year the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness coordinated the screening of more than 37,000 preschool children in Ohio for amblyopia and other vision defects.

SCHOOL'S OPEN DRIVE CAREFULLY

'A Girl's Best Friend'

SHE SAID IT WAS the first time she'd ever won anything but she really started off big with this one. Mrs. Stuart Oppenheimer of Bexley was the grand prize winner at the drawing celebrating the opening of Service Merchandise at 3651 E. Main St. The prize was the one carat brilliant cut, solitaire diamond ring being held by the store's jewelry department manager, Larry Plant. Joe Henderson, left, the store's manager, was on hand to be the first to congratulate Mrs. Oppenheimer.

Groundbreaking Set For School

The Franklin County Commissioners and Franklin County Program for the Mentally Retarded will have a ground-breaking ceremony Friday, September 8, at 11 a.m. at the site of the first school to be constructed for the trainable mentally retarded children of Franklin County.

The school is to be located at 500 North Hamilton Rd., Gahanna.

The facility is to house up to 200 children in classes especially designed for training in the special areas necessary to meet the needs of these particular children.

The Franklin County Program for the Mentally Retarded will open its doors to 698 children Monday, September 11.

Special classes for these children will be operating in a number of locations throughout Franklin County; Five locations for school age children in 52 classes; ten locations for ten preschool classes and Cerebral Palsy Center with three classes.

Special services are also provided to all enrollees in areas of evaluation, counseling, nursing, speech, music, physical education, behavior modification, among others.

For additional information or referral for service, please call the program's intake department, 268-8673.

Band Prepares Musical Treatments

Marching band season has officially opened for Reynoldsburg High School. Daniel Nawrocki has an enormous challenge of shaping into a first class band the largest number of members he has ever performed with in his 13 years as director of the marching band. Long gone and never to return again is the era of the thirty-five member band. 137 students, grades nine through twelve, recently attended Camp Willson near Bellefontaine to participate in a six day band camp in preparation for another successful year of performances at the football games.

The usual traumas of officer meetings, organization, a forgotten instrument, much needed allergy medicine, a missing sleeping bag plus initiation for the new members only added a touch of zest to their first day's schedule.

"Up by seven and to bed by eleven" was the established rule. (To sleep by a certain time was questionable.) Early morning calisthenics preceded breakfast and by 8:30 a.m. everyone was on the marching field hard at work until 11:30.

After lunch, there was an hour and a half of practicing in sectionals and back to the marching field again until 4:15.

Each student had free time up to the dinner hour unless, of course, their music wasn't memorized then they were "doomed to practice".

Eagerly looking forward to free time, the band members could go swimming, boating, loaf or drain the candy and pop machines which was a favorite pastime.

In the evening, an hour's practice in the recreation hall was followed throughout the week by an assortment of entertainment which included movies (with popcorn, naturally), swim night, a campfire get-together, declaration of the annyal "Zot Day" celebration and highlighted with the ever popular skit night participated in by each cabin.

Their fast-paced schedule of concentrated work in marching and practicing along with plenty of fun was well-designed to display their musical talent which will reflect their versatility of style and sound during the half time shows.

Band camp was a memorable experience not soon to be forgotten by any of the band members who are looking forward to their first performance of the season.

Newark AF Station Open House Sept. 17

Newark Air Force Station will celebrate two anniversaries with an open house Sunday, Sept. 17.

The event will commemorate the 25th Anniversary of the Air Force as a separate service and the 10th Anniversary of the opening of the Air Force Station.

The installation is located south of Newark off State Route 79. Gates will be open to the public from 1-6 p.m.

Colonel A. R. Neville, Jr., commander and official host of the open house declared, "We are proud of our aerospace heritage and especially proud of our close relationship with the central Ohio community. It is our privilege to invite all citizens in the area to join us in commemorating these two important anniversaries."

Community organizations, aerospace contractors, the Reserve Officers Training Corps, Civil Air Patrol and Air Force Association will join the station in providing a full afternoon of entertainment for the open house.

Visitors will be able to tour the work areas where inertial guidance and navigation systems for Air Force missiles and aircraft are repaired and tested. Area bands and drill teams will present shows. Antique cars will be on display. There will be demonstrations of police dogs, numerous static displays relating to the aerospace age, movies, and radio controlled model airplanes.

The Air Force marks Sept. 18, 1947 as the day of its beginning. On that day Stuart Symington was sworn into office as the first Secretary of the Air Force. Newark AFS was officially established Nov. 8, 1962. Personnel and equipment to perform the work were moved in all through the year. The station was officially dedicated Dec. 13, 1962.

MARILYN DOYLE

Charming

"The course has taught me confidence and poise and how to be a better person from the inside out. I feel that I am well prepared to present myself as a professional model."

That's how Marilyn Doyle feels about the Kathleen Busche Prestige School, 1720 E. Broad St., Columbus.

Marilyn is a graduate of Big Walnut High School in Sunbury.

In November 1971 Marilyn was the third runner-up in the Miss Teen-age Columbus Pageant. Her talent was dancing in which she has done her own choreography for the past three years.

She was a cheerleader at her high school for four years.

She will enter Otterbein College in speech and theater. She has taught dancing for the past two years.

During her senior year she received the American History Award from the Daughters of the American Revolution and she was chosen by the student body for the Homecoming Court.

She was a member of the National Honor Society and on the Preliminary District Scholarship team for five years.

Library Books On Sale

Thousands of books will be on sale Sept. 7, 8, and 9 when Columbus Public Library conducts its Buck-a-Bundle book sale at Main Library, 96 S. Grant Ave.

The three-day sale will feature adult and juvenile fiction at 50 cents a bundle, paperbacks, adult westerns, mysteries and science fiction at one dollar a bundle and all adult and juvenile non-fiction at 20 cents per book. Easy or beginning readers' books are bundled at seven books for a dollar.

Librarian Edward Daniels said the fall selection is outstanding in all categories. He urged schools to take advantage of the sale which will be held in the second floor lobby. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

The books being discarded include reference materials which have been recently updated, duplicates of books presently on library shelves and books no longer in great demand by patrons. Rather than destroy the books, the library last year initiated the Buck-a-Bundle books sales to offer the books to the general public and schools.

The September book sale features thousands of titles being discarded by the library's Bookmobile Division. A large selection of biographies is included in the juvenile non-fiction discards.

Completes Training

James A. Bontadelli Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bontadelli of 1310 Bernhard Rd., recently completed a U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at March AFB, Calif.

During the encampment, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine careers in which they may wish to serve as officers.

Additionally, they receive survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, small arms training and visit other Air Force Bases.

Cadet Bontadelli is a member of the AFROTC unit at Otterbein College. He is a 1970 graduate of Walnut Ridge High School.

Eastland Jeweler Debuts Thursday

A new J.B. Robinson Company, Jewelers store will officially open with ribbon-cutting ceremonies Thursday at Eastland Shopping Center.

On hand to help with the ceremonies will be Larry R. Robinson, owner and president of the company, and other local dignitaries.

The Robinson stores offer a new concept in displaying merchandise--utilizing glass-enclosed wall shelves for display purpose and free-standing, sit-down show-cases which allow the customer comfort as well as privacy.

The Cleveland-based chain has opened six new stores in Ohio the past three years including their two entries in Columbus. The other is at Northland Mall Shopping Center. Robinson's future plans include additional branches in the Columbus area.

Robinson assumed leadership of the J.B. Robinson Company (then a wholesale firm) 13 years ago and decided to emphasize the retail business. "We did it with only one rule," he says, "to try to understand what customers want and to satisfy those desires."

He also decided to carry more than 1,000 different styles in engagement rings so the customer could be sure he had seen everything before he made his decision.

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon hour [illegible] no point.

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the lunch hour.

He said another solution might be either using adult volunteers from the neighborhood to watch the [illegible]ng during that period or [illegible]ted that the parents want to investigate [illegible]cting a bus.

[illegible]is was done by some [illegible]ts in the vicinity of [illegible]rds Elementary," [illegible]ms said.

[illegible] SAID HE had no idea of cost but did know [illegible]one who did this type of [illegible] and said the school [illegible] be glad to put the [illegible]ts in touch with the party.

[illegible]liams said most of the [illegible]entary sites were [illegible]ted so that the [illegible]mum number of [illegible]nts could walk to school.

HIGH SCHOOL SEASONS KICK OFF FRIDAY

It's 'That Time' Again In Footballtown U.S.A.

By DENNY WHALEN
Spectator Sports Editor

Welcome to Football Season '72, and another school year of 'Close-Up' Spectator Community sports coverage.

We're proud to present The Spectator's first annual Fall Football Tab—and hope it will be the prototype for a yearly preseason rundown of the suburban Columbus grid scene.

YOU'LL FIND the vast majority of the material inside deals with prospects for this fall's high school football season. That's because we feel our primary reporting job is to keep you posted on what's happening in your own community.

With that in mind, we've devoted most of our time and space to the 16 high schools which draw their students from the seven Spectator circulation areas: (Worthington, Reynoldsburg, Bexley, Hilltop-Westland and West Village).

However you will also find inside complete master schedules for all the major Columbus-area prep school leagues, along with schedules of the Big Ten universities and various other major colleges, a rundown of NFL broadcasts slated by the local TV stations this fall and other miscellaneous information about Football '72 that you might like to keep around.

Hope you enjoy it.

A LOOK AT the various league races for this fall leaves one with the distinct impression that it may be a bad year for defending champs.

City League king Eastmoor probably has the best chance at holding on to its throne. Bob Stuart's Warriors haven't lost a league game since West lassoed the loop crown with an upset way back in '68.

They've got a gigantic hole to fill at fullback, where All Everything Archie Griffin galloped for nearly 1,800 yards last year, but Stu has a habit of coming up with ornery people to keep his dynasty on course.

IN HAROLD LEE and Ron Williams (if they're healthy), West may have the City's flashiest one-two running punch, but a lot hinges on the performance of some big underclass linemen.

Walnut Ridge has three backs returning who all averaged five yards a crack last time out—the Scots could be rugged too, providing they complete a pass every now and then and keep the opposition from doing likewise.

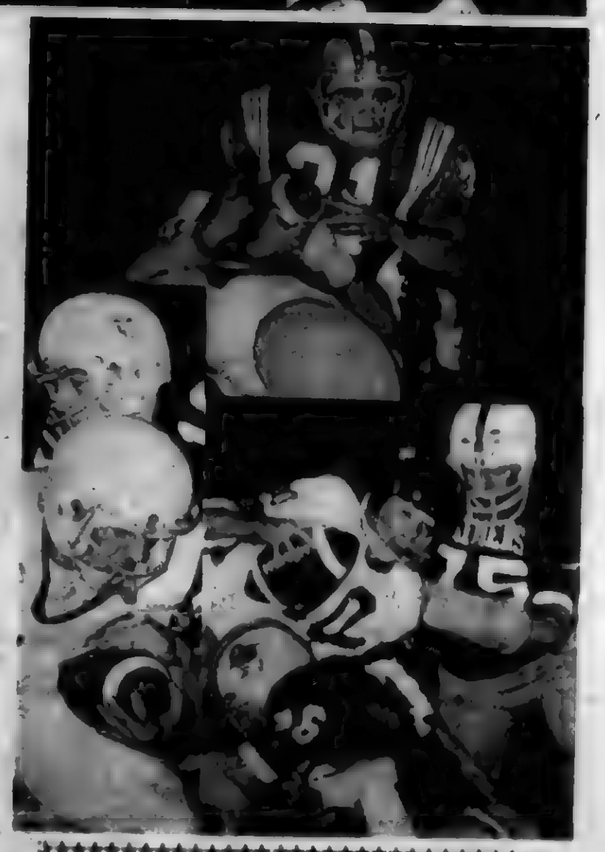
Central has everybody back from a so-so '71 offense, but coach John Butler thinks seasoning was the only missing ingredient.

IN THE OCC everybody's talking up Delaware. The Pacers have a couple of fancy steppers in veteran running backs Vance Herrel and Tim Cain; and a couple dozen burly linemen returning to block for 'em.

Defending champ Worthington loses a whopping 17 three-year lettermen, but has a not-so-secret weapon named John Madry who may help keep Cardinal foes (and fans) on the edge of their seats.

WESTERVILLE has flashy QB Steve Wohlert, and Reynoldsburg and Whitehall have new coaches to go with promising but inexperienced squads. Westland has...interesting possibilities.

It looks like a return to the "Bad Old Days" for defending Catholic loop kingpins DeSales and Wehrle—'cause perennial champ Watterson has the makings of a team to compare with the Eagle poll powers of the mid-Sixties.



Hartley faces problems brought on by declining enrollment, but veteran ground-gobblers Chip, Jakeway and Tim Cunningham should furnish Hawks rooter with a few bright spot.

READY HAS a Round Table packed with lettermen, but the Knights will need to beat an injury jinx—and Watterson.

Bexley's bustin' out all over with big, that's right, big returnees from a '71 club that closed like Gangbusters. If Dan O'Brien can keep their feet on the ground long enough, the Lions should roar to a long-awaited Mid Eight crown.

Defending champ Groveport lost a couple too many key performers to repeat, but the Cruisers would just love to avenge a little ambush they ran into at Bexley last time around.

FOR AN in-depth look at each of these '72 grid clubs, and more—read on.

Board Narrows Site Selections

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon hour.

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the lunch hour.

'The Bucs Are Back'...Butler

John Butler moved from Mohawk to Central last year, and embarked on an ambitious "youth program" designed to give maximum playing time to the most promising underclassmen.

The Pirates suffered through some predictable early-season offensive woes, then began to jell slowly. They closed with a win over South—their only '71 triumph—and coach Butler feels that things should pick up where they left off.

"10 OF THE 11 kids on our first offensive unit are back this year," he said. "They paid their dues against a lot of senior-dominated teams, and they're just about ready to start payin' people back."

Squirty Joe Boysel returns to quarterback the veteran Buc attack. He's only 5-9 and 140, but Butler rates him a strong passer and better-than-average scrambler.

The rest of the backfield is considerably more muscular.

WINGBACK Ron Sims (5-9, 160), fullback Cecil Cozart (5-10, 185) and tailback Tony Ingram (6-0, 190) all fit the "power-runner" mold. Sims is the breakaway threat of that trio—he proved his mettle last year by scoring from long distance four separate times against Mohawk.

Though enthused by all his veteran linemen, John was particularly high on end Greg Spencer. A two-way performer, the 6-0, 175 pounder is rated one of the city's finest grid talents by the Buc coaches.

"BAD BILL" Davidson, yet another seasoned vet, will lend his 6-3, 263 pounds to both the offensive and defensive lines at tackle ("and he can move it, too!" says Butler) along with Bill Riley (6-0, 195) at the other tackle and guards Jim Todd (165) and Al Dulaney (193).

Fireplug Doug Andrews is rated an excellent center—he packs his 190 pounds on a 5-6 frame.

Butler summarized his basic offensive philosophy as "a sneaky combination of power and passing. We think we've got the inside game to get people bunched up along the line—and the quarterback and receivers to burn 'em if they do."

THE BIG problem on defense, where seven of the offensive starters will be doing double duty, is to develop some depth from among the non-lettermen.

Returnee Larry Berry (6-1, 195) will join Davidson at defensive tackle, while Cozart and Spencer cover the ends.

SPEEDSTER Tyrone Redmond, a junior move-in from West, will start at safety and may develop into a real punt and kickoff return threat. His mates in the deep secondary look to be a pair of 5-7 "quickies" named Dave Fillinger and 'Dobbin' Roush. At 140 pounds, Roush earned a 'headhunter' tag from Butler.

Two more youngsters who may win starting spots before the year gets too far along are backup fullback Roosevelt Reeders (6-0, 190) and versatile two-way lineman Chuck Jackson (5-9, 180).

While admitting that it's a long climb from 1-8 (last year's slate) to a CL South title, Butler was far from ready to set his sights any lower.

HE COMPARED the current Buc offensive unit with the '62-'63 Central group (Tom Fullove, George Broadnax, George Trammell etc.) that copped the school's last two City crowns.

"I think it's a case of four or five string teams chasing Eastmoor," he said of the South Division contest. "We expect to be an underdog most of the time, but there's nothin' wrong with having people underestimate you."

"We open up our league season at home against Eastmoor (Sept. 29)," he concluded. "We'll give it our best shot, and if we can dump 'em, who knows how far we can go?

DOUBLE DUTY AHEAD — These eight Central grid stalwarts won't get much time to catch their breath this fall since they'll be playing "iron-men" roles — going both offensively and defensively for coach John Butler. Two-way Pirate performers include (front, from left): Bill Davidson, Al Dulaney, Ron Sims and Jim Todd. Standing: Tony Ingram, Greg Spencer, Cecil Cozart and Joe Boysel.

'Kiddie Korps' Eyes New Era

Last season's Raider gridiron finale, a depressing loss to Whitehall, marked the end of an era in more ways than one.

It was the last appearance of a fine senior crop that included All OCC quarterback Randy Shade, end Dave Starling, running ace Mark Wahlfeldt and tackle Mike Wade among others. Unfortunately it also capped a third straight winless league campaign.

TO MAKE THINGS complete, coach Bob James resigned after the season to take over at Olentangy.

So the '72 season dawned a couple weeks ago with almost an entire new slate of candidates, a new coach and (hopefully) a new beginning for the once-proud tradition of Reynoldsburg football.

The coach is young Dick Kerschbaum, a 1969 Capital U. grad who has spent the past three years building

SOME OF the stalwarts who are expected to do yeomen service for the Raider cause this year are (kneeling): Jeff Wade (defensive end), Steve Nole (linebacker and team captain) and Brad Woodward (defensive end). Standing: Dave Wickline (linebacker and fullback), Neil Feer (tailback) and Marvin Henderson (linebacker).

For reports on your high school's sports, read The Spectator.

Put on your specks and read The Spectator.

standout defenses for veteran Frank Howe at Northland.

ASKED IF his '72 club would be more "defense-minded" than those in recent Raider history, Dick reckoned so.

"With a new group of kids and a new system, you've got to start somewhere," he elaborated--"we're working real hard to establish a sound offense, but it sure helps when you can keep the other team out of your end zone."

When we talked to Dick a week ago his defensive lineup was still very elastic. A look at the roster, however, does show a nucleus of five returning defensive lettermen who should see action in Friday's home opener against Grandview.

ENDS JEFF WADE and Brad Woodward (185 and 170 respectively) should furnish some vital up-front seasoning.

Bill Barrett (5-9, 150) and Marv 'Cowboy' Henderson (5-9, 180) saw plenty of playing time at defensive halfback in '71, and as seniors will bring valuable experience to the secondary.

The fifth likely defensive returnee is senior Dave Wickline, a 6-0, 185 pound linebacker who figures largely in Kerschbaum's offensive plans as well.

Academy Leans On 'Iron Men'

Phil Hess' 1972 Viking football edition looks like a fair successor to last year's 6-2-1-outfit; providing that a thin line of experienced performers can stay healthy enough to handle "both ways" duty.

"We're fair on experience," said Phil, "but we lack depth. The kids we've got returning are excellent football players, and we'll have to lean on them till some good young prospects can take over."

BIGGEST HOLE to fill will be in the offensive backfield, where All League halfback Pete Frederick did his ground-gaining thing last year.

Dave Hamlar, a letterman at offensive guard in '71, has been moved to the vacant halfback spot and Hess was pleased with his progress to date.

His runningmate will be junior Steve Ison, a 6-1, 160 pounder who saw lots of action last year and is expected to blossom into a standout regular.

THE STARTING fullback spot belongs to powerful Curt Retter--honorable mention All League a year ago. At 6-3 and 190 he's a punishing inside runner. Calling the signals will be junior Jim Case. He started roughly half the time last season, is rated a strong passer and adequate runner when the situation calls for it.

On the receiving end of Case's aerials will be standout split end Tom Levy (5-9, 150)--a shifty, glue-fingered senior who led the Mid Buckeye loop in receptions last time around.

The tight end job has been inherited by John Sehring (6-2, 180), a defensive regular last year.

RIGHT TACKLE is the only hole across the offensive wall that won't be filled by a letter-winner--Phil said it was still completely up for grabs. Otherwise it's solid with standout Frank Hoster (6-3, 180) at the left tackle, vet Bill Porter (180) returning at center and Bill Swenson rated a "very fine" senior guard.

As of the time we talked to him last week, Hess couldn't set a definite defensive alignment. He did consider it likely that most of the offensive regulars would see double duty till at least mid-season.

Runners-up in the Mid Buckeye chase a year ago behind State Class "A" poll power Newark Catholic, the Vikes could challenge in '72--especially if the key performers listed above stay healthy.

THE PASSING combination of Case to Levy promises to provide both excitement and variety on offense, with Retter's inside strength and a veteran blocking wall to make the ground game effective.

"We'll be pretty versatile on offense; should move the ball against just about anyone," ventured Hess. "Endurance will be a factor on defense, with so many people going both ways--but we've got an unusual number of big, strong kids to carry the load."

Friday's opener against strong Cincinnati Country Day should say a lot about Vike prospects for bettering the '71 slate; but the real showdown comes next weekend when they take on Newark Catholic in what promises to be a crucial league watershed.

LOOKS LIKE Mr. Hess has the horses to run in front, especially if they got out of the starting gate on the right foot.

Elected Kiwanis President

Franklin A. Kropp, 3449 Swick Blvd., has been elected President of the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Columbus, effective October 1972.

Kropp is executive secretary of the Police & Firemen's Disability and Pension Fund of Ohio, an organization created by the Ohio General Assembly in 1915 now serving 30,000 Ohio police, firefighters and their survivors.

Kropp, a life-long resident of Columbus, will be the 59th president of the 315-member business and professional men's service organization chartered in 1916.

He serves on the board of directors of The University Club of Columbus and of Blue Cross of Central Ohio; and is an elder in Brookwood Presbyterian Church.

Other newly elected officers of Downtown Kiwanis are: Richard M. Locke, 1st vice president; K. E. Hopkins, 2nd vice president; Kenneth C. Evans, treasurer; and Bernard E. Savey, Circleville, secretary.

New trustees for 1972-73 are: H. Stanton Condit; William H. Haire; Robert D. Hays; F. Dwight Persons; and John H. Robb.

Council To Hear Ellis

Dr. John Ellis, superintendent of Columbus public schools will be the main speaker when the Columbus Council of PTA's begins the year Sept. 14 at the Central High Auditorium.

Registration will begin at 7:45 p.m. The meeting will begin at 1:15 p.m.

The officers of the Council for 1972-3 are Mrs. Fred Witt, president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, first vice president; Mr. John Silberin, second vice president; Mrs. Donald Boehm, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clarice Cloud, treasurer.

Approximately 170 local PTA units in the Columbus public school system belong to the Council.

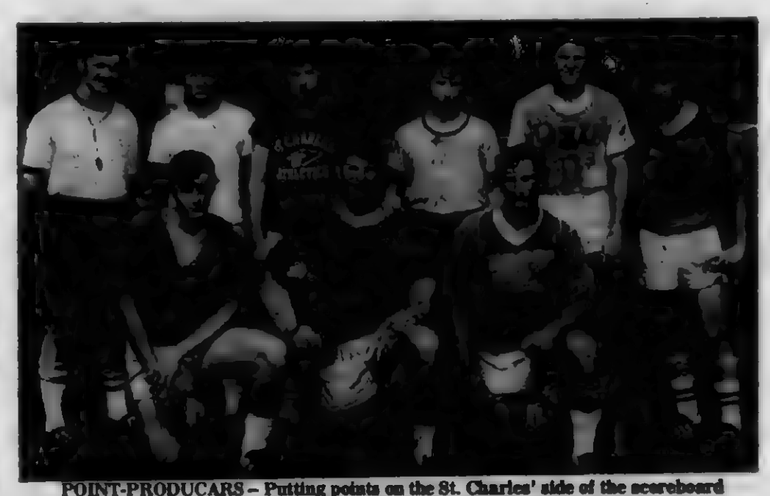
In 2nd Varsity Season

Ambitious Cards Eye .500-Plus

Following what must be called a very successful first-year varsity grid program (4-5), St. Charles Cardinals are ready for bigger and better things in '72 according to head coach Jerry Connor.

Speaking for Jerry, Card assistant Don Henne termed this year's group "a better football team overall than we had last time--the experience our kids picked up has to make us more competitive against a tough schedule."



'TOUGH' IS the word for it, considering the Class "A" Cards will square off with four "AA" clubs, including Mid Eight powerhouse Bexley, in their independent nine-game campaign.

Connor lost 10 '71 regulars through graduation, including All Ohio linebacker Pat Goodman, veteran QB Jack Kramer and star running back John McVey. Quite a few faces are missing from both lines too, but Jerry had a fine turnout of 74 people eager to earn a starting job.

Heading a list of 14 returning lettermen are co-captains Dave Clarkson and Kevin Fullin. Clarkson was a regular halfback last year, and will double in the defensive secondary, he's a healthy 6-0, 190 pound senior.

FULLIN, a standout at offensive tackle and defensive end, stands 6-2 and weighs in around 185.

Clarkson will be joined in the backfield by a trio of juniors; quarterback Marty Klunk (5-9, 150, last year's No. 2 signal-caller), full back Bob Iannarino (5-9, 160) and speedster Dave Heilman (5-7, 140).

As of now the starting offensive line will comprise Fullin and senior letterman John Baker (6-2, 200) at the tackles, John Cua and Tim Morrison at the guards (both 150 pounds returnees), soph Kurt Wollenberg at center and a pair of promising underclassman ends: junior Rhett Plank and soph Mike Grannon.

SINCE NINE of the above-listed 11 offensive starters have seen considerable varsity action, Connor is understandably optimistic that they'll be able to generate a more potent attack than last year's group.

The defensive secondary will be solid with experienced talent, with Heilman, senior Jerry Lang (5-11, 160) and Damien Sharp (6-0, 175) all returning.

Jerry also lists promising sophs Jim Tracy and Fred Messmer as threats to take over a starting secondary job by season's end.

OFFENSIVE linemen Cua, Morrisson and Wollenberg will be pressed into two-way action as the Card linebackers, but Fullin at one end will be the only line regular back.

Plank and Baker will be one side of the starting "front four", with 200 pounder Tom Marchi in the tackle hole next to Fullin. Tenth-graders Jeff Lundgren and Mike Shannon are looked to for some relief up front by mid-season, and junior Joe Trapp is considered a strong possibility to take over one of the cornerback spots.

With a large number of returnees going both ways, injuries will have a lot to say about Card chances to boost the won-lost slate over the .500 mark in only their second season.

JERRY LISTED the keys to success as finding some depth behind his veterans and building a consistent ground game around Clarkson and Heilman. Considering their rugged schedule, a 5-4 season would be plenty to ask of the young Cards. They'll probably do at least that well.

Board Narrows Site Selections

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon hour.

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the lunch hour.

He said another solution might be either using adult volunteers from the neighborhood to watch the ...ng during that period or ...sted that the parents ... want to investigate ...cting a bus.

He said he did not think the district could afford to do this.

Bronc Hopes Riding On Young Lines

With more size up front than they've seen in years, and a pair of the area's flashiest speedbacks, West High grid boss Dave Koblentz and his staff are modestly optimistic about Bronc chances to break Eastmoor's hold on CL South supremacy this fall.

"We've got 12 lettermen back," said Dave, "but only five of them were regulars last year. That means our veterans will see a lot of playing time, and some pretty inexperienced kids will be under the gun, especially from tackle to tackle."

FIRST the good news:

In halfbacks Harold Lee and Ronnie Williams (both 5-11 and 175), West has two of the City's shiftiest, most dangerous breakaway runners. Lee, a :09.9 sprinter who accounted for 92 points last season, is terrifying as a punt and kickoff return man, and averaged over seven yards per rushing attempt in '71.

Chunky Carl Phillips (5-9, 180) saw a good deal of action at fullback last time around and should provide the inside power to keep enemy defenses from spreading out to contain Lee and Williams.

THE QUARTERBACK job is currently up for grabs between a pair of seniors who backed up Rusty Jones last season, Chuck Walker and Larry Todd. Both have seen a reasonable amount of varsity playing time, and are rated as solid all-around performers.

Two standout seniors will anchor the Cowboy line—tight end Tony Manasco (5-11, 190) and guard Randy Sayre (6-2, 205). Junior letterman Don Snider will move from end to play the other offensive guard, and junior center Gary Yoder is about Snider's size at 5-11 and 180.

Another junior, Wayne Gatewood (6-3, 210) and senior Darrell Drone (6-0, 210) bring impressive size to the tackle spots, and wide side end Warren Lewis (6-2, 190) may round out a potent Bronc blocking wall with some seasoning.

"THAT'S JUST the problem right now," said Koblentz—"we're primarily a running team, and the younger kids will need some time to get used to working together. We've got the muscle and the talent, but not a lot of experience."

Same goes for the defense, at least up front.

Juniors Rodney Martin (6-1, 200) and Jerry Dymek (6-1, 175) look like the starting ends, with smaller letterman Craig McCoy also in the picture.

OFFENSIVE REGULARS Sayre, Drone and Gatewood will switch off at the tackle spots along with senior Jim Whitman. At 205, Sayre is the smallest of that foursome.

Fullback Phillips and Dave Copley may share the middle guard assignment, with Snider and Manasco moving to linebacker when the ball changes hands. Another promising junior, 180 pound Hap Hall looks like their third mate.

The secondary will feature speedster Lee at safety, with veteran Martin Fields at one halfback, newcomer Mark Reeves at the other and veteran Dave Brown at what Dave calls "defensive fullback".

QUARTERBACK Todd, who lettered in the secondary last year, will also

IF IT'S REALLY what's up front that counts, West's Cowboys should be back in the thick of the City League grid race this fall. Good size will be available on both offensive and defensive fronts this season. Bronco coach Dave Koblentz talks over prospects for '72 above with linemen (from left) Tony Manasco (5-11, 185), Darrell Drone (6-0, 210), Randy Sayre (6-2, 205), Gary Yoder (5-11, 185), Don Snider (5-11, 190), Wayne Gatewood (6-3, 210) and Warren Lewis (6-2, 185).

Size, QB Key Knight Questions

Blessed with both depth and experience, Bishop Ready will sail into its second year of gridiron warfare under Jim Long with only two real problems: size and an untried quarterback.

"Somehow we seem to get smaller, quicker kids out here while DeSales gets short, stocky people and Watterson and Hartley get all the big ones," said Long—after perusing a Knight roster that includes only two team members over 190 pounds.

THE QUARTERBACK situation is less a question of demographics than of circumstances.

Veteran Mark Miller, last year's starting signal-caller, looked better than ever in practice for about 10 days, then suffered a broken leg in the first Knight scrimmage that brought his senior campaign to an untimely halt.

"Losing Mark was a real blow," admitted coach Long. "We've moved Chuck Seipel in at quarterback, and he's doing a good job, but you can't expect anybody to pick up the subtleties of the position in just a few weeks."

SEIPEL (5-11, 175) has been a standout three-sport athlete for two years, and earned all CCL recognition as a defensive back last season. How well he can pick up the leadership reins may have a lot to say about Knight chances to improve on last year's 2-6-1 slate and last-place league finish.

'71 starters Ted Amann (5-11, 175) and Eric Fike (5-9, 160) return at fullback and tailback respectively, with the other starting backfield assignment currently up for grabs between seniors Chris Ciccone and Tom Castorano and juniors Tom Prentiss and Bob Cook.

If the running corps looks solid, the line is even deeper in experienced talent.

ENDS BRADY Linard (6-1, 175) and John Abbott (5-9, 180) are rated fine pass receivers and effective blockers—both were regulars last season.

Ditto for guards John Tracy and John Tyznik, a pair of 5-10, 160 pounders—though Tyznik faces a battle for his job against stubby Richard Dietlin (5-6, 155).

Co-captain Pat Horgan will figure in the interior line somewhere, and letterman center Greg Patrella (5-11, 178) should anchor the blocking wall.

THAT LEAVES only the tackle holes unfilled by last year's regular performer, and Jim sounded confident that there would be no problems there either. "Danny Hoy (6-0, 190) lettered at end last year, and he'll play a lot of tackle," he said. "We've also got a couple of good-sized candidates in John Figliola (185) and Dave Kessler (180)."

Long wasn't too settled on a starting defensive unit, but indicated that a number of his offensive linemen and backs would be pressed into service on the "stop" unit as well.

A couple of regular performers on defense should be linebackers Steve Helcher and Jeff Hohman (both 5-10 and 185) and the only real "big man" the Knights can boast, 6-4, 256 pound Tim Dineen, at a tackle.

SENIOR letterman Mike Garish will play somewhere in the secondary, along with Linard and Castorano or Ciccone.

Jim was hopeful that a full year of work under his offensive and defensive "systems" will show positive results in the Knight won-lost statistics.

"We've got an unusually large group of seniors, most of whom have seen a good deal of action over the past two seasons," he elaborated. "By now we should be working well together, and I've been encouraged by the general progress the kids have shown in practice."

GENERALLY, he adopted a "wait and see" attitude about anything as heady as title hopes—with Seipel's performance at quarterback a key factor.

He tabbed Watterson as the odds-on choice to regain the CCL winner's circle they abdicated last season, and found the term "dark horse" a comfortable blanket to wrap around his own derby entry.

TALKING OVER offensive strategy for the upcoming Silver Knight grid campaign are Ready head coach Jim Long and "impromptu" quarterback Chuck Seipel. Seipel, a 5-11, 175 pound senior (who also played guard on the Knight State Champion cage quintet) was pressed into duty as the Ready signal-caller when '71 starter Mark Miller suffered a broken leg in the first pre-season scrimmage. Chuck was an All CCL defensive back last season.

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon hour.

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the lunch hour.

He said another solution might be either using adult volunteers from the neighborhood to watch the crossing during that period or suggested that the parents might want to investigate contracting a bus.

He said this was done by some districts in the vicinity of Westerfields Elementary," Williams said.

He said he did not think the district could afford to do this.

He said he had no idea of the cost but did know someone who did this type of thing and said the school board would be glad to put the parents in touch with the party.

Williams said most of the elementary sites were located so that the maximum number of students could walk to school.

Capoziello Takes Over W-H Helm

New Ram Boss Has 'That Winning Habit'

Whitehall-Yearling High School's new head football coach is a no-nonsense sort of fella.

He's a short, wiry, athletic-looking guy named Mike Capoziello (pronounced Kap-uh-Zello) who has spent most of his 22 years in the business turning out winners.

From 1963 through last season Mike was line coach at Springfield South. During that period of time the Wildcats won five Greater Ohio League titles and finished second three other times.

FOR THE SEVEN years before he came to Springfield, Capoziello was head coach at Wapakoneta--where he turned a team that had averaged one win a year into a consistent title contender.

The man just ain't crazy about coming up second best.

He takes over the Ram reins after back-to-back "rebuilding" campaigns have netted only three Whitehall wins over the past two seasons--and with a slim crop of six returning lettermen to build around.

"WE'RE VERY THIN as far as depth goes," admitted the gravel-throated Mr. C--"but the kids are workin' hard, and we'll do our best to be a representative ballclub."

Talented '71 signal-caller Dave Brobst (5-10, 176) will return to lend experienced leadership in the backfield, but Mike wasn't 100 percent sure Brobst would start at QB. A good scrambler, he might be switched to one of the running back slots by Friday's opener against neighborhood rival Walnut Ridge.

Letterman Charles Taylor will likely get the fullback nod, but the other backfield spots are up for grabs between junior Rick Robinson (170), senior returnees Mike Davidek (145) and Joel Bishop (155) and a trio of promising underclassmen.

SOPHOMORE Glen McMillan is the biggest of the bunch at 5-8 and 171, but Capoziello also listed juniors Bob Devine and Gus Parker as contenders--both are the "scatback" variety at 5-7 and about 140.

"W 've got pretty fair experience among the backs," noted the new Ram skipper, "but the offensive line is gonna be just about brand new."

Senior Fred Albin at center and guard Tom Athey, both around 180 pounds, will offer a degree of veteran stability in the middle. The other guard slot is a four-way battle between seniors Rick Bethea, Lowell Nye and Art Martin and junior Mike Ferguson.

FERGUSON IS the largest of the lot at 196.

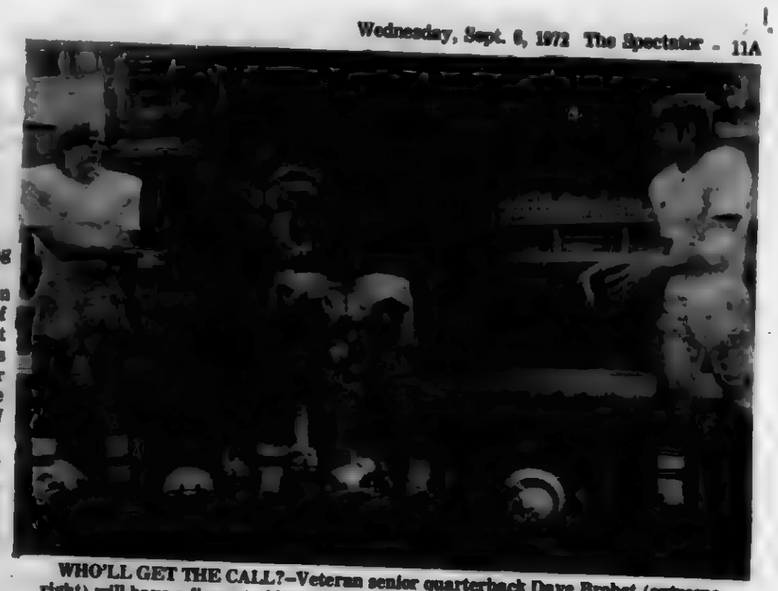
A pair of newcomers seem to have the inside track at tackle right now: juniors Mark Boyer (190) and Brian Frye--the biggest of the '72 Rams at 6-2 and 213.

The starting end assignments are currently held down by Ron McMahon and Mike Pennell, with competition from Dave Finch (a 6-3, 185 pound senior) and 11th grader Doug LaCorte.

MIKE DESCRIBES his offensive philosophy as pretty conservative: "I'd say we'll use on 'option' offense, with most of our plays from a 'full house' formation," he offered.

Things were still pretty unsettled defensively when we talked to Mike last week, with at least two people in contention for almost every spot on the starting unit.

It was apparent, however, that many of the offensive regulars will likely serve double duty when the ball changes hands.



"I REALLY CAN'T tell you who will be out there for us on opening night, except that they'll be the people who've done the best job in practice," he said. "I'm a firm believer that winning is more fun than anything else--that's what you work hard for all week. We'll go with the best football players we've got."

If he's right, then Ram gridders have missed a good share of "fun" lately (3-15 since the unbeaten '69 campaign).

Considering they'll be up against OCC toughies like Delaware, Gahanna, Westerville and Worthington (not to mention non-league foes with Ridge and Eastmoor in their first two youngsters may take a bit of outings); the prospects for a convincing.

BUT YOU GET the feeling that Mr. C and his BUT YOU GET the feeling that Mr. C and his WHO'LL GET THE CALL?--Veteran senior quarterback Dave Brobst (extreme right) will have a fine set of hands to pick from when he pitches into the Whitehall backfield this fall. Anxious to assume ball-totin' duties at left are (kneeling) junior Rick Robinson and senior Mike Davidek and (standing) senior Terry Taylor and sophomore Jerry Montgomery. The latter is also a quarterback candidate.

Elected Kiwanis President

Franklin A. Kropp, 2449 Berwick Blvd., has been elected President of the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Columbus, effective October 1972.

Kropp is executive secretary of the Police & Firemen's Disability and Pension Fund of Ohio, an organization created by the Ohio General Assembly in 1967 now serving 30,000 Ohio police, firefighters and their survivors.

Kropp, a life-long resident of Columbus, will be the 58th president of the 315-member business and professional men's service organization chartered in 1916.

He serves on the board of directors of The University Club of Columbus and of Blue Cross of Central Ohio; and is an elder in Brookwood Presbyterian Church.

Other newly elected officers of Downtown Kiwanis are: Richard M. Locke, 1st vice president; K. E. Hopkins, 2nd vice president; Kenneth C. Evans, treasurer; and Bernard E. Savey, Circleville, secretary.

New trustees for 1972-73 are: H. Stanton Condit; William H. Haire; Robert D. Hays; F. Dwight Persons; and John H. Robb.

Council To Hear Ellis

Dr. John Ellis, superintendent of Columbus public schools will be the main speaker when the Columbus Council of PTA's begins the year Sept. 14 at the Central High Auditorium.

Registration will begin at 7:45 p.m. The meeting will begin at 1:15 p.m.

The officers of the Council for 1972-3 are Mrs. Fred Witt, president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, first vice president; Mr. John Silherin, second vice president; Mrs. Donald Boehm, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clarice Cloud, treasurer.

Approximately 170 local PTA units in the Columbus public school system belong to the Council.

'BEST SINCE '69'... Shay

Eagles Eye '72 CCL, Poll Perches

1971 was, to put it mildly, a perplexing year for Watterson football fortunes.

After a sluggish start, the Eagles upset City League power Northland on the Vike home field and looked like they were on their way to a 12th CCL title in 13 tries. Then the roof fell in.

THEY DROPPED back-to-back league verdicts to Hartley and Wehrle (the first time either school had beaten Watterson on a football field) to drop hopelessly out of the title chase for the first time in school history.

Just to make the confusion complete, Ron Shay's club then rebounded to clout frontrunner DeSales and force the Stallions into sharing their crown with Wehrle.

Three weeks ago, Shay welcomed back 23 of the 40 people on his '71 roster with one idea in mind--to reestablish the Eagles as a first-rate gridiron power PDQ.

"WITH THE TALENT and

experience we've got, I'd call this the best club since our undefeated team in '69", said Ron. After listening to him run down the list of returnees, it was hard to disagree.

Art Yaroch, a gutty 170 pound veteran, will be back to quarterback the Eagle slant-and-sweep running game, and he'll have experienced help aplenty from wingback Chip Gentile (6-1, 180), fullback Jim Grimm (6-0, 186) and "scatback" Dan Hefferman.

Add in lettermen Chuck Pardi and Chico Browning (both of whom could crack the starting backfield by Friday's opener at Lancaster), and you've got the markings of an old-style Watterson offense.

"WE'VE GOT good size, lots of power, adequate speed and plenty of experience and desire," said Shay of his backfield group. "Yaroch proved last year he can run and throw, and Grimm (who lettered as a soph last year) is really a hardnosed power back."

When and if he decides to throw the ball, Yaroch will have a pair of vets to look for: burly tight end Jeff Hill (6-1, 200) and shifty Tim Paskell--a regular in the defensive secondary last year. It's worth mentioning that Mr. Yaroch clicked on 50 per cent of his aerials in '71, including a record 40 completions to now-departed split end Craig Woods.

The interior offensive line doesn't suffer much by comparison. Tackle regular Bob Fox returns at a healthy 6-4 and 215 to anchor the blocking wall along with Chris Stanich (6-1, 202).

THE GUARD chores will be handled by '71 starter Jim Kurth (5-10, 180) and either junior letterman Steve Weisenbach (195) or classmate Brad Walker (6-1, 175).

Senior "Fuzz" Wooley moves up to fill the first-string center slot--and that rounds out the kind of muscular offensive contingent to warm the heart of any Eagle [illegible].

The Watterson defensive unit also looks like a winner.

CHICO BROWNING and either Hill or Fox (all vets) will start at the ends in Shay's version of the Notre Dame 4-4-3, with Kevin Spillers (6-1, 180) at one tackle and either senior Weisenbach or juniors Mike Denning or Rick Winel on the other side.

"We've got six linebackers to choose from, and they're all pretty fair football players," said Shay with a trace of a chuckle. One sure starter will be '71 standout John Raphael, a 185 pound headhunter.

Junior Dan Dillon is the top candidate for middle backer, while Chris Deibel, center Wooley, fullback Grimm and guard Walker are all available for double duty at the other slot.

CHUCK PARDI and Paul Fregonas return from last year's secondary to cover the corners, and Shay can choose between Paskell, Hefferman, Gentile, Jerry Wojita and a couple of other people for fast, agile deep backs.

In what sounded to us like a piece of understatement, Ron Said he "feels pretty good" about Eagle chances to reclaim the CCL throne--and advance in the new State "AA" playoffs.

"I don't think I've seen a bunch of kids with a better sense of togetherness," said Shay of his '72 crop--"they help one another out and get the job done. If we can keep sharpening our execution, eliminating the little mistakes that really killed us last year, I think this club can go a long way."

BY WATTERSON standards, "a long way" means all the way.

A distinct long-shot in the Mid Eight title race last year, Bexley's Lions roared back from a slow start to win their last four outings and very nearly grab a share of the throne.

Considering that it was their first year under coach Dan O'Brien, and the roster was crammed with underclassmen, last year's accomplishments are plenty to establish the Lion's as the '72 league frontrunner.

"OUR ONLY REAL problem this season is depth," admitted the second-year skipper. "Most of our first-line kids went both ways last year, and it looks like quite a few of 'em will do it again."

By cramming his defensive lineup with veteran two-way performers, Dan can field 18 experienced lettermen in the 22 starting spots. And it's the biggest overall Lion squad in recent memory!

FROM THERE on it's strictly old home week.

Tom Holden moves to an offensive guard spot after lettering on defense in '71; he's a 5-10, 210 pounder. Only other newcomer is running back Doug Ewing (5-9, 150) described by O'Brien as "a hard-nosed kid with a lot of power for his size."

Strong-armed Steve Germain returns to call the signals, and he'll have a pair of tested vets to hand off to in fullback Buzz Inboden (5-10, 180) and halfback Lou Lombardo (5-10, 160).

Senior ends Tom Sixt (6-0, 180) and Jeff Krieger (6-2, 185) rate as two of the area's top pass receivers--and Germain has been known to throw to his running backs (ala the Detroit Lions) too.

EXCEPT FOR burly newcomer Holden, the blocking wall will be last year's starting group--a year older, stronger and smarter.

Three-year vet Jay Gray will be at center, he's 5-11 and 180.

Joe Gardner (same size) holds down the other guard spot, and O'Brien feels he has two of the league's finest tackles in bearish Jeff Edelstein (6-0, 205) and Lorenzo Baker (6-1, 206).

THAT MEANS the Lions will average just about 200 pounds per man from tackle to tackle--big by anybody's standards but incredible for perennially small Bexley.

Dan said his defensive lineup was still unstable as of our conversation, but was sure that at least three non-attackers would be in there: huge tackle Vince Ingalls (6-2, 240), junior end Jeff Holttreter (6-0, 170) and speedy senior safety ruan Bill Hoffman (6-0, 175).

"There's a healthy amount of competition for starting jobs on defense," said O'Brien--"we're trying hard to find underclassmen who can take over for our two-way seniors, let 'em rest."

A LION CHARGE -- How would you like to be a Mid-Eight League quarterback, setting up to pass only to find this Bexley foursome drawing a bead on your person? That will be the intention of this king-sized Lion quintet this fall. From left are Lorenzo Baker, Vince Ingalls, Tom Holden and Jeff Edelstein. The quartet, incidentally, packs a collective 850-pound punch.

ASKED IF being everybody's "team-to-beat" was an extra psychological burden, Dan replied that the opposite seems to be the case.

"After the great finish last year, our kids knew they'd be a favorite. I'd say it's already given us even more pride in our play; the kids feel confident that they can pick up right where they left off. We'd rather be on top than anywhere else."

With Groveport and Hilliard (last year's top contenders) in the midst of rebuilding campaigns, O'Brien looks for the biggest challenge from perennial Mid Eight power Grove City.

THE 'HOUNDS reportedly had 105 candidates report for fall practice--including a whopping 18 lettermen off last year's disappointing club.

"I think they've got more kids on their varsity than we've got in our school," said Dan (just barely tongue-in-cheek). "Nice thing about it is, they can only play 11 at a time."

As long as that particular rule stays on the books, Bexley's gonna be one rough customer. G-C comes calling on Oct. 13 for what should be the league's showcase event--buy your tickets early.

For reports on your high school's sports, read The Spectator.

POTENT COMBO -- Mid-Eight League foes of Bexley will likely get more than their fill of this Lion backfield combination before season play wraps up this November. The two Bexley vets are Lion fullback Buzz Inboden (left), taking a handoff from slick-stepping quarterback Steve Germain.

Board Narrows Site Selections

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon live over one mile. There are many areas such as the Westport one where the distance is just under a mile and if we provide service to one we would have to provide it to all the areas."

He said he did not think the district could afford to do this.

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the lunch hour.

He said another solution might be either using adult volunteers from the neighborhood to watch the crossing during that period or suggested that the parents might want to investigate contracting a bus.

"This was done by some parents in the vicinity of Edwards Elementary," Williams said.

HE SAID HE had no idea of the cost but did know someone who did this type of work and said the school would be glad to put the parents in touch with the right party.

Williams said most of the elementary sites were selected so that the maximum number of students could walk to school.

Elected Kiwanis President

Franklin A. Kropp, 2449 Berwick Blvd., has been elected President of the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Columbus, effective October 1, 1972.

Kropp is executive secretary of the Police & Firemen's Disability and Pension Fund of Ohio, an organization created by the Ohio General Assembly in 1965 now serving 30,000 Ohio police, firefighters and their survivors.

Kropp, a life-long resident of Columbus, will be the 50th President of the 315-member business and professional men's service organization chartered in 1916.

He serves on the board of directors of The University Club of Columbus and of Blue Cross of Central Ohio; and is an elder in Brookwood Presbyterian Church.

Other newly elected officers of Downtown Kiwanis are: Richard M. Locke, 1st vice president; K. E. Hopkins, 2nd vice president; Kenneth C. Evans, treasurer; and Bernard E. Savey, Circleville, secretary.

New trustees for 1972-73 are: H. Stanton Condit; William H. Haire; Robert D. Hays; F. Dwight Persons; and John H. Robb.

Council To Hear Ellis

Dr. John Ellis, superintendent of Columbus public schools will be the main speaker when the Columbus Council of PTA's begins the year Sept. 14 at the Central High Auditorium.

Registration will begin at 7:45 p.m. The meeting will begin at 1:15 p.m.

The officers of the Council for 1972-3 are Mrs. Fred Witt, president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, first vice president; Mr. John Wilherin, second vice president; Mrs. Donald Boehm, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clarice Cloud, treasurer.

Approximately 170 local PTA units in the Columbus public school system belong to the Council.

E-M City's 'Team-To-Beat' (Again)

Bob Stuart, Eastmoor's super-successful grid skipper, has opened so many football seasons with an albatross around his neck that rival coaches have nicknamed him The Ancient Mariner.

By virtually a unanimous vote of the rest of the City League, Stuart's Warriors are the pre-season "team to beat" for about the fifth straight year. And why not, you may ask–after all they do have 10 starters back from a 9-1 '71 club that routed Linden for the City Championship.

AND LOOK AT some of the guys they've got returning: third year smoothie QB Mark Kraker, slasher "I-Back" Ray Griffin, a pair of 230 pound two-way tackles named Ron Ayers and Jon Williams...

"Yeah," agrees coach Stuart. "All we gotta do is replace Archie Griffin's 1,800 yards worth of offense and 17 touchdowns, then look for six new kids in the defensive secondary."

ADD IN a pair of graduated offensive guards and a missing center, and you can see that Stu isn't exactly lacking for holes to fill.

"Right now we just don't know what we can do with the people on hand," said Bob. "Archie carried the ball on about half of our offensive snaps last year, so you can see that some big adjustments have to be made."

It's for sure that Kraker, the classy 5-11, 175 pound field general, will be called upon to show off his elusive running style a lot more often than he was last season.

DITTO FOR Ray Griffin, a cat-quick 175 pounder who provided the outside complement to brother Archie's inside gallops.

The youngster on whom a lot of the '72 running chores will fall is Duane Howard–a frequent starter at wingback last year who has really impressed the Warrior coaching staff with his added speed and power in pre-season drills.

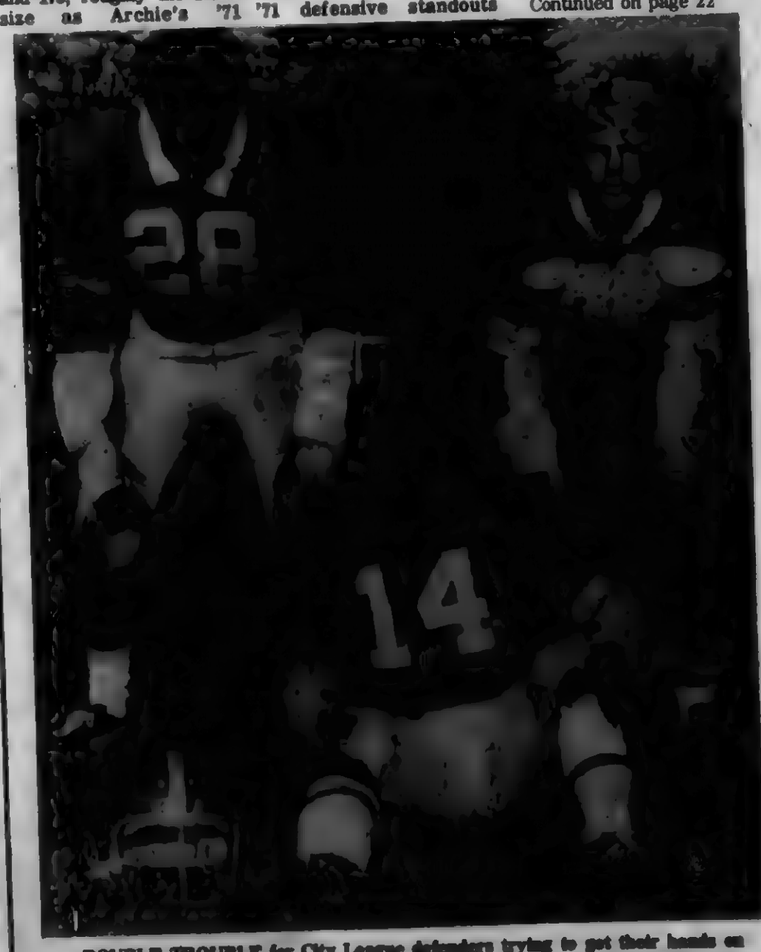
Howard is a sturdy 5-10 and 175, roughly the same size as Archie's '71 understudy, Chuck Hunter, who'll take over at fullback.

RETURNING starters Monty Hannah (5-1, 170) and George Haenszel (6-1, 185) will provide seasoned talent at split end and tight end respectively; and Stu rates both as excellent targets for the strong-armed Mr. Kraker.

Tackles Ayers and Williams, both 5-3 or better and around 230, are probably the toughest matched set in town–and depending on the progress of some younger candidates, will be on the field from kickoff till closing time.

The vacated guard spots will be occupied by junior Rick Gawronski (6-1, 195) and '71 sub Dennis Blunt (5-10, 170); while the center assignment is currently held by senior Jack McKelvey-reportably the last of that illustrious Warrior sports clan.

Considering the number of '71 defensive standouts missing from this year's lineup, Stuart reported he has been "delighted" with the play of his defenders so far.



The line is rock-solid with vets Raliegh Callion and Bill Mullins at the ends, Ayers and Williams (at least for now) at the tackles. Mullins goes 6-2 and 190, while Callion is a strong 175–giving the Warriors about a 205 per man average up front.

HAENSZEL IS slated for two-way duty, moving to one corner on defense, and returning standout John Jones (5-11, 180) will more than take care of the other.

Inside linebacking chores, where the Warriors were strongest last year, fall to junior strongboy Rick Meindl (6-1, 210) and senior Mike Easley (5-10, 165). Bob was especially high on the performance of the corner men and backers in the first few contact sessions.

Hannah, who lettered at

DOUBLE TROUBLE for City League defenders trying to get their hands on another fleet, powerful stable of Eastmoor backs will be provided by this king-sized set of Warrior tackles this fall. Opening holes for E-M runners will be Ron Ayers (left) and Jon Williams–each measuring 6-4 and 230 lbs. Providing nice contrast in the foreground is Warrior linebacker Paul Lewis at 155 lbs.

Hawks Thin, Backs Can Ramble

HAWK 'PUNCH' -- Jack Ryan's Hartley back field of recent seasons have been known for their explosive speed and pile-driving punch. 1972 doesn't appear to be any different with fleet-footed halfback Tim Cunningham (at left above) burning up the outside grass and hard-charging fullback Chip Jakeway (taking handoff from Hawk QB Scott Williams) doing the bulk of inside damage.

Hawk mentor Jack Ryan returns for his 33rd autumn of this sort of thing, still looking for a first CCL crown since moving over from St. Charles.

His clubs have been one win away in each of the past two seasons, but dropped heartbreakers to Watterson in '70 and Wehrle in last season's finale to fall inches short.

MISSING FROM that unit (which was only 4-6 overall), are a healthy number of linemen, quarterback Pat Turbett and Notre Dame-bound racehorse Art Best.

Declining enrollment has put a crimp in Jack's rebuilding plans, but he still has some impressive talent (if not much depth) with which to resume the search for a CCL crown.

His trump cards are piledriver Chip Jakeway (6-1, 210) at fullback and elusive Tim Cunningham (5-10, 175) in the backfield. Both are three-year vets who've already raised havoc with enemy defenses.

JUNIOR Scott Williams has moved up to take over the play-calling chores--he lettered as a sub in '71.

Having missed connections with the busy Hawk head man, we can't do much more than run down his remaining list of vets.

He'll have a pair of seasoned defensive ends in camp: 195 pound John Marin and Brian Bernhard (5-10, 160). Then there are two standouts off last year's offensive blocking wall, tackle Tony Susi (5-11, 210) and guard Fritz Ritter (5-10, 170).

ONLY OTHER starters still around sturdy linebacker Paul Kegelmeyer (6-0, 180) and all-purpose defender Tim Cowgill (5-10, 160).

Speedster Ed Radcliff, up from the reserves, is reportedly raising some eyebrows at the other backfield spot. That would give Mr. Ryan the material for another strong running club.

QB Williams is a question mark passing-wise--and Hawk fortunes have suffered somewhat in past seasons from an inability to capitalize on defenses stacked up to smother the run.

OUR SPIES report that the Hawks gave Northland (CL North powerhouse) all it could handle in their first scrimmage, so maybe the "Silver Fox" has more up his sleeve than shows up on paper.

Tough Sked To Test Falcon Size, Savvy

With 13 veterans to build around, new Franklin Heights grid mentor Ed Lewis would seem to have pretty fair grounds for optimism. However, anyone who's known Ed very long knows that he'd groan while drawing one card to four aces.

Actually the deadpan Mr. Lewis does have a solid nucleus of experienced talent. He also has a schedule that's painful just to look at.

THE FALCONS open (as usual) against neighborhood rival Westland--who may just be the biggest surprise in the OCC. Then they hook up with perennial strongboy Grove City to complete the 'Southwest Series', and a week later open their Metro League campaign against always-rugged West Jefferson.

The rest of the Metro looks improved too, and to keep things interesting the Falcons will add Bexley to their non-loop schedule this season-just in time to face the toughest Lion squad in 20 years.

In the face of that kind of competition, Lewis was (for him) downright cheerful about Heights' prospects.

"WE'VE GOT A bunch of fine football players in the making," he ventured, "I really don't know how good we are right now--but we'll give somebody his lumps before it's all over."

Lewis, who takes over the Falcon grid reins from veteran Bob LeBeau after many years as head baseball coach and football assistant, ran down an impressive list of returnees.

"On the offensive line we've got lettermen at center (Ron Carr, 6-0, 197); both guards (Steve Gobel, 165 and Dave Stephens, 160); at one tackle (Dave Seipel, 185) and at tight end (Mike Ames, 6-0 and 180)," he said.

THREE OF this year's Falcon running backs will also be familiar faces for opponents: fullback Gary Jones (beefed up to a solid 6-2, 185); and halfbacks Bernie Dawkins (6-2, 180) and Cabel Jones (5-9 speedster at 165).

Right now, however, C. Jones is getting quite a battle for his starting job from (are you ready) FRESHMAN Perry Belcastro. If that last name sounds familiar, it's because the 5-10, 165 pound ninth-grader was a standout in '70 and '71 with the Westgate Hawks little league club.

At the controls of Lewis' Wishbone T offense will be sophomore Hal Thompson. At 5-10 and 140 he's hardly big, but Ed voiced a great deal of confidence in the youngster's ability to take charge.

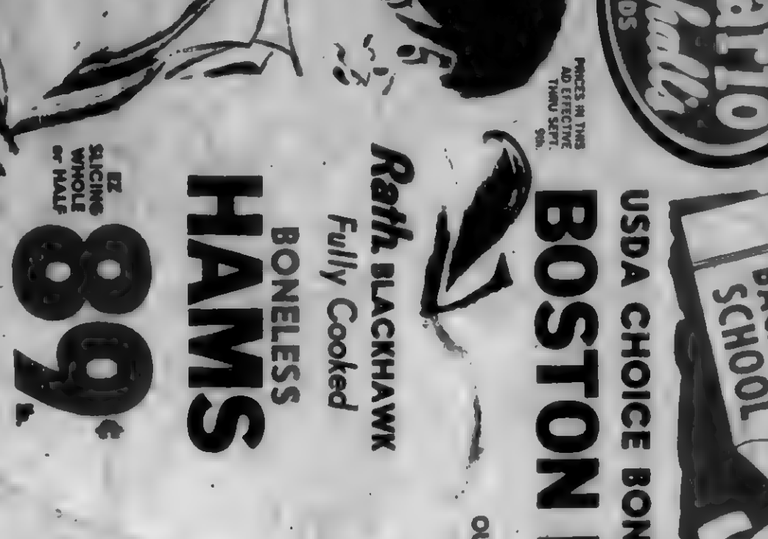
"HE'S A SMART, hard-nosed kid," said Lewis of his signal-caller; "Hal's already learned plenty about how to run that triple-option, and he's got the desire to keep working till it's perfect."

Ed has decided to go exclusively with the Wishbone this year--and he says it'll be "pure" triple option football (no pre-determined ball carrier on any snap; the QB reads the defense then reacts by handing off to the fullback inside, keeping the ball or pitching to the trailing halfback.)

Traditionally a tough defensive club, the Falcons should be rough to move against again this year--and they've got more size than any Heights club in recent memory.

200 POUND "nose man" Steve Ballard and 210 pound tackle Dennis Linley--both starters in '71--will anchor Lewis' front wall; and they'll be joined by All-Metro end John Young (6-0, 185).

At 5-10 and 230, soph Fred Kendrick figures to hold down the other tackle spot; and classmate Gary Jordan is the current frontrunner for the other starting end assignment.



Fullback Jones will be returning at "monster man" in the F-H 5-2 setup, with vets Tim Matheny and Dave Bowling (both 185) filling the other lineback holes capably.

THE SECONDARY looks to be the only serious Falcon question mark.

Dawkins will return at one corner, and Lewis rates him a "superb" tackler--but the other two deep spots will be handled by inexperienced newcomers. Soph Jack Sims (6-0, 150) has the toughest job as free safety with junior Bill Oliver (5-7, 150) at the other [illegible].

The going may be a little rough early, with QB Thompson learning the ropes against top-rate competition. But a win over West Jeff in the Metro opener might set up a late-season confrontation between the Falcons and favorite Dublin for all the loop marbles.

IF QB THOMPSON can gain enough skill and confidence as a soph, Mr. Lewis may have a real powerhouse on his hands over the next several seasons; because this year's tenth-grade crop looks like the best-ever.

SIZE IN "THE NEST" -- King-sized football players haven't exactly been "in style" at Franklin Heights over the past several seasons but things are a bit different this season. Providing some much welcomed beef to the Falcon forward this fall will be (from left) 5-10, 230-lb. defensive tackle Fred Kendrick, 6-2, 195-lb. linebacker Tim Matheny, 5-10, 210-lb. defensive tackle Dennis Linley and 6-0, 175-lb. defensive end John Young. Providing "contrast" for the big Falcons in the foreground is 5-7, 135-lb. Rod Neal, whose lack of girth isn't expected to prevent him from seeing his share of action at middle guard.

Board Narrows Site Selections

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon hour.

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the hunch hour.

He said another solution might be either using adult volunteers from the neighborhood to watch the crossing during that period or suggested that the parents might want to investigate contracting a bus.

"This was done by some parents in the vicinity of Edwards Elementary," Williams said.

HE SAID HE had no idea of the cost but did know someone who did this type of work and said the school would be glad to put the parents in touch with the right party.

Williams said most of the elementary sites were selected so that the maximum number of students could walk to school.

"They live over one mile. There are many areas such as the Westport one where the distance is just under a mile and if we provide service to one we would have to provide it to all the areas."

He said he did not think the district could afford to do this.

FOR OCC TITLE DEFENSE

Cards Have Throttle 'Wide Open'

17 (that's right folks, 17) three-year varsity football performers departed the Worthington High campus via the cap-and-gown route this June. They left their younger compatriots and grid skipper Smokey Wion with some kinda tough act to follow.

Powered by that hefty corps of senior standouts, the '71 Cardinals merely rolled to a perfect 7-0 league season and the OCC title (losing only to Upper Arlington in an 8-1 overall campaign).

REMEMBERING THE arsenal of seasoned vets who greeted him last August, Smokey must have felt a bit lonely when drills opened a couple of weeks ago and only 10 lettermen (four of 'em '71 starters) said "howdy."

"You just don't replace a bunch of kids like those overnight," said Wion. "We face a gigantic rebuilding job just about everywhere; and I don't think the other guys in our league are gonna be nice enough to give us a lot of time."

When the Cards kick off '72 action at Brookhaven Friday night, they'll probably have on "vet" in the offensive backfield--6-2, 205 pound fullback Larry Blackburn. Larry was ticketed for starting duties last year, but a combination of injuries and the strong play of John McConnell held him to 39 carries for the year.

RANDY VOSLER (5-10, 180) looks like the top candidate for the "Z-Back" assignment. He was a Worthington starter last year, but at linebacker (where he'll hold forth again this fall).

Then there's the guy who brings a sparkle to Smokey's eye, and worried looks elsewhere around the league. He's a 5-8, 140 pound bolt of lightning named John Madry who ran the hundred around :09.9 last Sprjng as a sophomore.

"If the other coaches will give Madry a little running room, we won't put a number on his jersey," said a tongue-in-cheek Wion: "We'll just put 'Hello' on his front and 'Goodbye' on his back."

WITH A PRETTY fair mixture of power and speed from his three top running backs, Wion is trying to choose between a couple of promising QB prospects. Senior Scott Simcox and junior Tim Crandall are about the same size (5-11, 160), and Smokey described both as "slippery-type runners with better than average passing ability."

Whichever of that duo grabs the opening night assignment will have what Smokey considers a fine stable of receivers to aim at. Seniors Steve Kraus and Dan Wilmuth (both around 6-3 and 185) are locked up in a personal duel for the split end spot--and Wion figures he can't lose on the deal. "They've both got great speed and fine hands," he noted"a lot of long gain and scoring potential."

'71 STARTER Karl Schneider (6-2, 190) is back to play tight end, backed up by Jeff Teach and John Humphries. Considering that both Vosler and Madry are dangerous receivers coming out of the backfield, Worthington would seem to have a wealth of aerial potential.

Larry Zingarelli, a standout offensive tackle and linebacker last year, returns at a rugged 6-2 and 210 to moor the Card blocking wall.

A trio of 190 pounders are in hot pursuit of the other tackle berth. Right now it looks like 6-3 Andy Henle has the nod from Wion--other candidates are Jon Bodnyk and Doug Burkhart.

THE GUARD picture includes George Morrison (6-3, 185), Mark Iannarino (5-11, 165), Scott McLean (6-0, 195) and John Douglas (5-9, 160). Senior Joe Dildine will start at center, he's 6-2 and weighs 170.

Junior Dave Alban and senior Steve Wood look like the top backfield subs, with Craig Chambers and Pete Kight backing up Madry.

The defensive front will feature many of the above-mentioned people in various combinations, along with move-in Jeff Kline at one corner and returning vet Monahan (6-1, 190) at middle guard in Wions 5-2 "Oklahoma" set.

THREE SENIORS look like the best bets for Worthington's deep secondary: Rick Frost, Craig Cooper and Carl Juckett.

Other than the obvious difference in seasoning, Smokey figured this year's Card offense should be considerably more explosive than the puzzlingly inconsistent '71 group.

"For all the talent and experience we had last year, it was defense and a couple big plays that on the championship for us," he observed. "This year we'd like to see the band earn it's keep--you know, nothin's more fun than listening to those kids play the fight song after a touchdown.

THE CARDS have been rated behind veteran-studded Delaware and Westerville by most league observers. With this year's "wide open" offense still untested, they're a talented question mark.

But if either quarterback can get his passing game sharpened, and Mr. Madry finds the daylight to get his wheels rolling, Smokey's crew might say 'Goodbye' to one OCC crown and 'Hello' to another.

FLYIN' HIGH – No, it's not a bird or a plane ... or Superman (despite what some OCC grid coaches might be saying). Pictured above is John Madry, 5-8, 140-lb. Worthington running back who coach Smokey Wion hopes will be flyin' high for Cardinal points this fall. Madry's speed is underlined by his 9.9 100-dash clocking on the Cardinal oval last spring. Elected Kiwanis President

Franklin A. Kropp, 2440 Berwick Blvd., has been elected President of the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Columbus, effective October 1, 1972.

Kropp is executive secretary of the Police & Firemen's Disability and Pension Fund of Ohio, an organization created by the Ohio General Assembly in 1925 now serving 30,000 Ohio police, firefighters and their survivors.

Kropp, a life-long resident of Columbus, will be the 50th President of the 315-member business and professional men's service organization chartered in 1916.

He serves on the board of directors of The University Club of Columbus and of Blue Cross of Central Ohio; and is an elder in Brookwood Presbyterian Church.

Other newly elected officers of Downtown Kiwanis are: Richard M. Locke, 1st vice president; K. E. Hopkins, 2nd vice president; Kenneth C. Evans, treasurer; and Bernard E. Savey, Circleville, secretary.

New trustees for 1972-73 are: H. Stanton Condit; William H. Haire; Robert D. Hays; F. Dwight Parsons; and John H. Robb.

Council To Hear Ellis

Dr. John Ellis, superintendent of Columbus public schools will be the main speaker when the Columbus Council of PTA's begins the year Sept. 14 at the Central High Auditorium.

Registration will begin at 12:45 p.m. The meeting will begin at 1:15 p.m.

The officers of the Council for 1972-3 are Mrs. Fred DeWitt, president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, first vice president; Mr. John Sulherin, second vice president; Mrs. Donald Troehm, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clarice McCloud, treasurer.

Approximately 170 local PTA units in the Columbus public school system belong to the Council.

Number 2 In '71; Scots Ambitious

Vince Cahill's list of 13 returnees, all of whom started at least one game last year, looks pretty impressive. It is; but not as impressive as the roster of June grads from the fine 6-3 Scot club that finished second to Eastmoor in '71.

Consider the conspicuous absence of cagey QB Andy Banas--the guy who made Vince's Wishbone T roll. Then there's leading scorer and ground-gainer Ron Gorman, also departed from the offense along with center Mark McEvoy, both guards and tight end Craig Bentley.

"WE AREN'T 'fudging' on the list of returnees," said Cahill, "every one of the kids we listed did start last year--but quite a few of 'em did so when the regular starter was hurt." While admitting that parttime '71 service might not be a guarantee of '72 poise, Mr. C was far from pessimistic about Scot prospects to challenge for the CL South crown.

His prime reason for smiling is a starting backfield that's solid with talent and experience.

Fullback Matt Guttman averaged 4.7 yards per carry as a soph last year. Vince reports that the 5-10 blaster is ten pounds heavier at 195, and an astonishing four-tenths quicker in the 40 yard dash after working hard on fast starts this summer.

JOINING HIM at the running back spots will be seniors Dave Oancea and Ben Chalfant, both around 170 and seasoned vets. In fact the speedy Scot duo averaged better than five yards per rushing attempt as juniors.

Senior Greg Wray has, at least temporarily, wrested the starting QB job away from junior Gary Giolia (bothered by tonsilitis.)

At 5-11 and 180, Wray isn't as agile a runner as the willowy lineman--but he has a lot more straight-ahead power than the '71 signal-caller and has proved his durability under some teeth rattling contact in early scrimmages.

"WE THINK Gattman is a much improved ball carrier," said Vince--"and Oancea and Chalfant have been impressive too. Wray and Giola have both come a long way as Wishbone quarterbacks, and with continued progress this should be one fine backfield."

Burly tackle Dave Wensloff (6-3, 232) returns to anchor one side of the offensive line, and he'll have a sizeable sidekick if 6-0, 225 pound Al Dolder holds on to the other tackle spot.

Senior Jim Hackbarth (5-11, 180) played second fiddle to All City Center Mark McEvoy last year, but has been "outstanding" in practice to solve one of the remaining up-front problems.

SENIOR Kent Williams and junior Dave Moore are the current frontrunners in a scramble to fill the vacated starting guard assignments--and again Cahill has been "very pleased" with the early showing of these relative newcomers. Williams goes 5-8 and 165, Moore checks in at 5-11 and 180.

Three-year letterman Kevin McCray should provide a solid pass-catching threat at split end, and has the speed to go places if he breaks clean. Senior Bill Davis (6-0, 165) looks like the inheritor of tight end duties.

Vince listed Rick Lake as his top interior line sub, and mentioned junior George Snyder as number one fill-in at either halfback or fullback.

WALNUT RIDGE defenses, under the tutelage of Jack Stephenson, have been among the very best over the past several campaigns.

Missing from last year's standout group, however, are the entire deep secondary and three of four linebackers--not to mention 240 pound tackle Bill Kauts.

As with the offensive line, nevertheless, coach Cahill thinks the Scots have the talent to make up for graduation losses.

SENIORS Ken Levine (5-11, 200) and Leonard Temple (6-6, 210) are the starting tackles right now, with competition from Eric Zoog and Chuck Mohler (both 205).

Three-year standout Dick Meyer is a fixture at one end spot and Don Sievert seems to have staked his claim on the other. Neither is exceptionally big, but Vince figures both have the moves and muscle to hamstring opposition sweeps and options.

He was also very high on the linebacking foursome of insiders Kevin Glenn and Steve Landry and corner men Steve Winslow and Mike Woodburn. Winslow and Woodburn saw enough '71 action to letter as sophomores.

ONLY REAL problem, according to Vince, will be deep defense.

With no vets returning, the three secondary spots are up for grabs between six people, all around 5-9 and 150. They are seniors Ken Corbin (only letterman of the group), Gus McKinley and Jim Gaul, and juniors Jack Stephenson, Mike Nickles and Bob Cole.

Vince figures his running game and defensive "front eight" are solid, with the pass (both throwing and defending against) a question mark at the moment.

HE JOINED the chorus of CL South coaches tabbing defending king Eastmoor as the team to beat, but was less awed by the Warriors than many. "Bob (Stuart) lost a lot of kids from that great club of last year," he noted; "and nobody's going to fill Archie Griffin's shoes real soon."

The Scot mentor listed his own club as a solid contender along with vet-rich Marion-Franklin and perennial menace West.

"It boils down to who can beat Eastmoor and hold off the other guys," he summed up. That sounds like a pretty good fall's work.

MAKING SURE enemy ballcarriers don't stray far past the line of scrimmage--will be the top assignment for this quartet of Walnut Ridge defenders this fall. Board Narrows Site Selections

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon hour.

She said there are no crossing guards at that point. ...ildren ...ugh to ...e said ... other ...d was ...ren to ...tion.

...AINED ... had to ...ly for ...udents ... miles

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the lunch hour.

He said another solution might be either using adult volunteers from the neighborhood to watch the crossing during that period or suggested that the parents might want to investigate contracting a bus.

"This was done by some parents in the vicinity of Edwards Elementary," Williams said.

HE SAID HE had no idea of the cost but did know someone who did this type of work and said the school would be glad to put the parents in touch with the right party.

Williams said most of the elementary sites were selected so that the maximum number of students could walk to school.

Vet Ranks Thin For G-P Title Re-Bid

The Groveport High "Class of '72" was one of those groups every football coach dreams about--a bunch of talented athletes who come along at the same time, develop skill and confidence as sophomore and junior regulars, then blossom into a championship unit as seniors.

Cruiser grid boss Bob Starr presided over such a standout senior class last fall as it rolled to an 8-1 season slate and the Mid Eight crown. But this is a new season, and the "Rebuilding" sign is out front.

"NO DOUBT about it," said Starr, "last year's group was our best-ever and they left some mighty big holes to fill--but I'm real encouraged about some of the young kids we've got coming up."

To be more specific about the rebuilding job at hand, G-P has a grand total of six '71 letter-winners returning--only two of whom were regulars on the title team.

Senior halfback Rob Moore is one, and according to Starr he'll be carrying a big chunk of the Cruiser "Wishbone" running load this fall.

THE 5-10, 175 pound slasher averaged a healthy 7.2 yards per carry last time around, and rates as the top returning ground gainer in the Mid Eight. However it's worth noting that Moore will be the main attraction for enemy defenses this year, whereas he shared the spotlight with All-State workhouse Pat Carte in '71.

"We feel that Rob is ready to improve on last year's figures," said Starr.

Since quarterback is the single most important position in any Wishbone offense, a lot of pressure will fall on the rangy shoulders of junior Ken Law--Starr's choice to succeed three-year standout Mark Green as the Cruiser field general.

AT 6-2 AND 170, Law will be a distinct change from the diminutive Green; but Bob was high on his promise as a successor.

"He's a heady kid who learns fast," offered the G-P boss. "He's already doing a good job running the Wishbone, and gettin' better by the day." Bob also rated Law "a fine passer."

Taking over the fullback chores awesomely by Carte last year will be either Tom Pollitt (5-9, 175) or Dan Ball (5-10, 185). Since Pollitt is a key returnee off last year's defensive unit, the hard-running Ball looks like Number One right now.

BATTLING FOR the other running back spot are juniors Jeff Baker and Bob Butler. Baker is the bigger of the two at 5-10 and 170, but Starr was impressed with the 145 pound Butler's potential as a speedback.

Tight end Don Montgomery (6-1, 180) was a standout regular last year as a sophomore--but that's where Starr's blocking wall runs out of vets.

At 5-10 and 240, junior Craig Ottman will add some impressive beef at one tackle spot while Starr's pick as his runningmate is 185 pounder Rick Harper. Soph Ken Bowman has been impressive enough in practice to claim one starting guard assignment while 200 pound classmate Tom Faella and junior Garrett Boyer are dueling for the other spot.

THE CENTER JOB is up for grabs between a pair of 180 pounders-- soph Dale Amyx and junior Tremy Kiser.

With that kind of muscle up front, experience or no experience, the Cruisers should move the ball on the ground--especially if Moore can match last year's form and Law comes along rapidly.

Starr also feels that he has talented receivers in senior lettermen Alan Kunz and Scott Lockett who should add versatility to the offense at split end.

IT WAS DEFENSE, however, that really ...marked the Groveport rise to power in '70 and '71--and this year's version will rely on quite a few inexperienced performers.

Sophomore Steve Groves will get the nod at one defensive end, and either offensive regular Montgomery or 180-pounder Jim Sheefer will start on th... other side. "WICKLINE WAS a fine offensive tackle last year," noted Dick. "He's got pretty good speed and plenty of muscle, and we're been impressed with his progress at fullback so far."

Senior Neil Fear (5-10, 170) is the other 12th grader in Kerschbaum's projected starting backfield. It's Neil's first year out for football, but Dick figures he has the natural running talent to become a steady performer by mid-season.

Mike Orwin, a 6-0, 171 pound junior up from the reserves, will step into a big pair of shoes at quarterback. Jeff Wade currently holds down one tackle assignment and blocky Jerome Mack (6-3, 180) is at the other.

JUNIOR Dave Martin (6-1, 160) will be Nole's running-mate at guard and classmate Dave Dairo (5-10, 160) has the starting center nod.

That leaves a pair of 11th grade ends whom Kerschbaum feels will be valuable contributors to the Raider '72 point total.

"We've got Dan Starling at tight end and Bob Beasley at split end," he said. "I rate them really good receivers right now, and a little varsity competition sure won't hurt their program."

AS YOU CAN see from the list of prospective starters, Kerschbaum has placed the emphasis on building with his youngsters (seven juniors and a soph on the first-team offense).

Dick considered it an advantage to bring his new system to town at a time when so many positions are unfilled by returnees—simply because it's a lot easier to train a relative beginner than it is to "re-train" someone who's already learned a different procedure.

As for the Raider victory draught (Reynoldsburg hasn't won a league game since October, 1968), the new gridstripper was cautiously optimistic.

"IF EFFORT means anything, we'll bring home a couple," he offered. "We never heard of any losing streak; this club just works like crazy and looks ahead—one week at a time."

The OCC is a tough place to call one's football turf—with burly characters like Delaware and Worthington hard times recently; and the Westerville prowling fates may have an unexpected bonus or two in store for Kerschbaum and Warrior tallback Ray Griffin. The pair figure to give O.L. veteran Bob Stuart a hard nut as yet another league grid title foil.

COACHES who will lead the Raiders during the 1972 season are: (kneeling) Doug Welsh, head coach Dick Kerschbaum and Phil Kiser. Standing are Vic Dorion (the only holdover from the 1971 staff) and Joe Jamison.

Eastmoor . . .

ately last year will carry those duties with junior Pete Cimmino, while the halfback jobs should go to Brian Johnson and transfer Tom Harrod, a pair of promising 10 pounders.

Overall, Stuart sees his defense as "another hard boiled outfit," but was less willing to rate the offense.

"Right now, people are thinking they can gang up on Kraker and Raymond (Griffin)," he speculated. "I think the Howard kid is gonna make 'em think twice about that."

The E-M attack could hardly be as overwhelming as last year's—'cause there ain't too many folks around who can motor like Archie Cimmino could motor. However Kraker kept his considerable talents pretty much under wraps in '71, and his combination of slippery running and deadeye passing could be a double-dyed headache for opponents.

With Ridge, West and Marion-Franklin dropped (which mauled Central), O.C. South warfare could be pretty nervous this time around. But we'll hang our allegiance on the, just out of is the only hands left to clear.

One thing's for certain, however. Whoever wants the Catholic throne this year is gonna have to deal with the strongest Watterson contingent since Ron Shay's unbeaten '69 group.

WHETHER a thin line of talented vets can pull that off is the question of the year in Hartland.

It's a cinch Ryan, nearing retirement, would love nothing better than to go out on top. Considering that his '71 club finally broke the 13-year Watterson jinx, Jack may figure that elusive title

Westland: '72 OCC 'Dark Horse'?

Don Elavsky took over the Westland High football reins last year with a tough act to follow.

His predecessor, Howard Millisor, had taken a transplanted group of seniors from Pleasant View in '70 and piloted them to the OCC title and near-perfect record in the school's first year of existence.

AFTER A SUPER start, the '71 Cougars found themselves outsized and two inexperienced to handle league powers like Worthington and Gahanna—but gained lots of in-game seasoning en route to a creditable 4-6 "rebuilding" slate.

Now those youngsters are back, 15 strong, as battle-tested vets. A number of them have added some beef too—and Don figures they have a "decent shot" at upsetting the pre-season prognosticators who pick Delaware and Westerville to rule the Ohio Cap roost.

"With the number of key people we've got returning, and the kind of size we need in the league—I just gotta be optimistic," said the young Cougar boss last week.

A LOOK AT the roster of vets helps explain why.

The offensive backfield that started in most '71 contests returns intact, headed by rangy QB Morris Daily (6-2, 192).

"Morris took his lumps last year," said Elavsky, "but he's bigger and smarter and more poised now—and we think his passing and running will be a big part of our attack."

AT SIX FEET even and 205, burly Mark Hall should provide just the power-running punch from his fullback spot to complement Daily's sweeps and sprint-outs.

Then there are a pair of solid halfbacks to consider; returning starters Jeff Mitton (5-10, 165) and Tom Rice (5-8, 157). Rice, who won the State 'AAA" pole vault gold medal as a sophomore last Spring, also came up with a few breakaway TD runs on the gridiron—he'll be the most consistent big-play threat.

If an all-veteran backfield sounds pretty good, consider this list of other Cougar senior letterman who'll be back in harness for Friday's opener against Franklin Heights: Tom Wilson (5-7, 150—OHB, DHB); Joe Moore (6-0, 195—OC, DT); Gary Lee (6-0, 183—OE, DE); Ron Derby (5-7, 155—OG, LB); Mark Maier (5-10, 170—OHB, DHB).

EVERY ONE of the preceding players either started or saw plenty of game action last season.

And if you still need convincing, Don has six more junior letter-winners returning—three of whom were good enough to start last year. Of that group, 175-pounders Greg Luckenbill and Gary Hoyle were the regular Cougar guards in '71, and Mark Johnson (5-8, 162) was a first team defensive back.

Center Burt Smith (5-9, 200), corner man Mike Davis (165) and split end Dave Wandrey (5-11, 170) all earned monograms last time around, and could move up to first-team status by opening night too, according to Elavsky.

DON SAID he plans to go 'both ways' with many of his vets—at least at the beginning of the year—but was very high on a number of sophomores (76 tenth-graders answered the first call!) who may well relieve the upperclassmen of that load by mid-season.

Elavsky rated both his offensive and defensive backfields "strong," and was pleased with the enthusiasm and progress of his mostly-veteran defensive line and linebacking corps.

Only "problem area" he could find was at offensive tackle—where '71 standouts Doug Ellars and Fred Reiser (both graduated) held forth. "I think we'll be O.K. there too by opening night," offered the Cougar boss—"Heights should be a real good test, 'cause they're always tough to run against."

IN ANOTHER YEAR, a team with Westland's credentials would have to rate considerable attention in the OCC title picture—but this is '72 and at least two clubs have even more experienced talent returning than do the Cougars.

"The league is gonna be murder this year," acknowledged Elavsky. "Delaware has 17 of last year's top 22 back, Westerville's got almost as many lettermen and a great quarterback (Steve Wohlert), you know Worthington will score a lot of points with that Madry kid (:09.8 sprinter John)—and Gahanna has key people back for Neal (Billman) to run his power game with....."

In short, the Cougars look like a fine ballclub; but they'll need to pull off at least two bona fide "big upsets" by midseason—just to stay in the running.

"TO WIN IT, we'll need to make the big plays and come up with near-perfect ballgames when it counts," said Don. "But we've got a lot of talent, and our attitude has been just great so far—morale and that 'will to win' may just make the difference."

As an assistant under Millisor, Don remembers the '70 success story very well. Nobody thought much of Westland that time either.

INEXPERIENCE WON'T be a problem on the defensive side this season at Westland where no less than 10 seasoned vets return for action. Cougar defenders above include (front, from left): Mark Hall, Burt Smith, Greg Luckenbill, Joe Moore and Gary Lee. Standing: Tom Wilson, Mark Johnson, Mark Maier, Steve Davis and Gary Hoyle.

Bronc Hopes . . . .

see action back there, quite likely along with Ron Williams and flashy sophomore Tom Biggers.

Dave listed the Cowboy "plusses" as fine backfield speed and the best overall size since West's OC City Championship club. He also cited the current group as "a real aggressive bunch," and was hopeful that the combination of muscle and hustle might overcome a lack of seasoning.

HE JOINED everyone else around the South Division by picking Eastmoor as the obvious "team to beat"—but was also impressed with Walnut Ridge and Marion-Franklin's long lists of returning '71 starters.

As they have the past two seasons, the Bronco will open official Division play with (you guessed it) Eastmoor on Sept. 22.

In '70 and '71 the Warriors West title hopes before they got off the ground. This year Koblentz' crew will open against a much-improved Westland squad, then hook up with OCC favorite Delaware before the defending City kings come to Magly Field.

IF THE COWBOY youngsters can develop enough poise and confidence in those first two test, they've got the speed and size to turn the tables.

Vol VX No. 1 Total 826 Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday September 13, 1972

Paul W. Tibbets At Hiroshima

'It Was A Big Bang And Looked Good'

By Ray Adams

"Given the same set of circumstances, I wouldn't hesitate a damn minute!"

That sums up Paul W. Tibbets' reaction when asked the expectant question: "Would you undertake the same mission again?"

Paul W. Tibbets (Brig. Gen. U.S.A.F. Ret.) was not only the man who piloted the Eola Gay and dropped the A-bomb on Hiroshima Japan - he was the bomb.

TIBBETS spoke last Saturday to a gathering of the Columbus Chapter 265 Air Force Association at the group's silver anniversary awards banquet at the Officers Club at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

It was a rare occasion for those in attendance since Tibbets has not ventured out on the speakers' platform but a few times since that 1945 devastation.

He has not written a biography. His only exploit into the media was as a technical assistant in the film "Above and Beyond" where the late Robert Taylor portrayed him in a story of the A-bomb drop.

HE DID admit last week that he has given an unnamed writer a group of tapes of many of his conversations that someday might - just might but not for certain - become a book for the record.

Tibbets spoke to the group, he noted, to clear up any erroneous impressions they may have gathered from bits of newspaper writings that have floated around for 25 years.

He remembers well. He had to. Nothing could be written down for fear the enemy would gather it up for another purpose.

This, he also noted, resulted in the Air Force being the only unit assigned to the Manhattan Project where security leaks did not become a fact.

"I WAS 29 years old at the time I started on the project. My mission was to unify an Air Force unit that could complete the mission with utmost secrecy and then exactness."

He feels the mission was not one of chance but definitely planned - then carefully detailed and executed.

He recalls that he feels he was picked for the mission because he got started early in the European Theatre of Operations on bombers and knew them inside and out and what would be needed to fulfill such a mission.

HE ALSO said he had 1000 hours of flying time in the Boeing B-29 and more knowledge of the plane (apparently) than any other pilot in the Air Force. The B-29 was the only plane available then that could possibly carry such a bomb load and return to base with a chance of success.

Tibbets recalled the tight security that existed at the base. "We made it clear that when a furlough was granted that no discussion was to be made of the group on base (the actual project was not even divulged to the Air Force personnel). We didn't want a breach of security. Then we gave furloughs to a group of men on base and planted agents at the bus stop and air terminal they would be using. Some broke their security breach and were isolated for a while and told another such incident could result in drastic measures.

CRACK crews were assembled for the mission.

There was much question of whether or not the bombing run should be made.

Some Air Force higher ups weren't sure it was necessary to use such a weapon to end the war. Some wanted to try it out on an isolated area so the Japanese would see the reaction and be given the opportunity to surrender. Some, thought, however, that in such a case a "dud" would have discredited the program.

The Air Force unit created by Tibbets had been able to gain a little complacency from the Japanese by flying solo and sometimes in flights of two or three in the general target area without dropping anything.

Tibbets vividly recalls the appearance of the bomb explosion.

"It was like the appearance you might get from a boiling barrel of tar."

The bomb was dropped at 32,000 feet. The war soon ended.

Why hasn't he recorded this event for historians to mullover in years to come?

"I'M NOT sure the average public would really be interested." There's much more to the story but perhaps - like his torians - I too, would rather wait to read it in full.

The shot heard round the world at Concord finally met its match.

Board Narrows Site Selections

Members of the Madison Local School Board Monday night approved the location of a new junior high school in the Blacklick Estates area and an elementary school in the Munk's Corner area.

Superintendent Philip Williams said that specific locations in these two areas would be decided on after the district had received appraisals on the land and reports from the architect.

HE ALSO said that they were not committed to building an elementary from this bond issue and might instead find it more feasible to just add on to existing buildings.

Williams said the approval by the board just meant that at some time another elementary school would be built in the Munk's Corner area.

He also pointed out that over 60 per cent of the junior high school age students came from the Blacklick Estates area and this was the reason this location was selected.

BOARD OFFICIALS expect to have more specific information on the school sites prior to the $3,380,000 bond issue on the November ballot.

In other action the board denied a request for school bus service from the Westport area to Glendening Elementary School.

A delegation of five mothers from the area were present at the meeting to make the request.

MRS. MARY Ann Williamson said the parents were especially concerned with the kindergarten children having to cross Groveport Road at the noon hour.

She said there are no crossing guards at that point.

"We feel that these children aren't responsible enough to cross here safely." She said she worked as did other mothers in the area and was unable to walk the children to and from the intersection.

WILLIAMS EXPLAINED that by law the district had to provide bus service only for those elementary students who lived over two miles from the schools.

"Our policy here has been to transport all students who live over one mile. There are many areas such as the Westport one where the distance is just under a mile and if we provide service to one we would have to provide it to all the areas."

He said he did not think the district could afford to do this.

WILLIAMS SAID possible solutions might be to have sixth grade students at the elementary school provide crossing patrols during the noon hour. Williams said though, that it was more difficult to get volunteers during the lunch hour.

He said another solution might be either using adult volunteers from the neighborhood to watch the crossing during that period or suggested that the parents might want to investigate contracting a bus.

"This was done by some parents in the vicinity of Edwards Elementary," Williams said.

HE SAID HE had no idea of the cost but did know someone who did this type of work and said the school would be glad to put the parents in touch with the right party.

Williams said most of the elementary sites were selected so that the maximum number of students could walk to school.

Area Mourns Slain

Nearly 1000 people participated in a Memorial Service for the martyred Israeli Olympic team members on Thursday evening Sept. 7 at Beth Jacob Synagogue.

The Columbus Board of Rabbis sponsored the service which was open to the entire community.

Rabbi Jerome D. Folkman, president of the Columbus Board of Rabbis, opened the program which included eulogies by Rabbis Samuel W. Rubenstein and Nathan Zeliser.

Among those in attendance in addition to members of the Jewish community were Mayor Tom Moody and other city officials, as well as representatives of the Metropolitan Area Church Board.

Expressions of sympathy and concern were displayed by Columbus leaders of all faiths. State and city flags were ordered flown at half mast.

Laurel Lea Schaefer To Wed John Lurie

Mrs. Charles J. Schaefer, 2435 Plymouth Avenue, Bexley, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Laurel Lea Schaefer, to Mr. John Miles Lurie, 666 Providence Avenue, Columbus. Miss Schaefer is also the daughter of the late Charles J. Schaefer.

The engagement announcement was made at Saturday night's Miss America Ball, in Atlantic City, New Jersey, shortly after the bride-elect ended her reign as Miss America, 1971.

Miss Schaefer is a 1971 graduate of Ohio University, where she received a degree in Theatre Arts, with special emphasis in vocal training. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority, the Society of Arts and Letters, and the American Association of University Women.

She is a recipient of the Tom Dooley Citizenship Award, and the Gold Plate Award for Outstanding Merit, from the American Academy of Achievement. Miss Schaefer was selected Miss Ohio in July, 1971, and garnered the Miss America Crown the following September. Miss Schaefer plans to continue a career in television and the performing arts.

Mr. Lurie is associated with Prime Properties, Inc., an Ohio-based Florida development firm. He is a 1968 Radio-Television graduate of Southern Illinois University, and a former employee of WLWC Television in Columbus.

He recently completed post-graduate work at Ohio State and Capital Universities, and plans to enter medical school in the coming year. Mr. Lurie is the son of Mrs. and the late Mr. Bernard Lurie of Metropolis, Illinois.

The evening wedding will be held December 30, at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church, Columbus.

Elected Kiwanis President

Franklin A. Kropp, 2449 Berwick Blvd., has been elected President of the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Columbus, effective October 1, 1972.

Kropp is executive secretary of the Police & Firemen's Disability and Pension Fund of Ohio, an organization created by the Ohio General Assembly in 1965 now serving 30,000 Ohio police, firefighters and their survivors.

Kropp, a life-long resident of Columbus, will be the 59th President of the 315-member business and professional men's service organization chartered in 1916.

He serves on the board of directors of The University Club of Columbus and of Blue Cross of Central Ohio; and is an elder in Brookwood Presbyterian Church.

Other newly elected officers of Downtown Kiwanis are: Richard M. Locke, 1st vice president; K. E. Hopkins, 2nd vice president; Kenneth C. Evans, treasurer; and Bernard E. Savey, Circleville, secretary.

New trustees for 1972-73 are: H. Stanton Condit; William H. Haire; Robert D. Hays; F. Dwight Persons; and John H. Robb.

Council To Hear Ellis

Dr. John Ellis, superintendent of Columbus public schools will be the main speaker when the Columbus Council of PTA's begins the year Sept. 14 at the Central High Auditorium.

Registration will begin at 12:45 p.m. The meeting will begin at 1:15 p.m.

The officers of the Council for 1972-3 are Mrs. Fred DeWitt, president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, first vice president; Mr. John Mulherin, second vice president; Mrs. Donald Broehm, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clarice McCloud, treasurer.

Approximately 170 local PTA units in the Columbus public school system belong to the Council.

Project Equality On Board Agenda

The Columbus Board of Education met Tuesday, September 12, at 4 p.m. as a Committee-of-the-Whole in the Education Center, 270 East State St.

The agenda included presentations concerning Project Equality and programs the school system provides for emotionally handicapped pupils.

Wade Franklin, III, director of Project Equality, was to propose that the Board employ the services of the project, a program to review employment practices of companies doing business with the school system as to whether the companies provide equal employment opportunities for minority groups.

ASSOCIATION PLANS PROTEST

Zoning Question Has East Residents Angry

East side residents and members of the Walnut Hill Park Civic Association will be attending next week's Columbus city council meeting in an attempt to stop the rezoning of a five acre tract on Livingston Avenue.

A spokesman for the civic association said the five acres are located on the south side of Livingston, about 1,000 feet west of Brice Road.

THE LAND IS zoned ARO which means as far as business is concerned only small office buildings may be put on the land.

The spokesman said the firm of Y.D.T. Inc. is attempting to have the land rezoned C-4 or C-5 which would mean that drive-in restaurants, car washes and gas stations could be built on the land.

The spokesman for the group of residents said that in 1969 the owners of the land and area residents had entered into an agreement or type of deed restriction to keep the land zoned ARO. He said the intention was that the agreement would be binding on future owners of the land also.

HE SAID the new owners disagreed and had taken the issue to the Development Commission which in turn decided for Y.D.T. Inc.

Their recommendation now goes before city council for action.

The spokesman said the residents were upset because the agreement made in 1969 had not been met and that they were now having to spend money on an attorney to fight the rezoning.

"WE OBJECT also because the businesses this zoning allows will change the whole character of the area in that we'll have businesses which stay open late and cater to transit traffic.

"We also object because there are already several large stores and shopping centers in the area."

He said that if the new businesses were allowed they would only be about 100 feet from the nearest homes.

"WE ARE afraid if this goes through other areas zoned residential will also be changed to commercial. It could be like the domino theory."

The association is being represented by James Bailey. There are approximately 140 homes in the association's boundaries.

"We have a very strong association and I know there will be a good turn out at the council meeting to protest any rezoning."

The spokesman said that if the rezoning is approved the association may decide to take the action to court based on the 1969 agreement.

"We hope that it won't be necessary and that council will decide in our favor."

Capital Enrolls Residents

Twelve area residents have enrolled as freshman at Capital University in Columbus.

They include: Janice Bagley, daughter of William P. Bagley of 2481 Sherwood Rd.; Sharon E. Backus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Backus of 1330 Simpson Dr; Darcel C. Farrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Farrow of 1327 Thurston Dr; Robin M. Herr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herr, of 2801 College Ave; Robin Rockey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rockey of 1293 College Ave; Kathy L. Schaaf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Schaaf, of 280 South Southampton Ave; Joseph Scheppi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Schleppi of 2907 Castlewood Rd.

David B. Tyack, son of Norman G. Tyack of 735 Montrose Ave; Brett W. Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Little of 1327 Manfield Dr; Stephen H. Pymer, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Robert Pymer of 299 S. Kellner Rd; Lance T. Platt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Platt of 1565 Garywood Ave; Susan J. Stumpp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stumpp of 646 Josephine Ave.

Fall semester classes began on the Capital campus Sept. 5. Although official enrollment figures will not be effective until Oct. 1, registration records so far show the largest enrollment in the university's 122-year history.

Slightly more than 2,400 students have signed up for first semester classes, including nearly 2,000 undergraduates and some 45 students enrolled in the law school.

Bexley Schedules Riding Courses

Three series of classes in various levels of horseback riding will be offered by the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department at the Far East Riding Club in Blacklick.

The fall series (10 weeks) begins on Sept. 19 with Horseback I and Sept. 21, Bareback I.

Classes meet from 4 to 5 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday and are limited to eight riders per group.

Cost of the program is $30 per series of ten lessons.

More experienced riders can register for the winter series beginning Jan. 9 and 11 which will feature Horseback II and Bareback II (and will be held indoors).

In the spring there will be another class for beginning riders (Horseback I) and also a class for those experienced riders who wish to learn Jumping.

The spring series will begin in late March.

For further information on any of these riding lessons, call the office of the Bexley Parks & Recreation Department, 258-6755.

ODC Announces Drama Schedule

A musical, a modern American classic, and a comedy are on the production schedule for the 1972-1973 Speech and Theatre Department season at Ohio Dominican College, 1216 Sunbury Rd.

William Vensel, department chairman, today listed "Of Thee I Sing," "Death of a Salesman," and "Don't Drink the Water" as season features with tickets available for individual performances or packaged for the three productions.

All will be staged in the Little Theatre of Erskine Hall on the ODC campus.

The college's first production will be the 1931 musical comedy classic "Of Thee I Sing." The Pulitzer Prize winning political satire was written by George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind with music and lyrics by George and Ira Gershwin. "Of Thee I Sing" will run Thursday, Oct. 26, through Sunday, Oct. 29.

Vensel will direct the play, and John K. Carter, chairman of the ODC Music Department, will be musical director and conductor.

The story concerns itself with John P. Wintergreen who is elected President of the United States on his slogan "Put Love in the White House." The comic adventures of Alexander Throttlebottom, the new Vice-President, who is seeking recognition are interwoven in the play.

In a much more serious vein is the February production, "Death of a Salesman," by Arthur Miller.

In it, Miller theorizes on the tragedy of the common man. He argues that tragedy need not belong exclusively to the famous or important people, that the fall of an ordinary person, in his own perspective, is perhaps as great or greater than the fall of a king or prince.

The season will close in May with the production of Woody Allen's uproarious comedy "Don't Drink the Water." A solid year's hit in New York, the play concerns the antics of an ambassador's dull-witted son in a small nation somewhere behind the Iron Curtain.

For information on each or all scheduled Speech and Theatre Department productions, phone the department at Ohio Dominican College, 253-2741, Ext. 61.

Art Sale Planned For September 29th

A Beaux Art Sale will open the fall season of activity at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts on Sept 29. The focal point of the evening will be the redecorated Gallery Shop.

The Gallery Shop, under the direction of Beaux Arts, is open year round for established artisians of Ohio whose works in all media are displayed for sale.

The Gallery will be a labyrinth of areas filled with original arts and crafts. The public is invited to browse and buy from the "The Thieves Market" and the "Beaux Arts Collectors" Gallery.

A variety of items made by Beaux Arts members, their families, or selected especially for the sale from unusual places will be available that evening priced from $1 to $500.

"The Collectors Library" will offer a variety of new books covering many facets of interest for all ages.

Refreshments will be served from a 32 foot gourmet laden hors d' oeuvres table in Derby Court. Located nearby will be A Drinking Establishment and Paddi's Pub.

Items will be on display from 7 to 8 p.m. The sale will begin at 8 and continue through 11 p.m.

The public is invited to reserve their tickets by sending $2.50 per person to: The Beaux Arts Club in care of Mrs. Ronald Corwin, 2006 Collingswood Rd., Columbus, Ohio 43221.

THESE TWO BEAUX ARTS MEMBERS, Mrs. Robert Connors and Mrs. William Boorstein, are getting ready for the Beaux Arts Sale scheduled for Sept. 29 at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts. Items will be on view beginning at 7 p.m. and the sale will begin at 8. Tickets are $2.50 and should be reserved in advance.

Language Course Aids Non-English Speaking

As SIESL (Summer Institute for English as a Second Language) drew to a mid-August close at Ohio Dominican College, Columbus, Ohio, the institute's participants, including natives of Puerto Rico, Cuba, Peru, Spain, Colombia, Panama, Italy and Ecuador, could look back on a varied program which not only was designed to help them develop a better understanding of English, but of the United States culture as well.

Hector Lavernia, associate professor of Spanish at Ohio Dominican, directed the eight week study session and today announced plans for a similar SIESL in Summer, 1973.

SIESL is intended to help non-English speaking people, including young people who plan to attend college in the United States, sharpen their skills through emphasizing three areas of study: English instruction including phonology, vocabularly, composition, conversation, reading, grammar and laboratory work; culture, involving lecture and discussion on U.S. history, geography, politics, education and social anthropology, and college orientation for those who plan to attend a United States college.

Also included are professional testing, counselling and other services.

For information on SIESL, 1973, admission costs and tentative programming, those interested may write the Admissions Office of Ohio Dominican College, 1216 Sunbury Rd., Columbus, Ohio, 43219.

Group Sets Tea For Sunday 17th

Rose Capital Chapter, American Business Women's Association, will hold a Hand of Friendship Tea, Sunday, Sept. 17, 1972, from 2-4 p.m., at Ilonka's Provincial House, 4040 E. Broad St.

A program entitled, "Campaign Caper", will be featured for the benefit of members, their guests, and prospective members.

Mrs. Helen Hutchinson, tea chairman, and committee, Miss LaMoyle Masters and Miss Betty Dow, are in charge.

The tea serves as a special activity for the members and introduces the organization and the local chapter to business women in this area.

Executive Board To Meet Friday

Mrs. John A. Daniel will entertain the executive board of the Bexley Woman's Club at her home, 466 N. Drexel Ave. on Friday, Sept. 15.

Assistant hostesses for the 9 a.m. meeting are Mrs. Gordon Lennert and Mrs. W. H. Shumaker.

Drive Continues For Baby Items

B'nai B'rith Women is conducting a city-wide clothing drive for good, used layette and maternity clothes and baby furniture.

Items collected will be washed and boxed into layettes distributed to women in need who receive proper pre-natal care. The layettes are used as an incentive for good pre-natal care in the hope this will in turn reduce birth defects.

Operation Stork is carried out in conjunction with the National Foundation-March of Dimes in over 30 cities throughout the United States. B'nai B'rith Women help weekly at the Mt. Carmel West pre-natal clinic weighing patients, taking blood pressure, notating tests and keeping charts up to date.

Clothing will be collected at eleven centers throughout the city including St. Edward pre-school, First Community pre-school, Jeffrey Mansion pre-school, the four Gold Circles, YWCA Hilltop and Reynoldsburg branches, Stop 'n' Go, Elias Snyder and Harward Cleaners in Gahanna.

Over 250 layettes have been distributed in Columbus to date. Local Operation Stork chairman is Mrs. Michael Albrecht and clothing drive chairman is Mrs. Barry Hillman. The drive will run until October 15.

Collection centers will be earmarked by bright pink collection cans and the Operation Stork poster. For pick-up of larger items, call 235-1957.

USE SAFETY BELTS

"Tomorrow is the best reason to buckle up today". Highway Safety Director Pete O'Grady says buckle up every time, no matter how short the trip; be here tomorrow.

Mothers' Club Announces New Board Officers

The Capital University Mothers' Club has announced their executive board for 1972-73.

Serving as president will be Mrs. Paul Lindquist; first vice president will be Mrs. William Pfeiffer and second vice president will be Mrs. John Hummel.

Recording secretary will be Mrs. Ralph Nicol; Mrs. Robert Leeder will be corresponding secretary; Mrs. Thomas Ludleim, treasurer and Mrs. Walter Heischman, advisor.

Dr. Thomas Langevin, president of Capital University will be the guest speaker at the first meeting Friday, Sept. 15 at 1:30 p.m. in the South Dining Room of Campus Center.

All mothers of former and present students at the university are invited to attend.

DRIVING AND SCHOOL BUSSES

Once again school buses are a very important part of everyday traffic. Highway Safety Director Pete O'Grady cautions motorists to stop while children are loading and unloading. And remember to be courteous to the driver.

New Chairman Named For Art Department

Capital University faculty member Richard J. Phipps has been named chairman of the university's art department, effective with the start of fall semester classes.

Phipps, an associate professor of art, has been a member of the Capital faculty since 1964.

Phipps holds both the bachelor's and master's degrees from Ohio State University, and has received additional training at the Columbus Art School.

His teaching experience spans all levels of the public school system including teaching and post-graduate work in adult education. For three years he taught in the Chillicothe Public Schools, and was a teacher in the Worthington Public Schools for eight years.

Phipps currently serves as an instructor at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts Saturday School.

He has received many awards for his paintings and has been included in such group exhibits as the Butler Institute Midyear, Columbus Art League May Show, Ohio State Fair, Central Ohio Watercolor Society, Ohio Festival of the Arts and the Bexley Area Art Guild.

He received an Award of Excellence at the "Mainstreams '71 International" show and was also selected for the "Mainstreams '72" exhibit.

Many one-man Phipps shows have been of view in most local and regional art galleries in this area. His watercolors also are included im many private and public collections, including the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, the Zanesville Art Institute, Marietta College, Huntington Bank, the Ohio Union at Ohio State UYNIVERSITY, Ford Motor Company, Certified Oil and the Schumacher Gallery of Capital University.

Phipps resides at 342 N. Ardmore Road in Bexley.

Stanley Harris Presented In Violin Concert

Stanley Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harris of 533 S. Weyant Ave. presented a special violin concert of sacred music at Eastwood Seventh-day Adventist Church last Saturday.

Harris is a music major and pre-medical student at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Mich. He has studied the violin for 16 years and also plays the organ, piano and viola.

Bexley Schedules Riding Courses

Three series of classes in various levels of horseback riding will be offered by the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department at the Far East Riding Club in Blacklick.

The fall series (10 weeks) begins on Sept. 19 with Horseback I and Sept. 21, Bareback I.

Classes meet from 4 to 5 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday and are limited to eight riders per group.

Cost of the program is $30 per series of ten lessons.

More experienced riders can register for the winter series beginning Jan. 9 and 11 which will feature Horseback II and Bareback II (and will be held indoors).

In the spring there will be another class for beginning riders (Horseback I) and also a class for those experienced riders who wish to learn Jumping.

The spring series will begin in late March.

For further information on any of these riding lessons, call the office of the Bexley Parks & Recreation Department, 258-5755.

ODC Announces Drama Schedule

A musical, a modern American classic, and a comedy are on the production schedule for the 1972-1973 Speech and Theatre Department season at Ohio Dominican College, 1216 Sunbury Rd.

William Vensel, department chairman, today listed "Of Thee I Sing," "Death of a Salesman," and "Don't Drink the Water" as season features with tickets available for individual performances or packaged for the three productions.

All will be staged in the Little Theatre of Erskine Hall on the ODC campus.

The college's first production will be the 1931 musical comedy classic "Of Thee I Sing." The Pulitzer Prize winning political satire was written by George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind with music and lyrics by George and Ira Gershwin. "Of Thee I Sing" will run Thursday, Oct. 26, through Sunday, Oct. 29.

Vensel will direct the play, and John K. Carter, chairman of the ODC Music Department, will be musical director and conductor.

The story concerns itself with John P. Wintergreen who is elected President of the United States on his slogan "Put Love in the White House." The comic adventures of Alexander Throttlebottom, the new Vice-President, who is seeking recognition are interwoven in the play.

In a much more serious vein is the February production, "Death of a Salesman," by Arthur Miller.

In it, Miller theorizes on the tragedy of the common man. He argues that tragedy need not belong exclusively to the famous or important people, that the fall of an ordinary person, in his own perspective, is perhaps as great or greater than the fall of a king or prince.

The season will close in May with the production of Woody Allen's uproarious comedy "Don't Drink the Water." A solid year's hit in New York, the play concerns the antics of an ambassador's dull-witted son in a small nation somewhere behind the Iron Curtain.

For information on each or all scheduled Speech and Theatre Department productions, phone the department at Ohio Dominican College, 253-2741, Ext. 61.

Yesterday's Potatoes

We had hash at our house one night last week. Included were yesterday's potatoes.

As we joined in grace it brought back to my mind the fact that when we were kids "yesterday's mashed potatoes" didn't exist. Mom saw to that.

I think I became a charter member of the "clean platers" club when I was about one. Didn't know how to use a spoon then, of course, but little hands had a way of getting mixed up in the food and shoveling it mouthward...at least in that general direction.

MOM ALSO had an idea about rewarding those who helped clean the plates and pots and pans full of that good heavenly aromed food. She'd put a penny or a nickel somewhere in the food. Somehow it was never found until the last morsel disappeared.

Now I'm not accusing my dear (since passed away) Mom of sleight-of-hand, but it sure took a heap of eating to whittle down the gobs of food on the table and stove.

What she didn't know at the time was that the older brothers and sisters knew the purse-strings had been stretched and one of them would pretend to accidentally swallow the coin so she could retrieve the nickel that would buy another loaf of bread.
